FOOD, FINGERS AND FLIES.

Three of the Factors Most Active In Spreading Disease.

There are three principal ways in which disease germs are carried from person to person, and these ways may be easily remembered by three catch words—food, fingers and flies.

The most important foods which carry disease are those which are eaten raw, since thorough cooking destroys disease germs and most cooked foods are only dangerous when they have been infected in the kitchen after cooking. Among raw foods, too, many, like oranges, are safe because they are peeled before eating.

Of all foods the most dangerous are water and milk, because they are often polluted (by sewage in the case of water, by human contact in the case of milk), because they are drunk promptly without time for the disease germs to die out and because, usually in the case of water and often in the case of milk, they are not cooked.

The second way in which disease germs are commonly spread is by means of contact between people themselves. Fingers, in the catch phrase, which all who value their health should try to bear in mind, stands not only for the fingers themselves, but for all sorts of ways in which disease germs may be exchanged.

In measles and whooping cough and scarlet fever and diphtheria and tuberculosis and many other diseases the germs are present in the nose and throat and are spread from person to person by the fingers, which go too often to the mouth and nose, by drinking cups and spoons and other things which too often are used in common and by the fine spray thrown out from the mouth in coughing and sneezing. In typhoid fever and diarrhea and similar diseases the germs are found in the intestinal discharges, and here, too, soiled fingers play an important part in the transmission of the disease.

The third common way in which disease germs are spread is by means of insects. Flies are perhaps the most important insect germ carriers in most states. They often pick up infected material on their legs and bodies and carry it to food, and where there is no good system of sewage disposal they may play a part in the spread of such diseases as typhoid fever. A certain kind of mosquito carries malaria, and this, too, is important in certain districts. In tropical countries a whole host of diseases is carried by insects.—New York American.

Making a Record.

Sir George Trevelyan told a curious little anecdote regarding an interview he had once had with Thackeray. The novelist was engaged at the time in writing "The Virginians," and in the middle of the conversation he commenced to ask each of the young men in the company what was the greatest length they had ever jumped. The greatest jump claimed was twenty-two feet.

"Well," said Thackeray, "then I will make Washington jump twenty-four."

FLAGS OF FRENCH AND BRITISH FLY OVER TURK FORTS

FLEET OF 40 VESSELS PENETRATE DARDANELLES STRAITS AS FAR AS HORTARI—DESTROYS FORT INTEPE.

PRESENT ATTACK IS VERY SERIOUS UNDERTAKING

Real Necessity of Releasing Huge Supply of Wheat on Shores of Black Sea Realized—Mine Sweepers Go to Work Within Straits.

London, March 2.—According to diplomatic information received in Rome," says the Daily News' correspondent in the Italian capital, "the decision of the Turks to transfer their capital to Broussa, Asia Minor, was in direct opposition to Germany, which wished the transfer made to Adrianople.

"The prophet's mantle, together with all the important relics and treasures, already have been removed to Broussa, where the Sultan's harem also has been sent.

"The allies have disembarked detachments of artillery near the destroyed Dardanelles forts and British and French flags are now flying over them."

Athens, March 1.—An allied fleet aggregating 40 warships has penetrated the Dardanelles straits as far as Hortari and destroyed Fort Intepe, on the Asiatic side, according to reliable information reaching here. Various Turkish encampments also were bombarded. A French squadron is cruising under the forts at the entrance to the straits, which are now entirely dismantled.

London, March 1.—A fleet of British and French warships continues to hammer away at the doors of the Dardanelles, the straits which close Russia's rich grainery, and the very real necessity of releasing the huge supply of wheat on the shores of the Black sea, causes the general belief that the present attack on the Dardanelles forts is a serious undertaking, and not merely a demonstration.

Official announcements declare that after the reduction of the four outer Dardanelles forts mine sweepers went to work within the straits under the protection of the guns of the fleet, while press dispatches from Athens and Rome assert that at least one French warship has penetrated the passage 14 miles.

Russ Resume Offensive.

Germany announces a renewed Russian offensive in the east, while Austria-Hungary declares that Austrian and German forces are holding their own in the Carpathians and in eastern Gallicia.

Petrograd reports a repulse of German attacks in north Poland, with heavy losses. As a result of the desperate fighting of the past few days the Russian general staff claims to have forced back the Germans along a front of 25 miles in the Przasnysz region.

HELD AS BLACKMAIL SCHEME

Stegler Passport Case is Taken Up by German Embassy—Statement Issued by Ambassador.

Washington, March 1.—A statement issued by the German embassy, in the name of Count von Bernstorff, the ambassador, announced that the main facts in the Stegler passport case, with which the name of Captain Boy-Ed, naval attache of the embassy, had been attached, had been communicated to the state department.

It added that "the whole matter looks very much like an attempt at blackmail, which failed."

The ambassador, who is in New York, telegraphed instructions for the issuance of the statement.

So far, the passport investigation in New York had been before the state department only in an informal way, through unofficial conferences between representatives of that department and of the department of justice, and, according to a high official of the government, nothing has developed requiring action.

Correspondents at Front.

Ottawa, March 1.—A message from the British war office to the Canadian government indicates that the war correspondent is soon to have a limited opportunity of seeing fighting. The cablegram just received reads:

"It has been decided to permit small batches of war correspondents to proceed to the front in a series of tours of about six days each, beginning March 1."

Socialists Protest Food Cost.

London, March 1.—A big Socialist labor demonstration was held in Trafalgar square to protest against the prevailing prices of food and coal. A resolution was adopted expressing indignation and disappointment at the government's refusal to take "effective measures to deal with the alarming increase in the cost of food and fuel." The resolution demands government control of carrying ships and the fixing of maximum prices for the necessities of life.

Explanation to Her Guests.

A little girl gave a children's party the other day to certain of her young friends. She was very anxious that everything should be done properly, and just before the arrival of the guests was discussing matters with her mother.

"Mamma," she asked, "shall we say grace?"

"No," said mamma; "it will be a very informal dinner, and I think you need not do that."

That meant one ceremony the less to be gone through, and was a relief. But the little lady was anxious to have all her guests understand it. So, as they gathered about the table, she explained:

"Mamma says that this is such an infernal dinner that we need not have grace today?"

Napoleon Outdone.

In a small town there was a veteran of the Civil war who was called Colonel Bingle. He was stored full of anecdotes about his life as a soldier, which had won him the unbounded admiration of a certain little boy in the town who was of a martial cast of mind. But never had the boy's admiration for the colonel found such complete expression as when he remarked to a little playmate:

"Come on, Jimmy, let's play soldiers. You be Napoleon Bonaparte—I'll be Colonel Bingle!"

How the Misunderstanding Arose.

"Belshazzar saw the writing on the wall.

MAY BE COFFEE
That Causes all the Trouble

When the house is afire, it's about the same as when disease begins to show, it's no time to talk but time to act—delay is dangerous—remove the cause of the trouble at once.

"For a number of years," wrote a Kansas lady, "I felt sure that coffee was hurting me, and yet I was so fond of it, I could not give it up. At last I got so bad that I made up my mind I must either quit the use of coffee or die.

"Everything I ate distressed me, and I suffered severely most of the time with palpitation of the heart. I frequently woke up in the night with the feeling that I was almost gone—my heart seemed so smothered and weak in its action. My breath grew short and the least exertion set me panting. I slept but little and suffered from rheumatism.

"Two years ago I stopped using the coffee and began to use Postum and from the very first I began to improve. It worked a miracle! Now I can eat anything and digest it without trouble. I sleep like a baby, and my heart beats strong and regularly. My breathing has become steady and normal, and my rheumatism has left me.

"I feel like another person, and it is all due to quitting coffee and using Postum, for I haven't used any medicine and none would have done any good as long as I kept drugging with coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25 packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious. and cost per cup about the same.

MURDER OF GIRL IN AURORA THIRD MYSTERY IN YEAR

MISS EMMA PETERSON, 21 YEARS OLD, IS STRUCK DOWN AT NIGHT WITH HEAVY GAS PIPE.

OLD WOOLEN GLOVE IS ONLY CLUE POLICE HAVE

Bloodhound Picks Up Trail, but Loses It at River Edge—Goaded to Desperate Measures by Third Unsolved Slaying Police Arrest Forty-Two Suspects.

Aurora, Ill., March 1.—Women of this city locked themselves within doors or ventured into the streets only in groups of two or three while the men gathered to discuss the best means to apprehend the murderer who struck down and killed Miss Emma Peterson in the streets and who is believed to be the same person who killed Miss Jennie Miller in a similar manner some months ago.

The city council, after a hurried special session, announced a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the murderer and agreed to take whatever steps should prove necessary to help Frank Mickels, chief of police, in finding him.

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 27.—The murder of Emma Peterson has aroused residents of Aurora to great excitement. It is the third unsolved killing within a year.

In each of the three murders the victim has been slugged to death. In no case has the murderer been caught.

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 27.—In an old woolen glove, one that was worn at some time by a man engaged in hard labor, the police pinned their greatest hope of running down the mysterious murderer who struck down Miss Emma Peterson, 21 years old, with a short section of heavy gas pipe.

The glove, with the piece of pipe, was found within a half block of where the young woman was murdered in fashionable Lake street.

The young woman's handbag, opened and rifled, was found a block and a half away, on the Northwestern railroad tracks. The glove has been carefully guarded and will not be exposed until it is given bloodhounds for the scent.

One of the bloodhounds arrived and after smelling the old glove, picked up a trail.

This led to the Northwestern railroad tracks, where the young woman's handbag was found, then back towards the city, then back to the tracks, then two blocks east to the Fox river. There the trail was lost in the water.

Third Mysterious Girl Murder.

Goaded to desperate measures by this, the third mysterious girl murder here in a year, plain clothes men and uniformed police, working under the personal direction of Chief Frank Michels, arrested twenty-five negro and seventeen white suspects in their hunt for the slayer of Miss Peterson.

The officers are hopeful that the bloodhounds will be of great aid to them, as a cordon of police stood all night around the scene of the crime. No one was permitted to go near the spot, near former Senator Hopkins' home, where the body was found with the head crushed in.

As in the murder of Miss Jennie Miller, the daughter of former Mayor Miller, who was crushed to death with a pipe wrench as she passed out into the shadows of the Free Methodist church, a "great, tall man, wearing a long overcoat," is being sought.

GERMAN SHELLS DESTROY MANY BLOCKS IN RHEIMS

Paris, March 1.—The bombardment of Rheims was more severe on the night of Feb. 21-22 than at any other time, according to C. Lenoir, deputy for Rheims, who was in the city at that time. Shells began falling at 9 o'clock and continued to rain down until 2:15 a. m. The projectiles came from all parts of the German front from the northwest to the east.

The gunners seemed to aim especially at the first ward of the city, M. Lenoir said. This section hitherto had been spared. Fire broke out in 20 places at once and whole blocks collapsed like card houses.

Swedish Ship Damaged.

Amsterdam, via London, March 1.—The Swedish steamer Svarton, from Rotterdam, arrived at Ymuiden, Holland, with a large hole in her starboard side near the bow. The captain reported that the Svarton had been damaged by either a mine or a torpedo. In his opinion the damage was inflicted by a mine.

Austrians Pick Up 3,000 Dead.

Geneva, via Paris, March 1.—During the night of Friday, Feb. 19, taking advantage of a lull in hostilities in the Carpathians, the Austrians picked up at Svidnik 8,000 wounded men and over 3,000 dead. The wounded had been lying on the ground, some of them, for eighteen hours without food or succor. A chief officer of the Austrian medical department is authority for the estimate that 70 per cent of them will be invalids for life. A majority of the wounded at Svidnik were wounded in the head.

HAD CONFIDENCE IN JANITOR

Landlady Knew to Whom to Apply When She Wanted References as to a Tenant.

Smith, just established in a new flat, happened to discover that the landlord—or landlady, rather—had not investigated the references he had furnished, upon her very particular request.

"Why didn't you ask anybody about me?" he asked.

"I did," was the answer. "I asked the janitor at your old place. I always do that. After finding out from the old landlord whether a tenant is good pay, I make a personal call on the janitor of the house he has been living in."

"But are janitors always to be trusted?"

"By no means. I can usually tell whether a man is truthful. I use my judgment in each case. It isn't hard to guess whether he has been unduly influenced by tips or the lack of them Generally speaking, the janitor knows the tenant better than anybody else and I prefer his estimate to that of the friends and business associates whose names are supplied as references."

IF BACK HURTS CLEAN KIDNEYS WITH SALTS

Drink Lots of Water and Stop Eating Meat for a While if the Bladder Bothers You.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

Don't Look Old! Try Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Gray, Faded, Lifeless Hair.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. Adv.

Uric Acid in Your Food

Even dogs can eat too much meat. Certainly, many people "dig their graves with their teeth." Few get enough exercise to justify a meat diet, for meat brings uric acid. The kidneys try hard to get rid of that poison, but often a backache, or some other slight symptom will show that the kidneys need help. The time-tried remedy, then, is Doan's Kidney Pills.

A Minnesota Case

Julien Richard, 119 First St., Little Falls, Minn., says: "I was a total wreck with kidney complaint and my back was so weak and stiff that I walked all bent over. Doctors gave me up. I often had weak spells, when I fell and I couldn't get up until someone helped me. Eight boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and the cure has lasted."

Winona.—Four thousand students will have been graduated from the Winona normal school when the last election of the present year's class of 170 is awarded diplomas in July. This information was given out at a preliminary meeting this week looking to a quinquennial alumni reunion of the school.

Brainerd.—A meeting has been called for all persons interested in the banishment of saloons. Petitions asking that the question of license be voted upon bear 500 names, and will soon be submitted to the city clerk. It is the purpose of the meeting to outline the campaign, which will close with the election on April 6.

Faribault.—The Chase Packing company of this city has reorganized and increased its capital and will erect new buildings costing $100,000. The incorporators are A. G. Chase of this city and J. J. Craig and C. J. Foster of Minneapolis. A modern plant will be erected and 125 men employed. The capacity will be increased to 1,500 hogs a week.

St. Cloud.—The Frank Henkemeyer general store at Clear Lake was robbed last night for the third time in as many months. The robbers were evidently frightened away while at work for merchandise was found scattered near the door of the building. About $50 worth of goods were taken. An effort was made to rob the safe, but the strongbox withstood the attack.

Red Wing.—Miss Virginia Anderberg, a St. Paul girl, is on her way to France as an American Red Cross nurse. Miss. Anderberg was born here and the family made Red Wing its home for many years and later moved to St. Paul. Following the completion of her course of study in one of the St. Paul hospitals, Miss Anderberg engaged in her profession in New York.

Brainerd.—John R. Harrington of Hibbing, who has taken an option to drill the George W. Holland lands bequeathed to the city of Brainerd, is making preliminary arrangements to drill the tract near the Parker & Topping foundry, immediately north of the Cuyuna range addition to Brainerd. When Harrington's drill is under way there will be exploration work at both ends of town. On the south city limits the Brainerd-Cuyuna mine has its shaft down 115 feet.

St. Cloud.—Although released from the state reformatory but three months ago, after serving a five-year term, James O'Brien, alias James Rice, has been arrested charged with stealing brass fittings from the Great Northern shops. Among O'Brien's possessions was found a letter from his father urging him to return to his home in New York and be good. "I have gotten so I hate the name St. Cloud," writes the father, "you have gotten in so much trouble there."

Duluth.—Guy W. Small, for several years editor and publisher of the Journal-News at Two Harbors, has started in Duluth a monthly publication called Northern Minnesota, that will be devoted to the interests of the part of the state for which it is named. The first issue is just out and interesting articles are contributed by leading boosters of the north, among them A. J. McGuire of the state farm school.

Cass Lake.—Work was started this week on a new dwelling for Rev. Charles T. Wright, Indian missionary employed by the government.

Mankato.—The Southern Minnesota Teachers' association at its business session adopted resolutions favoring the passage by the present legislature of the bill for a teachers' retirement fund and recommended that state normal schools give more attention to the training of teachers for work in rural communities.

Little Falls.—The Morrison County Bar association at a meeting held here adopted a constitution and elected the following officers: President, E. P. Adams; vice president, F. W. Lyon; secretary-treasurer, S. C. Vasaly. The officers form the executive committee.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle.—Adv.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The war's fearful devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and there is an unusual demand for Canadian wheat. Canada's invitation to every industrious American is therefore especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves while helping her to raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands can be bought at remarkably low prices. Think of the money you can make with wheat at its present high prices, where for some time it is liable to continue. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent.

Military service is not compulsory in Canada, but there is an extra demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. The Government this year is urging farmers to put extra acreage into grain.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County. Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August '30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

Instead of extending the mail service and improving it as the country developes, the post office department under the present administration are cutting off mail service, and we expect by the time they have been in power two years more that they wont be able to maintain any mail service north of St. Paul.

We don't know whether Governor Hammond expected the people to elect a county option legislature or not, but he placed himself in a position to place his John Hancock on the bill after it was passed, in his key note speech at Red Wing. Governor Hammond signed the bill on Monday afternoon, and it is now a law.

The post masters at Nebish and Terrebonne have been arrested for embezzlement of post office money order funds. We suppose it was the usual temptation of making a loan of another man's money because it was in your possession, but the devil always sits on the counter, and sees to it that the cash can never be replaced.

Carry the news to the anti-county optichists at Crookston, that if they had voted off Columbia county when they had a chance that they could now have license in their county, but this was a case of the hog spilling the swill. Now they can watch the solid vote from township after township of that territory when they come in solid for county option.

The Bemidji people seem to fear the opposition of Ole Sageng, of Ottertail county, to their normal school appropriation. Mr. Sageng is well aware of the way that school come to be located at Bemidji instead of Thief River Falls and the people of this territory will never forget the honorable stand he took on that question, and as he is honest, of course he will vote against appropriating money to build that school at Bemidji, to boom the additional townsite of Minneapolis realestate dealers.

The county option fight was fairly won last Wednesday, when the legislature passed the county option law, giving the people an opportunity to vote on the licensing of saloons by counties. There is a strong prospect that if the matter is brought to a vote that Red Lake county will vote license, while Polk county will surely vote it out. Thief River Falls have a large majority in favor of license, but the eastern part of the county would undoubtedly vote against license. Not necessarily because the majority are strictly temperance, but because they want to vote alcohol out of being in the position to tempt them to drink it.

The business men of Goodridge are talking of organizing a Farmers' Elevator Co. to build an elevator at that place. This would be a move in the right direction as two or three elevators are what draws the farmers business, as has been found out by Oklee, and will be patterned after by Plummer this year. While a farmer may be considered an easy mark to "skin" yet he can usually figure out the difference in the amount of cash that he gets at one elevator for twenty sacks of wheat, and what he got at another one for the same amount, when the market price is the same.

There will be no use for the anti option forces of Polk county to put up any fight against county option, as the eastern part is practically solid for county option. Say boys don't you fellows wish you had voted to set off Columbia county when you had the chance?

THE CHURCH AS A SOCIAL CENTER

A Broader Sphere for Religion—New Field for the Rural Church.

By Peter Radford

Lecturer National Farmers' Union

The social duty of the rural church is as much a part of its obligations as its spiritual side. In expressing its social interest, the modern rural church does not hesitate to claim that it is expressing a true religious instinct and the old-time idea that the social instincts should be starved while the spiritual nature was overfed with solid theological food, is fast giving way to a broader interpretation of the functions of true religion. We take our place in the succession of those who have sought to make the world a fit habitation for the children of man when we seek to study and understand the social duty of the rural church. The true christian religion is essentially social—its tenets of faith being love and brotherhood and fellowship. While following after righteousness, the church must challenge and seek to reform that social order in which moral life is expressed. While cherishing ideals of service, the rural church which attains the fullest measure of success is that which enriches as many lives as it can touch, and in no way can the church come in as close contact with its members as through the avenue of social functions.

The country town and the rural community need a social center. The church need offer no apology for its ambition to fill this need in the community, if an understanding of its mission brings this purpose into clear consciousness. The structure of a rural community is exceedingly complex; it contains many social groups, each of which has its own center, but there are many localities which have but one church and although such a church cannot command the interest of all the people, it is relieved from the embarrassment of religiously divided communities.

Social Needs Imperative.

The average country boy and girl have very little opportunity for real enjoyment, and have, as a rule, a vague conception of the meaning of pleasure and recreation. It is to fill this void in the lives of country youth that the rural church has risen to the necessity of providing entertainment, as well as instruction, to its membership among the young. The children and young people of the church should meet when religion is not even mentioned. It has been found safest for them to meet frequently under the direction and care of the church. To send them into the world with no social training exposes them to grave perils and to try to keep them out of the world with no social privileges is sheer folly. There is a social nature to both old and young, but the social requirements of the young are imperative. The church must provide directly or indirectly some modern equivalent for the husking bee, the quilting bee and the singing schools of the old days In one way or another the social instincts of our young people must have opportunity for expression, which may take the form of clubs, parties, picnics or other forms of amusement One thing is certain, and that is that the church cannot take away the dance, the card party and the theatre unless it can offer in its place a satisfying substitute in the form of more pleasing recreation.

Universal Instinct for Play.

In providing for enjoyment the church uses one of the greatest methods by which human society has developed. Association is never secure until it is pleasurable; in play the instinctive aversion of one person for another is overcome and the social mood is fostered Play is the chief educational agency in rural communities and in the play-day of human childhood social sympathy and social habits are evolved. As individuals come together in social gatherings, their viewpoint is broadened, their ideals are lifted and finally they constitute a cultured and refined society

It is plain, therefore, that the church which aims at a perfected society must use in a refined and exalted way the essential factors in social evolution and must avail itself of the universal instinct for play. If the church surrounds itself with social functions which appeal to the young among its membership, it will fill a large part of the lamentable gap in rural pleasures and will reap the richest reward by promoting a higher and better type of manhood and womanhood.

Delayed "Last Moments."

In the battle of Friedland, on June 14, 1807, there was a young lieutenant in Napoleon's army named Schramm. When the victorious general was riding over the battlefield that evening he came upon the eighteen-year-old officer lying on the ground mortally wounded and weeping bitterly.

"Why do you weep?" asked Napoleon as he rode by.

"Because I must die before I can become a captain," the youth complained.

The words of the dying lieutenant softened the emperor's heart. "My son, I shall gladly fulfill your wish," he said. "I hereby advance you to the rank of captain."

The unexpected promotion actually saved the boy's life. He recovered. Later on he fought most valiantly for the cause of Napoleon, and by the time of the battle of Waterloo he had already become a general. He outlived his "last moments" on the field of Friedland by more than seventy years.

Broad Brimmed Hats.

Toward the end of the thirteenth century big broad brimmed hats were fashionable in Austria. They were of such huge dimensions that a face under one of them could not be recognized. A poem written by Johannes Hadlaub expresses disgust with the style and the hope that the hats might be consigned to the Danube "so that the pretty faces of our women might once more become visible."

One of the largest sales ever held in the town of Highlanding will be held by Stixrud brothers on their farm on section fifteen, next Tuesday March 16th.

St. Louis county has got more land than the states of Rhode Island and Connecticut combined, and yet there is lots of people opposed to dividing it.

FOR SALE: 50 bushels of timothy seed which I will sell at five cents a pound. Also Northwestern dent seed corn for sale at five cents a pound.

Now is the time to get your seed grain and machinery ready for the springs work. Do not wait until the ground is in fit condition to work, then start in to clean your seed grain and get it ready for sowing.

The county option election over in Polk county will attract some attention, as it will be the first one held in the northern part of the state. The Senator from Polk voted against the passage of the county option law, but the election will prove that he did not represent a majority of his constituants.

The tremendous increase in the weight of mail by the parcel post ruling has caused about all star route contractors to raise their rates for carrying mail, which caused all bids for carrying mail east from Thief River Falls to be rejected. Perhaps assistant P. M. general Singer has reported that there was no use for any mail routes east of Kratka and Rhoda.

As is usual at every session of the legislature, every interest have their lobby there looking after the passage of laws, except the farmers, There would not be a better investment for the farmers to make, than to raise a fund and keep a lobby down there to look after their interests. If it pays the railroad and liquor interests to do this, why would it not pay the farmers?

Any one that knows of a meaner cuss, than the one we are about to describe will receive one dollar premium by sending his name to this office. We refer to an individual who once held office in this county before it was divided, who owes seven years subscription, then had the post master send back a copy of the paper marked "refused," with a postage due stamp on it for two cents. We are glad that he is not now a resident of this, Pennington county.

VOLUME XV. NO 1.

With this issue we start the fifteenth year of the publication of THE SUNBEAM under its present management. It was established at Gully, Polk county, on April 20th, 1901, and removed from there to its present location in 1907.

We have not made any fortune out of the publication, but we have existed, and have seen publisher after publisher drop out of business, among our exchanges, who predicted that this paper would be short lived, until today only one remains under the same management, of all our exchanges of 1901, viz: The Thirteen Towns of Fosston.

We start the publication of volume fifteen fully convinced of the ability of THE SUNBEAM to take care of itself in the future, as well as it has in the past.

An Ancient Phrase.

The frequently quoted "I do not pin my faith upon your sleeve" is traced in sentiment to feudal times, when the partisans of a leader used to wear his badge pinned upon their sleeves. Sometimes these badges were changed for specific purposes, and persons learned to doubt: hence the phrase, "You wear the badge, but I do not intend to pin my faith on your sleeve."—New York American.

What Hurt Most.

Antiquity of Tin.

We find that brass, and consequently tin, existed in Tyre, the great seaport town of the Phoenicians, on the coast of Syria, about 1000 B. C. They are frequently referred to in all works relating to tin or to Cornwall. The Phoenicians were merchants and carried on an important trade from the ports of Tyre and Sidon. These cities rivaled each other in magnitude, fame and antiquity.

STRENGTH.

Without Overloading The Stomach.

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start a man gets each day as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand.

He can't be alert with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast, requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

A Calif. business man found a food combination for producing energy. He writes:

"For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments.

"Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I had about decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts.

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet.

"I find that Grape-Nuts, with a little sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, makes a delicious morning meal, which invigorates me for the day's business."

GREECE MAY AID ALLIES IN FIGHT AGAINST TURKEY

NEWSPAPERS OF ATHENS DECLARE HELLENIC TROOPS SHOULD HELP BREAK UP OTTOMAN EMPIRE.

KING WANTS NEUTRALITY; CABINET FAVORS WAR

Retiring Premier Indicates in Chamber of Deputies That Differences Between Him and Monarch Were Over Question of Peace and War.

London, March 9.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Athens says that the Greek press, in its comment on the operations against the Dardanelles, has declared itself in favor of Greece's taking part in the war, taking the ground that no breaking up of the Ottoman empire should be permitted to take place without the participation of the Hellenic troops.

London, March 9.—Greece apparently is at the parting of the ways, with her king exerting his influence to maintain the neutrality of his country in opposition to Eleutherios Venizelos, the retiring premier, and the man to whom Greece owes her revival.

M. Venizelos announced the resignation of himself and his cabinet as King Constantine did not approve the policy of the government. In the chamber of deputies M. Venizelos clearly indicated that the differences between him and the monarch were over the question of peace and war.

New Premier Suggested.

He said he had advised the king to select as a new premier, M. Zaimis, governor of the National bank, who he said "will follow a policy of neutrality which, I hope, will not endanger our newly acquired territory."

A grand council of ministers was held at Athens under the presidency of King Constantine, and as Venizelos was leaving the palace at the conclusion he was acclaimed by the populace.

King Constantine won great popularity by the successful manner in which he led the last two Balkan wars. This popularity, however, he shared with M. Venizelos, to whose diplomacy in the conferences following the war Greece is said to owe her success, and whose organization was largely responsible for her ability to fight as she did. The retiring premier also was the moving spirit in the Balkan alliance, which united the Balkan states against Turkey.

M. Zaimis, who has been requested by the king to form a new ministry, requested 24 hours in which to consider the matter.

FACTIONAL FIGHT OVER RATHS CASE EXPECTED

Washington, March 9.—Democratic factional politics promise to be exemplified and played out in the fight to obtain a recess appointment and a sensational confirmation of Otto Raths as postmaster of St. Paul.

Incidentally an echo of the last gubernatorial campaign enters, because it is charged that in the Republican primary campaign Mr. Raths favored the nomination of A. O. Eberhart over W. E. Lee. One of the chief objections to Mr. Raths is a statement to this effect filed with the postmaster general.

Greek Students Want War.

London, March 9.—Telegraphing from Athens, the Exchange Telegraph company's correspondent says that the university students in the Greek capital made a demonstration in favor of immediate action by Greece. The legations of the triple entente powers were visited by the students and cheered.

DIPLOMATS WILL WITHDRAW FROM MEXICAN CAPITAL

REPRESENTATIVES OF FOREIGN NATIONS WIRE DECISION TO WASHINGTON—STARVATION IN CITY IS IMMINENT.

MOST CRITICAL PERIOD SINCE HUERTA REGIME

Secretary Bryan Receives No Word From Latest Representations to Carranza Against General Obregon's Threat to Leave City Unprotected.

Washington, March 8.—Diplomatic representatives of foreign nations will leave Mexico City in a body.

This decision, wired to Washington, further complicated the Mexican situation, brought to a new point of anxiety by the imminence of starvation in the capital, and the refusal of General Obregon, Carranza's lieutenant, to accept aid offered by foreign residents of the city.

The situation, topped by this latest development, was admitted in all quarters to be more critical than it has been at any time since Huerta precipitated the landing of troops at Vera Cruz.

Bryan Admits Situation Is Bad.

Secretary Bryan had received no word from the latest representations to Carranza against General Obregon's decrees in Mexico City and his threat to leave the capital unprotected, with water and light plants out of commission and the attendant possibilities of looting and killing. Mr. Bryan said the situation continued to be bad.

Dispatches telling of the decision of the foreign diplomatic corps to leave Mexico City were received here by European diplomatists and forwarded to their governments. Some definite development was expected in diplomatic circles as the result of the decision. Where the diplomatists would go was the subject of some speculation. Inasmuch as the conditions which are forcing them to leave are being imposed by Carranza's commander, Obregon, it was pointed out they hardly would go to Vera Cruz.

Villa has invited the diplomatic corps to join him at his capital in Chihuahua. To do so, it was pointed out, might be construed as recognition of his faction.

Says Danger Exaggerated.

Without diplomatic representatives in Mexico City, the capital and a large portion of the distracted country would practically be cut off from the world, while it is feared all foreigners would be at the mercy of the factions.

Juan N. Amador, head of General Carranza's agency here, declared that reports of the gravity of the situation have been "grossly exaggerated."

Administration officials are awaiting with tense interest further developmens in the problem of food shortage.

DARNELL IS EXPECTED TO PLEAD GUILTY IN COURT.

Milwaukee, March 8.—A plea of guilty to charges of violating the Mann white slave act was expected from Rev. James M. Darnell, the "marrying parson," by the federal authorities when he arrived here from Chicago to appear in federal court.

It was expected that after entering his plea Darnell would ask a suspension of sentence until a plea of insanity could be made.

It was reported here on good authority that Darnell's attorneys had agreed upon the plan to have their client plead guilty and then plead that he was insane.

Darnell is accused of transporting Ruth Soper of Owatonna, Minn., from Illinois to Kenosha, Wis., where he was formerly paster of a church.

Darnell, in the custody of federal officers, left Chicago for Milwaukee. He was expected to go to the federal buildings immediately after his arrival.

BRITAIN WARNS AGAINST SYSTEM OF MINE FIELDS

London, March 8.—The British admiralty published in the Gazette a renewed warning to mariners that a system of mine fields on a considerable scale had been established in the North Sea and that it is advisable for mariners to take a London pilot when navigating between Great Yarmouth and the English channel. The admiralty announcement also says that pilotage is now compulsory in the Firth of Forth, Moray Firth and the Scapa Flow.

U. S. SENDS A PROTEST TO GENERAL CARRANZA

Washington, March 5.—The state department has protested to General Carranza against alleged "incendiary statements" made in Mexico City by General Obregon regarding the food situation there. Although Obregon made public announcement that he would withdraw his troops at the first signs of hunger riots, state department advices said he had declined aid from an international relief committee.

FARMERS WHO SUCCEED IN WESTERN CANADA

Those Who Exercise Thrift, Practice Due Economy, and Adopt Reasonable Methods Are Sure to Prosper.

Those who are interested in developing the agricultural resources of Western Canada in bringing to the notice of those whom they desire to take part in this development present only the facts. There has never been given the impression that farming in Western Canada could be carried on without effort or labor, but it has been successfully stated that better results can be secured with less outlay of capital, either in money or labor, than anywhere else on the continent. This has been proven time and time again. Hundreds of cases could be cited where men have taken up farms, either a homestead, or purchased from railways or land companies, and with little capital at the start have acquired a competence, have established good homes for themselves, and provided a sure future. They have comfortable homes and all their surroundings are comfortable, speak of the reward that their thrift has accomplished.

Carl Dickan, of Russian Poland lived in Pittsburgh, Pa., for fourteen years, and saved up $900. In 1903 he took the $900 with him to Alberta. His own story is that he bought a quarter section, for which he agreed to pay $1,200. "In 1904 I had thirty acres of crop, threshed 900 bushels. In 1909 I bought another quarter. I now have one hundred acres under cultivation, and have never had a crop failure. Have threshed forty-seven bushels of wheat per acre, but the average has been about forty. My oats for the eleven years that I have been here averaged forty-seven bushels to the acre. I now have 9 horses, 47 head of cattle, 33 hogs, which I consider worth $3,600. I have a thousand dollars worth of farm implements and my land is worth $8,000. This is all clear of debt. I have every reason to consider this a first-class mixed farming, dairying and poultry raising country, as I think that it is apparent that I have had some success. The only help that I had was my oldest boy, who was 8 years old when I arrived in Alberta."

About fifty miles west of Wetaskiwin there is a partially timbered district lying between Buck Lake and Pigeon Lake. All this land is ready for homesteading, and judging from a letter received by a resident there, this would seem to be an ideal place for a farmer who desired such surroundings. This settler lives on the shore of Buck Lake, his land is willow brush, which is easy to clear. Some of the lumber is good saw timber, and lots of good logs for buildings can be had, as well as rails for fencing. For wheat growing the soil is excellent. Water is easily secured, fishing is good and plentiful and game is anything but scarce. The settlers are mostly from the United States and Canada.—Advertisement.

IS CHILD CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

STATE BREVITIES

St. Cloud.—Plans will be considered this week for a big Woodman picnic and celebration to be held early in June. According to preliminary plans June 4 will be devoted to the picnic. On the evening of June 5 a large class will be initiated and on the 6th the annual memorial service of the lodge will be held.

Brainerd. — Asserting that seven lumberjacks who signed employment contracts at Duluth, and for whom board and railway fare were advanced, "jumped" their jobs shortly after arrival in the camp at Pequot, J. W. Downs of Downs & Son, had the woodsmen arrested and brought to Brainerd for trial.

Spooner.—Willie, 13-year-old son of William Young of the Beaudette hotel, was run over and killed by an eastbound train on the Canadian Northern while he was riding on a gasoline speeder between Pitt and Beaudette. The boy was run over in September, 1913, and at that time lost his right leg near the hip.

Pipestone.—Robbers pried open a rear window of the store of Wilson & Evans Bros., and made good their escape with over 400 yards of the choicest silks and satins in the store. The burglars took new suit cases from the shelves and packed their loot into them. The loss runs into several hundred dollars.

Winona.—The Bay State Milling company of this city, which recently started the construction of a 500,000 bushel capacity elevator, has placed orders for machinery which will double the capacity of its rye mill. The enlargements are being made in expectation of greatly increased activities in flour milling.

Winona.—Plans have been completed by Company C of this city, attached to the Second regiment of state militia, for a grand ball to open the armory now nearing completion. The ball will be held on the evening of Easter Monday. The dedication will be held after the ball on a date convenient for Governor W. S. Hammond, his staff and national military officers.

Brainerd.—Matt Hay says that Frank Hubbard took him by the top of the head, gripped his hair and cut his throat with a long-bladed jackknife. A surgeon was called to the farmhouse where Hay was taken and sewed up the wound. The man had lost so much blood it was not thought possible for him to survive. Hubbard was brought to Brainerd and lodged in jail.

Luverne.—There is not an unoccupied house in Luverne. Rents have increased about 25 per cent in the last three months. The housing question has become a problem and many families who would like to come here cannot find homes. This prosperous condition will be used as an argument by the anti-saloon men when an effort is made to make Luverne "wet" at the spring election.

St. Cloud.—The selection of a judge for the next poultry show, the admission of new members, the system of scoring and further action for securing state aid for poultry exhibitions, were discussed at a meeting of the Central Minnesota Poultry association. The show recently held by the association was an unqualified success and plans will progress rapidly for the exhibit next year.

Fairbault. — The Reed-Cruikshank company of this city has purchased Jewett's point at Cannon lake, three miles west of this city, consisting of 30 acres, and will convert it into a summer resort. The company will erect cottages, dining hall and pavilion. The Dan Patch road runs close to the place and a station will be put in. Lots for summer cottages will be placed on sale.

St. Cloud.—Whether chapel service at which there is scriptural reading must be discontinued at the normal school is a question that is being asked by patrons of the county schools, from which garbed instructors will be barred after the present school year. Six districts, employing 18 nuns, have been informed that after this year no state aid will be allowed if the nuns are retained.

Glenwood.—Citizens of Glenwood voted at a special school election to erect the $50,000 high school on the property known as the Church site. Three sites were submitted to the people and 559 votes were cast. No one site received a majority of first choice votes, but on counting the second choice votes the final result stood 321 for the Church site and 189 for its nearest competitior.

Winnebago.—Spreading rails caused the Milwaukee westbound passenger train on the Southern Minnesota division to leave the track four miles west of here, with the result that traffic was tied up for a day. Although the engine, tender, baggage and mail cars and passenger coaches all left the rails, the cars remained upright and none of the passengers sustained any injuries more than a severe shaking up.

Faribault.—Mr. and Mrs. Mulliner of Cannon City, celebrated their sixty-third wedding anniversary at their farm, home, a few miles east of this city. They were married at Coldwater, Mich., Feb. 27, 1852. They came to Minnesota in 1857, driving all the way with oxen. They purchased a farm at Cannon City and have ever since made it their home.

St. Cloud.—An organization to promote the building or purchase of bird houses and, if possible, to prohibit the sale of air rifles is being considered by city officials and members of civic societies.

Remembered Old Formula.

The late Mayor Gaynor of New York related a little anecdote while in hospital after an anarchist's attempt upon his life. "I knew a man over my way," he said with a smile, "who had formerly been a bartender. Going into politics, he was elected police judge. Mary McManus was up before him for drunkenness. The ex-bartender looked at her for a moment and then said sternly:

"Well, what are you here for?"

"If yer please, yer honor, the copper beyant pulled me in, sayin' I was drunk. An' I don't drink, yer honor; I don't drink."

"All right," said the justice absentmindedly, "all right; have a cigar."

MULTIPLICITY OF LIQUOR BILLS IS BEFORE SOLONS

PASSAGE OF COUNTY OPTION MEASURE FAILS TO BRING EXPECTED RELIEF — SITUATION IS CONFUSING.

TO SUBMIT PROHIBITION QUESTION TO PEOPLE

John Larimore Proposes Constitutional Amendment—Westlake Bill Exempts Cities from Provisions of County Option Act—Excepts Beer.

St. Paul, Minn.

County option is out of the way of the legislature, but instead of bringing the expected relief from the liquor problem the legislature will go back into session with a muliplicity of liquor bills to confront it.

Some of these were introduced before option was adopted by the two houses, duly signed by the governor, and sent on its way to take its place in the pages of "The Laws of 1915." Others have been prompted by the passage of option. Others are only now in course of construction.

Amazing Number of Bills.

But there are so many of them and they have followed so fast on the heels of each other that only those in close touch with the situation at the capitol pretend to have a definite idea of the existing situation. Here is a list of the amazing number of liquor bills, most of which made their appearance just as the legislature was in the midst of a sigh of relief at getting option out of the way:

The Senator E. E. Loebeck bill, providing for statutory prohibition, which means enactment of a law making the state absolutely dry, without referring the question to the people.

For State-Wide Prohibition.

The John Larimore proposed constitutional amendment. This would submit the question of state-wide prohibition to the people to be voted on at the general election in November, 1916.

The Senator E. J. Westlake bill, which would exempt Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth from the provisions of the option bill. Should Hennepin vote dry Minneapolis would not go dry under the terms of this bill, which is aimed to modify the option bill.

Would Except Beer.

The Senator George Gardner bill, which would preclude from sale, manufacture or gift all liquors but beer.

The Representative Syverson bill, introduced Saturday, prohibiting the retail sale of liquor by any but licensed retail liquor dealers. This was recommended by William E. Lee.

In addition to this lineup there is on foot a proposal to amend the Larimore constitutional amendment bill to exempt beer and light wines from its provisions.

HOUSE PAYS TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF MRS. HIGBEE.

As a tribute to the memory of Mrs. C. G. Higbee, who died in the house retiring room after making a strong appeal for a state reformatory for women, the Minnesota house of representatives attempted to pass under suspension of the rules the bill authorizing the state board of control to dispose of the old state prison at Stillwater and use the money in the construction of a women's reformatory.

Opposition developed, and statements were made that if Mrs. Higbee were on the floor of the house she would be reluctant to have the body hasten through a bill of such great importance, and a lively debate finally terminated in an agreement to make the bill, together with the bill by Representative J. A. Larimore, special orders for next Wednesday morning.

Bridge Probers Appointed.

Speaker H. H. Flowers has announced the committee which has been authorized to make a complete investigation of an alleged combination of public bridge contractors.

The committee will hold hearings, summon witnesses and take testimony. The committee will be composed of Representatives Charles Warner of Aitkin, author of the joint resolution; Representatives J. E. Madigan of Maple Lake and L. A. Lydiard of Minneapolis.

SEMI-MONTHLY PAY BILL PASSES IN STATE SENATE.

The semi-monthly pay bill requiring all public service corporations to pay their employes twice a month was passed in the Minnesota senate by a vote of 34 to 30. Debate on the bill had lasted for two hours. A motion to reconsider was lost.

Hearing on Forestry Fund Cut.

A public hearing on the bills before the house appropriations committee reducing the annual appropriation for the Minnesota state forestry department, will be held next Tuesday evening, Representative L. C. Spooner, chairman of the committee, announced. Persons interested in the department will be given an opportunity to explain why the appropriation should not be decreased. The appropriations committee also will hold a meeting Tuesday afternoon at which several bills probably will be acted upon.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE LOST IN SENATE BY ONE VOTE

St. Paul, March 6—The main door of of the Minneapolis senate chamber was pushed open shortly before 3 p. m. A man stepped inside and proceeded unconcernedly down the center aisle.

Some thousand of pairs of eyes were focused on the newscomer. Not a breath was stirring. He seemed unconscious of it. The clerk of the senate looked up, recognized the newcomer and called:

"Campbell, A. S."

"No," responded the man advancing down the aisle. And then—pandemonium.

That single word that passed the lips of the newcomer denied woman suffragists the right to submit the question of suffrage to the voters of Minnesota.

Vote Was Tie.

The clerk had called the roll on the suffrage bill. Of the 67 senators who constitute the upper house 66 had answered "yes" or "no."

The clerk had cast up the total "yeas" and "nays." The result had been found a standoff, 33 to 33. If the suffrage amendment to the constitution was to pass it needed the vote of the single absentee.

That absent one was Senator Alex S. Campbell of Austin, Mower county. The sergeant-at-arms was sent to find him. And, in the meanwhile, suspense in the senate chamber, packed to the last niche with be-flowered suffragists and anti-suffragists, threatened to break into hysterics.

Hunt Missing Senator.

The missing senator was in a telephone booth. Senate officers dashed back and forth through the corridors in quest of him, but none looked in the booth.

When the senator from Mower had completed his telephone conversation he strayed back to the senate chamber. He did not know that upon his word rested all. Nor did he meet en route any of the messengers who had been sent to find him.

All unaware of the tense atmosphere within he pushed open the big doors and entered. A dramatic fraction of a moment, and the clerk had called the name and Senator Campbell had answered "No."

Had he answered in the affirmative the suffrage bill would have carried in the senate and the suffragists say the house would have been easy sailing. Suffrage would have been submitted to the voters.

TURMOIL STARTS OVER THE GRAIN SCALES BILL

A lively session of the house grain and warehouse committee suddenly was terminated after George Loftus, manager of the Equity Exchange, vigorously resented statements by J. H. McHugh, secretary of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, to the effect that the committee was being used as a "catspaw" in an advertising scheme superintended by the Equity Exchange.

A four-hour discussion of the bill by Representative Magnus Johnson, compelling the installation of track scales at terminal points and abandonment of hopper scales, came to a climax after Mr. McHugh had spoken but a moment.

"Through the medium of this committee Loftus is attempting to strike a knife into the Chamber of Commerce," McHugh said.

Loftus leaped to his feet.

"Mr. Chairman," he exclaimed, "I insist that the gentleman discontinue his statements reflecting upon me. And if he does not abide by my wishes I shall take care of him after this meeting."

Amid an avalanche of motions, one to adjourn, another to go into executive session and still another to take immediate action on the bill, Representative J. M. Harrison of Minneapolis moved that the bill be laid over until the next meeting. After several roll calls on other motions, this suggestion prevailed.

The meeting, for the most part, was devoted to charges and counter charges of unfairness.

Advocates of the measure insisted that farmers of the Northwest are losing thousands of dollars yearly because of inaccurate weighing on the hopper scales.

"Fifty-seven elevators and mills in Minneapolis today are weighing grain in hopper scales to the disadvantage of the farmer," Mr. Loftus declared.

Sharp division among the committee members was apparent, but those in favor of the bill are believed to be in a majority.

RED ROSES AND YELLOW JONQUILS

St. Paul, March 6.—Red roses and yellow jonquils bloomed in the lapel of almost every senator's coat when the suffrage bill came up in the legislature. Miss Rita Kelly, a prominent anti-suffragist, stood at the door of the senate chamber and pinned a rose on every senator who would commit himself on that side, as he entered.

Would Require Labels on Jams.

If Senator Henry M. Benson's bill, introduced into the senate, becomes a law, all jams, jellies and marmalades manufactured or sold in the state will bear labels that will let the buyer know what are the percentages of each kind of fruit used. The bill provides that the labels shall be printed in type not smaller than eight point gothic. No preservatives of any kind, coloring matter or injurious drugs may be used. A similar bill was offered by Representative I. J. Lee in the house.

TRACTS CLEARED OF MALARIA

Gratifying Progress Has Been Made by Those Interested in Conquering the Disease.

Malaria, to which children are susceptible, has been made largely a preventable disease by a study of the mosquito carrier, its breeding places and natural history, and by inoculation experiments on animals and man.

It was proved by Italian observers that the mosquito disseminates bird malaria in the same manner as in the human subject.

The final upshot of these investigations has been that large tracts of hitherto waste and dangerous land have been rendered safe and productive. A widespread cause of debilitating sickness, and even of death, has thus been removed.

In such areas the saddest sight has been the stunted, anemic children, with enlarged livers and spleens, the evidences of chronic malarial poisoning, that can now be obviated by putting modern knowledge into effect

DRINK LOTS OF WATER TO FLUSH THE KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat and Take Salts for Backache or Bladder Trouble—Neutralize Acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

A German looking for a person by the name of Dunn, who owed him money, asked a young fellow near Sweeny's eating house where No. 66 Chatham street was, as he "wished to find Mr. Dunn."

The fellow told him to go into Sweeny's eating house and the man near the window was Mr. Dunn. The German went into the eating house and went up to a man who happened to be an Irishman.

"Johnson," he said, "name the principal properties of water."

Must Have Healthful Sleep.

Edison, the inventor, has been quoted as saying that little sleep is necessary, and that the time will come when mankind will not sleep at all, and therefore not waste a fourth or fifth of valuable time in the 24 hours of the day in a condition equivalent to death. At the moment, of course, Mr. Edison was breaking into the role of the professional humorist. All of the things called nature demands rest, and the most eloquent description of misery ever written was that in Macbeth," when it was declared that the murderous thane should sleep no more —that he had murdered sleep. So the person who fails to have healthful sleep has in one way or another murdered sleep.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879.

The Democratic party have put in the first half of their four years administration, so take another hitch in your belt and prepare for two years more.

Congress adjourned March 4th, and it is hoped that President Wilson will let it stay adjourned until the next regular session, as the country needs a little rest.

St. Louis county is taking up a lot of the legislature's time in fighting over a county division law. Of course the main opposition comes from Duluth, who now have the county seat, but some act should be passed to divide that county, for the best interest of northern Minnesota, and we hope to see those who favor Division succeed.

The bill to repeal the Elwell road law passed the Senate by a good big majority notwithstanding the automobilists tried to create the impression that the northern part of the state is against its repeal. Of course this law is fine for collectors, bankers and real estate dealers to rush over the country on graded roads, but it is h--l on the farmers who have to pay the taxes to build them.

A bill has been introduced in the State Senate to exempt the cities of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth from the county option law. The reason as given, is that Hennepin county in which Minneapolis is located is sure to vote out saloons, and Ramsey county, St. Paul's county is sure to vote them in. The street car companies are likely to oppose this bill, as they would be sure to have a tremendous increase in business by the Minneapolis fellows going over to St. Paul to get a drink of something stronger than soda water.

Cutting Off Mail Service.

The prospects are that Goodridge will have to wait for a post office and a government mail route until after a change of the present administration, and continue to run their mail route at private expense.

The people living on the south side of Red Lake River will be compelled to put in a special mail route to do business after July 1st, for four days a week, while Uncle Sam can do it in two days.

Any one desiring to get the real inside facts of what ails the post office department can get them by reading Congressman Steenerson's speeches made in Congress on December 18—31, 1914, and on February 18, 1915, entitled "POST OFFICE APPROPRIATIONS — CUSTOMS DUTIES---DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION." Any one can get a copy of this speech by addressing Hon. H. Steenerson, M. C., Washington, D. C. In his speech, he said:

"The Post Office Department proposes to reduce the rural carrier service, and they propose to refuse all new star routes and rural routes, and they propose to economize at the expense of efficiency. They propose to get out of the odium by saying that it is due to the war, which we can not help, but we will show that it is due to blundering Democratic legislation, which we can help and which we will help in the near future. [Applause on the Republican side.]"

There is no help for the present conditions of the mail service, and it now looks as if owing to the present finances of the government that mail service will continue to be cut down instead of extended for the next two years, which of course retards the development of new countries.

Now that county option is disposed of it will not be necessary for a candidate for the office of pound master to declare himself in favor of county option in order to get votes.

That law to repeal the county option law in big cities should be promptly put to sleep. Let the entire state try the law for two years, then it will be time enough to talk about repealing, or amending it.

The bombarding of the Dardanelles scared wheat prices down a few cents, but there is no prospect of war ending, and soldiers must be fed.

Polk County was the first to start a county option petition, on last Saturday, and will have it completed this week. In the eastern end of the county is where they can get the signers thick, and they will all vote solid for county option. Crookston wanted to keep Columbia county in Polk and now they have got it.

STEENERSON'S AGGRESSIVE FIGHT.

Congressman Steenerson has made an aggressive and a bold fight to try to extend and improve the mail service, but he is going up against great odds, which will not be quite so bad in the next session of Congress, as there will not be so large a Democratic majority. However the present powers that be are like a blind horse that is walking toward a stone wall, they will not turn to the right or left until they "go bump against it," which the Dems will do at the next election.

Offensively Officious.

"You always go home exceedingly early, old man."

"Yes. Our neighbors are the cause of that."

"How so?"

"If I stay downtown a minute late they come right over and condone with my wife."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Caviar.

Caviar is the roe of the sturgeon prepared as a table delicacy. As a dish too rare to be known by the generality of people and the flavor of which would not be relished by an uneducated palate. Shakespeare makes Hamlet speak of it.

British Field Marshals.

A British field marshal never retires from the army. He may be placed on half pay, but is still borne on the active list. By the regulations there must not be more than eight field marshals receiving pay as such—that is, exclusive of honorary field marshals, such as foreign kings, emperors and princes. Of the eight regular field marshals two must be selected from the Indian army. The position of field marshal is a great one. The field marshal commanding in chief in the Mediterranean gets £5,000 a year. Probably a field marshal actively employed will get at least £3,000 a year. This is better than the pay of an admiral of the fleet, who may be said to be a naval field marshal, and gets only a little over £2,000 a year, exclusive of allowances.—Ireland's Own.

COWBOYS OF SPAIN.

Splendid Horsemen, but They Use Spurs Without Mercy.

The perfection of Spanish horsemanship is to be seen among the vaqueros, ganaderos and garrochistas, by which various names the mounted herdsmen of the Andalusian plains are known—in brief, what we should call a cowboy. Every farm seems to maintain a large number of these, for each herd, flock or drove has its own herdsman, goatherd or swineherd, as the case may be. The vaqueros are a fine looking lot of men. Tall, thin, light and loosely made, they look ideal horse men, as, in point of fact, they are, though their mounts are poor.

The vaquero rides very high on a huge saddle, with a long stirrup and straight leg, using a single rein and a very heavy curb, but he has such beautiful hands that, although using this barbarous bit, he never cuts his horse's mouth about. It is different with the animals' sides, however, for he uses his spurs without mercy, and the white horses—of which there are a large number—all have ominous red stains behind the girths.

All the herdsmen who look after cattle carry a long lance, called a garrocha, of thick and heavy wood, which, except when standing still, they always carry "in rest" and not "at the carry," presumably on account of its great length and possibly its weight. With this weapon, in the use of which he acquires amazing dexterity, the garrochista is able to control the most unruly brutes in the herd, not excepting the savage fighting bull.—Wide World Magazine.

Delayed "Last Moments."

In the battle of Friedland, on June 14, 1807, there was a young lieutenant in Napoleon's army named Schramm. When the victorious general was riding over the battlefield that evening he came upon the eighteen-year-old officer lying on the ground mortally wounded, and weeping bitterly.

"Why do you weep?" asked Napoleon as he rode by.

"Because I must die before I can become a captain," the youth complained.

The words of the dying lieutenant softened the emperor's heart. "My son, I shall gladly fulfill your wish," he said. "I hereby advance you to the rank of captain."

The unexpected promotion actually saved the boy's life. He recovered. Later on he fought most valiantly for the cause of Napoleon, and by the time of the battle of Waterloo he had already become a general. He outlived his "last moments" on the field of Friedland by more than seventy years.

Wm. Causin is moving onto his Kratka farm this week.

Judge Wilde will hold a term of Court to-morrow.

Mrs. Ole Lee died at her home near Erie on Sunday last.

C. L. Clark and W. H. Wilde made a business trip to Goodridge Wednesday.

The weather turned colder last night, and a snow storm is on tap to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hunt visited Mr. and Mrs. Sever Nelson on Monday.

K. M. Kratzer will go down to Thief River Falls next Monday to post notices of intention to become a citizen at the next term of Court.

John Homme of this township, and Ole Heidahl of Kratka, are to settle a dispute about the price of digging a well and putting a pump therein, in the Justice Court of W. H. Wilde, Justice of the Peace.

There are quite a number of our subscribers who undoubtedly intended to pay up their yearly subscription last fall, who have forgotten it, so we thought we would just remind them of it. Think the matter over, and see if you are one of the forgetters.

We are devoting some attention to looking up the question of the farmers making shipments of farm produce by parcel post, and as soon as we get the full particulars of where to get suitable baskets and boxes for shipping we will publish full information.

The ferry at Highlanding is likely to go down the river when the ice goes out this spring, if it is not properly chained. It seems to us that there had ought to be some one to take care of that ferry, and keep it in order, and get pay for doing it, either by charging for crossing, or by the town or county.

The Stixrud brothers' sale held on Tuesday was largely attended, and all property sold, brought extra good prices, Cows sold at the fancy prices of about seventy-five dollars per common bred cow. Grain sold above the market price. Oats at fifty-one cents, and flax at two dollars and twenty cents per bushel.

Crookston and East Grand Forks have discovered that County Divison is just what the people of that county want, with the line drawn just east of Crookston. The people of the eastern part of the county are not devoting any attention to County Division, but are pretty solid for County Option. As we still have quite a large circulation in eastern Polk county, we take some interest in the welfare of our subscribers down there, and will publish some articles touching on the option campaign now on tap in that county.

The sensational articles published in the last week's issues of both of the Thief River Falls papers, regarding the arrest of Hickory residents for allowing liquor at a public dance, was more of a "frame up" than an endeavor to enforce the law. The real facts of the matter is, that a neighbor enemy of Wojnarowski used this method to "get even" with him for some real or fancied wrong, instead of any real desire to see the law enforced. However we hope Mr. Wojnarowski will see to it that the kickers up of this muss are not allowed to smell of an empty whiskey bottle around his premises in the future.

A New Way To Pay Wages.

Last June, post master Singer of Kratka, hired a man by the name of John Mikolos, a new comer from Germany to work for him on his farm, at an agreed price of one hundred dollars for three months work. After the man, had worked some seven weeks, the board given and the usage of Singer decided him to seek employment elsewhere. Singer settled up with him, and promised to pay him on November 1st. When asked for the money on November 1st, Mr. Singer informed him that he (Singer) did not owe him any thing, and refused to pay him. Mikolos brought suit for his wages before Judge Tarrant and after delaying the case as long as possible it was finally brought to trial last Friday, and judgment obtained for forty-five dollars, and cost in favor of Mikolos.

Singer set up as a counter claim one hundred dollars damage for an old straw bottom that had been burnt during the time that Mikolos worked for him, claiming that it had caught fire from a smudge built by Mikolos. Edward Singer the present Fire Warden was staying there at the time, and slept a greater part of both day and night in a tent near the straw pile. Mikolos says that he carefully put out all fires built by him that morning to smudge away mosquitoes, and that the old straw bottom did not burn until about noon, which undoubtedly led the Court to believe that the burning up of that straw pile was one of the usual ACCIDENTAL fires that Singers have, and did not consider it of any value to offset labor done for the Defendant. It was one of those usual carefully laid out schemes which failed to work this time.

Without rising from his seat, Doctor Breckinridge instantly retorted, "And you could not possibly cite an authority that would have less weight with me!"

SUBMARINE U-29 SINKS 4 BRITISH SHIPS IN 3 DAYS

GERMAN UNDERWATER CRAFT ALSO DESTROYS FRENCH STEAMER AND DAMAGES THREE OTHERS

BRITISH VICTORIOUS IN FLANDERS BATTLE

Claim Teutons Lost 10,000 While Total Number of Prisoners Taken Aggregate 1,720—English Airmen Destroy Train Near Lille—Belgians Gaining.

London, March 15.—The submarine U-29, one of the largest and fastest of German underwater craft, had a successful three days off the Scilly Islands and in the English channel, where she succeeded in sinking four British steamers and one French steamer, and in damaging three others.

The German commander gave the crews of most of the steamers time to leave their vessel and in some cases towed the ship's lifeboats with the crew to passing steamers by which they were brought to port. The U-29 was chased by patrol boats, but proved too elusive for them, while steamers which tried to ram or escape her found her much faster than similar German craft sent against Great Britain's overseas trade.

Liner Reported Torpedoed.

With a German submarine in the waters around the Scilly Islands, which the big liners pass on their way across the Atlantic, there is much uneasiness in shipping circles, and a report, which also reached the American liner New York by wireless was circulated to the effect that one of them had been torpedoed. This report, it is believed, arose from the sinking of the Andalusian, which belongs to the Elerman Line.

The British feel that they more than evened matters up for the loss of these steamers by the victory at Neuve Chapelle and the defeat of the Germans in their effort to recover the ground gained by the British regulars and Indians on the preceding days.

Germans Lose 10,000 Men.

According to the report issued by the war office the Germans on Saturday morning delivered several minor attacks, and in the afternoon a very heavy one, all of which were repulsed. The total number of prisoners taken in three days was 1,720, while it is estimated that the total German losses were not far short of 10,000.

British airmen also had been active again and have destroyed a train at Don, a short distance from Lille. This co-operation between the air and land forces has become more pronounced, the airmen always being active when any fighting is in progress, to observe the movements of German troops.

The Belgian army continues to gain a little ground at the bend of the River Yser, and in Champagne, the Argonne and the Vosges there has been fighting of varying importance. The Germans have again bombarded Ypres, Soissons and Rheims. In the latter two towns the cathedrals have suffered further damage.

The French have occupied Embermenil, midway between Luneville and Rixengen, on the borders of Lorraine.

PROTEST AGAINST THE WAR.

Prominent American Women to Meet in The Hague Next Month to Help End Struggle.

New York, March 15.—A delegation of prominent American women, headed by Jane Addams, will visit The Hague next month to attend a woman's peace conference, designed to formulate a protest against the war, it was announced here by Madame Rosika Schwimmer of Hungary, president of the Hungarian Woman's Suffrage association. Madame Schwimmer said the plan is to have the conference adopt an appeal to women of royal blood and to others of influence in the warring countries to help end the war.

For three days, beginning April 28, Madame Schwimmer said, she expects from 200 to 300 American women to take part in the conference, as well as women of belligerent countries.

Reward Submarine Crew.

Leipzig, via London, March 15.—A citizen of Leipzig has offered a second reward of 3,000 marks ($750) to the crew of the German submarine which sinks a British troop transport. The first gift of a similar nature already has been distributed.

Plea for Rate Increase.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 15.—Railroads operating in Oklahoma, who seek to have re-established a 3-cent per mile rate for intra-state passenger traffic are expected to open their case in the United States district court here at once, before Judge Frank A. Youmass. They will attempt to show by introduction of their records for the last two years, that they cannot make operating expenses on passenger traffic with the present 2-cent rate in effect. Freight rates will not enter into the case.

British Embassy Calls Attention to Lax Enforcement of Law at New York.

Washington, March 15.—Closer watch than ever before is to be kept in the future on ships which clear from American ports, in accordance with the government's determination to make more rigid its precautions against violations of neutrality.

No general orders have been issued to collectors of customs, but it was understood that the collectors at New York and Boston have been told to scan the manifests of all vessels which ask for clearance, and to make such investigation.

The recent indictments in New York in connection with ships which are alleged to have furnished coal at sea to German warships in violation of American neutrality, are known to have caused the British embassy to call the attention of the state department to what appeared to be lax enforcement of the law.

FLOUR MAILED TO GERMANY

Parcel Post Package Is Likely to Become Matter of International Attention.

Washington, March 15.—A parcel post package was mailed here which is likely to become a matter of international attention.

It will be of special interest to Minneapolis and the entire northwest for it contains flour—25 cents worth—of the best product of the grain of the northwest.

The sender of the package is Dr. George Barthelme, editor of the Cologne, Germany, Gazette, who is trying this method of breaking the British food embargo to Germany. The final disposition of the package and its treatment by belligerent powers will now be watched with keen interest.

Experiment Worth Price.

Doctor Barthelme paid 84 cents postage on his 25 cents worth of flour, an expensive rate on so inexpensive a package, but Dr. Barthelme said he thought the experiment would be worth the price, if he can see whether or not the United States mail will carry flour to Germany.

He regards the post rate prohibitive, except that should it come about that Germany and Austria were reduced to a condition of starvation, in which event the two belligerent governments might be willing to pay any price to have food shipped into their countries.

Many Send Copper.

There is another angle to the test. If flour can be shipped by parcel post, then why not other articles, such as copper, of which the Teutonic empire is in such tremendous need.

The five pounds of flour were addressed to Julius Dittner, Breitestrasse, 64, Cologne, Germany. When Dr. Barthelme presented his package, properly wrapped, at the Washington postoffice the clerk had him fill out a customs declaration and only inquired whether the package was so wrapped that the customs declaration could be verified by United States inspectors. The clerk then threw the history-making bundle into a basket full of parcels, destined to leave for New York.

Collision at Sea Averted.

Halifax, N. S., March 15.—A narrow escape from collision with a big freighter during a blinding snowstorm was reported by the United States ice patrol steamer Seneca which put in here. The freighter, a Danish vessel, bound east, was bearing down on the Seneca at good speed when she was sighted. There was barely time for the two steamers to alter their courses and only a few yards separated them as they swept past each other.

Fiction and Reality.

It is a simple truth to say that many things happen in fiction which would be quite impossible in fact, as any censor knows. It is in failing to distinguish between these two that many artists and most critics blunder and this error is in effect the same as that of the ambitious actor who, having once to play the part, for the first time, of an intoxicated ruffian in a certain melodrama, went to a neighboring tavern and intoxicated himself. He thought that this would storm the house, but on the contrary he was immediately fired by the management for a fool—and rightly.—F. H. Martin, in the Book Buyer.

KIDNEYS CLOG UP FROM EATING TOO MUCH MEAT

Take Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers—Meat Forms Uric Acid.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

DECLARES EITEL'S CAPTAIN RIGHT IN SINKING THE FRYE

COUNT BERNSTORFF, GERMAN AMBASSADOR, DEFENDS ACTION OF THIERICHENS UNDER LONDON RULE.

CARGO OF AMERICAN SHIP DESTINED TO HOSTILE PORT

So Long as There Was No Harbor Into Which Teuton Commander Could Take Prize He Had Right to Destroy Vessel, Says Ambassador.

Newport News, Va., March 15.—Five British warships are patroling the entrance of the capes to head off any attempt by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich at a sudden dash for freedom.

Washington, March 15.—Count J. H. von Bernstorff, German ambassador, in discussing with state department officials the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye, defended the action of Captain Thierichens, of the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, contending that he acted under the declaration of London, which was the only guide he had as to disposition of prizes.

The ambassador before going to the state department conferred with Captain Boy-Ed, naval attache of the embassy, who returned from Newport News, where he went to hear the story of the sinking of the American vessel from the commander of the Prinz Eitel.

Germany Sends No Instructions.

Count Bernstorff did not present any note to the state department and said he had received no instructions from his government. He said he called to discuss the question informally and to learn what was the view of the United States.

In defending the action of Commander Thierichens, the ambassador contended that when the officer left Tsingtau at the outbreak of the war last August, he had nothing to follow but the declaration of London in deciding what to do with vessels he might seize. For that reason the ambassador argued, he had a right to sink the Frye as its cargo of wheat was consigned "to order" and destined to a fortified port of the enemy. So long as there was no port in which he could take his prize he had a right, the ambassador contended, to destroy not only the cargo, but the vessel itself.

Regards Judicial Niceties.

Furthermore, the ambassador argued that the commander of the Prinz Eitel, when he sank the Frye, did not know that a German prize court on Aug. 3 had held that the mere fact that a merchant ship was bound for an enemy port was not sufficient proof that its cargo was destined for the enemy.

The case of the Frye, however, the ambassador said, would have to be settled in accordance with international law because of the present status of the declaration of London.

"We do not intend," he said, "to disregard any of the judicial niceties in the case."

U. S. To Decide Upon Course.

The full story of how the American sailing ship William P. Frye was sunk in the south Atlantic with its cargo of wheat by the German commerce raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, was officially laid before the American government by the Frye's commander, Captain H. H. Kiehne.

Upon Captain Kiehne's formal statement, made before state department officials, the United States will decide upon its course, which probably will be a demand for an expression of regret from Germany and payment for the los of the ship and cargo.

FORMER ASSOCIATES PAY TRIBUTE TO CLEVELAND

Mr. Cleveland was born in the manse here on March 18, 1837, while his father was pastor of the church in which the meeting was held.

Fight Under Ground.

Paris, March 15.—A subterranean struggle has been in progress for several months in the vicinity of the Alger farm, east of Rheims, says an official note which describes the operations. Sapping and counter-sapping progresses on one side or the other up to the moment mines are exploded. The advantage rests with those who take the initiative.

MOTHER! LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs"

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

GIVES $20,000 TO THE POPE

Story Reveals Characteristics of the Present Occupant of the Pontifical Throne.

An anecdote is being told about the pope which shows his natural simplicity of manners. Since his childhood his holiness has been a great friend of a Genoese nobleman who was in the habit of calling him by his Christian name and used the diminutive of James, "Giacomino," corresponding to the English "Jimmy." This nobleman was recently received in audience by the pope, who when he saw him kneel down said: "No, no; Jimmy won't allow you to do that."

The pope and his friend had a long talk and the nobleman, who is very rich, asked the pope to allow him to present him with some gift. "I have a splendid old silver service worthy of a pope and I want to give it to you," said the nobleman. "No, thank you," replied the pope. "I have no use for a silver service; what I need is hard cash, which is more useful for the church." The nobleman asked permission to sign a check there and then and gave it to the pope. He drew it for $20,000, as that was what the silver service was worth.

"Now take my old friend Tad," said the stranger. "I like him personally. In fact we are the best of friends, but as an artist he is punk."

"You know Tad, then?" Tad asked.

"Know him! I should say I do."

"I'll bet you $5 you don't know him," said Tad, reaching for his wallet. The $10 was deposited on the table.

"Now," said the cartoonist, "how are you going to prove that you would know Tad if you saw him?"

"That's a cinch," chuckled the stranger as he gathered in the money. "You are Tad."

CHILDREN SHOWED IT

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was not coffee, but a most healthful drink for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.

"I was in despair and determined to give Postum a trial, following the directions carefully. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavor.

"In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better month after month, until now I am healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to nerve-destroying coffee for any money."

SENATE VOTES TO AMEND MINNETTE TELEPHONE BILL

COMMITTEE MAKES CHANGES IN TWO IMPORTANT FEATURES —HOUSE PASSED BILL BY UNANIMOUS VOTE.

REFERENDUM PROVISION STRUCK OUT OF MEASURE

Act Provides for Granting of Franchise to Competing Company Only by State Railroad Commission— —Applicant Must Show "Public Necessity" at Hearing.

St. Paul, March 15.—In a session from which reporters were at first barred, but later admitted, the senate committee on public service corporations amended the Minette telephone bill passed unanimously by the house a few days ago, in two important features. Senator Getorge H. Sullivan, who is leading the opposition to the bill in the upper huse, moved the "executive session" and newspaper men were excluded from the room during the first part of the committee's discussion of the measure. They were later admitted and it was explained their dismissal was a "mistake." The bill is to be a special order in the senate next Wednesday.

One of the amendments adopted strikes out the referendum features of the bill, under which a competing telephone system may be given a permit in a municipality on a 65 per cent vote of the people. This was done by a vote of 5 to 2, Senators C. N. Orr and Edward Rustad voting to retain the referendum feature, and Senator Jas. A. Carley, Geo. H. Sullivan, W. S. Dwinnell, F. D. Vibert and J. A. Rystrom voting to cut it out.

Must Show Necessity.

As amended, the bill provides that a competing company cannot be granted a franchise in a community except by the state railroad commission after a public hearing, at which a "public necessity" must be shown. Those favoring the referendum say that if it is left to the state commission, judging by the experience of other states, competing companies never will be allowed to get in.

The other amendment changes the section under which applications are made for physical condition of toll lines. The bill provided that when such application was made, it should be presumed that a public necessity existed. This put the burden of proof on the company resisting the application. The amendment provides that the railroad commission shall first determine whether a public necessity exists. If the commission so decides, the company objecting must show in court that the order is unfair. The amendment shifting the burden of proof to the applicant was carried four to three, Orr, Rustad and Dwinnell voting no.

Senator Carley fought for another amendment, requiring the consent of the railroad commision before any extensions of toll lines shall be built. This was defeated, however, Senators Orr, Rustad, Dwinnell and Rystrom voting no.

LEGISLATORS CRITICISE "U" FARM EXTENSION WORK.

Attacks on the county agent system and on the agricultural extension work of the University of Minnesota were made at a public hearing on university matters before the house committee on public accounts and expenditures. County agents, who are assisted by the state to the extent of $1,000 each, were branded as "nuisances" by C. A. Wold. Magnus Johnson and other members. President George E. Vincent and Dean A. F. Woods defended the system, saying it is the university's idea to go to the people. John Lind, former president of the board of regents, urged the legislature not to go to extremes.

EFFICIENCY BILL BEFORE HOUSE AS SPECIAL ORDER

C. P. Craig, of Duluth, president of the state fair board and chairman of the efficiency and economy commission, issued a statement regarding the efficiency and economy bill which comes up as a special order before the house at 2 p. m.

"You know this is not a matter that is entirely strange," Mr. Craig said. "The essentials of this bill were contained in a report printed last May. The fundamental features of the plan are all in that report which was sent to every candidate for the legislature and to every newspaper and commercial body in the state. It has been given plenty of publicity and it is not as though this were an entirely new proposition."

To Exchange Money Orders.

Washington, March 15.—Negotiations are in progress looking to arrangements for the exchange of money orders between the United States and the principal countries of South America. A statement issued by the post office department said the negotiations were well under way and probably would be consummated soon. The department announced that foreign exchange conditions had improved so much recently that it had been possible to remove the $100 limit on money orders for most countries.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. WAITING FOR YOU

Yes, waiting for every farmer or farmer's son — any industrious American who is anxious to establish for himself a happy home and prosperity. Canada's hearty invitation this year is more attractive than ever. Wheat is higher but her farm land just as cheap and in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta

160 Acre Homesteads are Actually Free to Settlers and Other Land at From $15 to $20 per Acre

The people of European countries as well as the American continent must be fed—thus an even greater demand for Canadian Wheat will keep up the price. Any farmer who can buy land at $15.00 to $30.00 per acre—get a dollar for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre is bound to make money—that's what you can expect in Western Canada. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed Farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent.

Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is an unusual demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service in the war. Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Superintendent Immigration, Ottawa, Canada; or to

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Goodridge is to have a farmers elevator. A good move in the right direction.

There is not likely to be any contest over the election, at Plummer on the license question, as the wets won by a vote forty seven to twelve, which had ought to make Plummer wet enough.

The Pennington County Agricultural Association have decided to hold their annual fair at Thief River Falls, on Sept. 4—5 and 6. of September. A. H. Fasel was elected president, and W. J. LaBree secretary of the association this year.

The Minnesota State Fair will be held the week of September 6th to 11th this year, and it promises to be bigger and better than ever, and that is saying something, as our state has the reputation of being the leading state in the union on state fairs.

RED LAKE COUNTY AND COUNTY OPTION.

Since the county option law has been placed on the statute books of Minnesota there has been much speculation as to what will be its effect upon conditions locally.

The county is frequently referred to as the probable oasis of the desert of northern Minnesota and that is not without reason for the county probably will remain in the "wet" column.

However, that condition will be of only temporary duration and those non-residents who are considering Red Lake county as a permanent "watering place" are uninformed.

Should there be a vote on county option at once there is little doubt that the county would remain "wet," but the majority would be small. The peoole who favor a "dry" county would be unwise to petition for an election at this time, for in that case another election could not be called for three years; that being a provision of the law.

Of course the "wets" could start the machinery for a special election with the purpose of making the county wet for several years. That too, would be very unwise. That stunt would be most sure to make the county dry on the first vote.

The natural conclusion is that either the "wets" or "drys" would make a mistake by starting the election machinery in motion at this time and it is well that it is so, for under the peculiar situation that would simply result in useless agitation.

If, as anticipated, all of the northwestern part of Minnesota except Red Lake county, should go dry within the present year, public sentiment will in a comparatively short time make Red Lake county dry also. It will be well if both wets and drys refrain from "starting something" now; both have something to gain by waiting.

This is, of course, only the editorial opinion, but it is no doubt an opinion shared by most people who have given the question any serious thought.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Part of the above will apply to Pennington county. County option would not benefit the people of this territory to any great extent, if Red Lake county remains in the "wet column." Enthusiastic county optionists had better consider this before making haste to call an election. Give the people a little chance to post up and consider the question.

The voting out of license in the town of Poplar River, Red Lake county, will close that saloon at Brooks, which has been the cause of many crimes committed, murder among one of them. A saloon without proper officers to control it, is certainly a public nuisance.

Polk county is now having a hot county opition campaign, and county option will win. Crookston now wants county division, but they are to late to stop the east end from voting out license. After they have placed the county in the dry column for three years, they can devote their energy to county division. But the boys who like to have a glass of beer well enough to auto over to Red Lake Falls will find plenty of it for sale at five cents a glass.

POSTAL INSPECTOR FOR CROOKSTON.

Crookston will in the future have a postoffice inspector with headquarters here. W. Fleming formerly of Mitchill and Rapid City, South Dakota, has arrived and will be followed in a couple of weeks by his wife and daughter. Mr. Fleming has been connected with the government service for twenty years and is well acquainted with his work. Crookston has been in the need of a postal inspector who will make his headquarters here, and in the coming of Mr. Fleming the problem has been solved.—Crookston Times.

SHADOW PICTURES.

The Silhouette as the Origin of All Pictorial Art.

In the year 1759, when Etienne de Silhouette was minister of finance under Louis XV., a man whose name has not been preserved started in Paris an exhibition that he called Chinese shadows. This consisted in throwing upon a sheet the black outlines of men or objects and making these shadows take part in a play. It so happened that at this time Silhouette was unpopular. He had spent many years in England and had returned to his native country greatly impressed with English methods of public economy. Undertaking to apply these principles to French finances, he met with decided disapproval by the Parisians. But little thanks did he get except to have his efforts branded as parsimonious.

Some one recalled that M. de Silhouette had written a book, "A General Idea For the Government of the Chinese," in which he exploited his economical theories. The popularity of the Chinese shadows was responsible for the jibe that Silhouette had issued the book as an advance notice for the show; hence the shadows were called silhouettes, and the name was naturally extended to portraits that were then coming into vogue, in which were presented only the outlines of faces and figures filled in with black.

Though the fashion and the name of the silhouette are of comparatively recent origin, the art itself is ancient. It was used by Etruscan potters eight centuries before Christ, and a classic legend, which has been illustrated by Benjamin West in a famous picture called "The Origin of Painting," claimed that all pictorial art originated in an attempt to paint the fleeting shadows of men and women as they fell upon a wall or a blank space.—Detroit Free Press

Fascinated by His Model.

The weekly meeting of the Married Ladies' Society For the Better Control and Guidance of Husbands had just been called to order by the president.

"Members will now tell their troubles, one at a time," said the chair.

A meek looking little woman stood up in a far corner of the room.

"My husband," she quavered, "is in love with his model."

The buzz of gossip suddenly ceased, and all eyes were turned upon the speaker.

"But your husband is not an artist," argued the president. "He runs an iron foundry, doesn't he?"

"Yes'm," said the meek lady, "but all the same he loves his model. You see, he's a self made man."—London Standard.

MEDIEVAL PUNISHMENTS.

Queer Old Laws of England That Have Never Been Revoked.

Although the stocks, like the pillory and the ducking stool, have been done away with, a lot of punishments survive in England which are every bit as medieval.

The most ludicrous of these exist in the two services—the army and navy—which were renowned in the past for the cruelties practiced in them in the name of justice. "Keelhauling" as carried out in the navy used, of course, to amount to execution by drowning, while in the army "running the gantlet" was a popular way of punishing troublesome soldiers.

Here is another queer punishment which never has been removed from the statute book. If you are motoring or driving in England beware lest you run over anybody, for if you do so and cause his death your motorcar or carriage can be confiscated. Even a falling tree that caused the death of a human being can be taken from its owner.

The strangest punishment which still survives under modern law in England is that of "outlawry." Only a few years ago—in 1906 to be exact—a lawyer charged with forging a check was "outlawed" in the Glasgow high court. By this sentence the person of the accused is declared forfeit. He cannot bear testimony in a court nor sue nor defend an action. He cannot act on a jury nor vote at an election nor act as tutor or guardian to another person. If any one robs him he has no redress. If any one kills him it seems rather doubtful if that person can be hanged.—Pearson's Weekly.

A New Way To Pay Wages.

Later: continued from last week.

Of course Singer appealed, hoping to convince a jury of Pennington county jury men to give him a verdict.

He did that in one case, when it was Singer V. S. Joe DuChamp and expects to work the same smooth game this time. He has had so much experience in law suits, that an ordinary man can not compete with him, when it comes to giving evidence, as he is an expert.

This same man Mikolos when he first came over from the old country, worked for George Singer at Rhoda for a week, and received five dollars in payment. That was easy for George, as he got Mikolos to leave the five dollars with him, old George, the honest (?) postmaster at Rhoda, for safe keeping.

When Mikolos asked Mr. Singer for his money in the fall, George gave him the "ha, ha" and as there was no witnesses to the leaving of the money with Singer, Mikolos lost the five dollars, but he is willing to make affidavit of the above facts.

Life Belts Aren't Cork.

Most people if asked what life belts were composed of would answer, "Corks." But it isn't so nowadays. Cork life belts are nearly as dead as the dodo. The substance almost always used nowadays is a fibrous stuff called kapok, obtained from a plant that grows in Java. Kapok was used to stuff cushions for many years before the idea was hit on of using its beautifully buoyant qualities for nobler purposes. The most buoyant material known to be in existence is, however, made of poppy heads. Experimental buoys have been made of this material, but not with very satisfactory results. Poppy heads crush too easily to make a perfect substance.—Pearson's Weekly.

Sikh's Disk of Death.

Sikh soldiers can certainly claim to possess a unique form of weapon. This is a hand thrown missile composed of metal similar in shape to the discus, familiar in Roman history. Its edge is sharpened like a razor, and the weapon, when thrown with a peculiar circular motion, has extraordinary penetrating power. It cuts like a knife through paper when it strikes any object in its path.

At a distance of a hundred yards the disk is capable of cutting its way through a piece of hard wood two inches thick. It is the peculiar twist given to the weapon when it is thrown which causes the cutting edge to bury itself so remorselessly in anything that it meets. It is doubtful whether any but the Sikhs could effectively use this unique weapon.

DAY OF THE QUILL PEN.

When Writing Paper Was Poor and Envelopes Were Unknown.

The constant mending required by quill pens must have proved a severe trial in the days when no others were available, says the London Chronicle. Alexander I. of Russia thought it necessary to employ a man whose sole duty consisted in cutting pens. He was required to have a supply of not less than 100 quills always ready.

This number was by no means excessive, for Alexander would never use the same pen twice. Even the writing of a signature spoiled a pen, in his opinion, for subsequent use. The quill cutter, who received a salary of £340 a year, accompanied the czar on all his journeys, including campaigns against Napoleon.

Writing implements changed considerably for the better during Sir Walter Gilbey's long spell of life. "Though quill pens are still in use," he remarks in his "Recollections of Seventy Years," "I remember the time when one seldom saw any other kind. Steel pens in their early days were expensive and ill made, and few people used them. The paper we had seventy years ago may have been partly to blame. It had neither the substance nor the surface we take as a matter of course nowadays.

"I remember when envelopes came into use, and what a boon they were considered after the old system of closing letters with wafers or wax. Before envelopes were invented letters were always written with an eye to the position of the wafer or seal, a blank space being left to correspond with the space where this would be put on the outside, lest the written portion should be torn in opening."—New York Sun.

NEW LEAGUE OPPOSED TO CHARTER RENEWAL

Minneapolis Body Organizes to Fight Proposed Street Railway Legislation—Statement Says It Is Too Soon to Begin Negotiations With Traction Company.

Three of the big railroad men of the Northwest, with James J. Hill in the stellar role, have laid bare to a legislative committee some intimate information regarding railroad affairs in support of the bill which would raise passenger rates from 2 to 2½ cents a mile.

No effort was made to show that the railroads are pauperized by present passenger and freight rates, but it was strongly emphasized that the present rates afford so meager a return on the investment that only a belief in the future of this state warrants the railroads in so much as entertaining for a moment the thought of future extensions.

St. Paul, Minn.—A resolution has been prepared and may be introduced in the house Monday to create a legislative commission of five senators and seven representatives to investigate anew the subject of efficiency and economy in the state government, after the present legislature adjourns, and report to the 1917 legislature. Friends of the economy bill, which will be a special order in the house Monday at 2 p. m., privately admitted there is little chance of its passage.

State Auditor J. A. O. Preus sent in his report to the state senate responding to the G. H. Sullivan resolution asking what saving in state expenditures would result from passing the efficiency and economy commission bill. As stated previously, Mr. Preus estimates a saving of about $80,000 a year in state administration if the bill passes. His reasons for this estimate are:

Consolidations of commissions, bureaus and departments in six departments should lessen the number of state employees, reduce clerical labor, enable the directors to standardize penses of the state in printing reports salaries and reduce the cost of ex-

Abolishment of 47 boards, he says, would reduce the expenses of the state for traveling and otherwise.

Abolition of the boiler inspection department and the continued collection of fees by the labor department for such inspection would bring revenue into the state.

The Preus report figures that under the present law the administrative departments would cost $4,120,890 for the coming two years. He estimates that under the reorganization plan they could be run for $3,959,770.

Minneapolis Citizens Organize.

Twenty Minneapolis citizens, styled the executive committee of "The Public Franchise League of Minneapolis," have issued a statement "to the Citizens of Minneapolis," in which they oppose any negotiations at this time looking toward a new franchise for the street railway company. The statement declares the time inopportune for negotiations and asserts that the question should be discussed in a municipal campaign before being considered by the council.

WOULD THRUST STATION PROBLEM ON VILLAGES.

While Minneapolis and St. Paul have been having their Union Station difficulties, Dr. J. W. Andrews of Mankato has introduced a bill in the senate that would give every village and city in the state the same Union Station problem.

Senator Andrew's bill provides that whenever two or more railroads enter a city, village or town, the Railroads and Warehouse Commission may order the construction of a Union Station.

"Whenever public convenience demands and it is practicable, the railroads shall build Union Stations," The bill reads.

Costs $5,000 to Pass Each Bill.

Appraising the legislature's work up to date by the bills that have reached final passage, it has cost the state about $5,000 for each measure placed on the statute books. The session has cost $162,267 so far, and 32 bills have been deposited with the secretary of state. Aside from the county option act, the new laws are of little importance.

Roads Could Charge 3 Cents.

Representative C. M. Bendixen's bill amending the 2-cent passenger rate law was advanced from general orders to the calendar, after an attempt by the author to obtain final action.

The supreme court interpreted the present Bendixen law to mean that a railroad could charge 3 cents a mile for the first five miles of any trip, instead of 3 cents a mile for trips not exceeding five miles, as was intended by the bill.

The amended bill would correct this feature.

APRIL 22 LAST DAY OF PRESENT LEGISLATURE.

Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith ruled that April 22 is the last day on which the present legislature can convene and transact business. In his letter to the house and senate he also held that no bills can be introduced after March 29 without a special request signed by the governor.

RAILWAY FRANCHISE MEASURE INTRODUCED

St. Paul, March 17.—By a vote of 68 to 57 the house of representatives adopted an amendment to the University investigation resolution eliminating the section calling for a special committee, and instructing the public accounts and expenditures committee to continue its inquiry. The vote came after the most stormy session since the opening of the present legislature, during which personalities were hurled across the chamber and it was suggested that two members retire to a committee room and decide their personal questions by physical combat.

The result of the vote was considered a victory by friends of the University, who put forth a most vigorous fight against the Malmberg-Greene-Lydiard resolution.

Six Hennepin county senators offered in the senate a street railway franchise bill applicable to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, designed to take the place of the Dengre-Orr bill, of which much criticism has been made in Minneapolis. The measure gives the city council of any of the cities mentioned the power to grant a 30-year franchise subject to approval on a referendum to the voters and with provisions for an option to purchase by the city at 10-year periods.

FRIENDS OF NOLAN BILL WIN PRELIMINARY FIGHT

Friends of the so-called "Nolan bill," introduced by Senator W. A. Campbell and identical with the bill vetoed by Governor A. O. Eberhart two years ago, which would give municipalities the right to regulate electric lighting companies, won a preliminary victory in the senate.

The bill had been amended in the committee on public service corporations so as to apply only to Minneapolis and reported without recommendation. The understanding was that Senator W. A. Campbell would move to refer it to the Hennepin delegation, it still to retain its place on general orders.

Senator E. J. Westlake spoke in favor of Senator Sullivan's motion.

FROG PROTECTION BILL IS POSTPONED IN SENATE.

The lowly frog has no friends on the senate committee on general legislation. That committee voted to indefinitely postpone the bill Representative P. H. Frye introduced in the house and had passed protecting that amphibious animal from extinction, as the Representative told the committee. The bill provided that frogs might be killed or caught and offered for sale only for the purpose of bait.

The same committee also killed Representative Steven's bill passed by the house, providing for a constitutional amendment abolishing the taking of the state census. Representative Leavitt Corning's bill providing that newspapers should be required to allow candidates, attacked in their columns, the right to answer through their columns within forty-eight hours after the attack had been printed was also indefinitely postponed. The bill passed the house and was the subject of long debates there arising out of the representative's campaign fight in St. Paul.

Elwell Road Law Upheld.

One day after the Elwell road law was repealed in the house the supreme court declared the law constitutional.

St. Paul, Minn.—The Elwell road law enacted by the Minnesota legislature of four years ago was repealed when the house by a vote of 79 to 42 passed Senator Vermilya's bill, which passed the senate two weeks ago.

Debate continued for more than two hours. Northern Minnesota, it was pointed out, is in favor of the law, while southern sections of the state are vigorously opposed to it.

The bill will be returned to the senate for concurrence in Representative Wardner's amendment which stipulates that petitions already granted shall not be affected and also that contracts pending shall not be affected.

House Far Behind in Work.

The lower house of the Minnesota legislature is so far behind in its work that there is every indication that only half as many laws will be passed this session as were put on the books by the legislature of 1913.

In 1913 there were adopted 594 laws. With two-thirds of the session of 1915 gone, less than 50 bills have weathered the various legislative hazards and reached the statute books.

Would Require Bond of Contestants.

An election contestant would be compelled to file a bond of $500 with the clerk of the district court to be used in paying the expenses of his victorious opponent, if a bill introduced by Representative Frank E. Nimocks of Minneapolis becomes a law. It is claimed by the author that the state would save $5,000 annually, as the contestants hereafter would pay the expenses instead of the state. The house passed bills reimbursing to the amount of $2,600 members of the house whose seats had been contested.

DREADNAUGHT BOUVET IS SENT TO THE BOTTOM WHILE BOMBARDING POSITION IN THE DARDANELLES.

BRITISH BATTLESHIP IRRESISTIBLE BLOWN UP

Ottoman Warships Shell Russian Torpedo Boat Base West of Theodosia in Crimea, Setting Fire to Many Buildings and Damaging Russian War Craft.

London, March 22.—The British battleships Irresistible and Ocean, and the French battleship Bouvet, were blown up by floating mines while engaged with the remainder of the allied fleet in attacking the forts in the narrows of the Dardanelles.

Bouvet's Crew Lost.

The crews of the British ships were virtually all saved, having been transferred to other ships under a hot fire, but an internal explosion took place on board the Bouvet after she had fouled the mine and most of her crew were lost. The Bouvet sank within three minutes of the time she hit the mine.

Explosives Set Adrift.

The waters in which the ships were lost had been swept of mines, but the British admiralty asserts that the Turks and the Germans set floating containers of explosives adrift and these were carried down by the current to the allied ships gathered inside the entrance of the straits.

Constantinople, via Berlin and Marconi wireless to London, March 20.—The French battleship Bouvet, bombarding the Dardanelles forts, has been sunk by the guns of the Turkish forts, the war office announced in an official statement.

The official statement declares that the Bouvet was sunk inside the strait. The allied fleet, the war office stated, opened a heavy fire upon the Dardanelles forts, swinging in at close range and hurling shells at intervals of less than a minute.

The forts returned the fire and shelled the Anglo-French warships with great effectiveness. Official reports said that several of the enemy's warships withdrew from the battleline, badly crippled, before the Bouvet suddenly tilted over and began to go down.

May Abandon Attempt.

Following the disaster to the Bouvet, the allied fleet withdrew, steaming out of sight off Tenedos island. Rumors were circulated here that the attemtp to force the Dardanelles may be abandoned.

Turkish warships, the war office also announced, have bombarded the Russian torpedo boat base west of Theodosia in Crimea, setting fire to many buildings and damaging Russian warcraft. This was the first official confirmation of reports circulated two weeks ago that the Turkish fleet has withdrawn from the Dardanelles strait and is operating in the Black Sea.

Only part of the Turkish fleet participated in the bombardment of the Russian torpedo boat base, according to the official announcement. The bombardment lasted but a few minutes, but the Turkish fire was unusually well directed.

U. S. GUNS STOP GERMAN SHIP

FIRE SHOTS AS STEAMER LEAVES SAN JUAN.

Halts Steamer Odenwald as She Attempts to Pass Out Without Clearance Papers.

San Juan, Porto Rico, March 23.—The German merchant steamer Odenwald, which attempted to leave port without obtaining clearance papers, was stopped as she was passing out of the entrance to the harbor by two shots across her bow from a 5-inch gun and a dozen shots from a Maxim. She then returned and was taken in charge by the collector of customs.

Permission to sail was refused the Odenwald by the collector, pending instructions from Washington. The Odenwald has been at San Juan since Aug. 6. She was bound for European ports from the West Indies with freight and passengers and sought refuge here. Three days ago she began coaling and taking on provisions.

Failing to obtain the necessary clearance papers, her commander apparently decided to risk the attempt to put to sea. A heavy gun on Morro castle sent two shots across her bows by way of warning, but it was not until the machine gun opened a direct fire that the steamer stopped and headed back to port.

Washington, March 22.—Secretary Bryan has given out the messages exchanged between him and Admiral Dewa, official representative of Japan at the Panama-Pacific exposition, who is preparing to return home.

The message from Admiral Dewa, who is at San Francisco, said:

I will return with the message of your good will toward Japan with a full assurance that it will cement the friendly relations between your and my countries."

To this Secretary Bryan replied:

"Your kind telegram just received. Your visit to the United States gave renewed assurance of the cordial friendship existing between our two countries and we are gratified to learn from you that your stay among us has given you pleasure. Allow me to say in return that our people have been favorably impressed by your personality and by the speeches you have made. Your coming has given additional proof of the advantage to be derived from an exchange of visits.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

London, March 20.—The British steamer Glenartney of Glasgow was torpedoed off Beachy Head by a German submarine, which gave no notice of her intention In the scramble for boats one of the crew was drowned, the others, numbering 4, several of whom were injured, were picked up by a steamer and landed at New Haven. The Glenartney, which was of 3,309 tons register, was bound from Bangkok, Siam, for London, loaded with 8,000 tons of rice.

ITALY SAID TO BE READY TO FIGHT AGAINST AUSTRIA

TEUTON SUBJECTS ADVISED BY THEIR CONSULS TO LEAVE ITALY AT ONCE SAYS ROME DISPATCH.

GERMANY'S EFFORTS ARE SAID TO HAVE FAILED

Endeavor to Secure Continued Neutrality of Italy by Inducing Austria to Cede Trent Does Not Meet With Success—First Line Italians Called.

London, March 23.—The relations between Italy and Austria are believed to have reached an acute stage. A dispatch from Rome says Austrian and German subjects have been advised by their consuls to leave Italy in the shortest possible time and that a number of Germans who recently arrived in Italy are being watched because of the suspicion that they are military spies.

There have been reports for some days that Germany's efforts to secure the continued neutrality of Italy by inducing Austria to cede Trent and other territory to her were not meeting with success. Italy, it was said, was demanding that the territory be handed over to her at once but that the Teutonic allies desire to make the transfer after the war.

Italians Called to Colors.

Following this came reports that Austria had commenced strengthening her southern frontier, and, according to a dispatch received at Paris from Rome, Italian officers of all arms belonging to the first line, who have been on half pay, have been called to the colors.

In military circles here this order is considered significant, it being contended that these officers belong to the public administration, from which they would not be called until the situation was serious. No Austrian news on the subject is available in London, the censor in that country having, it is said, prohibited any comments.

Greece Makes Ready.

There also are reports that Greece is preparing to adopt a more active attitude. Following a series of prolonged cabinet meetings at Athens, the Greek minister of marine is quoted as having said that the Greek government had received all guarantees and to have indicated that the country was about to engage in some enterprise.

As the chief objection to former Premier Venizelos' policy for helping the allies against Turkey was declared to have been that Greece had no guarantees that she would receive adequate compensation this statement of the minister of marine is considered in high circles in London as an intimation that the new Greek government is now satisfied with the allies' guarantees.

Arrested as German Spies.

Port Arthur, Ont., March 22.—Carl Schmidt and Gustoff Stephens were placed under arrest on their arrival here, on suspicion of being German spies. In their possession when arrested were loaded revolvers, fuses and typewritten time tables regarding train movement. It is said they crossed into Canada at Detroit, Mich.

Pastor Charged With Arson.

Newark, N. J., March 20.—Rev. Louis H. Patmont, under indictment for arson in this county, has been arrested here and is being held in bonds of $1,500 for his appearance.

Under the indictment, Patmont is charged with having set fire to the Polish Christian Baptist church, this city, five years ago, when he was pastor of the church.

Patmont denies his guilt and states that all his troubles are due to those who are wilfully trying to wrong him.

ZEPPELINS DROP BOMBS ON PARIS; RESIDENTS CALM

SEVEN OR EIGHT INJURED BUT ONLY ONE SERIOUSLY—DAMAGE DECLARED TO BE UNIMPORTANT.

AIRSHIPS ALSO RAID OTHER FRENCH TOWNS

Let Missiles Fall on Compiegne, Ribecourt and Dreslincourt, but Without Serious Result—French Aeroplanes Rise to Attack Germans.

Paris, March 23.—Zeppelin airships raided Paris at daybreak and dropped a dozen bombs. Seven or eight persons were injured, but only one seriously. Four of the aircraft started for the capital, following the valley of the Oise, but only two reached their goal.

Missiles also were dropped at Compeigne, Ribecourt and Dreslincourt, but without serious result. Paris remained calm while the aerial invasion was in progress and residents of the city exhibited more curiosity than fear as to the results. Trumpets gave the signal that all lights must be extinguished as soon as warning was received of the Zeppelins' approach.

Aeroplanes Make Attack.

Searchlights were turned upon the clouds, anti-aircraft guns opened fire, and aeroplanes rose to attack the Germans, but their operations were hampered by a heavy mist.

An official communication regarding the raid declares it served only to show how well the defensive arrangements would work out when put to the test. The statement was as follows:

"Between 1:15 and 3 o'clock in the morning four Zeppelins started toward Paris from the direction of Compiegne, following the valley of the Oise. Two were compelled to return before reaching Paris, one at Ecoven (10 miles north of Paris), the other at Mantes (on the Seine, 36 miles from Paris). The other two were attacked by anti-aircraft guns and only passed over outlying districts of the northwestern part of Paris and neighboring suburbs. They withdrew after having dropped a dozen bombs, some of which did not explode. The damage done was unimportant. Seven or eight persons were injured, but only one seriously.

Guns Open Fire.

"The different stations for anti-aircraft defense opened fire upon the Zeppelins, which were constantly kept illuminated by searchlights. One appeared to have been hit. The aeroplane squadron took part in the action, but mist hampered pursuit.

"Summing up, the Zeppelin raid on Paris was a complete failure. It only served to demonstrate how well the defensive arrangements work. The population was calm. On their way back the Zeppelins dropped a dozen incendiary or explosive bombs on Compiegne, doing only unimportant damage. Three bombs were dropped on Ribecourt and Dreslincourt, to the north of Compiegne, without result."

YACHT WITH MILLIONAIRE OWNER ABOARD AFIRE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—The gasoline yacht La Sota, with her millionaire owner, Morgan Adams, his bride of a month, and ten friends aboard, all of this city, burned six miles off San Pedro. The party took to the lifeboats and were picked up within an hour by the motorboat Sally S., from Catalina.

Back-firing of the engine caused the blaze. When it was seen that there was no chance to check the flames the women aboard were put over the side into two tenders. The men in the party and the crew followed them into the boats with as much luggage as they could rescue from the cabins.

Adams and his bride were on their honeymoon.

THUMB TIED IN BANDAGE ARRESTED AS A BURGLAR

Winona, March 22.—When the police were called to the Milanowski billiard hall, following a burglary there, they found the print of a right thumb in blood stains in many places. A window had been broken out in gaining entrance. The theory was that the intruder had cut his thumb in forcing his way into the place. Accordingly, a quiet hunt was instituted for a person with an injured thumb. Emil Rozek appeared at the rooms with his thumb bound in a bandage. The police arrested him. He denies his guilt.

Mueller Case May Be Dropped.

Seattle, March 22.—Arraignment of Wilhelm Mueller, German consul at this post, and his secretary, on charges of violating a state conspiracy law, was continued until Tuesday in the supreme court at the request of Mueller's counsel. Prosecuting Attorney Lundin announced that he had arranged to confer with Doctor Mueller next Tuesday, and if the German consul could convince him the charges on which he was technically arrested were groundless he would dismiss the case.

GOOD SUGGESTION FOR EMMY

Some May Insist, However, That It Is Possible She Didn't Need the Exercise.

Emmy brought in an armful of wood for the fire.

"My dear," said her husband, "you shouldn't do that."

She lifted the heavy case of berries to the table and sat down to look them over.

"I'd help you if I wasn't waiting for Bates to come over and look at the new filly."

The grocer's boy deposited a dollar's worth of sugar on the floor and Emmy took it up and put it in the sugar pail on the lower pantry shelf.

"You really shouldn't," said her husband.

Finally she lugged the iron preserve kettle to the sink for the last time and went out for another pail of water.

"I hate to see you lift so, Emmy. My, how many glasses have you got? It's my favorite jam. I'll get you a case of cherries tomorrow."

Emmy went on getting up a hearty supper.

"Seems as if you didn't eat much," commented her husband. "Don't you want to walk down with me tonight while I finish that rubber with Stetson? The exercise will do you good."—The Craftsman.

Basis for a Garden.

"What are you and your little friends doing out there in the backyard, Tommy?"

"We're the allies, ma, an' we're diggin' trenches."

"Well, don't dig the trenches too deep, and I'll ask your father to drop a few seeds in them."

Sweet are the thoughts that savor of content. The quiet mind is richer than a crown.

Resume of Important Happenings of Past Few Days.

PRISONER'S BAIL INCREASED

Alleged Operator of Fake "Wiretapping" Syndicate Unable to Raise $17,500 Bond.

Minneapolis.—Dan Le Bar's total bail was fixed at $17,500 by District Judge C. S. Jelley La Bar is under indictment on charges of swindling and grand larceny in connection with the operations of a fake "wire tapping" syndicate in Minneapolis. In court Albert H. Hall, counsel for La Bar, explained to Judge Jelley that he had meant nothing personal when, in arguing against an increase in the prisoner's bail, he said he hoped the court "would have the moral courage to base the bail on the facts and not on the gossip of newspapers and on the wishes of county officials." Judge Jelley accepted the explanation. La Bar was not prepared to furnish the increased bail and was returned to the county jail.

The clash between Mr. Hall and Judge Jelley came when La Bar was arraigned on a grand larceny charge just voted by the grand jury.

"I hope when the court fixes bail it will have the moral courage to base it on the facts and not on the gossip of newspapers and on the wishes of the county officials," Mr. Hall said in pleading that the $10,000 bond be not increased.

"Mr. Hall," said Judge Jelley, "you must take it for granted that this court will have the moral courage to fix the bond on fact. There will be no more argument now."

After Hall had objected to his client being haled into court on a John Doe warrant, saying that it was an outrage for so prominent a citizen to be thus treated, County Attorney John M. Rees told the court that state would insist on a larger bond. Asked by the court to explain what he meant by a "larger bond," Mr. Rees said: "The defendant is now held on $10,000 bonds in two cases and is charged in a third case on which no bonds have been given. The state believes that, combining the third case and the present larceny case, an additional bond of $10,000 ought to be given."

"That is ridiculous," Hall declared. "The indictment of the wiretappers, so-called, resulted from a political feud and because one of the men indicted ran away the county attorney and the newspapers are trying to make a goat of La Bar."

CARLETON WINS STATE MEET

College Debater Will Represent Minnesota in Interstate Contests at Galesburg, Ill., in May.

Northfield.—Carleton college of Northfield, represented by Robert Calhoun of St. Cloud, won first place in the State Intercollegiate Oratorical contest here, his oration being, "The Evolution of Power." Ivan Jones of Hamline university, who was second in the contest, spoke on "The Conquering Army," Selmer Berg of St. Olaf, Northfield, was third. Macalester college was represented by P. B. Bremicker, and Gustavus Adolphus of St. Peter by Paul Hansen.

Mr. Calhoun will represent Minnesota at the interstate oratorical contest to be held at Galesburg, Ill., May 21.

Mr. Jones volunteered to substitute for Robert Kells, who was taken ill with quinsy. After a hurried conference at which a futile effort was made to postpone the contest, Jones volunteered to commit to memory the oration of Mr. Kells and deliver it at the contest. The other colleges conceded this. Mr. Jones worked two days studying Mr. Kells' manuscript. He went to Northfield and was accompanied by a large delegation of students to cheer him on. When the decision of the judges awarded him second place was announced, the presiding officer told the audience of the feat of the Hamline man and he was roundly cheered and congratulated.

Bread Peddlers Deny Guilt.

Minneapolis, March 18.—When arraigned in municipal court Harry Foremen and Mark McCann, employes of the Purity Bread company of St. Paul, arrested here by W. Pett Morgan, city weighmaster, on the charge of peddling without a license and selling short-weight bread, pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until March 23.

Appoints Suryevor for Ditch

Roseau.—George Ralph, appointed by Judge Watts as surveying engineer for the proposed judicial ditch north and East of Roseau, passed through Roseau to Warroad, from which point he will direct the survey. He will put on two crews and hopes to complete the work by April 1. He says the drainage system will be one of the best and most complete in the state. The area to be drained lies between Roseau river, Mud creek and Algoma township.

IF THE TWIN CITIES ARE "DRY"

No Conventions Will Come, Declares Simon Kruse Before Senate Committee on Temperance.

Minneapolis, March 18.—"No conventions will come to the Twin Cities if they are 'dry,'" declared Simon Kruse of the Radisson hotel before the senate committee on temperance in a hearing on Senator P. A. Gandrud's bill providing for a constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of liquor. Mr. Kruse was among several Twin City hotel owners and managers who spoke against the measure.

"Convention delegates all over the country are writing to us right now," said Mr. Kruse, "to find out whether Minneapolis and St. Paul will be 'dry.' If the hotels of a town are prosperous the business houses will be so too. Prohibition will mean the enforced idleness of hundreds of hotel employes. Do you men want all the big cafes in the Twin Cities to close? They can't exist with prohibition enforced."

C. A. Windle, employed by the Twin City hotel and business men spoke for nearly an hour to the effect that "Prohibition is contrary to the rule of reason, un-Christianlike, an insult to human intelligence and an attack on personal liberty."

W. G. Calderwood, defeated candidate for governor, answered Mr. Windle's arguments and declared that many of them were fallacious and others based on wrong premises.

DULUTH MAN LEAVES $250,000

William H. Cole, Mining Prospector, Had Estate Valued to Quarter of a Million Dollars.

Duluth, Minn., March 19.—William H. Cole, Duluth mining man, who died March 8, at Pasadena, Cal., left an estate valued at upwards of $250,000, according to a petition filed in probate court by D. B. McDonald, who asks to be appointed executor in accordance with the terms of a will, which the petitioner seeks to have admitted to probate.

Mr. McDonald was associated with the late Mr. Cole in a number of mining enterprises.

The petition recites that Mr. Cole left personal property consisting of stock, notes and bonds, estimated to be worth upwards of $210,000, and real estate valued upward of $3,500. The bill which is offered for probate was drawn by Mr. Cole on Oct. 17, 1914, and leaves $100,000 to his widow.

'U' PROFESSOR TO GO TO YALE

John Zeleny, Head of Physics Department at Minnesota, Accepts Position at New Haven.

Minneapolis, March 19.—Professor John Zeleny, head of the department of physics in the University, will accept an offer made him of the headship of the corresponding department in Sheffield scientific school at Yale university, according to a letter received from him by his brother, Dr. Anthony Zeleny, also of the University of Minnesota.

For the past year Professor John Zeleny has been in England on leave of absence, studying at Cambridge university.

POLICEWOMAN TO CENSOR BATHING SUITS AT LAKE

Minneapolis, March 18. — Bathing suits and conduct of women at Calhoun beach will be censored the coming summer by a policewoman of "proper intellectual attainments and force." This was decided upon by the playgrounds committee of the park board upon the recommendation of Superintendent Wirth.

The policewoman will put a ban upon bathing suits that are too gaudy, too abbreviated, or too low-cut—also the white suit which is diaphanous when it is wet.

WILL NOT ALLOW BELGIANS TO SETTLE IN MINNESOTA

Duluth, March 19.—Plans for the establishment of a colony of Belgian farmers in northern Minnesota received a setback when officers of the Duluth Commercial club, which had completed arrangements for the leasing of several thousand acres of farm lands, received a letter from Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, saying he "feared the plan is not feasible at this time as the German military authorities positively refuse permission to Belgian subjects to leave the country."

Fireman Becomes Hero.

Minneapolis, March 20. — George Glenn, city fireman, always wanted to be a hero. He got his chance. While his comrades of Engine Company No. 2 cheered, he dangled at the end of a 40-foot rope over the Mississippi and under the Twentieth avenue north bridge to rescue a hat.

It was just a little hat, but there were tears in the woman's eyes. While crossing the bridge the hat made a leap with a sudden gust of wind and volplaned to the ice below. She went to the engine house. George, a substitute, beat his pards to it when she called for volunteers.

Flee From Fire in Scant Attire.

St. Cloud.—Forced by fire to fare forth from their home in scanty night attire, members of the family of A. Miesen, a farmer living six miles southeast of this city, was compelled to drive three-quarters of a mile wrapped in horseblankets and robes from the stable, before they could escape a chilling March wind. The members of the family were unable to save any clothing other than their night attire, one daughter narrowly escaping with her life when she attempted to return for clothin

As It Seemed to Fitztop.

"Was your father a pirate?" asked young Fitzstop of the girl of his choice at a clandestine meeting, after the old sea captain had urged his exit from the family mansion on the hill by the use of his pedal extremity.

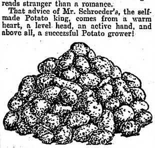
"No, my darling," was the reply. "Why do you ask?"

"He seemed to me to be a good deal of a free-booter," said the young man, reflectively.

A POTATO ROMANCF

"If I were a farmer boy, or a boy without capital, and wanted an early competency, I'd start right out growing Potatoes," said Henry Schroeder, the Potato king of the Red River Valley, whose story in the John A. Salzer Seed Co.'s Catalogue reads stranger than a romance.

That advice of Mr. Schroeder's, the self-made Potato king, comes from a warm heart, a level head, an active hand, and above all, a successful Potato grower!



Do You Know, Mr. Farmer,

there is more money in five acres of Potatoes year in and year out than in anything you can grow on your farm, and the growing of Potatoes now, with present machinery, etc., is easy. It's regular Fourth of July fun!

Salzer's Creations in Seed Corn put Wisconsin on the Corn Map with its astonishing yields!

INDICATIONS OF AN EARLY SPRING

Great Prosperity Ahead for Western Canada.

The most recent advices from all points in Western Canada report that conditions are apparent for an early spring. Farmers are going over the implements, getting their seeders ready for operation, the plows in shape for extended breaking, and there is a general optimism. A great many new settlers have already arrived, and the reports from Canadian Government agents in the United States point to the fact that in a few days there will begin the usual emigration from various of the Central and Western states. From the Eastern states the number of farmers going to Canada will be greater than in any past year.

There has been a fairly large snowfall during the winter, which will greatly add to the precipitation of last fall, which in the opinion of old-timers was in itself sufficient to insure a good crop during the present year.

There will be very little tilled land that will be without a crop this year. The authorities, though, are pleading with the farmers to seed only such land as has had careful preparation, for rich as is the soil of Western Canada, it is no more fitted to produce good crops uncultivated than is that of any other land anywhere else. There have been accounts of failures in some portions of the agricultural districts of Western Canada, and also reports of small yields in some districts. A good deal of this is accounted for from the fact that notwithstanding the advice of men of experience, there are farmers who will persist in seeding land not properly prepared. This may be done this year, but those who cultivate on reasonable and logical methods will be certain of a paying crop. There is every reason to believe that the high prices of all kinds of grain will continue.

With thousands and thousands of acres of land waiting for the husbandman to bring it forth with a crop, it is no wonder that Western Canada is continuing to prove such an inviting field for the agriculturist.

Seventy million dollars is a conservative estimate of orders which came to Canada as the direct result of the war. Governments of the allies have been placing large orders in Canada and buying huge quantities of supplies for cash.

The total value of exports to Europe from Canada has jumped about 15 per cent since the war started, while in certain lines the increases have been enormous.

Therefore the results of the demand of the allies for war and other material is beginning to be felt in the financial life of the Dominion. There is a marked activity in many commercial lines, and conditions are fast becoming normal.

Western Canada is receiving a relative benefit to the East.—Advertisement.

Just Any Kind.

Betty and two of her playmates spent an hour shaking Betty's bank and then rushed to the corner store with the single coin they were able to entice through the slot.

"What's for you, little ones?" asked the storeman.

Throwing the coin on the low glass case, Betty replied with an air of contented indifference:

"Our folks are all rich. Jist give us a cent's worth of any kind of candy."

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

When we consider that there is now six hundred miles of battle front on the battle line between Germany and Russia; and that there is active fighting on the entire front line, we must come to the conclusion that there is somewhat of a scrap on tap over there in Europe.

A lot of people who wept with rage over our failure to attack England for scarching American ships are perfectly satisfied with our peaceful policy regarding the sinking of the William P. Frye. —Duluth Herald.

President Wilson does not get excited over the loss of a few merchant ships, and drag the country into war. If the ship owners take the risk of carrying controband of war goods to nation at war let them take their own chances of disaster.

The disturbers of peace, who are carrying on an endless war in Mexico can consider that they are fortunate in having as powerful a nation as the United States for a neighbor. If they had had either Germany or England in the same position as the United States they would soon be at peace under their flag, or if it had not been for our protection under the Monroe Doctrine, they would have been gobbled up by a foreign power long ago. The United States will not interfere in their revolations or allow any other power to interfere so they are at perfect liberty to keep on indefinately with their revolutions.

Polk County is developing a county division fight, that is likely to be as big a fight as the one to divide St. Louis County. Those who are in favor of having a saloon license county, are trying to divide so as to set off the territory east of Crookston and form a new county. The temperance people of Crookston who want county option are bitterly opposing county division at this time. A.A. Miller and Charles Loring are at St. Paul opposing the present scheme to divide, while the "wets" have a strong lobby there working for it. The people of some of the east end villages who have long sought to divide the county are willing accept any division or plan to divide, just so they can get county division.

The Walrus' Defenses.

A full grown walrus will weigh as much as 2,000 pounds, a mountainous mass of muscle and blubber. He is armed with tusks of ivory sometimes two feet in length, and when from his upreared bulk these formidable weapons are plunged downward upon an enemy they are as resistless as the drop of a guillotine. Such a thick layer of blubber lies under the skin that he is practically clad in an armor impervious to teeth and claws alike. —St. Nicholas.

Flight of a Bullet.

The same projectile propelled by the same power will travel farther if projected vertically than if projected on a horizontal line four feet from the ground. Thus a bullet fired vertically with a velocity of, say, 100 feet per second, will ascend to a height of 155.3 feet, while if fired with same speed horizontally four feet from the ground will strike the earth at a distance of fifty feet.—New York American.

Curious Legend.

At Painswick churchyard, a pretty spot between Strond and Gloucester, England, there are ninety-nine yew trees. The hundredth always dies, though it has been planted many times. A local story says that "when the hundredth lives after it has been planted the world will end."

MYSTERY NOISES.

Of Unknown Origin, They Sound Like Muffled Thunder.

COMMON IN THE OLD WORLD.

These Curious Boomings, That Puzzle Science, Heard at Times From Australia to Ireland, Are Akin to the "Moodus Noises" of Connecticut.

It is a hot and tranquil summer afternoon on the Belgian coast in time of peace. Strolling along the shore you are startled by a muffled detonation that seems to come from somewhere far out at sea. Can it be thunder? There is not a cloud in the sky, and you remember that thunder is rarely audible at a greater distance than fifteen miles. A man-of-war at target practice, perhaps—far in the offing. At this point your Belgian friend explains. It was the "mistpoeffer," he says, and a sign that the weather will continue fair.

But what is the mistpoeffer? If you can answer that question you can also explain the mysterious Barisal guns of India (Barisal is the name of a town in the Ganges delta), which have puzzled scientific men for half a century. You can explain also the strange rumblings that in certain parts of Italy seem to come from nowhere in particular and are known to the peasantry under forty or more local names, the desert sound of the Australian wilderness, the water guns of Lough Neagh in Ireland and the aerial detonations that occasionally startle Californians during the warm season.

For example, in September, 1896, to quote the Santa Rosa Republican, "a tremendous explosion, presumably in the air, occurred near Cazadero. It was heard by the dwellers of the mountain region over an area of 900 square miles."

All noises of this kind resembling thunder, but not traceable to that or any other known agency, are now generally called in scientific literature brontidi, a name first used by Professor Tito Alippi, who has made a special study of these phenomena in Italy.

The "Moodus noises," familiar to old residents of Moodus and East Haddam, Conn., are probably kindred phenomena, although they seem to be somewhat more definitely associated with subterranean earth shocks than are typical brontidi, and the same may be said of the gouffre of Haiti, which—at least in some cases—is easily recognized as of subterranean origin.

Although systematic investigations of brontidi are of recent date, occurrences of the phenomena have been recorded from early times. Lord Bacon mentions "an extraordinary noise in the sky when there is no thunder," and similar sounds were known to Humboldt and Boussingault. Captain Sturt, a pioneer explorer of Australia wrote in 1829:

"About 3 p. m. of Feb. 7 (during the Australian summer) Mr. Hume and I were occupied tracing the chart upon the ground. The day had been remarkably fine. There was not a cloud in the heavens nor a breath of air to be felt. On a sudden we heard what seemed to be the report of a gun fired at the distance of between five and six miles. It was not the hollow sound of an earthly explosion or the sharp cracking noise of falling timber, but in every way resembled the discharge of a heavy piece of ordnance.

"No one was certain whence the sound proceeded. Both Mr. Hume and myself thought it came from the north west. I sent one of the men up a tree but he could observe nothing unusual. The country round him appeared equally flat on all sides and thickly wooded. Whatever occasioned the report, it made a strong impression on all of us and to this day such a sound in such a situation is a matter of mystery to me."

Science has not fully solved the mystery of brontidi, but it can hardly be doubted that the origin of these sounds is really subterranean. From a focus far underground the jar of settling rocks sends vibrations to the surface—not at one spot, but over a wide area. Even if the overlying air is calm and homogeneous it also is set in vibration and if the vibrations are of the right period to be audible the result is a booming sound of altogether indefinite location. It is simply "in the air."—Youth's Companion.

Duluth is overrun with laboring men, who are living on charity until they can obtain work. There is not one of this class of people but what could obtain work if they would get out of the cities. But they will stay there until they are shipped out by the employment agencies, and as soon as they earn a few dollars they rush back to the cities to spend it. There is quite a large number of successful farmers in this locality, who came from the cities, but they did not go back, but as fast as they got ahead enough they invested in land, and now are not depending on a day's work for a night's lodging, but have their own beds to sleep in, and their own breakfast tables to eat their breakfast at.

A laboring man who worked for a man a few miles from here last summer, heard the following instructions given by a husband to his wife, in case that the buildings were insured higher than their worth, and you desired to burn them up to get the insurance. Viz: Just take a common tallow candle and light it. Then look at the clock and note how long it takes the candle to burn down a certain distance. Then when you want to set fire to the house, take another candle and light it, then take cotton batten and kerosine it good, and put it around the candle with plenty of other things to catch fire when the candle burns down so far. By taking the time it took the first candle to burn down, you can be far away from there when the house catches fire, and if you had a candle long enough you could be in Minneapolis, where the old man was when the house burned.

The Highlanding Creamery opened their doors for the season's run last week. They have engaged the services of O. H. Ross as butter maker for this season. Now it is up to the farmers to patronize their co-operative creamery. This creamery has paid thousands of dollars to the farmers of this locality during the past five years, and as it was built by them and is owned by them, they should give it their patronage.

CHICKEN BREEDS.

We note that we hardly see the name of brown leghorn chickens mentioned at the poultry shows. But they are the boys and girls that can deliver the eggs. We have the brown leghorns and a crib of corn to feed them from during the winter. We can now count chickens in the morning and eggs at night, and they just balance. We have not followed any instructions of feed or breeds, but have given the brown leghorns plenty of corn during the winter, and they are now produceing the eggs, and that's what counts.

Lazy farmers are just as useless as dead ones and take up more room.

There are two kinds of farmers. One tries to take all the advice he hears and the other won't take any at all.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.:—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

RUSSIANS BATTLE FOR CARPATHIANS

SLAVS SEEK POSSESSION OF THE RAILROADS RUNNING SOUTHWARD INTO HUNGARY.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN ITALY

Diplomats in Balkan Capitals Endeavor to Reorganize League to Insure Simultaneous Intervention on Side of Allies.

London, March 29.—The battles for the Carpathian passes continue with extreme violence, this being the only region where, for the moment, fighting on a large scale is taking place. The Russians who recently regained possession of Dkula Pass, are pushing their way toward Bartfeld on one side and Svidnik on the other.

Should they succeed in their object the Slavs would then be in possession of the heads of the railroads running southward into Hungary. At the same time they are carrying on offensive operations against Uzsok Pass to the east.

Russians Withstand Attacks.

At Tukholka pass, still further to the east, the czar's forces apparently are satisfied to withstand the Austro-German attacks against their very strong positions at Koziouwka, which the Germans have tried so often to capture.

Along the rest of the eastern front the battle is of a desultory character, which is doubtless due to the fact that the snow is melting under the warmth of the spring sun, and the rivers are either open or are covered with such a thin coating of ice that they will not bear any weight.

In the west also the commanders are waiting for better conditions before making any effort on a large scale, although the French here and there are attempting to capture the positions which would give them an advantage when the general offensive is decided upon. Their most recent efforts have been directed against the heights of the Meuse, to the east and south of Verdun, in which both they and the Germans claim to have made gains.

The object of these operations is to compel the Germans to evacuate St. Mihiel, where their line reaches the River Meuse, causing a considerable bending of the French front.

Demonstrations in Italy.

In Italy big demonstrations were held calling upon the government to take action to realize the ambitions of the country while in the Balkan capitals the diplomats of the allied nations are busily engaged in an endeavor to reorganize the Balkan league and insure the simultaneous intervention of all the Balkan powers on the side of the allies. Before this can be done Serbia must be induced to make concessions to Bulgaria in that part of Macedonia which fell to her after the last Balkan war.

The Germans also are active in Sofia and are trying to induce Bulgaria, by the cession of part of European Turkey, to remain neutral.

Masses Attended by 16,000.

St. Paul, March 29.—Crowds estimated at more than 16,000 persons attended the five masses at the informal opening of the Catholic cathedral of St. Paul. The church seats 2,700 worshipers and the aisles were thronged at each of the services. Archbishop John Ireland, who has pushed the cathedral building project for ten years, celebrated the first mass at 6 a. m. A crowded church greeted the celebrant at the beginning of the services. The archbishop congratulated the early comers.

Desperadoes Make Escape.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 29.—All trace of the band of desperadoes who escaped from Stroud, Okla., after robbing two national banks of $5,000, apparently is lost. After eluding a number of mounted posses and a company of Oklahoma national guard, they were reported to have passed through Kellyville, on their way to the fastness of the Kiamichi mountains. Two of the band, wounded and captured, are held in jail at Chandler, Okla.

Troops to Attack Serbia.

Bari, Italy, via Paris, March 29.—A dispatch from Scutari, Albania, says that the Austrian consulate there is banding Albanian volunteers into so-called "eagle battalions," which are destined to attack Serbia. It is stated that most of the volunters returned recently from America.

FIND 11,000 GERMANS DEAD

FRENCH DECLARE THOUSANDS TAKEN FROM TRENCHES.

Estimate Teutons Lost 50,000 During Twenty Days Fighting in the Champagne Country.

Chalons Sur Marne, France, March 29.—Eleven thousand German dead have been taken from the trenches won by the French during 20 days of fighting in the Champagne country. The German losses in killed, in prisoners and in wounded are estimated by the French military authorities at 50,000.

The German losses, they say, have been two to one compared with the French loss, because the Germans try to regain lost ground by repeated counter-charges.

Buried by Hundreds.

It was in these counter-assaults, supported by relatively inadequate artillery and what the French officers assert was inadequate morale, against the allied troops, that so many German soldiers have fallen. The graves in which they are buried by fifties and by hundreds are thick upon a narrow front of some 15 miles.

For nearly a month now the French, their officers declare, by the superiority of their artillery of both large and small caliber and by a certain irresistible, spirit, have day by day gained ground, sometimes a few hundred yards of trenches, on other days a mile of frontage, and from three to five hundred yards deep.

The Germans are bringing up new contingents steadily. They have had in action on this segment of the fighting lines during March five army corps, or about 200,000 men. Yet on the evening of every day the French officers assert that the French have held somewhat more of the field than they did the evening before.

IS SUNK IN NEUTRAL WATERS

German Cruiser Dresden Was Destroyed by British Off Chilean Island, Says Berlin.

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, L. I., March 29.—The German government has given out an official statement in which it was affirmed that the German cruiser Dresden, which was sunk off the Chilean island of Juan Fernandez, March 14, by a British squadron, was destroyed in neutral waters.

After condemning the British government for the manner in which the German warship was attacked, the statement says it will be interesting to see what attitude the United States government will adopt "in the face of such a violation of the neutrality of a South American republic."

Shot in Chicago Riot.

Chicago, March 29.—One youth was shot by a policeman, and five other persons, including a woman, were trampled in a riot in the West Side Ghetto, Alfred Helig, said to have been one of the rioters, was shot while running from a policeman. The riot started when a crowd of roughs overturned a furniture wagon driven by Bores Melowsky. Jewish residents went to the help of Melowsky and the fighting became general.

New York, March 29.—Thirteen members of the crew of the American steamer Evelyn, which was sunk in the North Sea Feb. 19, after striking a mine, were brought here on the steamer El Dia, which arrived from Bremen with 1,250 tons of general merchandise.

Superior Has $20,000 Fire.

Superior, Wis., March 29.—Damage amounting to more than $20,000, covered by insurance, was sustained by the Hotel Superior before Superior firemen, aided by a Duluth company, were able to get the blaze under control.

Starting in the basement, the flames swept up to the fourth floor, routing out scores of guests in various stages of undress. The structure is the city's largest hotel, occupying a quarter of a block.

FRENCH CAPTURE ALSACE HEIGHTS

RUSH HILLSIDES UNDER TERRIBLE FIRE FROM GERMAN MACHINE GUNS.

GAIN DOMINATING POSITION

Admit That Losses Are Heavy, However, According to Dispatches—Teutons Are Again Bombarding Arras at Long Range.

Stockholm, March 29.—Via London.—The loss in the Baltic of three German steamers, the Bavaria, the Germania and Koenigsberg, all laden with iron ore, is announced in the newspaper Social Demokraten.

The Bavarian went down March 15 with her entire crew. The cause of her sinking is not revealed. No details of the destruction of the other vessels are given.

Paris, March 29.—After a tenacious struggle lasting for several days French troops have recaptured the principal heights at Hartmannsweilerkopf in Alsace, according to dispatches received here.

Under terrible fire from German machine guns and light artillery, the French rushed the hillsides time and again. Previous engagements had swept the slope free from protecting timber, but the French infantry charged up the heights in the face of veritable ribbons of flame from the German guns.

French Gain Position.

The French losses were heavy, it is admitted, but the victory gives the French a position dominating other hills in the same region. The Germans must evacuate these positions, according to dispatches, or try to retake the hill.

The Germans are again bombarding Arras at long range. Shells of all calibers fell into the city, causing fires at several spots. Dispatches from Arras said that these blazes were extinguished without doing severe damage.

URGES ITALY TO ENTER FIGHT

Crowd Attempts to Reach Austrian Embassy But Is Charged by Troops and Dispersed.

Rome, via Paris, March 29.—A large meeting was held here by Italians who favor the taking of Trent, Trieste and Dalmatia. Forces of troops were present to prevent disorders. A resolution was unanimously adopted requesting the government to obtain "by arms the frontiers of Italy."

After the meeting the crowd attempted to reach the Austrian embassy, but was charged by the troops and dispersed. Several arrests were made.

Among those in attendance were senators, deputies and aldermen and the representatives of over 6,000 clubs and associations, some of the latter coming from other states.

The hall in which the meeting was held was decorated with flags of Trent, Trieste, Istria and Dalmatia.

Several orators made addresses, among them Signor Barseilai, a native of Trieste, who has been deputy for Rome for 25 years. He was greeted enthusiastically when he said the moment had arrived to take Trent, the key to northern Italy and Trieste, the door to the Adriatic.

Laughs at Trial; Then Faints.

Minot, S. D., March 29.—Sentenced to two and a half years in the penitentiary by Judge Leighton, J. S. Dickson fainted in the courtroom. Throughout his trial for larceny Dickson seemingly gave little concern to prospects for conviction, laughing and joking with his counsel throughout.

Even the verdict of guilty failed to impress him, but the passing of sentence proved the real blow. The man stole an electric dynamo worth $75.

German Aviator Shells Calais.

Calais, March 29.—A German Taube aeroplane flew over Calais, going from west to east. It had flown over the waters of the English channel from its Belgian base in order that it might not be observed. The aeroplane commenced dropping bombs as soon as it passed the outer fortifications. The bombs, falling at an early hour in the morning in the deserted streets, injured no one. Other bombs fell in the fields.

The only material damage done was several broken windows.

"Hope of Peace" Is Prize Oration.

Minneapolis.—The annual Pillsbury oratorical contest at the University of Minnesota was won by Carl Painter of Minneapolis, a senior in the arts college. Painter spoke on "The Hope of Peace."

Allied Fleet Reinforced.

London, March 27.—Eight additional warships have joined the allied fleet for a grand assault upon the Dardanelles forts in co-operation with British and French land forces, according to an Athens dispatch. Three British warships, four French and one Russian cruiser constitute the reinforcements, Athens cabled. Immediately following their arrival their captains reported to Admiral De Robeck and a conference was held aboard the flagship of the fleet commander.

Certainly Not Scotch.

Guests of the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman were discussing the nationality of J. H. Taylor, the former golf champion, writes a contributor to Fry's Magazine, and one of the party asserted that the player was a Scot. Sir Henry was inclined to agree with him.

"Well," said one of the visitors, "all I know about Taylor is that he's a very nice man. My club engaged him to play an exhibition match at a fixed fee, but it was so wet that play was impossible. When he was offered the fee he firmly refused to take it, and would receive only his bare traveling expenses."

Campbell-Bannerman turned to the other man who had been so sure of Taylor's Caledonian birth and said, "I'm afraid that fact is fatal to our contention."

TO PROBE CHARGE OF EXTRAVAGANCE IN RANGE TOWNS

LEGISLATURE WILL MAKE ITS OWN INVESTIGATION IN DISTRICT IF SCOTT RESOLUTION IS PASSED.

HOUSE REJECTS TEIGEN ANTI-FUTURES MEASURE

Votes 68 to 52 Against Bill on Final Reading—Rural Members Oppose on Ground That Hedging Would Be Prohibited—Was Taken Up as Special Order.

St. Paul, Minnesota.—It is possible that the legislature will make its own investigation of the many charges of gross extravagance in the government or iron range mining towns. In an effort to prevent action by the house on Representative J. M. Harrison's bill, which would curb expenditures in these towns, Samuel Scott of Hibbing introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of these expenditures and appropriating $2,500 to cover the cost. He withdrew it a few moments later, but promised that he would ask the attorney general to assist him in drawing another for presentation at once.

The Harrison bill fixes a maximum cost per capita of $25, exclusive of school expenses. This is approximately five times the average cost per capita prevailing in cities, towns and villages in Minnesota. Mr. Harrison moved that his bill be made a special order for March 30.

It requires a two-thirds vote of all members of the house to set a special order, and a minority of thirty is sufficient to defeat the motion, which polled eight affirmative votes. There were twenty members absent and it would have required eighty-seven yotes to carry the motion.

Representatives and senators from the range country indicated that they would not oppose the bill, as they considered $25 per capita as a limitation which they could well live within.

Kills Anti-Futures Bill.

Decisive defeat was meted out by the house to A. F. Teigen's bill to prohibit trading in grain futures. It was taken up as a special order on motion of its author, put on its final reading and lost, yeas 52, nays 68.

The argument that the bill would prohibit hedging was used effectively against the measure by farmer members.

It was Mr. Teigen's third attempt to get action on his bill, the house having twice defeated similar motions. Oscar Swenson urged that the bill be taken up, declaring that if it were not the author would renew his motion every day till the end of the session.

"Bankers have assumed the role of lobbyists for the grain brokers," said Mr. Teigen in defense of his bill.

Extra Session Likely.

More rumors of an extra session of the legislature crystallized when Fred Bessette of Gheen house member, announced that he intended introducing at once a bill which would provide financial compensation and additional railroad transportation to reimburse members for time and expense of an extra session.

Many members believe that an extra session of the legislature will be found necessary. It is the opinion of those who hold this view that such a session would come immediately upon the expiration of the legal time limit of the life of the present session which is due to pass into history on April 22.

Sullivan Fears Flood of Talk.

A resolution to allow state department heads the privilege of seats and debate in the senate when it is acting as a committee of the whole, was referred to the senate committee on drainage. Senator E. J. Westlake introduced the resolution and asked that it be referred to the committee on rules. Senator G. H. Sullivan moved that it be referred to the drainage committee.

Compensation Law Amended.

For two whole hours Senator Richard Jones, Socialist member from St. Louis county, held up the passage of the bill amending the employees' compensation law while he presented amendment after amendment to the bill. He presented eight amendments and each was voted down.

Remove Land Buying Limit.

Senator L. H. Nurd's bill throwing open northern Minnesota lands to extensive development, by taking off the present 320-acre restriction, passed the senate by a vote of 36 to 20, after a debate of two hours.

APPROPRIATION FOR "U" IS URGED BY OFFICIALS

Dr. George E. Vincent and department heads of the University of Minnesota appeared before the senate finance committee to urge the passage of the bills appropriating $3,887,450 for the use of the university for the next two years. They told the committee the appropriation was a decrease of nearly $100,000 over what was appropriated two years ago and a decrease of more than $410,000 from what was appropriated in 1911.

"BLUE MILK" BILL MEETS DEATH IN LOWER HOUSE

The so-called Sullivan "blue milk" bill, which passed the senate by a large vote sometime ago, met with an overwhelming death when the house in committee of the whole voted to indefinitely postpone the measure. It would reduce the percentage of butterfat in milk from 3½ to 3 per cent.

Senator Sullivan advanced his milk label bill in the senate. The bill was introduced after women's organizations and civic bodies had attacked his "blue milk" bill.

When Senator Sullivan heard that his "blue milk" bill had been defeated in the house, he moved that the label bill be indefinitely postponed. It was done.

To Carry on Work.

St. Paul, March 26.—A vicious blow was dealt the efficiency and economy bill for the reorganization of the civil administration of the state government when the house passed six of Representative Sam Y. Gordon's special committee bills.

Then the original bill died a quiet death so far as the present session of the legislature is concerned when a resolution was introduced authorizing the appointment by the speaker of a committee of seven members to carry on further investigation of one year and submit its recommendations to the next legislature. A resolution which bore the names of Representatives Thomas H. Girling, Theodore Christianson and W. I. Norton was laid over for two days.

An appropriation of $15,000 to carry on the work is included in the resolution.

Governor May Veto Gordon Bills.

Passage of six of the Gordon committee bills by the house clinched the fate of the efficiency and economy commission's bill at this session, and also created a chilly atmosphere between the lower house of the legislature and the office of Gov. W. S. Hammond. It is known that Governor Hammond intends making the commission's bill a political issue next year, and on good authority it was reported that he will veto the Gordon committee bills if they reach him, with the possible exception of the budget measure.

HOUSE RECOMMENDS LARSON SUFFRAGE BILL

Woman suffrage scored a victory in the house when the majority report of the elections committee, recommending for indefinite postponement A. S. Larson's bill which would extend the franchise to women in presidential elections, was overridden and the minority report, recommending the bill for passage and placing it on general orders, was adopted by a vote of 65 to 44 after more than an hour of debate.

Proponents of woman's suffrage were elated and declared that they now see a possibility of forcing the bill through the house and to the senate. It is probable that an effort will be made early next week to have the measure made a special order in the house.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY DIVISION MEASURE KILLED IN HOUSE

St. Paul, March 25.—The charges of gross extravagances made against the range mining towns are credited with causing the defeat of the St. Louis county division bill, which was killed in the house by a vote of 84 to 32.

The opponents of the division bill recited that the range towns are controlled by officials who exact great sums of money in the form of taxes from the mining companies and spend this money in the most riotous manner.

The proponents of division answered that Duluth wished to continue in control of St. Louis county government to use a majority of the county funds for roads and other improvements in the Duluth end of the county. Also it was charged that the steel company now has control of the county government and resists every effort made to wrest it away.

BILL AIMED AT ELOPERS IS RECOMMENDED TO PASS

Favorable recommendation was given the bill prohibiting common law marriages by the house judiciary committee.

The measure, fathered by C. F. Southwick of Wells, would compel a lapse of five days between the time of marriage and the issuance of a license. This feature is directed at elopers.

A sworn statement as to physical condition of applicants for licenses also would be necessary.

Provides for New Judge.

A bill to give Minneapolis a new district judge was introduced in the senate by Senator James Callahan. A companion bill has been introduced in the house

Liquor Bill Is Postponed.

Senator P. A. Ganrud's bill providing for a constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of liquor was shelved by the senate committee on temperance.

Small Sum for State Institutions.

The senate finance committee conceded the small amount of $125,000 additional for maintenance of state institutions, after hearing a plea from Chairman C. E. Vasaly of the board of control. This increase is to cover expenses of two years. The total allowed the board is still $160,000 less than was appropriated two years ago.

"The board of control will refuse to assume responsibility for decreased efficiency in state institutions because of the cut in the appropriation," said Chairman Vasaly.

IMMENSE QUANTITY OF WHEAT TIED UP

There Will Still, However, Be a Heavy Deficit of the World's Normal Crop.

A grain expert who has been watching the grain markets and the world's grain fields for a number of years, says:—

"There is at the present time about two billion bushels of wheat, the production of the countries at war, tied up. This is about one-half the world's total production of wheat, which is four billion bushels. One writer argues that, granting that the warring nations produce a one-half crop in the coming year, a deficit of one billion bushels will still be shown. The three countries upon which the filling of this deficit of one billion bushels will rest are the United States, Canada, and Argentina. The combined output of these three countries is only 1,249,000,000, their exportable surplus would of course be much less, so it can easily be seen that the question is not one to be easily solved and it behooves all the above countries to increase their respective productions as much as they possibly can, for when the war is over and trade begins to re-establish itself and the nations undergo a process of rehabilitation, the demand for all breadstuffs will be enormous.

"During the three years following the declaration of peace the farmers of all neutral wheat-producing countries will have ample opportunity to market their wheat at good prices, and it may safely be assumed that the demand will be heavy. Canada has an unusual opportunity in that she has the natural environment for wheat production; she is under the protection of the British flag, and she will not be molested upon the water to any great extent; she can increase her acreage and greatly enhance her production. In other words, she can become a far greater wheat-producing country than she is at the present time."

If the summing-up as made by this expert be correct, is there not the very best reason for the continued effort that is being made by the Government of the Dominion of Canada to secure settlers on the productive vacant lands of the country? Not only are these lands capable of producing high class wheat in large quantities, but cattle, pigs, sheep and horses also do well. The climate is admirably suited. —Advertisement.

Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think what you can make with wheat around $1 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

Don't get excited the government deficit the past year was only $26.000.000. If they continue to cut off mail routes, they can reduce it some this year.

The present legislature is making a record on "leg pulling." One of the latest, is a bill to prohibit the sale of package patent medicine without publishing the formula. It would be a good idea to kill this bill in its infancy, as it is very evident that the promoters of it, are some "specialist" doctors of the cities. The purpose of it is to prohibit the sale of patent medicine, and place the people entirely at the mercy of the doctors. We do not mean by doctors a reputable physician who has built up his practice by careful study and application to business, and there are very few of this class of physicians that care a rap what is contained in the formula of patent medicines, but the so called specialists of the cities who bleed the poorer class of people through the U. S. mails are urgers of this law. We already have the pure food and drug act to protect the people, and our representatives would do better to devote their attention to the passage of a law to compel these so called doctors to publish the formula of their pills sent out in small boxes, that are composed of bran and a little bitter aloes. We suppose the next "leg puller" will be one to prohibit the sale of snuff, as a bill of this kind is usually introduced at every session of the legislature.

Catalog Houses Advertise

We read a very lengthy article in the last weeks issue of the Thief River Falls Times entitled, "Community Suicide; Its Cause, Ravages and Cure." He says: "Everybody has a remedy for the mail order evil. The merchant will tell you that everything is alright, just so you do your buying from him. The newspaper man is positive that all the need is to advertise liberally in his paper."

There is no question about the steady and rapid growth of the mail order business, but let us see how they have built up their business,

As we always try to write of conditions as they are, we will take our own part of Pennington county as an illustration.

First: You cannot find hardly a nine year old school child in this territory that does not know about Sears, Roebuck and Co. of Chicago, John M. Smyth and Co. and M. W. Savage Factories, what their prices are, and a description of what they have to sell. But we very much doubt if you could find one in three days travel that had ever heard of H. O. Loken of Thief River Falls, and if you told them there was such a man, they would ask what he was doing.

Supposing the mail order houses had confined all their advertising to Chicago, so as to support their home papers, do you think they would have built up their present monstrous business? We guess not.

Second: We do not advise any one of the Thief River Falls merchants how to run their business, but are just telling them how Sears, Roebuck and Co. ran theirs. The people are all right, but they will always deal where they think they can buy the cheapest and with the man that has called their attention to the fact, that he can and will sell the cheapest.

The County Option forces are already getting up a petition to call a special election to vote saloon license out of this county. They don't propose to give the people a chance to read and consider the law, before asking them to sign a petition to call an election. There is no use to tell politicians who are anxious to save the country, (at so much per save,) to give the common people a little chance to read and post-up on a question of vital importance for the tax payers of this county to consider.

The County Option petition required by law has been completed in Polk county, and the date of election will be Monday, May 24th. If the saloons are voted out, every saloon in Crookston and East Grand Forks will be forced to close up shop on November 24th. The "drys" are organizing for the campaign, and the "wets" are getting ready to meet the issue, and if you just keep your eye on that territory you will see a mighty pretty fight.

When the repeal of that Elwell road law was under consideration our representative Oscar T. Stenvick, noted the fact that the state of Minnesota had never appropriated one dollar to pay their share for the building of these auto roads, and whether the expense "be great or small, the farmer must pay it all." Stenvick will earn the everlasting gratitude of the farmers of his district for the noble fight he made for the repeal of the worst law that was ever put on the statute books to "do the farmers."

Mill To Run Ten Years

It is now practically certain that the saw mill at Thief River Falls will operate for at least ten years more. The bill to create a forest reserve out of the Red Lake Indian reservation has been favorably acted on in congress. Senator Clapp has reported the measure out of the committee to which it has been referred, recommending it for passage. This practically assures the people that it will be enacted and become a law. By its provisions over 300,000,000 feet of timber will be released. With the saw mill employing over 400 men, this means a great deal to the city of Thief River Falls.—The Crookston Daily Times.

RATE INCREASE NECESSARY

FARMERS' UNION OFFICIALS THINK RAILROADS ARE ENTITLED TO MORE REVENUE.

Products of Plow and Farmer Who Lives at Home Should Be Exempt From Increase.

By Peter Radford.
Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The recent action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in granting an increase in freight rates in the eastern classification of territory; the application of the roads to state and interstate commissions for an increase in rates, and the utterances of President Wilson on the subject bring the farmers of this nation face to face with the problem of an increase in freight rates. It is the policy of the Farmers' Union to meet the issues affecting the welfare of the farmers squarely and we will do so in this instance.

The transportation facilities of the United States are inadequate to effectively meet the demands of commerce and particularly in the South and West additional railway mileage is needed to accommodate the movement of farm products. If in the wisdom of our Railroad Commissions an increase in freight rates is necessary to bring about an improvement in our transportation service, and an extension of our mileage, then an increase should be granted, and the farmer is willing to share such proportion of the increase as justly belongs to him, but we have some suggestions to make as to the manner in which this increase shall be levied.

Rates Follow Lines of Least Resistance.

The freight rates of the nation have been built up along lines of least resistance. The merchant, the manufacturer, the miner, the miller, the lumberman and the cattleman have had their traffic bureaus thoroughly organized and in many instances they have pursued the railroad without mercy and with the power of organized tonnage they have hammered the life out of the rates and with unrestrained greed they have eaten the vitals out of our transportation system and since we have had railroad commissions, these interests, with skill and cunning, are represented at every hearing in which their business is involved.

The farmer is seldom represented at rate hearings, as his organizations have never had the finances to employ counsel to develop his side of the case and, as a result, the products of the plow bear an unequal burden of the freight expense. A glance at the freight tariffs abundantly proves this assertion. Cotton, the leading agricultural product of the South, already bears the highest freight rate of any necessary commodity in commerce, and the rate on agricultural products as a whole is out of proportion with that of the products of the factory and the mine.

We offer no schedule of rates, but hope the commission will be able to give the railroad such an increase in rates as is necessary without levying a further toll upon the products of the plow. The instance seems to present an opportunity to the Railroad Commissions to equalize the rates as between agricultural and other classes of freight without disturbing the rates on staple farm products.

What Is a Fair Rate?

We do not know what constitutes a basis for rate making and have never heard of anyone who did claim to know much about it, but if the prosperity of the farm is a factor to be considered and the railroad commission concludes that an increase in rates is necessary, we would prefer that it come to us through articles of consumption on their journey from the factory to the farm. We would, for example, prefer that the rate on hogs remain as at present and the rate on meat bear the increase, for any farmer can then avoid the burden by raising his own meat, and a farmer who will not try to raise his own meat ought to be penalized. We think the rate on coal and brick can much better bear an increase than the rate on cotton and flour. We would prefer that the rate on plows remain the same, and machinery, pianos and such articles as the poorer farmer cannot hope to possess bear the burden of increase.

The increase in rates should be so arranged that the farmer who lives at home will bear no part of the burden, but let the farmer who boards in other states and countries and who feeds his stock in foreign lands, pay the price of his folly.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

The new change in the ad of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee is published in another column.

Quite a number of farmers started seeding this week, and with favorable weather there will be a big acreage of wheat sown next week.

The people living on the south side of Red Lake River had much difficulty in getting cream across the river to the Highlanding creamery last Monday.

The case of John Homme V, S Ole Heidahl tried in Justice Court was decided in favor of John Homme, and settled here, without any appeal being taken.

The ice went out of Red Lake River Tuesday April 6th. The river was very high, but went down inside of its banks as soon as the ice moved out.

The Highlanding post office is to be re-established, with Andrew Ellingson as postmaster. This will be a great convenience to patrons of the creamery, and the people living on the north side of the river.

That the Red Lake River can promptly take care of all the water that is dumped into it by the ditches, was fully demonstrated this week by its prompt fall as soon as the ice went out. It went down four feet in less than eight hours, and all the water is now on its way to Lake Winnepeg.

There seemed to a misunderstanding about the time the Mayfield farmers club was to meet this week, some advertised it to meet on Sunday, at 2 o'clock, while some other ones adjourned it until Monday. Those who went Sunday mostly staid away Monday.

There is a bill before the legislature that is quite likely to pass, allowing breweries to sell liquor for private use in county option counties. This would deprive the tax payers of the benefit of the saloon license money, and give the same opportunity to the excessive drinker to get whiskey or beer that he now has.

William and John Quirk nearly lost a valuable heifer last Sunday, by drowning in the Red Lake River. When let out of the barn to get to water she went where she had been accustomed to drink during the winter and the ice gave way and let her in. They managed to get a rope on her, and drag her safely to the shore.

The Singers are very conspicuous in the next term of district court, either as plaintiffs or defendants. We used to know a man over in Polk county who was always in lawsuits, until the Grand jury censured him and told him to cultivate a more friendly feeling with his neighbors, and keep out of having so many lawsuits.

Commencing on April 16th, the mail carrier on the Sunbeam to Rhoda route will turn west, when one and one half miles north of Rhoda, and drive west to the graded road running south from Sunbeam postoffice, thence north to Sunbeam postoffice. Parties who want to take mail on this new route, should get their mail boxes ready, and change their mail to Rhoda postoffice. The mail will go to Rhoda the same route as now, and return as desribed above.

Sjur Stolaas of Deer Park, was transacting business at Sunbeam Monday.

We completed seeding and harrowing our first patch of eight acres of Marquis wheat to day.

Louis LaCounte is replacing pasture fence that the ice broke down for us this week.

Rush the seeding. When you get your crops sown you are making money while you sleep.

WAR'S DARK SIDE.

Mrs. K. M, Kratzer living in Deer Park township has a father and mother living in Austria, and occasionally gets a German paper from there publishing lists of the killed in battle, among which she sees the names of her relatives and friends, who have families that are left widowed and orphans. It is fine for those kings to order the common people to slaughter each other, but when it comes to reading the names of your relatives and friends among the list, it is then that you begin to realize the horrors of war. People who stand on street corners and howl for the United States to pick a row, so as to get into war, do not realize the vacant chairs that war would create in American homes. As a rule those that are howling for war will keep their precious carcasses at a safe distance, if this country should be unfortunate enough to get into the mix up.

HIBBING DECIDES TO DOUBLE TAXES

METROPOLIS OF MESABA RANGE HURT BY INSINUATIONS OF PAST EXTRAVAGANCES.

BILL TO INCREASE SALARIES

Pay for Mayor and Councilmen of Hibbing and Chisholm Raised From $10 to $1,200 a Year by Senate Measure.

Salaries of the mayor and councilmen of Hibbing and Chisholm are raised from $10 to $1,200 a year in a bill just advanced to the calendar in the senate.

Senator John Healy is the author of the bill. It allows villages of more than 5,000 population to pay their officers $1,200 a year. Mayor Power and councilmen of Hibbing now receive $10 a year.

The senate in committee of the whole recommended that the bill be recommended to pass and advanced to the calendar. Fourteen senators voted for it and thirteen against it. Hibbing and Chisholm are the only villages in the state with more than 5,000 population.

Under a privilege of each house member to advance a pet measure to special orders, the J. M. Harrison bill to limit taxation in towns on the range was moved from the general calendar to special orders, thereby arousing a storm of protests from some members.

St. Paul, Minn.—Hurt by the insinuations of past municipal extravagancies the village council of Hibbing, metropolis of the Mesaba range, met and voted to double the taxes and demand of the mining companies which pay them that such companies apologize for the "false, malicious and scandalous reports" made by these mining companies regarding alleged past prodigality.

Ordinarily, said men from the range, who were in St. Paul, the Hibbing village council would not have met to fix the tax levy until some time in September next. The law requires that the report of the levy be made by Oct. 10. Mining men said that the action of the Hibbing council obviously was intended to get all the money possible before passage of the Harrison bill limiting the expenditures of villages and smaller cities.

Pass Amended Compensation Bill.

Without a dissenting vote the House passed the Senate bill embodying the amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act, which were agreed upon and drafted by representative of the State Labor Department and of employers. The measure now will be sent back to the Senate for concurrence.

The only amendment adopted limits to one week the waiting period for compensation during disability.

An amendment was offered by Representative S. C. Scott which would raise the percentage of wages to be received during disability from 50 to 66⅔ per cent. This amendment was defeated.

Another amendment was presented by Representative P. J. Marwin of Minneapolis increased the amount of money for medical attention provided injured workmen. This amendment was lost.

Thousands for Ditches.

St. Paul, April 1.—Seven appropriation bills have been reported favorably to the house by the appropriations committee, apart from the omnibus bills to be introduced later.

The weights and measures department is allowed $10,000 for the remainder of the present fiscal year and $35,000 a year annually thereafter. This appropriation is contingent on the passage of a law abolishing fees heretofore collected by the department.

Four bills appropriating $32,000 for a ditch in Wilkin county, built as an outlet to the Nordick state ditch, $5,000 additional for the Mustinka ditch in Traverse county; $60,000 additional for the Roseau river ditch, and $20,000 for three ditches in Polk county, or $117,000 in all.

The proposed child welfare commission, created by another bill, the governor to appoint its five members, is allowed $5,000.

The city of Benson is given $5,000 to recompense expenses in suppressing a typhoid fever epidemic.

Morris School Gets $115,000.

The committee aproved an item of $115,000 for the Morris branch school of agriculture, which will be included in the university omnibus bill. An appropriation of $5,000 for the state board of visitors, which was allowed by the senate finance committee, was refused by the house committee. The house committee also rejected an item of $112,000, which the senate committee likewise refused, for erection of firebreaks in northern Minnesota.

The bill to abolish the fee system of the weights and measures department was reported favorably and placed at the end of the calendar subject to amendment, on motion of Representative Oscar Swenson of Minneapolis, author of the measure.

Kneeland Bill Reported to House.

The Kneeland bill, repealing the Cashman distance tariff law, has been reported to the house without recommendation by the transportation committee. An effort may be made to have the measure considered as a special order.

OFFICERS SCORED IN DEBATE

St. Paul, Minn.—Opponents of the state tuberculosis advisory commission triumphed in the house, passing, by a vote of 75 to 23, a bill by Representative Theodore Christianson to abolish the commission and give its duties to the state board of health. Dr. H. Longstreet Taylor of St. Paul, chairman of the commission, and Dr. Robinson Bosworth, its secretary, were severely scored by the author of the bill and by Representative L. C. Spooner in the course of the debate.

The bill was passed after suspending the rules, which was done by a vote of 89 to 14.

"As a measure for efficiency and economy, this bill will achieve a saving of $48,000 per annum," said Mr. Christianson. "More important than that, it will end an intolerable condition. One of the members of this advisory commission, Dr. H. L. Taylor of St. Paul, is a stockholder in a private sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis and it is charged that he has sent patients to the private institutions when they should have been sent to the state institution at Walker."

"Dry" Amendment Is Defeated.

Prohibition by constitutional amendment was defeated in the senate when two reports upon a joint resolution submitting such an amendment were laid on the table by a vote of 33 to 28.

A majority report from the temperance committee recommended indefinite postponement of the bill and a minority report urged its passage.

The vote is believed to end the prohibition question for this session of the legislature, as each house has killed statutory and constitutional prohibition bills.

A bill by Representative A. C. Welch of Glencoe, which would permit a brewery in a county made "dry" under the new county option law, to sell liquor for private use within the limits of its own county, was recommended for passage by the house temperance committee.

Bill Aimed at Physicians.

Should Senate File 866, which was introduced in the senate by Carl Wallace of Minneapolis by request, become a law, Minnesota will be the first state in the Union to compel physicians to write their prescriptions in English. The bill also regulates the use of vaccine in a manner that would make the physicians and veterinarians of the state primarily liable for mistakes of administration or evil aftereffects.

The bill has been referred to the committee on public health, of which Senator Andrews of Mankato is chairman. This is the committee to which has been referred other bills affecting the manufacture of proprietary medicines.

Would Abolish Highways Commission.

Senator R. T. Buckler of Crookston has re-introduced his bill which would abolish the state highway commission. The Highway Home Rule association backs the senator in this bill. The first bill he introduced to this effect was side-tracked by the senate committee on roads and bridges. This second bill went to the same committee and the author assumes that it likely will suffer a like fate.

In many counties the Highways Home Rule association has established county organizations, says Senator Buckler. All are affiliated with the state asociation.

The members advocate the abolishment of state interference in road and bridge building and hold that the county commissioners are fully capable of expressing the road policies of their respective counties.

For Remodeling Old Capital.

Remodeling of a part of the old state capitol to house several state departments is provided in a resolution introduced by the appropriation committee and passed under suspension of the house rules. The state architect has estimated that for $6,500 the house chamber and other portions of the building can be remodeled to provide quarters for the state highway commission, the forestry board and other departments. By saving the rental of two years the expense of remodeling would be offset.

Liquor Bill Is Postponed.

Senator P. A. Ganrud's bill providing for a constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of liquor was shelved by the senate committee on temperance.

Given $2,500 for Wife's Death.

The senate finance committee has awarded $2,500 to John Bolin as damages for the death of his wife in the state asylum at Fergus Falls last spring.

Amendment to Dunn Law Passed.

The senate has passed the house bill amending the Dunn good roads law. The bill was passed by the house several weeks ago.

For Counties That Go Dry.

When counties go dry at the dictates of the voters at county option elections, A. O. Devold, Minneapolis house member, wants these same counties to have the privilege of establishing immediately upon going dry a six-hour maximum work day.

To that end Mr. Devold introduced a resolution calling for submission to the people a constitutional amendment which would grant to the voters of counties made "dry" by county option elections, the privilege of establishing this maximum work day.

TO MAKE MEXICAN CAPITAL NEUTRAL

U. S. HOPES TO SECURE PERMANENT PROTECTION FOR 25,000 FOREIGNERS IN CITY.

VILLA-ZAPATA FORCES AGREE

Willing to Keep City Outside the Field of Operations Hereafter in Civil War—Plans Now Depend Upon Carranza.

Washington, April 3.—With the hope of securing permanent protection for the 25,000 foreigners in Mexico City the United States government has proposed to the Villa-Zapata forces and to General Carranza that the Mexican capital be declared neutral and outside the field of operations hereafter in Mexico's civil war.

The Villa-Zapata forces have agreed to the proposal and are willing to evacuate the city as soon as a similar agreement is arranged with the Carranza authorities, who are now being negotiated with.

Depends on Carranza.

On General Carranza also depends whether or not the effort of the United State to neutralize the railway between Mexico City and Vera Cruz shall succeed, as the Villa-Zapata officials have likewise given their assent to this proposal. The plan, with respect to Mexico City, contemplates an arrangement whereby order would be maintained there by a local council made up of prominent residents, selected by mutual agreement between the opposing factions. The capital would not then, under the terms of the agreement, be subject to further attacks, nor would there be any more changes in government until a central government had been established.

Officials Are Encouraged.

Officials here who are conversant with details of the plan are much encouraged by the prompt acceptance given to it by the Villa-Zapata authorities, and are now hopeful that General Carranza can be persuaded to do likewise. Duval West, personal representative of President Wilson, who, it is understood, will confer with General Carranza at Vera Cruz within the next few days on the Mexican situation generally, probably will assist Consuls Silliman and Canada in their efforts to secure Carranza's approval.

WOULD HANG RESPONSIBLE GERMANS AT END OF WAR.

London, April 5.—"Hang von Tirpitz, and other responsible German officers at the close of the war," was the suggestion of the London Daily Chronicle, in a fresh outburst of indignation at the torpedoing of three English fishing vessels, expressly exempted from attack by The Hague convention of 1907. The other London newspapers, though more conservative in their denunciations, were equally bitter in charging Germany to reverting to barbarous warfare.

"We cannot at present prevent the Germans from committing any atrocity that seems good to them," said the Chronicle, "but we must insist upon a day of reckoning. The German government says the submarine crews now in our hands acted upon orders. It will be interesting to know what was responsible for those orders."

Airmen Shell German Towns.

London, April 5.—An Amsterdam dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company says a message from Berlin states that a hostile air craft appeared above Mullheim, Baden, and dropped a bomb, which caused considerable material damage.

Another aviator dropped three bombs on Neuenberg, also in Baden, but the damage done was slight.

Guilty of High Treason.

London, April 5.—A dispatch to the Morning Post from Berne says that Municipal Councillor Matejouvusky and 20 municipal employes of Prague, Bohemia, have been found guilty of high treason and sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from three to 14 years. The men were charged with circulating news unfavorable to Austria-Hungary, according to the correspondent. "A Vienna court martial," the correspondent continues, "condemned 52 persons to death for high treason."

ROOSEVELT HAS 'COME BACK'

STIR CREATED IN NATIONAL POLITICAL CIRCLES.

Colonel Will Be Powerful Factor in Slate-making Next Year—To Support Republican.

Washington, April 6.—The stir created in national political circles last week by the report that Theodore Roosevelt would "come back" to the Republican party and was prepared to support the Republican presidential nominee, was accentuated by his letter to Senator Walsh of Montana, which clearly demonstrated that the colonel has "come back" with his talent for controversial literature.

The rumor that the colonel was prepared to support the Republican nominee, whoever he might be, barring the possibility of the nomination of former President Taft, has been current here for some time. It has assumed various forms.

One of these stories was to the effect that the colonel had said: "It would be humiliating for me to get into bed with Boies Penrose, but I could do it if I had to."

A Powerful Factor.

This story has not been authenticated, nor have the various other rumors concerning the attitude of the former president, but the fact that these stories are being circulated is in itself significant. It must be acknowledged he will be a powerful factor in the slate-making of the next year and that he will have to be reckoned with in the election.

So will former President Taft, whose genial and philosophical attitude towards his own defeat has made him more generally liked than he was ever admired.

But more important than the rumor that the colonel would "come back" into the Republican fold was the experience which Senator Walsh had with the Oyster Bay statesman. That experience demonstrated not that the colonel would "come back," but that he had "come back."

The manner of his "coming back" was enough to indicate that he had lost none of his talent for controversial literature and undoubtedly "held the Montana senator" for quite a while. Neither did it have a tendency to lull the present administration into the flattering assumption that the Republican split would be helped by a continued policy of silence on the part of the colonel.

U. S. SOLDIER KILLED IN RIOT

Three Others Injured in Fight at Colon—Panama Policemen Fire Many Shots.

Colon, April 5.—Corporal Langdon of the United States coast artillery was shot and killed and three other American soldiers were injured, one of them seriously, in a riot here. The soldiers were engaged in patrol duty in the tenderloin district. The shooting, which resulted in a general fight, was the outgrowth of an argument between a soldier, who is alleged to have been drinking and a Panama policeman.

Many shots were fired by the Panama police, the civilians and soldiers all being unarmed.

Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, commander of the American forces in the canal zone, who is here to meet Major General Leonard Wood, commander of the department of the east, today, immediately took charge and ordered all soldiers from the streets.

England to Stop Messages.

Washington, April 5.—Great Britain's intention of stopping all messages sent over cables under British control relating to trade in contraband or non-contraband "to which a resident in an enemy country is one of the parties," has been communicated to the United States government through Ambassador Page at London.

Olympia Off for Mexico.

Washington, April 3.—The navy department has ordered the American cruiser Olympia from Key West to reenforce Admiral Caperton's squadron on the Mexican east coast. Officials would give no reason for the order, but it was understood the east coast situation was far from satisfactory. With the prospective addition, it was explained that Admiral Caperton could concentrate his ships at Vera Cruz, hold the Des Moines at Progreso and send the Olympia to Tampico to reenforce the vessels already there.

WOMAN'S MEETING APPROACHES RIOT

POLITICAL GATHERING IN CHICAGO BROUGHT TO END BY POLICE.

CRIES OF "GET A MAN" HEARD

Miss Marion Drake, Defeated Candidate for Alderman, is Unable to Speak Because of Uproar—Enemies are Present.

Chicago, April 5.—A demonstration approaching a riot in its uproar and disorder marked a woman's political meeting here and was brought to an end only when managers of the theater dropped the steel curtain and some spectator sent in a riot call for the police.

The meeting was called by Miss Marion Drake, who a year ago was the Progressive candidate for alderman of the First ward and was decisively beaten by John (Bath House) Coughlin.

Declares for Socialist.

Miss Drake had organized the "Can't Stand For Thompson Club" and until she declared herself for Seymour Stedman, the Socialist candidate, was believed to have favored Robert Sweitzer, the Democratic candidate, as against William Hale Thompson, the Republican candidate.

As a Sweitzer supporter, Miss Drake would have been aligned with Coughlin and his colleague, Michael (Hinky Dink) Kenna, and other politicians whom she had attacked in her campaign a year ago.

Enemies Attend Meeting.

Woman supporters of Thompson intimated Miss Drake had formed such an alliance, and the meeting, either by chance or design, was well filled with those antagonistic to Miss Drake. Among the Thompson supporters present were Mrs. Dora Earle, Mrs. Susan L. Jenks, Mrs. Marke A. Rolfe, Mrs. E. W. Applegate, Mrs. Gertrude Presnell, Mrs. Helena Goldsmith, Mrs. Louis Osborne, and others well known in suffrage affairs here.

Stedman and John H. Hill, the Prohibition candidate, had made speeches of a few minutes each, when Miss Drake rose to introduce Sweitzer. She had only bowed when the outbreak began.

Cry "Get the Hook.

"Where's Thompson? Get a man! We want to hear the men," were the calls as men and women through the theater rose to their feet, and these were followed by less polite exclamations, including a prolonged request for some one to "get the hook."

Miss Drake continued the introduction in pantomime, but Sweitzer's voice did not permit him to speak, and the uproar continued. Hill, the Prohibitionist, then tried it again.

"I want to tell you the real issue," he said, and was howled down.

The curtain dropped as a score of volunteer speakers began haranguing for their particular candidate from a score of locations in the big hall. When the police came the theater was cleared.

The Thompson supporters asserted after the meeting they had no hand in creating the trouble. They had come to the meeting courteously to inquire they said, why Miss Drake had not invited the Republican, as well as the other candidates, to speak.

"We knew what was coming," Miss Drake said. "We were warned."

Strawberry Crop Destroyed.

Washington, April 5.—An agricultural department bulletin tells of the destruction of three-fourths of the Louisiana strawberry crop by frost, March 21, adding that a new crop was being set, but heavy shipments would be delayed a fortnight.

Chinese to Resist Japs' Demands.

San Francisco, April 5.—Each of the 800,000 Chinese in the United States soon will be saked to pay a $20 tax for the purpose of raising a fund to resist Japanese demands upon China, according to prominent members of San Francisco's Chinese colony. Plans for the collection of this fund, it was said, were laid at a meeting of Chinese leaders and heads of the revolutionary party held at the headquarters of the Chinese Six companies. Another meeting to develop these plans will be held shortly.

WOMEN FROM 45 to 55 TESTIFY

Westbrook, Me.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial."—Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis.—"At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since."—Mrs. M. J. RATHER ROUGH ON FATHER Daughter's Remark Might Have Been Construed Unkindly by the Casual Listener.

Since Fred had become a sophomore, and was therefore a college "man," he had given himself patronizing airs toward Sister May, who had been his guide, philosopher and friend during boyhood. Vexed by his haughtiness, she was unmercifully quizzing him the other evening at dinner.

"Has our 'man' made up his mind," she inquired, "as to what profession he will honor after awhile?"

"Why, yes, little one," Fred responded, with his most aggravating smile. "I have made up my mind to be a doctor, like grandfather and father."

"You a doctor!" May sniffed scornfully.

"I'd like to know why not—if I get my diploma?" asked Fred, still annoyingly calm.

"Well, you'll never be a great surgeon like father," May insisted.

"Again, why not?" Fred smiled, condescendingly.

"You a surgeon like father!" May cried vehemently. "Why, you big softy, you couldn't even kill a fly!"

Nobody but father caught the significance of the remark, and somehow he did not mention it.

It's all right to put your best foot forward, but let the other one catch up with it.

THE WAY OUT

Change of Food Brought Success and Happiness.

An ambitious but delicate girl, after failing to go through school on account of nervousness and hysteria, found in Grape-Nuts the only thing that seemed to build her up and furnish her the peace of health.

"From infancy," she says, "I have not been strong. Being ambitious to learn at any cost I finally got to the High School but soon had to abandon my studies on account of nervous prostration and hysteria.

"My food did not agree with me, and I grew thin and despondent. I could not enjoy the simplest social affair for I suffered constantly from nervousness in spite of all sorts of medicines.

"This wretched condition continued until I became interested in the letters of those who had cases like mine and who were being helped by eating Grape-Nuts.

"I had little faith, but procured a pkg. and after the first dish I experienced a peculiar satisfied feeling that I had never gained from any ordinary food. I slept and rested better that night and in a few days began to grow stronger.

"I had a new feeling of peace and restfulness. In a few weeks, to my great joy, the headaches and nervousness left me and life became bright and hopeful. I resumed my studies, and later taught ten months with ease—using Grape-Nuts every day. I am now the mistress of a happy home, and the old weakness has never returned."

No War Tax on Homestead Land in Canada

The report that a war tax is to be placed on Homestead lands in Western Canada having been given considerable circulation in the United States, this is to advise all enquirers that no such tax has been placed, nor is there any intention to place a war tax of any nature on such lands. GREEKS REPULSE BULGARIAN ARMY

DRIVE BACK IRREGULARS WHO TRIED TO CROSS THE GREEK FRONTIER.

SERBIANS RE-TAKE CANNON

Pursue Fleeing Raiders and Capture Munitions — Serbia Protests to Bulgaria Because of Invasion by Armed Force.

London, April 6.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Saloniki says: "The Bulgarian irregulars who were driven back from the Serbian border later descended upon the Greek town of Doiran (about 35 miles north of Saloniki) and Greece is rushing important re-enforcements thither and to other frontier points prepared for any eventualities.

"Another band of 200 Bulgarian irregular troops who tried to cross the Greek frontier was dispersed with the aid of a machine gun and left numerous dead or wounded on the field. It is alleged that in the Serbian villages through which they passed the Bulgarians committed atrocities.

"The Serbian frontier guards have now been armed with field guns and machine guns."

Serbia Makes Protest.

Paris, April 5.—The Petit Journal says that Serbia has protested to Bulgaria because of the invasion of Serbian territory by a force described as Bulgarian irregulars. While couched in moderate terms the protest is said to request the arrest and imprisonment of the persons responsible for the raid.

Further details of the incident confirm the report that the invaders were driven away from the railroad station at Strumitsa, the Serbian town near the Bulgarian border, where the attack was made.

The railway station master at Strumitsa reports that the line of Gheveheli is now clear of the raiders and apparently has not been damaged.

Serbians Re-take Cannon.

Serbian frontier guards who pursued the fleeing irregulars re-took the two cannon which had been captured.

Six bodies were found in the railway station at Strumitsa.

The extent of the losses inflicted upon the attacking force is unknown, but it is believed to be large.

Thirty bodies were found and the raiders themselves picked up and buried a number of others.

This is said to be the fifth incident of its kind since the beginning of the European war, and there is much speculation in Paris as to their exact significance. It is felt that the attitude of Bulgaria on this occasion will indicate what policy she intends to pursue.

The Havas Agency received from Nish, Serbia, a dispatch saying that the losses of the Serbian troops were sixty killed and fifty-three wounded, including five officers.

CRUISER EITEL IS IN PORT

Fails to Take Advantage of Storm Raging Off Coast With Warships in Distress.

Newport News, Va., April 6.—The German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich still is in this port. The commerce raider is at her pier with no outward appearance to indicate that an early departure for sea was contemplated.

After the failure of the Eitel to take advntage of the 24-hour period, in which no enemy merchant ship was permitted to leave the port of Norfolk-Newport News, the United States naval patrol was resumed.

There had been persistent rumors that Commander Thierichens had planned to depart. With a storm raging off the coast and the allied warships on guard reported in distress, conditions for a dash were regarded as favorable.

The battleship Alabama, which had been anchored off Old Point Comfort, guarding the channel to the sea, has moved farther in and anchored at the point where the Elizabeth river from Norfolk and the James river from Newport News flow into the Roads.

Panama, April 5.—President Porras has signed a decree that will force practically all of the foreign teachers in the schools here out of the service, including the American teachers and the director of the National Institute. The decree conforms with a law passed by the national assembly which requires the minister of public instruction to employ only Panama teachers except under prescribed conditions. The decree excepts the foreign teachers who can show a diploma from recognized foreign universities.

TURKISH CRUISER MEDJIDIEH STRIKES MINE AND GOES DOWN

London, April 6.—The sinking of the Turkish armored cruiser Medjidieh is reported from Petrograd to Reuter's Telegram company. A semi-official communication from Sebastopol to Petrograd says that the Medjidieh struck a mine near the Russian coast and went down.

The Medjidieh was a member of the Turkish Black Sea fleet which has attacked Russian ports on several occasions and sunk Russian vessels.

Preventing Premature Burials.

The fear of being buried alive always has been, and is, so widespread that the French Academy of Science some years ago offered a prize equal to $7,500 for the discovery of some means by which even the inexperienced might at once determine whether, in a given case, death had ensued or not. A physician obtained the prize. He had observed the following well-known signs: If the hand of the suspected dead person is held towards a candle or other artificial light, with the fingers extended and one touching the other, and one looks through the spaces between the fingers towards the light, there appears a scarlet red color where the fingers touch each other, due to the blood still circulating; it shows itself through the tissues which have not yet congested. When life is entirely extinct, the phenomenon of scarlet spaces between the fingers at once ceases. The most extensive and thorough trials established the truth of his observation.

SOME HARD KNOCKS

Woman Gets Rid of "Coffee Habit."

The injurious action of coffee on the hearts of many persons is well known by physicians to be caused by caffeine. This is the drug found by chemists in coffee and tea.

A woman suffered a long time with severe heart trouble and finally her doctor told her she must give up coffee, as that was the principal cause of the trouble. She writes:

"My heart was so weak it could not do its work properly. My husband would sometimes have to carry me from the table, and it would seem that I would never breathe again.

"The doctor told me that coffee was causing the weakness of my heart. He said I must stop it, but it seemed I could not give it up until I was down in bed with nervous prostration.

"For eleven weeks I lay there and suffered. Finally husband brought home some Postum and I quit coffee and started new and right. Slowly I got well. Now I do not have any headaches, nor those spells with weak heart. We know it is Postum that helped me. The Dr. said the other day: 'I never thought you would be what you are.' I used to weigh 92 pounds and now I weigh 158.

"Postum has done much for me and I would not go back to coffee again, for I believe it would kill me if I kept at it. Postum must be prepared according to directions on pkg., then it has a rich flavor and with cream is fine."

NO WAR TAX ON CANADIAN LANDS

Untruthful Reports Circulated by Interested Parties.

Defaming a neighbor at the expense of the truth does not help those who are guilty of the practice, and it may be said that those spreading false reports about Canadian lands, in the hope that they may secure customers for their own, will certainly fail of their purpose. False statements so maliciously circulated will sooner or later be disproved. And, as in the case of the lands of Western Canada, the fertility of which is now so well known to people of every state in the United States, the folly of this work shows an exceeding short sightedness on the part of those guilty of the practice.

The present war has given some of these people the opportunity to exercise their art, but in doing it they are only arousing the curiosity of those who read the statements and a trifling investigation will only reveal their untruthfulness.

A very foolish statement has recently appeared in a number of papers, reading in part as follows:—

"It is believed that as a result of the war tax on land imposed by the Canadian Government a number of former Dakota farmers who went to the British Northwest will be compelled to return to the United States. Information has been received that the tax will amount to about $500 for each farm of 160 acres, which in the case of many of the former residents of the two Dakotas would practically amount to confiscation."

To show that the public has doubted, hundreds of inquiries have been made the Government at Ottawa, Canada, only to bring out the most emphatic denial. A full-fledged lie of this kind has, of course, only a short life, and will tell in the end against those who forge it and spread it, but, as a Winnipeg paper points out, it is most complimentary to the agricultural possibilities of Western Canada to find that rival farming propositions need audacious mendacity of this description to help them.

What is the truth? The Saskatchewan Government has authorized a levy of $10 per quarter section on uncultivated lands owned by non-residents. The Alberta Government has imposed a Provincial tax of 10 mills on the assessed value of all uncultivated lands. There are some special applications of these taxes, but the main provisions are as above. Those vacant lands held by non-residents in Western Canada form a grave problem. They are making for poor communities, poor schools and poor social and economic conditions generally. By having them cultivated the owners as well as the districts in which they are located will benefit alike. It is for this reason that the Government has recently asked the co-operation of the non-residents. The high price of grain for some years to come, and the general splendid character of Western Canada land will make the question well worth consideration.—Advertisement.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

Never mind the European war, or the county option campaign, but hustle in the crops, as all kinds of grain will bring high cash prices this fall.

That move by Postmaster General Burleson to stop the excessive pay of the railroads for carrying the mail, is certainly a move in the right direction, as it is getting to be time to go after the big fish, instead of the minnow star route contractors.

The Thief River Falls Times is authority for the statement that a petition is being circulated to submit the county option issue to a vote. They also predict a warm campaign. Of course that is what the parties are looking for is a campaign. We mean those that were in such haste to stir up the muss, before the people had a chance to look the matter up, and consider what was for their best interest. So far as we have heard, we would indorse what the Times says, viz: "Men are inclined to take strong views on this question, but all should remember that every man has an inalienable right to his views." There was a large percent of the farmer tax payers who favored county option, because they thought they should have an opportunity to vote on the question of the licensing of saloons in their county. But these men are not all against licensing saloons, and while the country outside of Thief River Falls may cast a large majority against license, we predict that it will not be as solid a vote as some of the enthusiastic county optionists predict, especially if the farmers conclude that they are being rushed to vote on a question of vital interest to them as tax payers, before they have had time to consider it.

POULTRY RAISING CONTEST.

A POULTRY RAISING CONTEST for school children in Pennington county and the two rows of townships on the south side of Marshall county, east of Viking, is herewith inaugurated by the agricultural department of the Thief River Falls High School.

Space forbids the publication of all the good reasons which might be advanced in favor of this movement and the conditions contained therein. Suffice it to state that the humble hen, which on so many farms in this territory pays the family grocery bills and provides clothing for the children, is worthy of more recognition than she has been accorded in the past. The good women and children, who usually are the patrons of the chicken family, ought to be encouraged in their efforts to promote the fowl industry. It is hoped that this contest will develop into an annual poultry show, and further, into a young stock for children.

The following rules will govern this first annual poultry raising contest:—

1. This contest is open to all school children under 18 years of age in the territory indicated above.
2. It is restricted to barred or white Plymouth rocks, white wyandottes, Rhode Island reds, white leghorns, and white orpingtons.
3. The contest will take place at the Auditorium in Thief River Falls on Saturday, November 6th, 1915.
4. The entries must be on hand before ten a. m. of the above date, but they may also be entered on the preceding day.
5. The entries in each case must consist of one cockerel and two pullets of any of the above six varieties of fowl.
6. The pupil entering the contest may secure the eggs from any source he desires, but he must care for the hatch, the growing chickens, and prepare them for exhibition. The eggs may be hatched by the mother hen or by incubator. No purchased chickens can be exhibited—they must be hatched at home.
7. All contestants must be present at the contest on Nov. 6, 1916.
8. Each contestant must submit to J. H. Hay, Thief River Falls, an essay of at least 300 words, describing the methods followed in the raising of the entries. This must be forwarded before Oct. 31, 1915.
9. Prizes shall be awarded as follows Cash prizes of $1.50, $1.25, $1.00. 75 cents, 50 cents and 25 cents to the first six classes mentioned, making 36 prizes in all. A special cash prize of $1.00 will be awarded the writer of the best essay. A pure bred rooster will be awarded the pupil from a school associated with the Thief River Falls school who has the best home made exhibition crate. Blue ribbons for the six winners of the $1.50 prizes, red for the seconds, and yellow for all other cash winners, and white ribbons of honorable mention for all other exhibitors will be given contestants,
10. All birds are to be cared for by the owners during the contest.

Professor Chapman of the College of Agriculture will deliver an address on poultry raising on Saturday afternoon. Competent judges from outside the territory interested will officiate. Local and other dealers in poultry supplies and incubators will have an exhibit of their products on had. It is suggested that pupils who purpose entering the contest notify Henry Werner as soon as possible.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is reported to be progressing favorably after his operation for appendicitis.

The records show that were introduced in the last congress 30,053 bills and joint resolutions, of this number 700 bills and resolutions were enacted.

Report has it that Secretary Bryan, though an ardent temperance advocate, will oppose the insertion of a prohibition plank in the next democratic platform.

Senator Chilton of West Virginia, in a recent interview, expressed the opinion that Theodore Roosevelt would be a big factor in the 1916 campaign, and would again so split the republican vote that the democrats would once more be swept into power by a large majority.

February proved to be a record breaking month in exports, according to statistics of the Department of Commerce, which have just been made public. The exports for the month were $160,600,000 greater than for the same period of any previous year. The total for the month was $298,727,757.

President Wilson was highly gratified by the receipt of a letter commending the administration for its stand with regard to neutral shipping in European waters. The letter was addressed to the President by George Pope, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, the largest organization of manufacturers in this country.

The charges made by Postmaster General Burleson, that the railroads are "looting postal revenue," has caused quite a stir amongst the railroads and there promises to be a lively fight in the next congress when Postmaster General tries to have a bill passed reducing their pay for carrying the mails. It is also thought that the roads will fight the party in the next campaign.

Former Senator Elihu Root, of New York, in a recent address before members of the Union League, said that this country was facing a crisis as great as that of the civil war, and urged upon his hearers the necessity of restoring confidence in business. He claimed that the suspicion cast upon all successful business; and the political investigation and control of business must stop if conditions are to be righted.

PICTURES OF BATTLES.

Warfare Has Always Been a Popular Subject For Artists.

From the earliest days of history war has given inspiration to the artist, and the work of his hands comes down to us on the walls of ancient Egypt, worn with the passing of thousands of years; from the ruined temples of antique Greece, built centuries before the Christian era. The picture writing of primitive and savage peoples describes exploits of war; many archaic war pictures, brought to view after ages of burial under desert sands, bear much similarity to Indian drawings of our own near time and land.

Once, years ago, away up on the Poplar river, in Montana, I bought—bartered for, I suppose I should say, as the purchase was made mainly by the medium of tea, tobacco and sugar—a "painted" robe right off the back of the war chief of a band of Yanktonnais-Sioux our troops had "rounded up" and brought into the agency. The skin was a fine "black bull," tanned on the underside to the softness of the finest chamois leather and decorated with naive pictorial representations of the deeds of war of old Kill-Them-In-a-Hole—as the soldiers translated the name given the chief from some episode in his murderous career—which in color, in grace and firmness of line were curiously like pictures from the pencil of some artist of the Egypt of old.

The glory of war is the theme; the exaltation of the sovereign, the conqueror, forms the chief motive of the war picture of antiquity. The monarch was the hero before whose terrible sword all foes gave way, to whom victory came through his personal might and prowess. The warriors of the Greeks are shown as models of virile strength and grace; their attitudes in the fury of combat lost nothing of artistic beauty in the realism of the rendering. The influence of the Greek masters of their art is evident in battle pictures of a time twoscore and more centuries later.—Rufus Fairchild Zogbaum in Scribner's.

Fungus Slippers.

Before the discovery of lucifer matches a large hoof shaped fungus growing on the trunks of trees was used throughout northern Europe for making amadou or tinder. The thick, brown, woody flesh of the same fungus, cut into slices and beaten until it assumes the appearance of felt, is used at the present day in some parts of Germany for the manufacture of chest protectors, caps, purses, bed room slippers and various other articles.

Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester, who has been in Belgium aiding in American relief work as a representative of the State Department, has been expelled by the Germans. WONDERFUL REMEDY IN TIME TO SAVE WOMAN

Mrs. Williams Gets on Way to Health After First Dose of Treatment.

Mrs. Peter Williams of 2749 Eighteenth st., S. Minneapolis, was desperately ill with stomach trouble. She faced the probability of an operation.

After taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, discovered for her by a kind friend, she found herself on the way back to health. Mrs. Williams wrote:

"I have taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for the fourth time and I am feeling like a new woman. I am entirely out of pain. I had been sick for eighteen months and four of our best doctors could do nothing for me. They all agreed that an operation was the only thing. One day a man told my husband of your remedy and that night he brought it home to me."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.—Adv.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa.—"When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

FRENCH CAPTURE STRATEGIC POINT

OCCUPY LES EPARGES AFTER DESPERATE BAYONET CHARGE —DOMINATES PLAINS.

GERMANS MAKE 15 ASSAULTS

Deliver Almost Continuous Counter Attacks South of St. Mihiel—Austria Reported to Have Abandoned Campaign Against Serbia.

London, April 12.—The French, with the capture of Les Eparges, in a desperate bayonet charge, have obtained one of the main objects of their advance southeast to Verdun. The position at Les Eparges dominates the plains of the Woevre and its occupation by the French is announced officially. Progress from Verdun means heavier pressure on the northern flank of the Germans holding St. Mihiel, while the southern flank is threatened by the French advance between Pont-a-Mousson and the Meuse.

In the southern part of this field of operation, the Germans are delivering almost continuous counter attacks. They have made 15 assaults on one point.

French Aiding Russians.

It is evident that the French are not only attempting to capture St. Mihiel, which always has been a danger point since the German wedge was driven into the line of the allies, but are at the same time seeking to aid Russia by preventing the withdrawal of German corps from the relief of the hardpressed Austrian and German forces in the Carpathians.

Rumors that Austria is about to conclude a separate peace grow in number and persistency every day. These are accompanied by evidences that Italy is showing increased uneasiness over the situation.

Austria Abandons Attack on Serbia.

Austria is reported to have abandoned her campaign against Serbia, bringing to a close the offensive operations which were the immediate cause of general European conflict. Dispatches from Switzerland say that Austria has given up the plan for a new attack on Serbia for the sake of sending additional troops to the Italian frontier.

It is also reported from the same source that the decision has been reached at Vienna to sound Russia as to peace terms.

The official organ of the Vatican, however, denies the report that Austria has requested the assistance of the pope in such negotiations.

Austrians Lose Heavily.

Russia is said to have made important captures of guns and war munitions in the Carpathians. What is represented as information from the Austrian general staff is that in the battle along the Dukla-Eperies front the Austrians lost 26,000 men.

Popular agitation in Italy concerning the attitude of that country has increased to a point which has necessitated energetic action by the authorities to prevent disorders. The factions for and against war have arranged mass meetings which their leaders say will be held in spite of a police prohibition.

Submarine Sinks French Ship.

A French sailing vessel from London for New York has been sunk by a German submarine off the Isle of Wight. The Germans allowed the crew of 25 men 10 minutes in which to quit their vessel and all were saved.

A wrecked British schooner has been sighted off the American coast and is believed to have been attacked by a German warship several weeks ago.

Campaign to Secure Recruits.

London, April 12.—A great patriotic campaign to obtain recruits for Field Marshal Earl Kitchener's new army has been opened in London. The campaign is to be carried on for a fortnight.

Meetings addressed by Liberal, Unionist, Labor and Irish members of parliament were held in Hyde Park, Trafalgar square and other centers of the capital, while recruiting sergeants distributed pamphlets showing the pay, separation allowances and other advantages given to soldiers of the king.

Train Kills Father of Eight.

Fargo, N. D., April 12.—D. Sherlock of Harwood, 47 years old and father of eight children, was struck by a Northern Pacific train between Glyndon and Stockwood and suffered injuries that may prove fatal.

Pope's Brother Passes.

London, April 12.—The Marquis Jules Della Chiesa, a brother of Pope Benedict, is dead, according to Reuter's Genoa correspondent.

Italian War Party Causes Riot.

London, April 12.—Great demonstrations in favor of Italian intervention in the war led to serious disorders at Rome and collisions with the police, according to a dispatch from the Italian capital to the Exchange Telegraph company.

Rigorous measures were taken to suppress the manifestations, and many persons were arrested, including Signor Marinetti, the futurist leader, and Prof. Benito Mussolini, editor of the [illegible] Popolo Italia.

NEW CATHEDRAL DEDICATED

CEREMONIES IN ST. PAUL ATTENDED BY 4,000 PEOPLE.

Letter from Pope Extending Benediction to Archbishop Ireland Read During Service.

St. Paul, April 12.—In the presence of fully 4,000 people, including bishops of the church in five states, the new cathedral of St. Paul was dedicated with impressive ceremonies, eleven years from the time when Archbishop Ireland decided to undertake its erection.

The archbishop himself blessed the cathedral before the solemn pontifical mass celebrated by the Right Rev. James McGolrick, bishop of Duluth. The dedication sermon, fittingly, was delivered by a lifelong friend of the archbishop, a schoolboy chum, the Right Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, bishop of Sioux Falls.

Bishops From Many States.

At the left of the archbishop's throne, grouped in two rows, there sat during the mass bishops of the province of St. Paul, including Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and bishops representing Iowa, Nebraska and Montana. Present, besides those named, were Archbishop Keane of Dubuque, Bishop Lawler of St. Paul, Bishop Corbett of Crookston, Bishops Trobec and Busch of St. Cloud, Bishop O'Reilly of Fargo, Bishop Wehrle of Bismarck, Bishop Scannell of Omaha, and Bishop Lenihan of Great Falls. Only Bishop Heffron of Winona, of the St. Paul province, was unable to be present.

Many priests of the Twin Cities and outside were present, among them Abbott Peter Engel, O. S. B. of St. John's university, Collegeville, Minn.

Reads Letter From Pope.

Preceding his sermon, Bishop O'Gorman read three letters from Rome received by Archbishop Ireland congratulating him and the people of the diocese on the occasion. One was from His Holiness, Pope Benedict XV, one from the papal secretary of state and one from Cardinal Falconio, formerly apostolic delegate to the United States.

The letter from the pope, extended the apostolic benediction to the archbishop, and his people and paid high tribute to the zeal and achievements of the venerable prelate whose priesthood dates back fifty-four years and whose bishopric forty years—all spent in service in the one field.

Gorgas Wanted in Serbia.

Washington, April 12.—Major General William C. Gorgas, surgeon-general of United States army, has been invited by the Rockefeller Foundation to become a permanent member of its staff in the capacity of general adviser in matters relating to public sanitation and control of epidemics.

General Gorgas is wanted by the Foundation particularly at this time to direct the campaign against the typhus scourge which is devastating Serbia. Whether he actually will go to Serbia probably will depend upon the general himself if he accepts the offer.

Germany Answers Dutch Note.

London, April 12.—Replying to the Dutch note protesting against the sinking of the Dutch steamer Medea by a German submarine and the seizure by a submarine of the Dutch steamers Batavier V and Zaanstroom, Germany has expressed the opinion that the action of her submarines was in accordance with the terms of the declaration of London, says Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent.

Colorado Assembly Orders Probe.

Denver, Col., April 12.—A thorough probe of wholesale charges of corruption will be undertaken by a special committee of five members of the legislature just appointed. The committee was given $25,000 to prosecute its investigation and will be ordered to report back to the next legislature, although Governor Carlson in a special message read at the last meeting, declared he would call an extraordinary session to hear the committee's report and enact its recommendations governing lobbyists.

PLAN FOR FUTURE PEACE OF WORLD

THIRTY DELEGATES FROM PRINCIPAL NATIONS MEET AT THE HAGUE.

DRAFT PROGRAM FOR ACTION

Object of Conference Not to Suggest Steps to Bring Present War to End—Short Record of Work Done.

The Hague, via London, April 12.—For three days there has been a private discussion of peace here by a conference consisting of about 30 delegates from the United States, Holland, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Sweden, Norway, Great Britain, Belgium and Switzerland.

The conference came to an end with the drafting of a program for action in the various countries. Only a short record of the work of the conference has been issued, as follows:

"The object of the meeting was not to suggest steps to bring the war to an end, but to consider by what principles the future peace of the world would best be guaranteed. After a full discussion, a minimum program was adopted.

For a Durable Peace.

"The action to be initiated in the different countries ultimately will be supplemented by an international propaganda. A central committee for a durable peace has been created as a link between the national organizations.

"The committee of the Dutch anti-war council, supplemented by members from other countries, will serve as the executive committee."

Mrs. Fanny F. Andrews of Boston was the American delegate.

INVITES FOE INTO THE OPEN

Villa Asks Obregon to Fight North of Celaya to Save the Non-Combatants.

Washington, April 12.—General Villa has telegraphed his agency here that he has sent a communication through foreign consuls to General Obregon inviting him to come into the open country north of Celaya to fight or else permit the non-combatants of that city to withdraw before he begins the bombardment.

The message, dated Villa's headquarters at Iraquato, was as follows:

"The recent engagements with Alvaro Obregon's column at Celaya resulted disastrously for the enemy, who have suffered enormous losses in killed. I have heard from reliable sources that six trainloads of Carranzistas wounded in this engagement have left Celaya for Queretaro.

"The enemy have destroyed two kilometres of railroad to the north of Celaya, which shows that they will try to retreat or reorganize their troops, who are in a most critical condition."

EPIDEMIC HITS RED CROSS

Typhus Contracted by American Doctors and Nurses in Serbia Now Fighting Disease.

New York, April 12.—Of the contingent of six doctors and twelve nurses sent to Serbia by the American Red Cross society since the European war begun, all but four have contracted typhus, the disease they have been combatting, according to Dr. M. P. Lane of New Orleans, a Red Cross doctor who arrived here on the steamship Finland from Mediterranean ports.

Doctor Lane was accompanied by two Red Cross nurses, Miss Margaret Tulloss and Miss Claire Sensher, both of Kansas City. They were ordered home by Dr. Ernest P. Magruder, head of the Serbian contingent, who has since died, to recuperate after they had themselves been confined to the hospitals, victims of the scourge.

Ignores Neutrality Violation Charge.

Washington, April 12.—The latest German claim that the United States is violating the spirit of neutrality in permitting arms exportation by the allies will not be accepted by the United States. This point was raised last September when it became apparent that the German navy did not intend to contest with England for control of the seas. At that time the state department prepared for President Wilson a comprehensive statement dealing with the entire problem.

A Jewish street vender of spectacles was offering his wares when half a dozen saucy fellows stepped up.

"Keep still; we'll have some fun with him," said the spokesman of the party.

"Shpectacles! Good vons," called the vender.

"Dot vos goot," said the young man. "Now, what can you see through these glasses, Mr. Moses?"

"Anything vot you like," was the reply.

"Ish dot so? Well, we'll see about that." He took a pair of spectacles, put them on, and looked straight at the dealer. "Nonsense, Mr. Moses!" he exclaimed. "What have you been telling us? Nothing whatever can be seen through these glasses but blackguards," whereupon his companions laughed.

"Vot? Ish dot so?" exclaimed the vender, as if in alarm. He took the glasses, put them on hastily, and looked at the party. "My goodness!" he exclaimed, "dot ish so." The party moved on, but this time they were not laughing.

Gets Job; Dies First Day.

John J. Cullen had been out of work since January. Almost every day he had applied for work from the contractors building a bridge across the Passaic river between Belleville and Arlington, N. J.

An extra man was needed and the contractors put Cullen to work. Pleased at getting a job, he worked with zest until noon. As he was leaving the bridge for lunch he fell into the water a few feet from shore.

The water was shallow. Cullen rose to his feet and staggered to shore. Then he dropped again. When men reached him he was dead. He was thirty-five years old, and lived at 216 Cleveland avenue, Harrison.

American Milk Bottles to Britain.

In reference to our recent paragraph on the shortage in milk bottles due to the supply having in the past been drawn from Austria, we are informed by a firm in the trade that this difficulty is now being overcome. It is possible to secure bottles from America, of equal quality and at the same price as the Austrian product. We are glad to hear that the Austrian source of supply can be dispensed with without inconvenience, but we should be still more glad to hear that the demand could be met by British makers. In this connection we are informed that English bottles are to be obtained, "but at a rise of 20 per cent and of an inferior quality."—London Globe.

FOR REGULATING BRIDGE BUILDING

BILLS TO INVESTIGATE ALLEGED UNFAIR COMBINATION ADOPTED BY THE HOUSE.

WOULD AMEND CASHMAN LAW

Senate Railroad Committee Reports Commission's Bill in Spite of Appeal—Defines Twin Cities Freight Terminal Status.

Amid scenes of considerable tumult the house passed Representative James Dwyer's civil service repeal bill. The bill now goes to the senate for action and both sides claim the majority there.

The repeal bill, if it becomes a law, would abolish the Minneapolis civil service commission and the merit system of employment and promotion in effect in Minneapolis since the legislature of two years ago adopted the bill which created the commission and the system.

St. Paul, Minn.—Two bills prepared by the special house committee appointed to investigate an alleged unfair combination of public bridge contractors were passed by the house with but few dissenting votes and the report of the committee was also adopted.

One bill would authorize the state highway commission to act as agent for any town, village or county in the purchase of bridge material and in letting contracts for the erection of the bridge.

The commission would let the contract to the lowest responsible bidder, retaining the privilege, however, to reject one or all bids.

The other bill would compel the governing body of a town or county to advise the commission at least 3 weeks before time fixed for receiving bids.

The bill providing for industrial training in public schools was passed by the house.

To Amend Cashman Tariff Law.

In spite of an appeal by the state railroad commission to allow it more discretionary power, the senate railroad committee reported the commission's bill amending the Cashman distance tariff law with a clause added defining the status of the Twin City freight terminal. At present under the Cashman law, shipments to Minneapolis and St. Paul take different rates. The purpose of the amending act is to make the Twin City terminal, from Hopkins to South St. Paul, a single point. The added clause restores the old rule that the distance from any station to either of the Twin Cities is governed by the distance to the nearer city.

The bill has passed the house, and there was opposition to the amendment on the ground that it might jeopardize final action on the bill. It was adopted in committee and then reconsidered for a further hearing. Minneapolis business men were on hand to urge its adoption. Without the amendment, they said, it would be possible either for the railroad commission or the courts to make the distance to Minnesota Transfer the measure of rates to Twin City terminals. This would add five miles to every existing distance and increase rates to and from the Twin Cities all over the state.

May 6 Designated "Clean-up" Day.

Governor Hammond has designated Thursday, May 6, as clean-up day. "The annual loss of property by fire in the state is appalling," says Governor Hammond in his proclamation. "This loss arises very largely from carelessness. In designating May 6 as Clean-up Day, I recommend that mayors, fire marshals and all public officers use all diligence in calling to the attention of the people within their jurisdiction the importance of putting their premises in order against the danger of fire."

Governor Hammond further urges that the schools of Minnesota, both public and private, recognize May 6 by having fire drill exercises and discussions of the best methods of protecting property and life. All civic organizations are also urged to observe the day.

Indorse Bank Bill Report.

After a long debate the house adopted the majority report of the judiciary committee, which held that a majority vote of the house would be sufficient to pass the bill introduced by the banking committee compelling banks to keep their reserve in banks having a reserve of $25,000 or more. Another bill, which was referred to the judiciary committee for consideration as to the number of votes necessary to pass, is yet to be taken up.

No Passes to Land Agents.

By a vote of 29 to 36 the senate voted down the bill proposing railroad passes for land agents. Senator E. P. Peterson of Litchfield, arguing against the minority report, declared that passage of the land agent's transportation bill would throw down the bars as regards anti-pass legislation in Minnesota. Senator D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls, favoring the minority report, declared the rapid development of northern Minnesota and other sections of the state depended greatly on the giving of railroad passes to agents.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE MAYO FOUNDATION PROPOSAL

St. Paul, Minn.—Bearing the names of Senator Frank E. Putnam of Blue Earth and Senator Oluf Gjerset of Montevideo, a resolution calling for a senatorial investigation of the proposed affiliation of the University of Minnesota medical department and the Mayo Foundation of Rochester, has been adopted unanimously by the senate.

The resolution has the backing of Senator William S. Dwinnell of Minneapolis and other members of the senate, who desire to have full light thrown on the agreement by which it is proposed to establish this foundation.

Lieutenant Governor J. A. A. Burnquest at once named Senators Oluf Gjerset of Montevideo, Carl L. Wallace of Minneapolis and J. W. Andrews of Mankato as members of the committee.

Conflicting Statements.

The resolution adopted by the senate reads as follows:

"There is now pending in the senate a bill involving the proposed affiliation of the University medical department with the Mayo Foundation at Rochester, and conflicting statements are made as to the real agreement upon which it is proposed to establish such affiliation.

"Senators F. E. Putnam and Oluf Gjerset therefore move that a senate committee of three be appointed to visit the university and ascertain the exact facts and agreement upon which it is proposed to establish such affiliation, and to report the same to the senate."

APPROPRIATION OF $5,213,397 ASKED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

St. Paul, Minn.—The house appropriations committee has introduced its departmental appropriation bill. The total recommended for the department is $5,213,387 for the biennial period, as against $5,327,290 granted two years ago.

Even so, the house departmental bill is approximately $200,000 in excess of the similar bill introduced some time ago by the senate committee. One of the chief differences is in the appropriation for the foresty department. This department now is receiving $75,000 a year, which the senate cut to $40,000 a year. The house bill carries $75,000 per year, the same as now received. The house also gives the board of health a larger appropriation than does the senate committee, which granted $71,300 per year, while the house granted $106,000.

The house bill also provides a $25,000 appropriation for a waterways commission. This is not included in the senate bill.

The house committee bill does not mention the state immigration department. The senate committee granted $25,000 per year. There is pending in the house a bill to abolish this department.

BILL TO INCREASE MAYORS' SALARIES PASSED BY SENATE

St. Paul, Minn.—After a fight, during which unsuccessful efforts were made to amend the measure radically, Senator John A. Healy's bill providing an increase in salaries and extension of terms of office for municipal officials in villages of more than 5,000 population, was passed by the senate by a vote of 46 to 5.

The measure, known as the "Range Towns Mayors' Bill," was fought by Senator Richard Jones of Duluth, who submitted an amendment to make the salaries of mayors $300 per annum instead of $1,2000 as provided in the bill.

This amendment was lost on a roll call, 36 to 14.

The senate then passed the bill as it stood.

Senator Healy said the bill had the approval of the Hibbing Commercial club and other public organizations in the Range towns.

WOULD BE FIRST STATE TO CONTROL INSURANCE RATES.

When Governor Hammond affixes his signature to Senate File 558, which he is expected to do at once, Minnesota will be the first state in the Union to assume jurisdiction over and control of fire insurance rates.

Senate File 558 is the product of the State Insurance Department of which S. G. Works is the head. It gives Commissioner Works supervision over the making of rates for fire insurance companies. It provides that the commissioner may examine any and all rate-making bureaus in the state and ascertain their methods of procedure in matters of rate-making.

Teachers' Pension Bill Passed.

The teachers' pension bill was passed by the house by a vote of 82 to 39, after a warm debate and fruitless efforts to amend it.

It provides for a compulsory contribution of $5 a year for five years and $10 a year thereafter by all teachers.

Approves Franchise Bill.

Minneapolis, April 9.—The Hennepin house delegation has placed its seal of approval on the bill which would permit the Minneapolis city council to enter into negotiations with the street railway company relative to franchise renewal.

House Takes Up Insurance Bills.

The house took up as a special order 13 insurance bills. Among them was a bill by Representative Theodore Christianson of Dawson, providing for state insurance on public buildings.

STATE BREVITIES

Litchfield.—No license carried here by a majority of fifty-one votes. Litchfield goes into the dry column for the second successive year.

Rochester.—Drastic action was taken by the city council in the regulation of saloons the coming year, when the aldermen met to grant the licenses. An ordinance was passed without a dissenting vote cutting off three hours each day.

Rochester.—The city council will greatly extend the area of paved streets. Rochester has about eight miles of paving, and with the work this year the 10-mile mark will be passed. Creosote block and asphaltic concrete will be used.

Rochester.—The American Surgical association will hold its annual summer session in Rochester, June 9, 10 and 11. Afterward they will leave on a special train for San Francisco to attend the annual meeting of the American Medical association.

Winona.—Autobus service on a limited scale is being started this week by the Twentieth Century Transportation company, the initial service being provided on the concrete highway between Winona and Wilson. The bus makes a side trip to Minnesota City on its route.

Caledonia.—Houston county advocates of county option are planning a campaign which will probably result in a special election under the new law, a call having been sent out by a special committee for a mass meeting at Houston village. S. B. Safford, head of the anti-saloon league, will speak.

Rochester.—The Women's Missionary society of the presbytery of Winona is holding a convention in this city. About 50 women, representing 13 counties are present. Mrs. C. W. Williams of Minneapolis, Mrs. Elijah Barton of St. Paul, and Mrs. Clara Davidson of Chicago, are the principal speakers.

Redwood Falls.—While boat riding with his father and two other boys above Redwood Falls, Harold Lee, aged 10, was swept away by the current. The boat in which the four were riding was caught by an eddy and carried toward the falls. Three of the occupants escaped when the craft was dashed on the rocks.

Rochester.—Governor Winfield S. Hammond will be the guest of the Rochester Commercial club Tuesday evening, May 4, when a banquet and reception will be tendered in his honor. This will be Governor Hammond's first appearance in Rochester since his election. The governor will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Duluth.—Three jitney accidents caused the wrecking of three cars and minor injuries to drivers and passengers. One jitney ran into a telephone pole and was completely wrecked; another turned over while nine passengers and the driver were in it. All escaped severe injury. Another jitney was found a complete wreck with the bottom out of it, believed due to overloading.

Fergus Falls.—Much dragging was done in this locality last week, and seeding began in earnest all over the county. The ground is in the best possible condition. It has been free from snow, except for an occasional drift, for nearly four weeks, and the seed will go into warm soil. At the same time there is ample moisture underneath to start the grain and keep it coming.

St. Cloud.—Mrs. Zadia Macdonald, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Macdonald of this city and only woman member of the Minnesota department of the G. A. R., has been married to George Chauncey Olmsted of Duluth. Because of patriotic readings at various state encampments, Miss Macdonald was elected an honorary member of the organization. Mr. and Mrs. Olmsted left on a trip to Chattanooga.

Pine River.—A crew of surveyors left here in charge of State Engineer W. A. Moulster to mark out the last stretch of the county's Elwell highway from Pillager to Walker and beyond for eight miles to the county line. Last fall the surveyors got as far as Hackensack, but had to discontinue work on account of the cold weather. The road is 75 miles long and will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Winona.—The playgrounds division of the Winona Association of Commerce is planning to maintain three playgrounds in Winona the coming summer. It has also been decided to put on a musical comedy, "Loveland," by local talent on April 20 and 21. The Playgrounds association has elected Rev. Dr. T. S. Deviee as president and C. D. Tearse as secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

Hibbing.—Armed with petitions from merchants and business men of the village, others from persons living in the township of Great Scott, Recorder D. D. Haley left for St. Paul where he will replenish the supply of material for the campaign against the Harrison bill by residents of the range. Mayor V. L. Power and others from the range are in St. Paul putting up a vigorous fight against the measure.

Zumbrota.—Mrs. Johanna Davidson, 86 years old, is dead at her home in Roscoe township. She was married in Norway in 1854 and came to America in 1865, settling in Goodhue county. She is survived by her husband, a son and a daughter. One of her sons, now deceased, traveled as a giant with Barnum & Bailey's circus for a number of years.

Cass Lake.—Mrs. D. F. Dumas, her mother, Mrs. John Jarvis and Mrs. Hattie Moseley, nurse at Dr. D. F. Dumas' hospital, were taken suddenly ill from ptomaine poisoning. They had eaten canned fish for luncheon.

The reasons for Certain-teed Roofing

Certain-teed
ROOFING

Every buyer needs the proper assurance, when he pays for the best quality, that a second or third quality will not be delivered. The market is flooded with too many brands. Some manufacturers with poor facilities too often meet competition by cutting quality. Some wholesalers buy any old quality, put their labels on it, and say it is the best. Our Certain-teed label is backed by the written guarantee of the world's largest manufacturer of asphalt roofings. It gives each buyer the assurance wanted, and our unequalled facilities for manufacturing enable us to sell it at a very reasonable price.

These are the reasons for Certain-teed
Roofing

We invite every one interested to come to our mills and see how we make the goods. We know that our Certain-teed Roofing is the best quality that we can make. It's the best quality that can be made to last and remain waterproof on the roof. It is made with that one purpose in view. We also make cheap grade, poor quality roofings to meet the demand for very temporary roofs, but the Certain-teed label goes only on our best quality, longest life product. It is the grade which carries our Company name and endorsement and guarantee—1-ply 5 years, 2-ply 10 years, 3-ply 15 years.

If you want the right quality and want to be sure you are getting what you pay for, insist on the Certain-teed label. The price is reasonable. No one can tell the quality of a piece of roofing by looking at it. The man is not living who can take three kinds of roofing of different qualities and tell with any degree of accuracy the length of time each one will last on the roof. He cannot tell their relative values by looking at them. Why take the chance of guessing, when you can get the safest guarantee on the best quality goods at a reasonable price.

If for any reason you do not care for the highest quality—if you want a temporary roof, we also make goods sold at the lowest price on the market, because we have unequalled facilities, and are making approximately a third of the entire asphalt roofing and building papers of the whole world's supply. Our facilities enable us to beat all competition on price goods as well as on Certain-teed quality.

The difference between the total cost of the goods, the freight, the laying, etc., between quality goods and price goods is insignificant. It is much better policy to cut out the guessing and let the manufacturer of real responsibility insure you on all the vital points. He knows what he puts into the goods and what they will do—you can then insist upon getting everything as represented.

LET'S BOOST BUSINESS

Less Politics—More Prosperity

We have had enough starvation business—enough of political "cure-alls" of every party, with their smashing and busting—enough of politicians who promise economy and honesty in order to get into office and then practice unheard of extravagances and then play for votes or party rather than for principle and right, etc. The cost of living is not going down. Let's go after good times and make enough money to pay for the cost of a living, whatever it may be. We don't want cheap living—we want good business and good times for everybody and if we all pull together we will get them.

The game of the politician is to promise everything. Many of them ought to be prosecuted for fraud on account of the difference between what they promise and what they deliver. They're worse than the business man who over-advertises the quality of his goods. Let the business interests, from the laborer to the superintendent, from the office boy to the president, from the hired man on the farm to the owner of the farm, remember that they have a common interest in good business and a square deal in business. Stop listening to the fakers and let's boost ourselves back into good times. It can be done. No more knockers and false prophets are wanted. We are going to be too busy to listen to any except those who promise "good business" legislation.

Canadian Wheat to Feed the World

The war's fearful devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and there is an unusual demand for Canadian wheat. Canada's invitation to every industrious American is therefore especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves while helping her to raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands can be bought at remarkably low prices. Think of the money you can make with wheat at its present high prices, where for some time it is liable to continue. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent.

Military service is not compulsory in Canada, but there is an extra demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. The Government this year is urging farmers to put extra acreage into grain.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Secretary Bryan wanted to keep Jack Johnson, the pugilist in this country, but was too late in serving his notice not to issue him passports, as they were already issued. Johnson came over and got licked, now let him get out of America and stay out.

If all the bills introduced in the present legislature were enacted into laws, and published, it would be necessary to send the newspapers by freight, to subscribers, as the parcel post would be unable to handle them. Thousands of them like O'Neill's buffalo bill will remain in the pigeon holes at St. Paul after the legislature adjourns.

It seems that the people of Goodridge are not taking an active interest in the building of a farmers' elevator. The principle trouble seems to be the lack of a leader, that can place the matter before the people in a proper light. While Goodridge has a newspaper that notes the local happenings, it seems to lack the "something" to place the matter of a public improvement before the people in its proper form, so they can see the need of it, then they will promptly go to work and make it.

The farmers are taking hold in earnest this spring to make this a record year for northern Minnesota. The land is in fine condition for seeding, and this fall will see a record breaking crop for Pennington county. Those who lack seed, are being given assistance to obtain it by our local bankers, and they will see to it that any honest man who is financially unable to procure seed grain can obtain it, as the people are united to make this the record breaking year. Don't sit down and talk hard times but get the grain into the ground, and have something to sell this fall that will bring you the cash.

HARD TIMES ON CANADIAN FRONTIER.

Arthur Johnson, who worked for Alldrin several years ago, is back here from Athabasca Landing, and expects to stay here. He says up to the time he left, a week ago, over 800 of the settlers had received government aid, and everyone who is able to get away is moving out. The government grub stakes the settlers and takes first mortgage on the land. He abandoned his claim up there.—Warroad Pioneer.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO.

Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, was engineer in an electric light plant in Detroit. Charley Murphy, the baseball millionaire, was a reporter on the Cincinnati Enquirer. Thomas H. Ince, the motion picture magnate, was a comic opera comedian, glad to get $50 a week. Charlie Weeghman, owner of the Chicago Federal baseball team and a string of restaurants, was a waiter in a quick lunch room. And so it goes. The list could be strung out to a column's length. Therefore, when you hear a boy or a young man complain that he has no chance, take him by the arm and tell him a few things. There never was a time in the world's history when there were more opportunities for young man to get to the front. There never was a time when a little intelligence and determination would provide a man with a competence in a few years. This is particulary true in the farming business—for farming is a business. The young man of today who will take hold of a farm with the idea of making it the best farm in the county and who will work intelligently for ten years, with that idea always before him, will not have to work for the remainder of his life. —Ex.

The Sick Man of the East.

The phrase "the sick man of the east" originated in a speech of Czar Nicholas to the British charge d'affaires at St. Petersburg at the time of the Crimean war. He said: "We have on our hands a sick man, a very sick man. It would be a great misfortune if one of these days he should slip away from us before the necessary arrangements have been made."—Argonaut.

Enormous Rainfall In Hawaii.

The rainfall on the island of Hawaii varies greatly, ranging from the enormous downpour of 358 inches a year in the upper Waipio valley to twenty inches on some of the slopes of Hualalai. The only surface streams on the island are found along the northeast coast between Hilo and Kohala. Waipio river, according to the United States geological survey, is the largest stream on the island and has been partly developed for irrigation. At Kapoho, on the east point of the island, warm water flows from seams in the rocks. These warm springs flow into a pool about 100 feet long, 25 feet wide and 20 feet deep. The pool is entirely surrounded by rocks, and its color varies in shade from a beautiful blue to violet. Waiapele, or Green lake, is a body of fresh water in the pit of an old crater near Kapoho. This lake covers an area of about five acres and is fed by springs below the surface. A pumping plant takes water from this lake for domestic use and for irrigation.

Military Music.

"No one in time of peace can understand what war is," writes Rev. Charles E. Jefferson in the Woman's Home Companion. "We may prepare for it, but we do not realize what it is we are preparing for. Military preparations are quite interesting, even exciting. Boys and girls are always fascinated by the paraphernalia of battle. Never have the instruments of war been so intricate and sparkling as now. All the trappings of the military world are alluring.

"Military music is full of piercing notes, which set the corpuscles of the blood dancing. But military music is not the music of war. The music of war is the groans of wounded and dying men and the sobs of broken hearted women. Military music is one of the embroidered veils thrown over the face of war to make boys think that war is glorious."

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hunt visited with Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kolski on Sunday afternoon.

Eddie Hyland is breaking for H. E. Holm, with a six plow tractor engine.

Quirk Bros. have a big crew of grubbers and land clearers at work this week, clearing land and getting it ready to break.

We lost our hogs by cholera last year, and we are trying a new lot of them this year. We will know after trying it, if they catch it or not.

The meadows in this locality have been well burned over this spring, which will increase the hay crop this year.

Mr. G. Swanson lost a valuable steer on Wednesday, from a disease that had the appearance of black leg.

Seeding is progressing rapidly in this locality, and this week will see about all of the wheat and oats seeded.

There is to be a big ball at the Goodridge Hall tomorrow night. The Kolski string and concertina band will furnish the music.

Andrew Ellingson received his commission as postmaster at Highlanding Wednesday, and that office is now open for business.

Mrs. Syverud's mother died at the residence of Mr. Syveruds, on Monday, of old age. The remains were buried at Garnes Wednesday.

At an election held at Aberdeen, S. D, April 21st, there were 1335 votes pulled in favor of license, and exactly the same number against it. This means that Aberdeen will be dry.

The dwelling house on the Thore Moen farm in Deer Park township was destroyed by fire last Saturday. This house has been vacant for a number of years, as the farm was inherited by a banker who does not make his residence here.

On Sunday evening Knute Sannes, living in Mayfield township had his barn destroyed by fire. Three cows and one horse were burned. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss falls pretty heavy on Mr. Sannes as he is a poor man. No insurance.

On Tuesday afternoon Oscar Nesland of Deer Park township met with a serious accident at the residence of P. A. Rensla, where he was building a barn. He fell from a scaffold about fourteen feet high from the ground. He was taken to Thief River Falls for medical treatment on Wednesday.

From present indications the experiment that we tried last spring of seeding new broken mosskeag to timothy seed before seeding it to flax, is going to be successful as there will be a good crop of timothy this year. If this is successful it will solve the problem of what to raise on mosskeag land the second year after it is broken.

Fred E. Brown, agent for Hitchcock, Hill and Co. wholesale grocers of Chicago, was taking farmers' orders in this locality yesterday.

Ye editor has been busy seeding this week. We have one field of wheat seeded two weeks ago that has turned the color of the field from brown to green.

We noticed a field seeded to wheat on the farm of Mike Kolski in Deer Park township last Sunday, that was an upland lake nine years ago. Surely ditching was worth the price to be paid, for without the state ditches there would be very little grain growing in this locality, except on high knowls.

SUBMARINE E-15 LOST BY BRITISH

RUNS AGROUND IN DARDANELLES MINE FIELD—SEVEN OF CREW MISSING.

SINK TURKISH TORPEDO BOAT

British Destroy Vessel Which Attacked Transport Manitou Off Chios—Bombard Encampment in Egypt.

London, April 20.—Reuter's Athens correspondent says the bombardment of the Dardanelles has been resumed. An aeroplane also circled over Tenedos and unsuccessfully dropped bombs in the port and at several warships. Allied seaplanes pursued the Turkish aircraft, which escaped.

London, April 20.—The British, as an offset to their success in destroying a Turkish torpedo boat which attacked the transport Manitou off Chios lost the submarine E-15, which, while carrying out a difficult reconnaissance in the Dardanelles mine field, ran aground on Kephez Point, the crew being made prisoners. According to the Turkish report, seven of the crew are missing.

In Egypt, British armies have been dropping bombs on the Turkish encampment near the border, while a French cruiser, the fire of which was directed by a seaplane, has been throwing shells on the Turkish near El Arish, where the army for the invasion of Egypt has its headquarters.

To Harass the Turks.

These operations were undertaken presumably to harass the Turks as the Turks have not shown any intention of attacking the British since their last repulse along the canal.

In the Carpathians there has been fighting, but no battle to be compared with those which the arrival of spring brought to a close. The Austrians officially report that they have repulsed Russian attacks to the southeast of Lupkow Pass, inflicting heavy losses on their adversaries, but elsewhere comparative calm prevails.

French Active in Vosges.

The French have again become active in the Vosges, capturing an important height near Metzeral. The British, too, have attacked the Germans in the neighborhood of Ypres, where fighting was still in progress when the last report was dispatched.

The sinking of the Greek steamer Ellispontos by a submarine off the Dutch coast is likely to bring about some friction between the Greek and German governments. The Ellispontos was destroyed while on a voyage from Ymuiden, Holland, to Montevideo, in ballast.

TEUTONS TO USE DEADLY GAS

Plan to Kill or Stupify British in the Trenches, Says German Prisoner.

General Headquarters of the British Army in France, via London, April 19.—The oft-repeated but unauthenticated report that the Germans are using deadly gases in their trench warfare has been attested by a German prisoner speaking voluntarily to a British staff officer.

The officer related to a correspondent the description given by this prisoner of three foot cylinders charged with an unknown gas which they proposed releasing at some expedient time, the plain being to kill or stupify the British if possible. This expedient, the German said, was to be followed by a vigorous infantry attack much as infantry advances after artillery clears the way.

"The prisoner exhibited cotton wool," said the officer, "which he said had been supplied them to plug their noses and prevent the gas from killing them also. It is not quite clear to me, however, why a shift of the wind wouldn't turn the tables, blowing the gas into the German trenches instead of ours."

Reported Jap Activity Groundless.

Washington, April 19.—Commander Noble Irwin of the cruiser New Orleans reported to the navy department yesterday that he had investigated the Japanese naval activity in Turtle Bay, Lower California, and found no indications of other than salvage work on the stranded cruiser Asama.

The commander's report was sent by wireless to Admiral Howard, commanding the Pacific fleet, who telegraphed it to Secretary Daniels, as follows:

"The Asama still aground in San Bartolome Bay. Only other vessel present one repair ship and two colliers. No indication of other than salvaging work."

Mrs. Potter Palmer as Gardener.

Chicago, April 19.—Mrs. Potter Palmer, wealthy leader of Chicago society, who is known on two continents, is in a fair way to become the world's most renowned market gardener. Last week 68 carloads of asparagus left Sarasota, Mrs. Palmer's estate in Florida, for the New York hotels. Grapefruit and lemons have been coming up regularly from Sarasota for several years, and friends of Mrs. Palmer, all over this country and in Europe as well, have had presents from her of crates of grapefruit.

PROHIBITION WILL BE LEADING ISSUE

REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC LEADERS FRIGHTENED BY MOVE OF DRYS.

WILL COME BEFORE CONGRESS

Anti-Saloon League Leaders Seek Submission of Constitutional Amendment—If It Fails Will Force Issue in 1916.

Washington, April 20.—National prohibition will be a leading issue in the next session of congress.

This is the purpose of the political maneuvering, and clever maneuvering it is, of the National Anti-Saloon League, which points at the national campaign in 1916, but which has the congressional issue in mind.

While the national campaign in 1916 is not directly aimed at now, the Anti-Saloon League leaders have it in mind and if they fail in securing a submission of a constitutional amendment proposing national prohibition at the next session of congress, then they will force the issue in 1916.

Leaders Are Frightened.

This is the sum and substance of the campaign which has been arranged by the dry leaders and which is forecast in the recent pronouncements given out here by the head of the Anti-Saloon League.

Political leaders in both Republican and Democratic camps are frightened and the strategical importance of the move made by the drys is not ignored or underestimated.

National leaders have in mind the demoralization that has followed in states where the liquor issue has been allowed to come to the top. They have seen economic and political questions dwarfed to make place for the social question of prohibition in its various forms; they have noted the demoralization of the parties that has followed, and are worried. Neither side would like to see prohibition enter into the national campaign just at a time when great business and economic principles are at stake. This the dry forces recognize, and this is the point they are making. They have offered a remedy and are now waiting to see whether or not it will be adopted.

Drys Offer Remedy.

The remedy is submission of a national prohibition amendment by the next congress.

The National Anti-Saloon League has given it out cold they will not support any candidate for the presidency who has opposed the passage of the Webb-Kenyon bill relative to the interstate shipment of liquor and that they will not support any one who voted against the submission of a dry constitutional amendment in the last congress.

They point out they had a majority in the last congress for the dry amendment and expect to have greater support for it next time.

In the last congress the vote on the question of submission of a constitutional amendment was ayes 197 to nays 189. There were ten members paired for and five against the vote. In other words there were 207 and 197 against, with 34 not voting, a clear majority for. But the submission of a constitutional amendment requires a two-thirds vote, and this the drys did not have.

Knowing the fear which the political managers have of the invasion of the prohibition question into the realm of national presidential politics, the drys tactically say, if you give us the constitutional amendment we will devote our time to having it ratified by the required number of states, but otherwise the question becomes a national issue which cannot be dodged.

Rails for Alaska Leave.

Seattle, April 19.—The first rails for the government railroad in Alaska were shipped on the steamer Mariposa which sailed for Cook inlet. The shipment consisted of two carloads of steel to be used in building working terminals at Ship Creek which will be the base for this season's operations. The Mariposa also carried large shipments of lumber, construction equipment and supplies for the Alaska engineering commission.

Lieutenant Frederick Mears of the Alaska engineering commission, and 45 surveyors were among the 291 passengers on the steamer.

Bread Scarce in Austria.

Verona, by way of Paris, April 19.—Travelers from the interior of Austria bring reports of increasing unrest resulting from the insufficiency of the bread allowance which, although it has been increased still is considered inadequate. Demonstrations against the war are said to be increasing in number and violence.

British Defeat Turks.

London, April 19.—The British India troops have inflicted another defeat on the Turks in the vicinity of Shaiba, Mesopotamia, although at a considerable loss to themselves, their casualties being about 700. This announcement was made by the India office in an official report just issued.

The report says that after clearing the Turks out of their positions north and west of Shabia the British continued their offensive in the direction of Zobeir, four miles south of the Shabia fort.

JOINT ECONOMY BOARD FAVORED

COMMISSION OF ELEVEN MEMBERS PROVIDED FOR IN RESOLUTION PASSED IN SENATE.

INCREASES APPROPRIATIONS

House Adds $5,000 to Departmental Omnibus Bill for Maintenance of Wage Commission—Motion to Cut Highway Allowance Lost.

St. Paul, Minn.—

In a session marked by turmoil and bitter dissension, the house of representatives completed consideration of and passed, with only four dissenting votes, the department omnibus appropriation bill, which had been under consideration for two days.

Apparently tired of what was characterized as "needless horseplay" the house then got down to business and in less than 30 minutes agreed upon the institutional omnibus bill carrying an appropriation of $4,783,533.

Adds to Appropriation Bill.

The house added $5,000 to the departmental omnibus appropriation bill for yearly maintenance of the minimum wage commission, the vote being 89 to 16. A motion to strike out the $100,000 annual allowance for the state highway commission was defeated.

Working on the department appropriation bill, the house approved the item of $75,000 a year for the state forestry service. This is the same as the allowance for the last four years, but the state senate committee has cut it to $40,000 a year. The item of $25,000 a year for the immigration department was restored. This is a cut of $10,000 a year, but corresponds with the senate committee action.

The state board of health appropriation was cut on motion of P. W. Guilford, reducing the $10,000 for collecting vital statistics to $5,000, and the $25,000 for preventable diseases to $15,000. The house added $10,000 a year to the $100,000 appropriated for the tuberculosis sanatoriums.

Favors Joint Economy Board.

A joint commission on efficiency and economy is proposed in a resolution passed by the senate and sent to the house for concurrence. The commission is to be of 11 members, four appointed from the senate by the lieutenant governor, four from the house by the speaker, and three by the governor, either from the legislature or from the citizenship of the state at large.

The original resolution by James A. Carley provided the 11 members should all be appointed by the governor. When it was called up, F. H. Peterson offered an amendment making it six house members and five senators. F. A. Duxbury offered the substitute which was adopted.

Senator Peterson stood up for a strictly legislative commission, and called attention to the fact that numerous commissions of citizens have proven failures, their work being uniformly rejected by the legislature. C. W. Gillman of Windom opposed the whole proposition, saying "the late lamented commission of 30 did an enormous amount of work, which amounted to nothing at all." The bill "demoralized the house, he said, and the whole thing proved a farce. He didn't believe anything better could be expected from a new commission.

Senate Passes Omnibus Bill.

By a vote of 49 ayes to 9 nays, and without debate, the educational omnibus appropriation bill, carrying a total of $7,122,760 for the two-year period ending July 31, 1917, was passed by the senate.

The main plant at the University of Minnesota is given $1,846,500. The university farm school at St. Anthony Park is given $383,000. The items for general school aid throughout the state total $3,830,000.

Capital Control Bill Postponed.

By a vote of 45 to 18 the Senate indefinitely postponed the Sam Y. Gordon bill, which had been passed by the House, proposing to take from the Governor and place in the hands of the State Board of Control, management of the Capitol building and grounds. The measure was urged by Senator Wm. S. Dwinnell of Minneapolis; Ole O. Sageng of Dalton and others as a practical step toward efficiency and economy.

Gordon's Census Bill Defeated.

Representative Sam Y. Gordon's bill carrying an appropriation of $90,000 for the taking of the sixth decennial census of the state, was defeated by the house of representatives. A companion bill has been killed by the senate. The vote in the house was 56 ayes and 43 nays.

Boxing Bill Strikes Snag.

Efforts to advance H. F. 450—the Moeller 10-round boxing bill—passed by the house in the Minnesota senate, met with failure when Senator O. O. Sageng of Dalton raised objections. The bill takes the regular course with reference to committee. The house passed the senate bill amending the game law so as to prohibit shooting of ducks from a motor boat. The bill will be returned to the senate for concurrence in an amendment eliminating a provision that a hunter cannot carry more than twenty-five decoys.

BILL TO LEGALIZE 10-ROUND BOXING MATCHES IS PASSED.

St. Paul, Minn.—The bill by Representatves A. L. Lennon and George Moeller, legalizing 10-round no decision boxing bouts in Minnesota, was passed by the house of representatives by a vote of 75 to 47, after three amendments had been adopted, one of them limiting the operations of the act to cities of 50,000 or more. Friends of the bill expressed confidence that it will be passed by the senate.

One amendment adopted will raise from 7 to 10 per cent the amount of gross receipts which would go to the support of state tuberculosis sanatoria. Another amendment reduces from $3,500 to $1,200 the amount to be paid for the expenses of the boxing commission.

The Lennon-Moeller bill is patterned largely after the law now in effect in Wisconsin.

Children's Code Planned.

Senator Henry N. Benson of St. Peter, chairman of the senate committee on education, introduced a resolution providing for a comprehensive investigation by a senatorial commission of all statutes pertaining to children and for codification of all these children's laws for report to the 1917 legislature.

The Benson resolution, which under the rules lies over one day, provides for the appointment by the lieutenant governor of a commission of seven members, of which at least three shall be members of the senate.

The resolution provides $3,000 for the expenses of the committee, but the members are to serve without pay.

Such a study and codification of statutes relating to children has been championed by Judge Waite of the Hennepin county juvenile court and other social workers.

Puts Bar on Hypnotism.

Public exhibition or teaching of hypnotism, except in recognized schools, was disapproved by the house committee on judiciary which recommended passage of Senator W. S. Dwinnell's bill prohibiting such practices. Protracted naps in store show windows and the breaking of large stones on the stomachs of frail boys by the stage hypnotists would be forbidden if the bill is enacted into law.

Suffrage Is Defeated Again.

Woman suffrage flared up in the house of representatives again but met defeat on a motion to suspend the rules and pass Representative A. S. Larson's bill granting women the privilege of voting at presidential elections. The vote to suspend the rules was 75 years and 49 nays, a two-thirds vote of the entire house being necessary.

Would Give State $1,000,000 Revenue.

Knul Knudson's bill to lay a tax of 1 cent on every $100 consideration in any trade in futures in grain or stocks was suddenly jumped from its repose in the hands of the grain and warehouse committee to the head of the house calendar. In its new position this measure, which is of high importance to the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce and the Duluth Board of Trade, probably will be reached in a day or two and put upon its passage. It is expected to pass the house, and may be substituted in the senate for a similar measure pending there.

No Bible Reading in Schools.

The senate committee on education reported indefinite postponement of S. F. 636—permitting the reading of the Bible in the public schools. The report of the house roads committee recommending for indefinite postponement the bill proposing amendments to the Dunn good roads law, was adopted after an attempt to override the committee action and place the bill on general orders.

Roadhouse Bill Becomes Law.

Senator O. O. Sageng's anti-roadhouse bill became a law when it was signed by Governor W. S. Hammond. As fast as their licenses run out, saloons outside of cities and villages will be put out of business by the new law. A test case in the courts probably will follow the enforcement of the act.

Compensation Bill Repassed.

The senate repassed the workmen's compensation law, the house having receded from its amendment, making the period of waiting after an injury one week instead of two weeks, and repassing the bill. The measure now goes to the governor for approval.

Trolley Bill Passed in House.

The house has passed the Minneapolis street railway franchise enabling act by a vote of 76 to 44, amended to provide that the city shall reserve the right to authorize suburban lines to use the tracks of the street railway company.

Banking Board Bill Passed?

The banking board bill was given 79 years and 41 nays and declared by the speaker to have passed. Some members insisted that a two-thirds vote was necessary and that it had not passed.

End of Session Approaches.

Governor Hammond will have a fine chance for "pocket votes" on the work of this legislature. He has three days after any bill reaches him before he needs to sign it. If the legislature is in session, a bill becomes a law without the governor's signature if he fails to act within three days. But if the time limit expires after the legislature adjourns, the bill dies without the governor's approval. He does not need to write a veto message in that case.

"HOMING INSTINCT" IN BIRDS

Attachment to First Home Is Much the Same as Is Evidenced in Humanity.

The habit of birds in migrating South when winter comes on is influenced by the need of finding a sufficient supply of food. As food grows scarce when winter approaches in the farthest northern places where birds live they naturally turn to the South, where, their instinct tells them, food will be plentiful. The return of the birds in the spring to their accustomed haunts in the North is one of the evidences of their possession of an instinct which is also strong in man.

The environment in which a bird or human being is brought up generally becomes a permanent part of its nature. Ornithologists have not yet made it clear just what enables the bird to find its way back and forth to the same spot every year, and our knowledge is confined to the fact of what the "homing instinct" does.

After they mate and build their first nest and bring up their first family, birds cherish a fondness for that spot much the same as the attachment that man feels for his early home. The spring migration of birds is their joyful return home after a temporary sojourn abroad to secure the means of livelihood.

A FOOD DRINK
Which Brings Daily Enjoyment.

A lady doctor writes:

"Though busy hourly with my own affairs, I will not deny myself the pleasure of taking a few minutes to tell of the enjoyment obtained daily from my morning cup of Postum. It is a food beverage, not a stimulant like coffee.

"I began to use Postum 8 years ago; not because I wanted to, but because coffee, which I dearly loved, made my nights long, weary periods to be dreaded and unfitting me for business during the day.

"On advice of a friend, I first tried Postum, making it carefully as suggested on the package. As I had always used 'cream and no sugar,' I mixed my Postum so. It looked good, was clear and fragrant, and it was a pleasure to see the cream color it as my Kentucky friend always wanted her coffee to look, 'like a new saddle.'

"Then I tasted it critically, for I had tried many 'substitutes' for coffee. I was pleased, yes, satisfied with my Postum in taste and effect, and am yet, being a constant user of it all these years.

"I continually assure my friends and acquaintances that they will like Postum in place of coffee, and receive benefit from its use. I have gained weight, can sleep and am not nervous."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum — must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and with cream and sugar makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost per cup about the same.

EXPLAINING SONGS OF BIRDS

Beautiful Notes of the Nightingale, for Instance, Are Inspired by Paternal Love.

It is generally assumed that a bird sings because he is happy, but science goes deeper for an explanation of the why and wherefore of the bird's song. Nature's optimistic joy in constructive progress is expressed in the singing of the male birds who charm their mates to further their wooing, and continue after eggs are laid to encourage the fulfillment of hatching.

The song stops when the little birds come out of the shell. The nightingale, for weeks during the period of nest-building and hatching, charms his mate and human ears near him with the beautiful music of his love song. But as soon as the little nightingales come from the eggs the song changes to a sort of guttural croak, implying anxiety and sense of responsibility.

If the nest and contents were destroyed the nightingale would at once resume his beautiful song to inspire his mate to help him build another nest and start all over again the loving work of being fruitful and multiplying.

Resume of Important Happenings of Past Few Days.

NAIL SAVES LIFE OF INFANT

Catches in Clothing of Baby Thrown Down Shaft at Railway Station.

Albert Lea.—Its clothing caught on a nail, a babe which had been thrown down a shaft at the Milwaukee station, was rescued by Thomas M. Kenzle, a section foreman. A trap door had been removed and the baby thrown in. Clothing, placed around the infant, supposedly to smother its cries caught on a nail about seven feet down and the baby was saved from death.

The infant is about six weeks old. It was taken to the home of Mrs. Edward Hilton.

Either an attempt to murder the baby had been made or it was injured when thrown in the shaft, for its forehead is bruised and both temples are black and blue.

J. R. Tuttle, station agent, says he noticed a young woman carrying a baby enter the building and when she came out about 20 minutes later, she bought a ticket for Waldorf and left on a passenger train.

The woman was taken from the train at Freeborn. She carried a bundle of clothing but no baby.

The young woman refused to give her name and denied any connection with the incident here. She said she had her baby with her, pointing to the bundle. The officer reported the bundle contained no baby and announced later that the woman said she would care for the infant found here.

SHAKOPEE MINISTER IS ELECTED MODERATOR

St. Paul.—Rev. T. S. Thompson of Shakopee, Minn., was elected moderator of the St. Paul presbytery at the annual meeting at Knox Presbyterian church. He succeeded Rev. W. L. Porter of the East Presbyterian church.

Rev. B. Scott Bates of the Knox Presbyterian church and Rev. A. I. Dushaw of South St. Paul were chosen as minister delegates to the national assembly in Rochester, N. Y.

Rev. John McCoy of Stillwater and Rev. W. I. Porter of the East Presbyterian church, were named alternates. Harold Laines of North St. Paul, and B. H. Schriber of St. Paul, were chosen as elder delegates, with C. M. Sheldon of Rush City and J. P. Anderson of St. Paul, as alternates.

Rev. J. C. Robinson of White Bear, who has served as stated clerk of the presbytery for twenty-three years, was re-elected.

Allen Brown, a son of Dr. Christie Brown, and a student of the McCormick Theological seminary, and Rev. Norton Brand of Faribault, were examined and received into the presbytery.

A school of message and doctrine opened in the afternoon, under the auspices of the presbytery. It will be continued every evening at the Knox Presbyterian church, including Sunday.

DENTISTS HAVE NEW PAIN KILLER; USE NOVOCAINE

Mankato.—The second annual meeting of the Southern Minnesota District Dental society, has just closed. About 60 dentists were in attendance. In the clinical section about 25 persons registered for free work.

An interesting feature of the meeting was a discussion of the use of novocaine, a new pain killer coming into use in dentistry. When it is shot into the gums, it is said, extricating, drilling and filling can be done without discomfort to the patient, and there are no bad effects on the heart. Dr. W. H. MacNeill of Minneapolis demonstrated its use in his clinics.

Unhurt in Fall From Fast Train.

Brainerd.—Falling head first from a mail car going at the rate of forty miles an hour, T. H. Pennie, a mail clerk, landed in a pile of ties on the Minnesota & International railway south of Pine River, unhurt.

His chum, W. G. Smith of Little Falls, reported him missing when the train pulled into Pine River. The train backed up and found Pennie rubbing his head. He got into the car without assistance and finished distributing his mail.

Pennie said he heard a strange noise and in stooping to investigate leaned over too far.

Winona Sues Bonding Company.

Winona.—The calendar is out for the April term of the district court to be opened here. There are 26 cases listed. The principal case is that of the county of Winona against the American Bonding company to collect some $30,000, the difference in cost of construction of the concrete highways in Winona last year when Prinz & Carlson quit the job and the road work was done by the county. It cost the county $30,000 more to complete the work than the bid of Prinz & Carlson.

'DRYS' TO MEET IN TWIN CITIES

NATIONAL PROHIBITION PARTY EXPECTS 100,000 TO ATTEND.

Great Mass Meeting for 1916 Planned By Committee—Prospects for Cause Very Bright.

Chicago.—Members of the national committee of the Prohibition party met here and selected the Twin Cities as the meeting place for the 1916 Prohibition convention. July 19, 1916, was the date set for the convention.

The convention really will be a mass meeting of prohibitionists. Delegates to represent different states are to be chosen after the opening of the convention. The members of the national committee said that efforts would be made to get 100,000 Prohibitionists to attend the mass convention.

Eugene Chaffin, twice candidate of the Prohibition party for president of the United States, presided at the committee meeting.

In addressing the meeting he said conditions throughout the world presaged a big gain for the Prohibitionists in 1916.

LA BAR ABLE TO RAISE BONDS

Alleged Swindler Probably Will Be Released Pending Appeal to Supreme Court.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Dan La Bar probably will be released at once on bail, pending an appeal of his case to the supreme court. J. H. Shapiro, attorney for La Bar, announced that he would be able to arrange for the $25,000 bail bond if the court would be satisfied to accept sureties offered by Mrs. Mary A. Wood and Frank Salter, who appeared as bondsmen on the $17,500 demanded for La Bar's appearance at trial. County Attorney Rees intimated that he would be satisfied with these sureties. Mrs. Wood and Mr. Salter qualified for more than $25,000. Mr. Salter appeared only as surety for a bond of $7,500, Mrs. Wood for the balance. According to Mr. Shapiro Mr. Salter is willing to assume the additional bond.

In case a new trial is denied attorneys say it will be nearly a year before the supreme court can act upon the appeal.

BACHELORS MAKE FAILURES

Unmarried Men Unsuccessful as Farmers, Declares Speaker at Women's Club.

Moorhead.—Unmarried men cannot make successful farmers, for home life is essential, P. E. Clement told the delegates at the annual meeting of the Ninth district of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs.

"If a man had to do the home work on farms, there would be cisterns and drains in every kitchen," he said.

"Farming is the greatest occupation for all life depends upon it, and agriculture, is the greatest of sciences for it includes all sciences," was another contention of the speaker.

Mr. Clements scored the bulletins issued by the Federal department of agriculture, supposed to be for the benefit of farmers, which he said are too scientific and not sufficiently practical to be of use.

"These bulletins should be written from the standpoint of the farmer, not of the scientist," he added.

LABORERS THREATEN STRIKE

Tell Officials Lives Will Be in Danger If Work Is Not Provided—Families Starving.

Chisholm.—Threatening bodily injury to Recorder Culver and Street Commissioner Abbey, as the two were on their way to the village hall, a group of laborers with picks and shovels in hands told the officials if work was not offered soon their lives would be in danger.

One of the men cried "Get a rope" as the recorder sought protection in a nearby blacksmith shop. Commissioner Abbey heard the grievances of the laborers, who declared that they were brought here by the mining companies and had been thrown out of work. Their families, they said, were starving. They deprecated the action of the new council, which has discharged 187 men in the employ of the village.

Mayor V. L. Power of Hibbing says that Hibbing must adjust its work to the mining operations or labor strikes, something unheard of here, will result.

MINNEAPOLIS' POPULATION IS ESTIMATED AT 351,379

Minneapolis, Minn. — The United States census bureau has announced that according to its estimates the population of Minneapolis—April 15—was 351,379, an increase of 40,971 over 1910 returns.

The state's population April 15 was 2,230,919, and on July 1 will be 2,246,761.

Potato Train Arouses Interest.

Carlton.—The potato special train which is being operated on the Northern Pacific lines in co-operation with the State Potato Growers' association and the state university, has aroused great interest and enthusiasm among potato growers. A week's schedule has been completed on the Duluth short line, stops having been made at the leading potato producing centers. The car moved west over the line to Brainerd and Staples, and continued on the main line as far as the Red river valley.

"LIFE, LIBERTY AND PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS"

A Western Canada Farmer Writes as to Conditions.

A. G. Hansen is a farmer living near Clavet, Sask., and as an old resident of Minnesota, takes strong exception to some of the articles appearing in American papers disparaging the true conditions in Western Canada. The "Cottonwood Current" of Cottonwood, Minn., an important weekly paper in the southwestern part of the state, recently published a letter from Mr. Hansen, which is interesting reading. In his letter Mr. Hansen makes a splendid case for Western Canada against those who seek to deter farmers in the States from settling in Canada. He says:

"The district in which we live is a fair comparison to any other district in the country, made up mostly of settlers from the States. The majority here consists of Americans from Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas, with a few Canadians and an odd Englishman. We have been here eleven years, ever since this part of the country was settled, and the majority have done well. If they have not, it is certainly not the fault of the country.

"There has not been a crop failure in this district since settled. This year was the poorest, caused by lack of rain, although a fair estimate of wheat is about twelve bushels per acre, average, and oats about ten. Some farmers got as much as twenty-five bushels of wheat per acre, and we all got good prices.

"The laws of Canada are nearly the same as those of Minnesota, and we enjoy the same privileges.

"So far as the European war is concerned, we suffer to a certain extent as all the world does. Canada is giving a helping hand to her Mother Country, and we American-Canadians firmly believe it is Canada's duty to do so. I have not heard one American-Canadian who has expressed a different opinion. Canada is not compelled to send her soldiers. The service rendered is all voluntary service.

"The accusation that old settlers are considered undesirable citizens and are forced out of business, even in danger of being 'mobbed at their own fireside,' is all false, a mere fabrication in the mind of badly informed correspondents. There are a few who have been discovered carrying letters, others papers and plans to prove them spies, and whose object is to conspire against the government. These have justly been arrested. Such a class of people cannot be considered good citizens, whether living in Canada or in the United States.

"Some people are failures wherever they are, and as an excuse for failure in their country it may seem easy to put the blame on the Canadian people and the Canadian government. Fact is, thousands of people from the United States are emigrating to Canada at the present time, which shows they are not afraid of the Canadian government.

"The government is giving away, free of charge, provision through the winter to farmers in certain districts affected by the drought, and is also sending seed grain to those in need of help. This is very different from driving settlers away from their own homes.

"I have always observed that the people who love their Mother Country most are those who make the best citizens of their adopted country. The glorious 'Stars and Stripes' will always stand for what is good and noble to us, though we live in a neighbor country where we also enjoy 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'"—Advertisement.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R.I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y.

PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it."—Mrs. MARIA IRWIN, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N.Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. DUNCAN, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August '30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

This is the most favorable spring that we have had in northern Minnesota since the year of 1905, and if we can get a crop like the farmers got that year, the farmers will get a lift next fall that will help them out of the loans that some of them made to improve their farms. But they must sow, if they expect to reap, for a big crop year is of not much benefit to a farmer who does not sow the grain this spring.

HOW LONG?

How long is the war going to last? Some say September will witness the passing of this world's greatest horror. Others contend that the tidal wave of barbarism must go on with all its blood and devastation and despoiling of women and starving of children for many months and perhaps years. The rim of flying lead and steal that checked the first, fierce fling of the German giant narrows but slowly upon that powerful empire. True, the bodies of the slain on both sides are mountains high but no one imagines that Germany's strength is anything like having been spent and certainly the allies have not taxed their utmost resourses. In fact, Britain even now is rolling in a million fresh soldiers and these with fresh French reserves together with the billows of soldiers carrying the czar's banners are preparing new and supremely desperate onslaughts for the Teutons. If there is anything in that sort of a situation that indicates peace, or anything but defeat for Germany, it is not apparent to the unprejudiced mind.—Bemidji Sentinal.

The overwhelming majority of nearly 150,000 by which the Republicans elected their candidate for mayor in Chicago last week is taken as a sure indication that Illinois will go Republican in the presidential election next year by a tremendous majority. While in Chicago last week a Republican politician stated to the Index editor that the Republicans would do even better at presidential election than they did this spring. While this prediction is the result probably of over enthusiasm there is no doubt the policies of the present administration are decidedly unpopular with the people, and business men are confident that neither Wilson or Bryan could be elected president in 1916. All through the East many thousands of men are out of employment, although the war has gone a long way to offset the mistakes of the Democratic tariff law.—Norman County Index.

We doubt if there was ever a president of the United States that was ever more highly respected by the American people than President Wilson, as he has proven himself a safe man to trust with the management of this nation. But the Democratic tariff policy is a huge failure, which is plainly apparent to any school boy, and the people will surely put that party in the clear proper as soon as they get another opportunity to vote.

We publish in another column some automobile law. One of the best laws of the road is to be a gentleman. This not only applies to auto drivers, but to road hogs in general. If you have a gentle team with a load driving on a walk, if an auto overtakes you be gentleman enough to turn to one side of the road stop your team and let them pass. If a Red Lake county farmer had done this last fall, he might have avoided a serious accident on the road. But he held the road and compelled the auto driver to go as slow as he did until the road was wide enough to let him pass. The auto driver had not gone far before he met a farmer with a skittish horse, and of course he was so mad at the treatment he had just received that he never slacked speed, and the farmer was thrown out and had his collar bone broken. Had the first farmer been a gentleman and allowed the auto to pass him, the accident would not have happened to the other man. Do you see the point my friend?

Automobile Law.

The following item taken from an exchange might be of timely aid to those who are not familiar with the laws in running an automobile: "Automobile drivers must slow down and if need be, stop when meeting horses on a public highway in order to exexercise reasonable care not to frighten teams according to a decision of the supreme court. The court said the operator of the automobile must exercise this care whether the driver of the team signals him to stop or not. Failure of the driver to signal, the court found, will constitute contributory negligence only upon the facts presented in particular cases. Evidence supported by the verdict of the jury in Clay county district in the suit of damage of Louis Nelson, living near Holy Cross, Clay county against Samuel Halland, the court held and judgment for $119.17 was affirmed."

Coming.

"Have you any unanimity in your family, Mrs. Jobbs?"

"Not yet, ma'am, but we'll ketch it. We get everything that's a-goin'."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Our First Theater.

In 1752 the first theater in the United States was opened in the colony of Virginia at old Williamsburg. The originator was an English actor, William Hallam, Sr., who brought his own company from over seas and presented "The Merchant of Venice" as the initial performance. The idea spread rapidly, and soon New York, Philadelphia and the other leading communities of colonial America each had its theater. While the Virginia playhouse was the first in the United States, actors had played in the colonies before this date. The first is said to have been the English strolling player, Anthony Aston, who was known as Mat Medley. The actor and his art of that day were generally despised by the Puritanical colonists. The Massachusetts legislature passed a law shortly after amateurs had given "The Orphans" at the Coffee House in Boston in 1749 which forbade such performances, prescribing a penalty for actors and spectators alike of $25 each.

Evolution of a Name.

Cosmo Innes, in his work on surnames, quotes an instance showing the gradual transformation of a patronymic. "A respectable citizen of Dublin named Halfpenny throve in trade, so his children prevailed on him in his latter years to change the name, which they thought undignified, and this he did chiefly by dropping the last letter. He died and was buried as Mr. Halpen. The fortune of the family did not recede, and the son of our citizen thought proper to renounce retail dealing, and at the same time looked about for a euphonious change of name. He made no scruple of dropping the unnecessary 'h.' That being done, it was easy to go into the Celtic rage, which 'The Lady of the Lake' had just raised to a great height. So he who had run the streets as little Kenny Halfpenny came out at the levees as Kenneth McAlpin, the descendant of a hundred kings."—London Chronicle.

VOL. XV. SUNBEAM, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA. FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1915 NO. 8

THE LOCAL NEWS

Seeding is completed in this locality of all grain except flax.

School closed yesterday in the Highlanding district.

W. H. Wilde made a business trip to St. Hilaire last Saturday.

A horse deal was made and unmade between two farmers south of Sunbeam this week.

Mrs. Ole Overvold visited with Mrs. C. L. Clark Tuesday afternoon.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Don't sit on the country store counter and talk about hard times, but hustle in the crops.

The green grass is now large enough to supply cattle with plenty of feed, without the use of hay.

The showers of rain that we have been having the past week, are just what was needed for the crops.

We are planting field corn today of the white dent variety. This is about ten days earlier than last year.

Some of the farmers have been seeding flax this week, although it is rather early in the season for flax seeding.

A terrible wind storm prevailed in this locality Wednesday, but as the ground was wet from the recent rains no damage was done.

W. H. Wilde will make final proof on his homestead next Tuesday, before Wilhelm Michelet, U. S. Commissioner at Thief River Falls.

Ye editor and postmaster put in some time at Highlanding last Sunday assisting postmaster Ellingson to get his Highlanding post office in running order.

C. W. Johnson of Malone made this office a pleasant call today. Mr. Johnson has been on the sick list the past week, and has been unable to travel with his horse.

This is the season of the year, that the city agricultural editor spits on his hands, rolls up his sleeves, and tells the farmers how to drive and care for their horses during springs work.

Ljot Sigurdson will go up to Grygla the first of next week to make arrangements for buildings to use for living and barns for his horses so as to be ready to carry the U. S. mail from Grygla to Germantown after July 1st.

Mrs. E. Peterson of Deer Park sold her farm this week to Wm. A. Swanson. Consideration $3000. This adds another quarter section to the Wilbertha farms in Deer Park township, making three quarter sections. Mr. Swanson is one of the first settlers of the eleven towns, and his purchase this week shows his continued faith in the future of this locality.

Since the adoption of the cash system for road building, and having one township road overseer, the south side of the Red Lake River in the town of Highlanding never gets a tap of work done on the roads, in fact we have never yet heard that the road overseer even visited this side of the river. There is a piece of road between ditches 58 and 47, that is badly in need of at least one-fourth of the tax money paid into the township funds for road purpose, from this side of the river, but all of the township officials live on the north side of the river, and pay no attention to the needs of the south side.

The new postmaster at Erie, the "titman" of the Singer "gang" has started the same tactics as postmaster at Erie, that he used to employ when assistant at Kratka post office: viz Stepping outside of his official position as postmaster to try and influence people to stop taking THE SUNBEAM. We received a notice of refusal from the Erie office Thursday, from a man that we were sending sample copies to that we were publishing his final proof notice, which bore the familiar ear marks of the "titman" of the flock. He perhaps did not notice that we were publishing this man's notice to make final proof, which was the reason he was getting the paper. However we do not know as he is really to blame, for if you notice him when he takes his hat off, you can see that his head comes to a peak on top. We wish to say in conclusion to the triple alliance of Singers that W. G. Hunt publisher of THE SUNBEAM has no connection with Wm. G. Hunt postmaster at Sunbeam, Minnesota, except to pay his postage weekly, and as long as they continue their malicious attacks on this paper, they will find it right on deck to defend itself.

AN IOWA IDEA.

Ft. Dodge, Ia.—Things are not always what they seem. Des Moines, for instance is dry, but a Fort Dodge man who attended the auto show there, says that feeling thirsty one afternoon, he stopped a passerby and said "Can you tell me where I can get a pint of whiskey?" The man immediately offered to get it himself, and said it would cost 75 cents. He told the Ft. Dodge man to hold a package for him until he came back. The package was small and compact and the Fort Dodge man stood on the corner an hour holding it. But the obliging stranger did not turn up and the package was kept in exchange for the money. The Fort Dodge man took it to his room and opened it. It was a flask containg a pint of whiskey.

COLONEL APPROVES GIFTS TO CAMPAIGN

SAYS DONOR IS PROMPTED BY SAME SPIRIT AS CHURCH CONTRIBUTOR.

IDENTIFIES MEN'S INITIALS

Roosevelt, on Witness Stand, Recognizes Contributors' Names as Being Connected With Country's Most Powerful Financial Interests.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 26.—Theodore Roosevelt told, on the second day of his cross-examination, about his dealings with the "bosses," his personal relations with William Barnes and his ideas about campaign funds of millions of dollars.

He mentioned the famous half million dollars which Thomas Fortune Ryan contributed to the presidential cause of Alton B. Parker and swore he had never seen a list of the names of the persons who helped swell the fund of $3,000,000 used in connection with his own campaign for the presidency.

The list contained initials of men whom the colonel readily identified as being connected with the country's most powerful business and financial interests.

No Hopes of Reward.

In speaking of the Ryan contribution, the witness gave it as his opinion that a leader of big business who contributes half a million dollars to help elect a candidate for president of the United States is prompted by the same spirit which would cause him to donate the same sum to a church, and that such a contributor has no more hope of reward in one case than he has in the other. Personally, he said, he would have been much surprised if managers of big business had not contributed to the Republican campaign of 1904.

The colonel mentioned the Standard Oil company and campaign contributions, too. He said that if the report of the congressional committee which investigated his campaign contributions showed that "H. H. R." and "J. D. A." which the witness thought stood for H. H. Rogers and John D. Archbold—had contributed to the Republican funds in 1904—he was astonished. He said he had given explicit instructions against receiving any Standard Oil contributions.

Would Limit Campaign Fund.

Personally, he emphatically declared, he would regard just as highly a contribution of $25 from the station agent at Oyster Bay as he would a contribution of $25,000 from George W. Perkins, who in 1904 was a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and he expressed the belief that there was a limit to the amount a campaign fund should total. Over a certain sum—he did not know how much—he thought that there might be some danger.

Colonel Roosevelt said he regarded William Barnes as a "Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," who, like other politicians, had his "good and his bad sides." He said he had been persistent in his efforts to make politicians do what he considered was right and that instead of endeavoring to severe the ligaments between these "Siamese twins of politics," his aim had always been to have the "Doctor Jekyll" in them absorb the "Mr. Hyde."

Kaiser Visits Alsace Front.

Geneva, April 24.—Emperor William during the last few days, has been visiting the German battle front in Alsace. Near Mulhausen, his majesty reviewed the Prussian guard which fought at Hartmans-Wellerkopf and from Colmar he visited the trenches in the Vosges mountains. At Strassburg the emperor promoted Colonel Reuter to the rank of major general. The emperor held no receptions and the newspapers were prohibited from mentioning the movements of the imperial party.

SPLIT IN CABINET MAY RESULT

RIGGS BANK CASE MAY BE STUMBLING BLOCK.

Cumulative Evidence Makes Suit Appear Like Ballinger Case—Brandeis May Withdraw.

Washington, April 27.—The Riggs bank case promises to be the great stumbling block of the administration. If not that, then it will become a strong argument in favor of the present administrative power, with little chance of its becoming a neutral issue.

Those who see in it cause of advantage to President Wilson compare it to the fight which Andrew Jackson waged with Nicholas Biddle over the national bank while those who profess to see in it a cause of disaster say it is more comparable to the Ballinger case, which was so fatal to the administration of President Taft.

Resembles Ballinger Case.

While it would be rash to form a judgment concerning the issues involved until the case is heard in the courts, there is cumulative evidence which tends to make it appear more like the Ballinger case than the other.

With it are rumors of a split within the cabinet and considerable doubt as to what attitude the president will take. If he continues to support John Skelton Williams in the case with the full strength of the administration, and should the case go against the comptroller, then he will be in a worse position than was President Taft, whose too great loyalty to Secretary Ballinger caused him untold political grief.

In spite of rumors to the contrary, it seems likely the president will do so in effect, although unofficial denials are made.

Embarrassing Feature.

An embarrassing feature of the case, so far as the president is concerned in his relationship with Comptroller Williams, is the fact that Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo appears to be as much a party as is Comptroller Williams. To refuse to support Comptroller Williams would be to administer a rebuke of the strongest sort to Secretary McAdoo. The secretary of the treasury is not only exceptionally close to the president politically, but as his son-in-law occupies a position which would make it difficult indeed for the president to do anything but support him in any position he might assume.

During the past few days there have been various rumors of breaks and divergencies of opinion in administrative circles. One of these rumors was to the effect that Attorney Louis D. Brandeis would withdraw from the case. Mr. Brandeis refused to comment on this rumor, but it persisted.

French Girl Presents Popular General With Flowers—Crowd Gathers and Cheers Pau.

Paris, April 26.—An incident in Paris illustrates the popular regard for General Pau, who has been spending some time in this city since returning from his political mission to Petrograd and the Balkan capitals. Persons who saw the general enter the Red Cross branch in Place Madeline waited in the street to see him come out. A crowd soon collected.

A young girl borrowed a hat and quickly collected enough money in the crowd to buy for the general a huge bouquet of red, white and blue flowers.

General Pau appeared to be deeply moved on receiving the flowers and kissed the girl.

The crowd cheered him and as he drove off in his motor car he responded by shouting:

"Vive la France."

Thaw to Have Jury Trial.

New York, April 24.—The question of the sanity of Harry K. Thaw will be determined by a jury. Supreme Court Justice Hendrick, in a decision just handed down, granted the application for a trial made by Thaw's attorneys on a writ of habeas corpus. Thaw was in court when Justice Hendrick announced the opinion. His face at once lighted up with pleasure. The question which Justice Hendrick had to decide was whether the court had power to grant a jury trial.

MANY LIVES LOST IN TEXAS FLOODS

FIFTEEN KNOWN DEAD AT AUSTIN—PROPERTY LOSS ESTIMATED AT $1,000,000.

DALLAS SUFFERS HEAVILY

Lightning Strikes Oil Warehouse causing Loss of $120,000—Tanks Containing Oil Ignited Near Taylor, Texas.

Austin, Texas, April 26.—With the bodies of fourteen persons drowned here recovered, eleven persons missing, and rescuing parties still at work among the ruins of 200 homes that were swept away by the rain and wind storm, the citizens of Austin have begun a systematic plan for the relief of the sufferers. Property loss is estimated at $500,000. Temporary headquarters were provided for all whose homes had been swept away or are not habitable and food and clothing is being furnished.

Austin, Texas, April 24.—Floods that swept down Waller and Shoal creeks here took a toll of 15 or 20 lives, according to late estimates. Houses were jammed in masses against the bridges and the high water flooded many business houses. Heroic work was done by citizen rescue parties and by the fire and police departments.

Of eight persons in one house which was swept down Waller creek, all but one are believed to have perished.

COMMUNICATION BY RAIL AND WIRE INTERRUPTED

Dallas, Texas, April 24.—Twenty persons, perhaps more, it was estimated met death in a rain, electrical and wind-storm general over nearly all Texas and eastern Oklahoma. Resultant floods have interrupted communications by rail and wire. In some parts of the storm area, the wind and rain continues. Austin felt the greatest fury of the tempest, which in places reached cyclonic proportions.

Austin Death Toll 15.

The death toll at the state capital is expected to be at least 15.

The storm was especially severe at Austin, and that city was in darkness during the night. It was said about 20 houses had floated to and were packed against a bridge theartening the structure. Rescue squads were busy all night taking endangered persons to higher ground while the rain continued to fall in torrents.

Of eight persons in one house which swept down Waller creek, all but one are believed to have perished.

The Thrall oil field, near Taylor, Texas, tanks containing 150,000 barrels of oil, were set on fire. The loss, it is estimated, would be $75,000. Lightning is believed to have started the blaze.

WOULD STOP TOUR TO EUROPE

Washington, April 26.—In response to inquiries Secretary Bryan, in a letter just made public, reiterated the announcement that the state department does not deem it advisable to issue passports to persons who wish to visit belligerent countries of Europe for the mere purpose of sightseeing or pleasure.

"All American citizens going abroad are advised to carry passports," wrote the Secretary, "and it is absolutely necessary for persons visiting belligerent countries to carry them. However, I am obliged to inform you that the department does not deem it advisable to issue passports to persons who wish to visit belligerent countries for the mere purpose of sightseeing."

Paris Approves Wilson's Stand.

Paris, April 26.—The newspapers of Paris comment with approval on the utterances of President Wilson in regard to the relations of the United States with the belligerent nations in his speech at the luncheon of the Associated Press in New York on April 20. The Temps alludes to the speech as an indication that President Wilson is prepared for an important role in the future, and says that his position is one which justifies the confidence of all interests.

TEUTONS PUSH ON TOWARDS CALAIS

GERMAN REINFORCEMENTS ARE BEING MOVED TO SOUTH THROUGH BELGIUM.

FORERUNNER OF BIG EFFORT

Rushes in Flanders and the Woevre Believed to Indicate Another Gigantic Offensive Against Allied Lines in West.

London, April 27.—The German rushes in Flanders and the Woevre, where they claim to have had considerable success, are believed to be the forerunners of another big effort to break through the Allied lines in the West.

For many days Belgium has been sealed from the observation of neutrals, while re-enforcements from Germany were being moved to the South to take part in the new offensive which they hope is to carry them to Calais and possibly break the resistance of the Allies.

The attack in Flanders, originally leveled at the French, has been transferred to the British lines held by the Canadians on the immediate right of the French, and here for two days the men from the Dominion have been engaged in a deadly conflict with the Germans. The latter state in their official report that they have made further progress toward Ypres and that the British counter attack has been reported.

The French account declares that the Allies' counter-attacks continue with success and that the British hold all their positions and repeats the charge that the Germans are using bombs containing asphyxiating gases.

Gas Bombs Being Used.

The Frankfurter Zeitung justifies the use of these missiles on the ground that the Allies have done likewise.

The German attack in the Woevre, or in the Meuse Hills, was directed against the French positions to the southwest of Combres, and, according to the Berlin statement, the French suffered a heavy defeat.

Paris, however, says that in a counter-attack the Germans were completely driven out of the French first line, which they had pushed back.

These offensive movements by the Germans have been made possible by the state of the ground on the eastern front, where operations are impossible until the spring floods have subsided. Taking advantage of these conditions, the German general staff transferred a large number of troops to the west to make another big effort, which shows that they are not content to rely on a passive policy.

New German Troops Arrive.

It is believed that a half-million new German troops have reached Flanders and that more guns and material are to be used than were provided in the original attempts to destroy the Allied armies in the West—attempts which met with failure both in August and in October. In the meantime, the eastern front is enjoying a period of comparative calm, except in the mid-Carpathians, where the Russians continue to attack the Austrians in Uzsok Pass, and to the eastward, where the Austrians and Germans are trying to crush the Russian flank.

Both sides report successes.

The operations in the Dardanelles apparently are still confined to the bombardment of the Turkish entrenchments while preparations are being made for landing the Allied force, part of which is already on Turkish territory at Enos and other points.

HIGH DAM POWER TALK ENDS

Secretary Garrison Says Project Between Twin Cities Must Wait on Action of Congress.

Washington, April 24—Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison put an absolute stop upon the discussion of the ways and means of obtaining electric power from the government high dam project between Minneapolis and St. Paul, by the municipal corporations or by any other corporations.

Neither the power generated by this particular project nor any other government project will be disposed of until such time as congress passes a general water power bill defining the terms for the disposition of power rights in connection with government projects.

Aberdeen, S. D., April 26.—Board of city commissioners canvassed the votes of Tuesday's election, making no changes in the count. Aberdeen was officially declared dry after July 1, the vote being tie, 1,335 each side, whereas a majority of all votes cast on the proposition is required to carry the license.

To Re-establish Finnish Army.

London, April 26.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company, says it is stated that the emperor of Russia has decided to re-establish the Finnish army with the same constitution as previous to 1898. It is said that the emperor will take this action on the advice of Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief of the Russian forces, who has been impressed by the brilliant strategic work done by Finnish officers serving in the Russian army during the present war.

LEGISLATURE ENDS; APPROPRIATION CUT

GRAND TOTAL VOTED IS $17,910,000—$2,000,000 LESS THAN IN 1913.

ANTI-MAYO BILL UNTOUCHED

House Also Fails to Act on Bill to Limit Expenditures of Mesaba Range Towns—Agreement Reached on Referendum.

St. Paul.—The 1915 Legislature has adjourned sine die.

There stands out foremost of all of the events of the last day and night that which should cheer both the heart and the pocketbook of the taxpayer. For the legislature of 1915, if it has no other claim to fame, at least has called a halt to increased appropriations, it has turned the current of the river of state expenditures.

Appropriations Less Than in 1913.

The grand total of appropriations voted for the biennial period to come is considerably less than the grand total made by that prince of legislative spenders—the body of 1913. This legislature can be marked as the first in a great many years which can boast that it voted less money than its predecessor.

An official statement issued by State Auditor Preus just before adjournment showed total appropriations of $17,910,000. Two years ago this total was $19,094,168.

Light Direct Taxation.

Of the amount appropriated for the coming biennial period it is estimated that $14,180,000 will come from gross earnings taxes, inheritance taxes and other such sources while it will be necessary to raise for the two years only $3,730,000 by direct taxation. A levy of 1.4 mills is calculated to produce this as against 2.3 mills set two years ago.

The house did not touch the bill which would prohibit the affiliation of the University medical school with the Mayo Foundation. It never was mentioned during the day. If this bill, passed by the senate, reached the house at all it was not spoken of.

Range Town Bill Untouched.

The house also failed to act on the bill which would limit the expenditures of Mesaba range towns. For several weeks the house has filibustered to keep away from that bill.

The house agreed with the senate amendments on the initiative and referendum constitutional amendment and this measure, defeated at the polls last fall, once more will be submitted to the people. Frank Nimocks did some lobbying in the senate and with the help of Senator Pauly managed to get through the senate the bill authorizing another $100,000 bonds for Bassett's creek. The Minneapolis high school bonds also went through at $375,000.

Woman's Reformatory Bill Passed.

During the day a conference committee agreed on the woman's reformatory bill and this was passed. It appropriates $30,000 and leaves selection of a site to the board of control. The senate passed the house bill abolishing the game and fish commission but leaving the special agent as directing head.

APPROPRIATIONS MADE BY MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE

For the two fiscal years ending July 31, 1916, and July 31, 1917:

State Government and Miscellaneous	$6,001,707
State Charitable and Penal Institutions	4,783,533
State Educational Institutions	7,124,760
Total	$17,910,000
Estimated receipts 1916-1917	14,180,000
Balance	$3,730,000

To be raised by tax levy of one and four-tenths mills on all taxable property.

1913 legislature tax was two and three-tenths mills.

BOXING BILL UP TO GOVERNOR

St. Paul, Minn.—By a vote of 72 to 30, the House of Representatives repassed the Moeller-Lennon bill legalizing ten-round no-decision boxing matches in the Twin Cities and Duluth, after concurring in the two amendments made by the Senate.

One of the Senate amendments would strike out the appropriation of $1,200 for the boxing commission, and the other would prohibit more than twelve bouts in any one of the three cities in one year.

When the bill came over from the Senate, Representative George Moeller of St. Paul moved that the house concur and that the bill be placed upon final passage.

It now goes to the Governor for his signature.

Alleged Swindler Arrested.

Minneapolis, April 23.—Hans Schroeder, said to be a former business man of Detroit, who became a large scale swindler after disastrous financial reverses, was arrested by the police and private detectives. Carl Benderaim, living at the Bellevue hotel, was locked up as a confederate. According to the police and Charles F. Trotter, Minneapolis head of a detective agency, the two successfully worked swindles based on forgery that netted more than $3,000 from merchants.

COUNTY OPTION ELECTION

Crookston Daily Times:

Notwithstanding that the election upon the question of county option is only a month away, little, if any, interest has been manifested in the result, aside from getting up the petition upon which is based the call for the election on May 24.

Is it not time for the people of this county who have its material interests at heart to be up and doing in an effort to stem the tide of lawlessness, business stagnation and increased taxation which will be the inevitable result of the elimination of the licensed sale of liquor in this county?

In Polk county there are two cities in which the sale of liquor is legitimately carried on—Crookston and East Grand Forks.

The voters in these two cities have shown by an overwhelming majority that they are satisfied with these conditions.

In other sections of the county the sale of liquor is carried on surreptitiously and information gleaned from the most reliable sources shows that the consumption is as great and drunkedness is greater than in the two centers where its sale is licensed, and therefore, placed under lawful restrictions.

The reason for this is obvious to any thinking person.

The question which is before the voters of Polk county at the present time is, therefore, not a question that involves the restriction of the liquor traffic, but whether it is better to regulate this traffic in a lawful manner and compel it to pay its legitimate share in the support of the county, or allow it to be carried on illegally and without financial obligation of any kind.

It resolves itself into, not a question of morals, but a question of business.

To Crookston for instance, the elimination of liquor business spells financial bankruptcy.

It means the cutting off during the next three years (the time for which the saloons would cease to exist, should the election carry against license) of nearly $50,000 of the city's income, derived from saloon licenses and the tax collected from saloon property.

It means a lot of empty store buildings and a general reduction of rents of all business property.

It means the closing of the Crookston Brewery, and the practical confiscation of its plant, valued at approximately $200,000. Because, contrary to the general impression, the present county option law is so framed as to make it impossible to do business should the vote for no license carry.

It means a loss to the community of $20,000 a year which this concern pays in wages: $25,000 paid to the farmers each year for barley: a considerable portion of $3,560 paid for taxes, and over $25,000 paid yearly to local business concerns for supplies of various kinds.

It means a considerable increase in police protection and criminal litigation, as it is self-evident that boot-legging and blind pigging—the inevitable results of county option—appeal to the weaker and more depraved element of society, thus increasing drunkedness, pauperism and crime.

With such conditions inevitable as the result of the abolishment of the present license regulation of the liquor traffic, it behooves every citizen whose interests are identified in any way with the prosperity of the community, to join enthusiastically against this wave of fanaticism which would sacrifice these interests upon the doubtful theory that help is being given to the cause of temperance.—Crookston Times.

The legislature made a good move when they passed the act extending the term of Clerk of Court to November 1918. This will make all the county officials to be elected at the same time.

Immigration is coming to northern Minnesota from east, west, north and south this spring as the people are beginning to find out that this is the best locality on the globe for a poor man to get a start.

Bemidji had to issue bonds on the city to take the place of the cash received from saloon license. It will not be long before there will be a proposition up to bond Thief River Falls to get cash to employ extra police, if county option carries.

We can not understand why some newspaper editors keep harping about Stand Pat and Progressive Republicans in the next campaign. There will be no Stand Pat or Progressive party next year, but there will be just one straight plain Republican party.

A man signing a petition to submit the county option issue, does not pledge him to vote for option, or prohibit him from voting against it. Lots of times a good talker with a petition will get people to sign in order to get rid of them and their talk.

It is astonishing how many times an editor is requested to sharpen the cutlery which people have a desire to put on the grindstone. We are implored to give this fellow a "dig," and that fellow a "roast," but "For goodness sake don't let on who told you." Fine business! Probably the people who make these requests figure that an editor has no business or friendships to protect, but is in the newspaper business for the sole purpose of making enemies. To all those who have an axe to grind we wish to say: we are not in the crematory business.—Ex.

Option V. S. Business.

The Crookston Times is making a vigorous fight against county option for Polk county. But the trouble is, that they are like the race between the hare and tortoise. They, like the hare, slept by the roadside, until the tortoise won the race, before they woke up, for with a petition with fifty-two percent of the voters on it, filed, calling for an election, they are going up against a majority of the voters to start with. The time for them to have started their campaign was when the petition was started, if they expected to win. The Times claims that the dry towns east of Crookston would have to order their cases of beer from the twin cities, if option carries. But this is a mistake, as they can get their supplies from Red Lake Falls or Plummer, where Pennington county people will get their supplies after option carries in this county, for in two or three years Red Lake Falls will be the hub of northern Minnesota, if the business men of Polk and Pennington counties allow them to go into the control of temperance fanatics. Wake up, and pinch yourselves, you business men, and be sure you are awake and not sleeping like the hare by the the roadside until the tortoise has won the race.

I have read many attempts to describe shell fire in a battle, but not one to equal the easy description of this young officer, who does not pretend to be a stylist. Listen:

"You hear a boom miles away, hardly audible in the distance. Then a faint sigh, gradually rising to a scream as the shell whizzes toward you. Then a flash, an immense crash and the air is filled with thousands of bullets and jagged lumps of iron, each making a different sort of shrieking noise. Then phit-phit-phit everywhere as they hit the ground.

Diplomacy.

When King Alfonso of Spain is staying at San Sebastian, says the Manchester News, he frequently goes across to Biarritz for an afternoon of recreation.

On one occasion he arrived at the station there and hailed a fiacre. The driver recognized him, and when his majesty asked what the fare was said, "For the king of Spain it will be 10 francs." The king smiled and merely paid the ordinary fare as provided by the tariff. To that amount, however, he added a tip of the usual size.

A few days later he was again in Biarritz and also took a fiacre. But on this occasion the cocher was more diplomatic. When asked the amount of the fare he replied, "Your majesty owes me nothing for the small service I have had the honor to render him." His majesty replied to this courteous speech by presenting the cabby with a 100 franc note.

Bricks From Babylon.

There is a law in the Turkish empire prohibiting the exportation of relics and antiques more than 100 years old, and the fact that it is on the statute books gives rise to the common practice of offering spurious articles to the tourist. Real objects of art or of sufficient age to be of value are rarely to be purchased, and the general desire of the visitor, therefore, seems to be to obtain stones or pieces of clay from the sites of ancient ruins or bricks with inscriptions. The former can probably be obtained, but they are practically valueless, as one piece of clay from Babylon is quite like another from Musol. Bricks from either of these places that are known to be genuine are unobtainable.

VOL. XV. SUNBEAM, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA. FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1915 NO. 9

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

T. G. Rome has put in a bid to carry mail from Sunbeam to Rhoda for the next four years, from July 1st.

There will be a basket social at the Highlanding Church, Sunday May 16th, at 1 o'clock sharp for the benefit of Religion school. Everybody come.

Andrew Ellingson is putting in a large and well selected stock of summer goods in his Highlanding store, so as to supply the needs of this locality.

The county option petition was filed with the county auditor of this county on Tuesday, and the election will be held within the next sixty days.

The Red Lake River raised about a foot this week, which would indicate that they have had some heavy rains to the east of us.

A. Tharaldson has put in a new trip hammer in his Highlanding blacksmith shop, and is now prepared to do repair work of both wood and iron on short notice.

W. H. Wilde was at Thief River Falls Tuesday making final proof on his homestead. C. L. Clark and T. G. Rome accompanied him as witnesses, They went down on the Electric Line.

We again wish to call the attention of those who are holding land under homestead, that there is a ditch tax assessed against the land, which they should pay, if they wish to avoid the heavy penalties attached to delinquent taxes.

We understand that some of the Thief River Falls saloon keepers tell the farmers that they had just as soon license would be voted out as not. Of course if they have decided to quit business that kind of talk is all right, but if they really desire to have license carry in this county, they are very poor campaigners.

We publish this week the session laws passed by the last legislature. The state goes to the expense of placing these laws before the people, so they can read them. Preserve your copy, so when a discussion arises in the next campaign, as to whether your representative voted right or wrong on the passage of these laws, you can read them and decide as to whether he was right or wrong, and vote accordingly.

The physicians of Thief River Falls are engaged in the very commendable work of building a hospitable at our county seat. While we were bitterly opposed to the bonding of this county for fifty thousand dollars to build a hospitable, we are decidedly in favor of our county "dads" assisting to build this hospitable with any money that they can spare, for a hospitable at Thief River Falls is a necessity at the present time.

The Germans seem to be doing business on business principles, for instead of letting their prisoners of war lie idle in jail, they put them to work on farms. They have about a thousand Canadians as prisoners, who can show them how we farm on this side of the Atlantic. But kaiser Wilhelm will undoubtly have them plant the potatoes according to the German idea, as he is boss of them for the present and they are not farming on their Canada farms now.

MAIL SERVICE.

Again we want to call the attention of the people of the eleven townships to facts regarding mail service. Not as the post master of Sunbeam, but as the editor of THE SUNBEAM, who is interested in the development of this country. The post office at Malone has been discontinued. There is now a prospect that the post office at Hilda will be discontinued. Why? Because they do not show that they are doing any business. The business of a post office is the mail that goes out, not the mail that comes in. The people of Rudell post office now have a daily mail. If they continue to mail their letters so the Rhoda post office gets the cancellation they will soon have their mail service discontinued, and they can go to Rhoda and get their mail the same as the Mayfield farmers have to go to Kratka to get theirs. A word to the wise had ought to be sufficient Get into line you fellows and mail at Rudell.

A MAN'S CLOTHES.

We had rather an amusing experience at Highlanding on last Saturday, which we think is worth telling. We went up to the store without being shaved and with our farm overalls on, which had holes in the knees. A man came from the town of Equality with a lot of stock that he wanted to get ferryed across the river to take up on his claim near Malcolm. He came came up to the store to employ some extra help and as we appeared to be the most "hard up" looking individual in the bunch he naturally called on us. We told him "certainly we will help you to ferry that stock across," and we did. We put in an even two hours at it, but we landed him on the north side of Red Lake River O. K. Then he drew out his pocket-book and asked us what our bill was. We laughed and told him to keep his money for he would need it on the claim up near Malcolm, and not always judge a man by the clothes he wears.

$21,000 IN PURSES

LIBERAL MONEY OFFERED FOR BIG MEET AT MINNESOTA STATE FAIR.

Purses aggregating $21,000 are offered in the speed program of the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11. As only four days of horse racing are to be given this year, in place of the usual five, a remarkably strong series of daily cards is insured.

The $3,000 Minneapolis 2:16 trot and $3,000 St. Paul 2:13 pace, both classic events, will feature the meet. Entries for these two races close July 1, a month later than usual, an arrangement that ought to insure a larger entry than formerly. In both early and late closing events the customary liberal entry fee of three per cent will apply.

An unusual feature of the program will be two team races. One for 2:12 trotters will be given on Labor Day, while another for free-for-all pacers will be on Thursday. There is no entry fee nor any deductions from winners. Three entries are required to start, and the races will be in mile heats, two in three. Horses making up a team need not be owned by the same party nor trained by the same stable. Three speed wagons and sets of harness will be furnished by the Fair. There are three moneys in a purse.

The four day of racing will be Monday, Tuesdap, Thursday, and Friday.

We understand that the post master at Rhoda, the famous George, him of fire fame, has attempted to "dig in" and advise the post office department how to run their business in letting the contract for carrying mail from Plummer to Rhoda. The man Mr. Yestondson, who put in his bid and secured the contract for carrying the mail is a man that will fulfill his obligations to the government and deliver the goods the U. SHIP FLYING U. S. FLAG TORPEDOED

OIL TANK STEAMER GULFLIGHT VICTIM OF SUBMARINE OFF SCILLY ISLANDS.

FIVE OTHER VESSELS SUNK

French Steamer Europe, British Steamer Fulgent and Torpedo Boat Destroyer Lost—Two German Warships Are Destroyed.

WASHINGTON IS STIRRED.

Washington, May 3.—Press reports of the torpedoing of the American steamer Gulflight and the loss of her captain and some members of the crew have created a stir in official circles here where the seriousness of the occurrence was everywhere admitted. If first reports are borne out, the attack on the Gulflight constitutes the first case of an American ship struck by a torpedo with the consequent loss of lives.

London, May 3.—Naval activities have come to the forefront again. The American oil tank steamer Gulflight, bound for a French port, has been torpedoed off the Scilly islands; the French steamer Europe was sent to the bottom near Bishop's Rock; the British steamer Fulgent was sunk by a submarine off the Skellig Rocks.

A German submarine has sunk the British torpedo boat destroyer Recruit in the North Sea. Two German torpedo boats sank the trawler Colombia, 17 fishermen being drowned and were in turn pursued and sunk by British destroyers. Two German officers and 44 men were rescued by the destroyers.

Hits German Torpedo Boat.

The trawler Barbados has arrived at Yarmouth after an engagement with a German torpedo boat, in which both craft were hit. The captain of the trawler turned his two small guns on the torpedo boat when the latter attempted his capture.

The American oil tank steamer Gulflight, which sailed from Port Arthur, Texas, April 10 for Rouen, France, was torpedoed off the Scilly islands according to a dispatch received by the Central News Agency. A German submarine is believed responsible.

The captain of the Gulflight, according to the same advices, died of heart failure as a result of shock. Two seamen jumped overboard and were drowned.

The other members of the crew were taken off by a patrol boat and landed. The vessel was towed into Crow Sound and beached.

Gulflight Was Steel Vessel.

The Gulflight was a steel vessel of 3,202 tons net and was built at Camden, N. J., in 1914. She was owned by the Gulf Refining company. The vessel was 383 feet long, 51 foot beam, and 30 feet deep. She was equipped with wireless apparatus.

An official announcement by the admiralty says:

"A series of small affairs have taken place in the neighborhood of the Galloper and North Hinder lightships.

"During the forenoon, H. M. Destroyer Recruit was sunk by a submarine, four officers and 21 men being saved by the trawler Daisy.

"At 3 p. m., the trawler Colombia was attacked by two German torpedo boats, who approached her from the westward and commenced an action without hoisting their colors. The Colombia was sunk by a torpedo, only one deck hand being saved by the other trawlers.

Sink Two German Boats.

"A division of British destroyers, comprising the Laforey, Leonidas, Lawford and Lark, chased the two German vessels and after a brief running fight of about one hour, sank them both.

"The British destroyers sustained no casualties.

"Two German officers and 44 men were rescued from the sea and made prisoners of war."

The destroyer Recruit was on patrol duty when the submarine sank her. According to details received here, she was struck amidships by the torpedo and began to sink, the wounded vessel signalled for assistance and her call was answered by the trawler Daisy, and 30 men out of her complement of 65 were saved.

It is stated that a torpedo was fired at the Daisy, which was forced to leave one of her rescue boats behind and that the submarine chased this boat and fired her gun at it, wounding four men."

GERMANS AFFECTED BY GAS

INFANTRY UNABLE TO CHARGE BECAUSE OF FUMES.

Used Asphyxiating Bombs During Battle of Ypres, Declares British Eye Witness.

London, May 3.—That the Germans used asphyxiating gases not only on the first day of the battle of Ypres, but repeatedly afterward and many of their infantry were affected and unable to join in the charges is declared by the British eye witness in his story of the latest stages of the battle.

The turning point in the battle, he says, came on the afternoon of April 26, when, after the Germans had delivered a number of fierce assaults and had pierced the allied lines near Broodseinde a strong combined counter-attack was carried out by the French and British along the whole front from Steenstraate to St. Julien. This caused a definite check to the German offensive, relieved the pressure and gained a certain amount of ground.

Most Appalling Duel.

"During this counter-attack," says the chronicler, "the guns concentrated by both sides on this comparatively narrow front engaged in the most appalling duel of the war. From the right came the roar of the British batteries, from the left the rolling thunder of the French "75" gun, and every now and then, above the turmoil, rose a dull boom, as a huge howitzer shell burst in the vicinity of Ypres.

"On our right our infantry stormed the German trenches close to St. Julien and in the evening gained the southern outskirts of the village. In the center they captured trenches a little to the south of the Bois de Cuisinirs, west of St. Julien and still farther west more trenches were taken.

French Achieve Success.

"In the meantime the French had achieved some success, having retaken Luzerne and also the trenches around Het Sas, captured some 250 prisoners and made progress along the west bank of the canal.

"Heavy as our losses were during the day, there is little doubt that the enemy suffered terribly. Both sides were attacking at different points. The fighting was conducted very largely in the open, and the close formations of the Germans on several occasions presented excellent targets to our artillery, which did not fail to seize its opportunities."

Chicago Faces Strike Tie-up.

Chicago, Ill., May 3.—The most serious industrial situation that has confronted Chicago since 1900 ushered in May 1—International Labor day. The 1,200 structural steel and iron workers who struck brought the number of skilled workers on strike or locked out here up to 32,000. All additional 125,000 men whose work is dependent on the work of the skilled workers are in idleness.

The carpenters and steel workers struck for higher wages. The sheet metal workers were locked out when they refused to sign an anti-strike agreement. The lathers and painters were locked out when they refused to sign a uniform agreement.

Two Boys Drowned Near Shakopee.

Shakopee, Minn., May 3.—Raymond and Edward, aged respectively 11 and 13 years, sons of Edward Kopp, a farmer living near here, were drowned in the O'Dowd lake during the afternoon. The two lads, in company with another boy, pushed out in a boat which they had found along the shore and becoming excited, leaped out and attempted to swim. The third boy reached shore safely. The bodies were found in 15 feet of water, near shore.

AMERICAN GUNS SHOOT FARTHER

NAVY'S 14-INCH RIFLES HIT HARDER THAN ANY GUN KNOWN.

DANIELS ANSWERS CRITICS

Declares Weapons on the Battleship Pennsylvania Superior to Those Carried by British Dreadnaught Queen Elizabeth.

Washington, May 3.—Critics who claim the American navy's 14-inch rifles are inferior to the French type mounted on the great British battleship Queen Elizabeth were answered in a statement just issued by Secretary Daniels, declaring that the Bureau of Ordnance has developed a 14-inch gun "that will shoot farther, shoot straighter and hit harder than any gun in use or known to be designed by a foreign country."

While conceding that the Queen Elizabeth's guns throw larger shells, Mr. Daniels points out that she carries only eight of the 15-inch rifles, compared with a main battery of twelve 14-inch weapons on the United States battleship Pennsylvania.

14-Inch Gun Better.

"A ship should mount the smallest big gun that will pierce the enemy's armor over vitals at the maximum probable fighting range," says the Secretary's statement.

"The 14-inch guns of the Pennsylvania wil get through the maximum armor afloat, so far as our knowledge goes, at a range of 12,000 yards. The Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch guns will do little more than them. If our information is correct as to the velocity of the British 15-inch gun, the 14-inch guns on the Pennsylvania will range a little farther than the Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch gun. The flatter projection of the 14-inch gun gives it increased probability of hitting in comparison with the 15-inch gun.

Pennsylvania Has 12 Guns.

"The Pennsylvania mounts 12 guns to the Queen Elizabeth's 8. Therefore, the volume of fire of our ship exceeds the volume of fire for the British ship by 50 per cent. The Navy Department has built and proved a 16-inch gun superior to both the 15-inch and 14-inch so far as penetration of armor at fighting range is concerned. If the Pennsylvania were to be armed with the 16-inch gun she could carry only eight as against the twelve 14-inch guns now assigned her. If we adopt the 15-inch caliber we would have to make a sacrifice in number of guns as great or nearly as great, as was done in the design of the Queen Elizabeth.

Will Give More Blows.

"Counting volume of fire and probability of hitting, we think that at battle range the number of blows delivered by the Pennsylvania in a given time will exceed those given by the Queen Elizabeth by 70 per cent. The 15-inch gun, it is stated, fires a shell weighing 1,920 pounds. Our 14-inch shell weighs 1,400 pounds."

TWO KILLED IN IOWA STORM

Thousands of Dollars Worth of Property Lost—Crops Pounded by Hail.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 3.—Two men are dead and thousands of dollars worth of property were destroyed as a result of a storm that swept over this section. Lars Freise, 71 years old, a farmer living near Bronson, Iowa, was drowned while trying to ford a creek which had been swollen by the rains, and James Dunning, 27, of Parker, S. D., was killed by a Northwestern train while crossing the tracks in a blinding sheet of water.

Practically all fruit trees have been damaged beyond recovery by the heavy fall of hail which passed over the counttry about Sioux City at noon. Plate glass windows were broken in the city and many small outbuildings were wrecked.

Lightning striking a barn near Rockwell City set the building afire and burned nine head of horses and several hundred bushels of small grain. Crops that were out of the ground have been pounded beneath the surface.

MINNESOTA PARENTS AND TEACHERS WILL ORGANIZE

St. Paul, May 3.—A Minnesota branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-teachers association will be organized in St. Paul. Officers of the congress have arrived from Chicago, where a state association was organized. The Mothers Council of St. Paul is in charge of the program. Meetings will be held at the Y. W. C. A., Central High School and Wilder building. The meeting will close with a banquet at the Commercial club.

Shoots 5-Year-Old Girl.

Chicago, May 3.—An unidentified man approached a group of small children playing on the sidewalk in the Italian quarter on the North Side and singling out 5-year-old Frances Bracevanty, drew a revolver and shot her in the abdomen. The victim fell to the sidewalk and her assailant fled, pursued unsuccessfully by many residents of the district. The girl's parents told the police they had no enemies and insisted they were absolutely mystified by the affair. The girl has slight chances of recovery.

MISS SALLY M'ADOO

Little Miss Sally Fleming McAdoo, youngest daughter of the secretary of the treasury, was selected to act as sponsor of the new coast guard cutter Ossipee at its launching at Newport News on May 1.

WILSON BECOMES GODFATHER

PROMISES TO SAFEGUARD RELIGIOUS WELFARE OF GRANDSON.

Child Given Name Francis Woodrow Sayre at Christening Service—Objection Is Overcome.

Williamstown, Mass., May 3.—President Wilson became the god-father of his only grandson here and added to his duties by promising to safeguard the religious welfare of the child, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre. Immediately afterward, the president left for Washington.

At the christening service, the child was given the name Francis Woodrow Sayre, the Woodrow being added in honor of his grandfather. Shortly after his birth in the White House his father announced that he would be named simply Francis Sayre, because the president thought he should live his own life.

Objection Is Overruled.

It was said that the president's objection had been overcome.

Only a small party including the President, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sayre, John Nevin Sayre, Mr. Sayre's brother; Mrs. Robert H. Sayre, his mother; Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, President Harry Garfield of Williams college, and Mrs. Garfield, and a few other friends of Mr. Sayre witnessed the ceremony.

Hailstones Like Baseballs.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—Hailstones as large as baseballs were hurled upon scattered sections of Missouri in a storm which was referred to as the worst in a generation in reports. The damage to crops and livestock will run into thousands of dollars.

In St. Louis the streets were flooded in places by several feet of water. In Kings highway, fashionable churchgoers were first startled and then pleased by the sight of a boy in a canoe. The lad instituted a passenger service between the church door and the street car door and cleared a boy's fortune before the water subsided.

At Tipton, hailstones were found which measured 8½ inches in diameter and weighed half a pound.

Dardanelles Town Destroyed.

London, May 3.—A Mytilene dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says:

"The bombardment of the Dardanelles continues. The town of Dardanelles was totally destroyed. The forts in the Narrow were considerably damaged, but the action of the fleet was hampered by mines, the clearing away of which has been made difficult by the mobile Turkish batteries ashore. The possession of Gaba Tepeh is expected to enable the Allies to place guns which will silence these batteries."

Canadian Lawyer Dies Abroad.

London, May 3.—James Stewart Tupper, a well-known barrister and eldest son of Sir Charles Tupper, former prime minister of Canada, died at Oxford. Mr. Tupper was born in Amherst, Nova Scotia, in 1851, and was educated at McGill University. He began the practice of law in Ontario in 1875. His home was Ravenscourt, Winnipeg.

Jury in Labor Case Deliberates.

Trinidad, Col., May 3.—The jury in whose hands rests the fate of John R. Lawson, international board member of the United Mine Workers of America, spent the day in deliberations, but no definite information was available as to prospects of reaching an agreement. The case in which the labor leader was charged with the murder of John Nimmo, a deputy sheriff, during the Colorado coal strike, was given to the jury in the afternoon. At midnight the jury had not agreed.

FOR SUPREMACY IN MEXICO

VILLA AND CARRANZA FORCES BEGIN STRUGGLE.

Both Factions Claim Success South of Aguas Calientes—Villa on Offensive.

Washington, May 3.—Both of the Mexican agencies here are claiming successes in fighting south of Aguas Calientes, where General Villa has begun a new offensive movement against the Carranza army under General Obregon. All reports indicated severe skirmishes preliminary to the expected battle for supremacy in central Mexico.

The Carranza agency had a dispatch from Vera Cruz during the day announcing that Obregon entered Leon Saturday and had resumed his march northward, while Gonzales had occupied the suburbs of Monterey and the Zapata forces had been driven back to their base within 20 miles of Mexico City.

Later, however, the Villa agency received a dispatch from General Villa stating that in the fighting Obregon's forces were driven back to Hacienda de Romita, some distance south of Leon.

Floods in Arkansas.

Texarkana, Ark., May 3.—Floods in the Red river valley have caused two railroads to suspend traffic in southwestern Arkansas. The St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern suspended between Texarkana and Fulton and the St. Louis, Southwestern (Cotton Belt) between Texarkana and Lewisville, trains are being detoured.

Property and crop damage in the flooded district has been heavy especially near Lewisville, where a mile and a half of the levee went out Saturday.

Gun Fire Like Watering Spout.

Ottawa, Ont., May 3.—"When one man fell another took his place. Fire from the German machine guns played upon them like streams from a watering pot. The line never wavered and with a final shout the survivors of two battalions flung themselves into the wood. The German garrison was completely demoralized by the impetuous advance of the Canadians." This is part of a description of the recent battle in which the Canadian troops were nearly annihilated in an attempt to check the German advance.

AN INDIANA MAN TELLS OF WESTERN CANADA

He Is Perfectly Satisfied, and Tells of His Neighbors Who Have Done Well.

Walter Harris, formerly lived near Julietta in Warren township, Indiana. He now lives at Hussar, Alberta. In writing to his home paper in Indiana, he says that the failure is the man who always blames the country. He fails to see his own mistakes, has missed his calling and is not fitted for farming. The two seasons just past have been entirely different. In 1913 plenty of rain came in June and a good crop followed, but the fall was dry and but little snow in the winter followed by a very dry summer, and a short crop. Only those that had farmed their land properly were able to meet expenses.

For example, last year the Crowfoot Farming Company, south of here, threshed from 1,250 acres 38,000 bushels of wheat. One-half section made 26 bushels, the poorest of all. This year on 1,350 acres they threshed nearly 26,000 bushels. Last year's crop sold at 75 cents from their own elevator. What they have sold of this year's crop brought $1.00 at threshing time. Eight thousand bushels unsold would bring now around $1.25. The manager and part owner was raised in Ohio and farmed in Washington several years. He and his wife spent last winter in Ohio. She told me a few days ago that the climate here was much better than Ohio.

A man by the name of George Clark threshed 75 bushels of oats, 45 bushels of barley and 35 bushels of wheat to the acre. He had 15,000 bushels of old oats as well as wheat and barley in his granaries that have almost doubled in price. He came from Washington, where he sold a large body of land around $200 that he bought around $3.00 per acre. He then refers to a failure. A large company in the eastern states, owning a large farm near Hussar pays its manager $3,000 a year. The farm has not been a success. Probably the manager's fault. Mr. Harris says conditions are not as good as could be wished for, but on the ending of the war good crops, with war prices, will certainly change conditions, and it seems to me that the one who owns land that will raise 100 bushels of oats, 75 bushels of barley or 40 bushels of wheat is the one who "laughs last."

The above yields may seem exaggerations to many, and are far above the average, but you should remember that the man who fails is counted in to make the average, and there are instances on record here that would far exceed the above figures.

Nor is grain the only profitable thing that can be raised here. There are many fine horse ranches; some of them stocked with cayuses and bred to thoroughbreds, and others imported from the old countries. They run on the range nearly all the year. The owners put up wild hay to feed them if the snow should get too deep for them to get the dead grass. There are several hundred in sight of here most of the time. There are several cattle ranches north of here that have from 500 to 7,000 head of cattle. One man I know sold $45,000 worth of fat cattle this fall. He winters his cattle on farms where they have lots of straw and water, paying 75 cents a month per head, or if there is enough straw to winter 400 or 500 head they buy the straw and water and have a man to look after the cattle.—Advertisement.

MANKATO WOMAN FIRES AT HUSBAND

NARROWLY MISSES JUDGE IN PORTLAND COURT—STENOGRAPHER WOUNDED.

NORMAL SCHOOL GRADUATE

Mrs. Hazel Tackels Says She Is An Alumna of State Institution at Mankato—Tackels Lived in Blue Earth County.

Portland, Ore.—Sought as a fugitive from jail where she was held on a shoplifting charge Mrs. Hazel Tackels, who says she is an alumna of of the state normal school at Mankato, Minn., walked into the morals court in the municipal building, testified against her divorced husband, Harvey Tackels, and then shot at him twice with a revolver she had concealed in her dress.

One bullet wounded Mrs. William etta McElroy in the leg; the other imbedded itself in a wall near the head of Municipal Judge Stevenson. Mrs. McElroy wrenched the pistol from Mrs. Tackels.

As the first shot whistled past his head Judge Stevenson slid from his chair to the floor and diving under the table of his desk, grasped the pistol arm of Mrs. Tackels just as she fired the second shot.

Fines of $20 each were shortly afterward levied by the court upon Harvey Tackels and Sue Sterling, a woman charged with alienating Tackel's affections from his wife.

Mrs. Tackels faces a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

"I thought if Mr. Tackels came into court to make me out a liar—well, I didn't know what I would do," she said later at the jail. "The thought that Harry had won my confidence and caused me to be separated from my child just to scorn me later had made me desperate. It seemed that he had done it for revenge because I wouldn't go back to him, when he first asked me."

CAPTURE ST. CLOUD CONVICTS

Officers Surprise Fugitives in Swamp Near Staples—Fred A. Middleton Is Fatally Shot.

Staples.—Fred A. Middleton and James Evans, who escaped from the St. Cloud reformatory, were captured here, but not until both had been shot by officers in a sensational gun fight. Middleton was shot through the abdomen and died as a result of the wound. Evans was shot through the foot.

While eating in a restaurant Middleton was recognized by a waiter, who informed Ed Kunz, a policeman. When Kunz entered the restaurant Middleton fled through a rear door. Kunz fired five shots, one taking effect, but Middleton continued running and escaped through the railroad yards.

Later Kunz and A. Munson, a Northern Pacific special officer, learned that Middleton and Evans were hiding in a swamp three miles from here. Munson and Kunz separated at the swamp. Munson surprised Middleton and Evans.

The officer drew his revolver and Middleton grappled with him. The gun was discharged and Middleton fell with a bullet in his stomach. Evans started to run, but was stopped by a shot from Munson which struck his foot.

Middleton was hurried to a hospital at Little Falls. Evans will be taken back to St. Cloud.

Middleton was sent up from this place a year ago for burglary. Evans was from Hennepin county and was facing a twenty-year term for robbery in the first degree.

Woman Suspect Is Identified.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Mrs. F. T. Turner, arrested in the supposed plot to steal jewelry valued at $16,000 from Leopold Metzger, of the S. Jacobs & Co., jewelers, by luring him to a vacant house at 1635 Waverly place, was positively identified by Robert F. Davis, U. S. immigration inspector, as a woman once wanted by the Canadian authorities for the alleged theft of two sealskin coats from a woman in Nelson, B. C. She is known there as Anna Davis. Her home is thought to be in Bad Ax, Mich.

Governor Visits Old Home.

Madelia.—Governor W. S. Hammond was the guest of the Masonic lodge of Madelia, of which he has been a member nearly 30 years. After the meeting a banquet was served in the Noonen hotel with plates laid for 80 guests. U. A. McLaughlin was toastmaster and toasts were responded to by C. S. Christenson, Dr. W. J. McCarthy and Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin. The governor made one of his delightful addresses, likening the gathering to a family reunion.

Photographer Charged With Thefts.

Duluth.—Frederick B. Johnson, one of the city's leading photographers, is under arrest charged with pilfering money from the garments of patrons. Small sums ranging from 60 cents to $3 have been missing of late by those who have had occasion to fill engagements at the studio, and the story came to light when the members of a musical club, who were being photographed for a musical directory, exchanged confidences and found that each had been "touched" while at the studio for sums of various size.

ATTEMPTS TO KIDNAP GIRL

Couple Who Tried to Abduct Austin Girl, Believed "White Slavers"—Reward Offered.

Austin.—A middle aged man six feet tall and weighing 200 pounds; who appears in dress and manner a prosperous business man, is wanted at Austin or at Bismarck, N. D., and $500 reward is to go to the person who apprehends him. He and a woman who accompanied him in both cities twice have tried to abduct Miss Hazel Thomson, 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. A. R. Thomson of this city.

When it became known that the girl had been attacked recently at Bismarck by the couple, who appeared there in an automobile, R. J. Thomson, brother of the girl, disclosed that he has detectives employed seeking the girl's assailants, and that a similar attempt to kidnap his sister was made here December 23.

At that time the couple spent four days in Austin trying to make the acquaintance of the girl, and failing, wrote a note to her, stating that they wished to give her important information and requesting that she meet them outside her home.

They tried to induce the girl to go with them, but aware they were watched, they made no attempt to seize her as they did in Bismarck where they appeared in an automobile.

The local authorities believe the couple are "white slavery agents."

TO FIGHT FOR BETTER RATES

Twin Cities Encouraged by Interstate Commerce Commission Decision Maintaining 83-cent Rate.

Minneapolis, Minn. — Encouraged by the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which maintains for the Twin Cities the 83-cent rate on first-class freight brought from the eastern sea-board by the rail-and-lake route, it is probable that the Traffic Division of the Civic and Commerce association will continue its fight for the 78-cent rate enjoyed by Mississippi river points which receive goods through the Chicago port.

W. P. Trickett, director of the Traffic Bureau, is expected from Washington and a conference between Platt Lyon, secretary of the Traffic Division and other officials is expected, at which the future course of the fight for better rates will be decided.

White School for Indians Planned.

White Earth.—School district No. 112, in Becker county, has been created. It embraces the whole of the village of White Earth and vicinity, and will serve to abolish the present government day school in the village. The government officials have signified their willingness to transfer the buildings, now occupied as day schools, including seats, desks, school books and other equipment, to the use and purposes of the new district, provided Indian children are not discriminated against.

It is not at all improbable that within a very few years every Indian school on the reservation will be merged under district school management. The progressive classes generally are heartily in favor of the district school system. This will be a step toward the abolishment of the present agency management of Indian affairs in the state.

Denied Right to Search Hotel.

Bemidji.—Government Indian department men sent here to enforce the treaty of 1855, were given a warm reception when Officers W. W. Thomason and Benson walked into the Arcade hotel, owned and conducted by William Hazen, and asked the privilege of inspecting the rooms. The officers were asked to show their authority to search the place, and when they could not do so, they were ordered to leave. The officers then went upstairs, Mr. Hazen following. He again asked them to leave the place, which they did.

Winona.—A May musical festival will be held at the normal school here under the direction of Miss Caroline V. Smith, with five events provided. The first will be an organ recital by Emmett Raymond; the high school department will put on "The Lady of Shalott," and the St. Cecelia society and Lyric club will present "Tannhauser" and "The Singers' Contest at Wartburg," with special outside soloists.

The closing event will be the annual musical program of the Mendelssohn club on May 4.

Sells Tooth-bridge to Buy Food.

Fairmont.—A middle-aged, well dressed stranger entered the jewelry store of Charles Altenberg and taking a solid gold four-tooth bridge from his mouth, inquired how much he could get for it. He was offered about $5, which he took, remarking that he had had nothing to eat for 36 hours. The bridge probably cost $50 when it was made. Altenberg offered to hold it a reasonable time for redemption.

Wedding Ends Old Romance.

Rochester.—A romance that originated in Sparta, Greece, 12 years ago, came to a climax in Rochester when James Mirras of this city, and Mary Boosalis were married. Twelve years ago Mirras kissed his school playmate and sweetheart goodbye to leave his native land for the United States, promising to send for her after fortune favored him. Recently he wired her to come, and last week she arrived in New York, coming direct to Rochester.

Had to Be Broken In.

Shortly after the Civil war a lady in New York asked her colored cook to get her husband to come over and help move some furniture. She noticed that the negro man had several bad scars on his head.

"Was your husband in the war, Dinah?" she asked.

"No, ma'am."

"How did he get all those scars on his head?" she asked.

"Oh, dat's whar we's had words together."

"How could you, Dinah? He seems like a nice man," said the mistress.

"Oh, he's good 'nough now, but it took a lot of work wid de tater masher to persuade him to be good."

What a Revival Is.

The word "revival" is often given a meaning which primarily does not belong to it. Many emphasize the conversion of sinners as the essential element in a revival work; but that is the secondary meaning of the word. Essentially, "revival" means the quickening of God's people. You cannot revive a dead man. The unregenerate sinner is spiritually dead. He must be born again. Now, you may revive a partially drowned body, or a partially frozen body. The regenerate soul's life often weakens and wanes, until the flame almost flickers out. But if there be the least spark of life left, it can be fanned into a flame; and like the apparently dead cinder in the smithy's forge, that spark will touch others and kindle a flame that will enthuse a church, a city, or even a nation. A revival of religion, then, must logically begin with the chruch. Such is the divine order.—Christian Herald.

IN A SHADOW

Tea Drinker Feared Paralysis.

Steady use of either tea or coffee often produces alarming symptoms, as the poison (caffeine) contained in these beverages acts with more potency in some persons than in others.

"I was never a coffee drinker," writes an Ill. woman, "but a tea drinker. I was very nervous, had frequent spells of sick headache and heart trouble, and was subject at times to severe attacks of bilious colic.

"No end of sleepless nights—would have spells at night when my right side would get numb and tingle like a thousand needles were pricking my flesh. At times I could hardly put my tongue out of my mouth and my right eye and ear were affected.

"The doctors told me to quit using tea, but I thought I could not live without it—that it was my only stay. I had been a tea drinker for twenty-five years; was under the doctor's care for fifteen.

"About six months ago, I finally quit tea and commenced to drink Postum.

"I have never had one spell of sick-headaches since and only one light attack of bilious colic. Have quit having those numb spells at night, sleep well and my heart is getting stronger all the time."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly, 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

THE SUNBEAM,

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

The Canadian troops who went over to Europe to get into the war of kings, got into it all right. There were about one thousand of them killed, and another thousand taken prisoners, who will now assist the Germans to build roads. The poor fellows who are buried in the trenches, got the glory that they were looking for. May their bones rest in peace.

The escape of prisoners from the county jail has started a movement for the building of a new jail in Pennington county. But we do not see as a new jail would be of much benefit, if the jailer who kept it, turned the keys of it over to the prisoners, so all they had to do was to unlock the doors and walk out, as was done at Thief River Falls last week. Of course the jailer did not hand the keys to the prisoner but he left them hanging on a nail where the jail bird could help himself. We did not learn when the prisoner left whether he took the keys with him, or threw them in the river, but he had ought to have had courtesy enough to have turned them over to the county auditor.

Polk county anti-optionists are putting up a vigorous fight to prevent county option from carrying a majority of the votes on May 24th. We fail to see how the people of the eastern part of the county are much interested in the issue, as the greater part of their liquors are bought in Red Lake county, and if option carries about all the difference it will make to them is that all of the liquor trade will go to Red Lake county or the twin cities, while they can pay the extra taxes, that are now obtained by the county for saloon license. The way that county option law is passed it is not a temperance law, but is simply a law to prescribe to people of certain localities where to buy their liquor. If they had put a clause into that law making it as strong a criminal offense to ship liquor into a county option county, as it is to ship it into the territory prohibited by the treaty of 1855, they would have a temperance law that they could have taken pride in, and that would have been indorsed by all the temperance people, but that county option law as it was passed is a ridiculous farce as a temperance measure.

We wonder how the members of the legislature from the northern part of the state will explain their vote for the repeal of the Elwell law. While there were undoubtedly defects in this law, yet we understand that all of these were cured by proposed amendments. But in spite of this many senators and representatives from this section disregarded these amendments and voted for the repeal of the law. Why? —T. R. Falls News-Press.

Why did they vote for the absolute repeal of this law? Because they represented the interests of the farmer tax payers, and they did right. We did not support D. P. O'Neill; but we are willing to give him due credit for the honorable fight he made for the repeal of the worst law that was ever put on the statute books, to do the farmer tax payers to build automobile roads. Representative Oscar Stenvick made a gallant fight for its repeal, and thus represented the true interests of his farmer constituents All honor and credit is due our representatives for the fight they made to repeal that law.

WHITE MAN WITH BLACK LIVER.

The Liver is a blood purifier. It was thought at one time it was the seat of the passions. The trouble with most people is that their Liver becomes black because of impurities in the blood due to bad physical states, causing Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness and Constipation, Dr. King's New Life Pills will clean up the Liver, and give you new life, 25c, at your Druggist.—Adv.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN

Is our county jail a joke and the jailor a joker? This is the question that is heard on the streets many times every day. With little or no difficulty a prisoner who has been sentenced to a term at St. Cloud, in a mysterious manner secures the keys to his cell, lets himself out and with a jack knife ('tis said) unlocks the outer door and walks out a free man. Sound nice, doesn't it? To the man-up-a-tree it would appear that the time has arrived for an investigation to be ordered. For prisoners to break out of the county jail has reached a point where it is past the funny stage. It is time for action.—T. R. Falls Times.

SOME FORMS OF RHEUMATISM CURABLE.

Rhuematism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are: Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Rheumatic Headaches, Sciatic Rheumatism and Lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain, and especially Rheumatic Pain, because it penetrates to the seat of the trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." Get a 25c. bottle now. Keep it handy in case of emergency.

WHOLE FAMILY DEPENDENT.

Mr. E. Williams, Hamilton, Ohio, writes: "Our whole family depend on Pine-Tar-Honey." Maybe someone in your family has a severe Cold—perhaps the baby. The original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is an ever ready household remedy—it gives immediate relief. Pine-Tar-Honey penetrates the linings of the Throat and Lungs, destroys the Germs, and allows Nature to act. At your Druggist, 25c.—Adv.

What Shell Fire Is Like.

I have read many attempts to describe shell fire in a battle, but not one to equal the easy description of this young officer, who does not pretend to be a stylist. Listen:

"You hear a boom miles away, hardly audible in the distance. Then a faint sigh, gradually rising to a scream as the shell whizzes toward you. Then a flash, an immense crash and the air is filled with thousands of bullets and jagged lumps of iron, each making a different sort of shrieking noise. Then phit-phit-phit everywhere as they hit the ground.

Fungus Slippers.

Before the discovery of lucifer matches a large hoof shaped fungus growing on the trunks of trees was used throughout northern Europe for making amadou or tinder. The thick, brown, woody flesh of the same fungus, cut into slices and beaten until it assumes the appearance of felt, is used at the present day in some parts of Germany for the manufacture of chest protectors, caps, purses, bed room slippers and various other articles.

AERIAL TRAIL BREAKING.

Amazing Speed and Endurance of the Wild Swan In Flight.

It is impossible for one who has seen only the common mute swans floating about in the artificial lakes of city parks to imagine the grandeur of a flock of the great whistlers in their wild state. In "Wild Life and the Camera" Mr. A. R. Dugmore says the sight is one of the most impressive in nature. As the huge birds rise into the air it seems as if an aerial regatta were being sailed overhead, the swans each with a wing spread of six or seven feet, moving like yachts under full sail.

Once the swans are fairly under way their speed is amazing, nearly a hundred miles an hour, and that, too, with no apparent effort, for the slow wing motion is very deceiving. Their endurance is as surprising as their speed, for they are said to travel a thousand miles without alighting.

The flocks are usually led by an old and experienced swan, and it is said that as one becomes tired of leading, or it might be called aerial trail breaking, his place is taken by another whose strength is equal to the task, and so they continue until they reach their destination, the southern feeding grounds of the winter or the northern breeding places of the summer. Occasionally they stop to rest in the region of the great lakes. Not many years ago, while on their way north, a large number stopped above Nigara falls, and more than a hundred were by some extraordinary mischance carried over the falls and killed in the surging waters.

Whether the swans prepare in any special way for their southward journey is not known, but before starting north they indulge in the curious habit known as "ballasting"—that is to say, they eat great quantities of sand, for what purpose no one knows.

In the faraway Arctic ocean is their breeding place, and it is believed that they mate for life. As with so many of the water birds, the swans protect their eggs with a covering of down scratched from their own breasts, so that when the birds leave the nest the two to six large, yellowish eggs are hidden from the eyes of possible thieves and protected against any sudden changes of temperature.

It is many years before the swans are clothed in the feathers of immaculate whiteness that make them such conspicuous objects of beauty. Not, indeed, until the fifth year does all trace of gray disappear. Their first feathers are entirely gray. Gradually they lighten, becoming mottled with white, the neck and head remaining gray until after the body is completely white.

HEIGHT OF WAVES.

In Severe Storms the Crests May Mount Fifty Feet.

It is only in the imagination of the poets that waves rise "mountains high." The exact altitude and length of waves have been measured with scientific accuracy, and the record waves are carefully recorded. Waves in shallow water are, as a rule, higher than those in open or deep water. The height of a wave is commonly about one-fifteenth its length.

The longest wave on record was 2,500 feet, measuring from crest to crest, its period being about twenty-two seconds. Waves of extreme length are seldom very high. A wave 2,500 feet in length, rising in deep water, will have a height of about fifty feet.

When a wave enters shallow water its crest becomes considerably higher, and one of a height of forty feet will frequently rise to fifty feet. If it meets resistance, it may be thrown up twice this height.

In severe storms at sea waves rarely reach a height of fifty feet. The average in such time has a period of about ten seconds, which would indicate a length of about 500 feet. Waves with a period of ten seconds have a length of from 150 to 300 feet and a height of thirty-three feet and form a very high sea.—Exchange.

Secretary Redfield estimates that the balance of trade in favor of the United States for the current year will reach, if not exceed, $1,000,000,000. The Secretary, further, deplores the fact that we are obliged to pay excessive ocean freight charges because of the want of an American merchant marine.

Reports to the Federal Reserve Board from its agents in the twelve reserve districts, which have just been made known, show a most cheering condition in the improvement of trade and business conditions throughout the country. The low water mark of depression would seem to have been reached and passed, with the tide of prosperity again setting in.

On Sunday, for the first time since the erection of the building, the front doors of the State, War and Navy Building were closed. Constantinople has a deleterious effect upon Europeans. So at least declared a "great and highly gifted lady," mentioned by Grant Duff. She had the honor of being received by the sultan. "Don't you have trouble getting a sufficient variety of food?" she asked.

"No," said the woman who runs a boarding house; "that's the easiest part of it. You see, I make up a series of menus for breakfast, dinner, etc., at the beginning of the season and then they go on steadily till the end of it. The cook knows just what to prepare each day, and I am not at all bothered."

"But don't your boarders get tired of having the same thing each week on the same day?"

"Ah," said the landlady, "that's where I fool 'em! They don't have the same thing on the same day of the week. There are ten separate menus. If we begin, say, with hash on Monday, the next time they have hash is a week from Thursday and the next time a week from the following Sunday. Nobody can tell what he's going to have on any given day without working it out with a pencil and paper, and as nobody is likely to go to that trouble just for the sake of finding his meals monotonous, the result is, in fact, as pleasantly varied as if the menu for the day was composed every morning."—New York Post.

Prismatic Lake.

Prismatic lake, in Yellowstone park, is the most perfect spring of its kind in the world. It rests on the summit of a self built mound, sloping gently in all directions. Down this slope the overflow from the spring descends in tiny rivulets, everywhere interlaced with one another. A map of the mound resembles a spider web with the spider (the spring) in the center. The pool is 250 by 300 feet in size. Over the lake hangs an ever present cloud of steam, which itself often bears a crimson tinge, reflected from the waters below. The steam unfortunately obscures the surface of the lake, and one involuntarily wishes for a rowboat in which to explore its unseen portions. Whenever visible there is a varied and wonderful play of colors, which fully justifies the name.—"The Yellowstone [illegible]" by Hiram Martin [illegible], Brigadier General, U. S. A. [illegible]

WILSON STUDIES EVERY PHASE OF LUSITANIA CASE

REALIZES CITIZENS OF UNITED STATES EXPECT HIM TO EXPRESS THEIR INDIGNATION OVER DISASTER.

OFFICIAL REPORTS OF AMBASSADORS' AWAITED

Cabinet Meeting Will Follow President's Return From Philadelphia Where He Is Expected to Give Expression to His Feelings on Situation.

Washington, May 11.—What action the United States government will take as the result of the British liner Lusitania with a loss of more than a hundred American lives is an undetermined question.

President Wilson during the last 24 hours has been studying every aspect of the case, from its legal and humanitarian aspect. That he feels deeply distressed over the incident and realizes the citizens of the United States expect him to express in some fashion their indignation over it, was indicated by the statement issued from the White house.

Official Reports Awaited.

Until all the official reports are received from Ambassadors Gerard and Page at Berlin and London, respectively, it is not expected that any action will be taken.

The president plans to go to Philadelphia late to deliver there this evening a speech which observers generally believe will give expression to his own feelings on the situation produced by the sinking of the Lusitania.

He is to address a meeting of 4,000 naturalized Americans arranged for several weeks ago by the bureau of naturalization of the department of commerce to launch a systematic campaign for educating new citizens to a right understanding of their duties.

Mr. Wilson will return the next day and a few hours later the regular meeting of the cabinet will take place when it is said he will lay before his advisors the policy he has in mind and ask their counsel.

On the questions of law involved in the sinking of the Lusitania, the Washington government long ago has stated its position to Germany. Law officers of the government were unanimous in the opinion shared by the president, that there is no warrant under law or reason for the destruction of an unarmed merchant ship, even of an enemy, without warning the passengers at the time the ship is encountered and transferring passengers to a place of safety.

Statement from Berlin.

The official statement from Berlin, which came by wireless admitting that a German submarine had sunk the Lusitania and pointing out that the big liner was naturally armed with guns, was commented upon by officials.

On the highest authority it was stated that as early as last September when Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, called attention to the arrival in American ports of British liners, among them the Adriatic, with guns aboard, the question was taken up by the state department.

It was ruled by the department that a merchant vessel could not be classed as a warship if she carried guns not larger than six-inch calibre for defensive purposes, but nevertheless informal negotiations were begun immediately with Great Britain and an understanding was reached whereby no vessels clearing from American ports would be armed.

Ship Carried No Guns.

Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York, has been asked by the Washington government as to whether the Lusitania carried any armament and has reported that she carried out the terms of the understanding as originally entered into with the British government and had no guns aboard.

Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, declared that no expressions would be given without instructions from Berlin.

The official Austro-German opinion here, emphasizes to justify the act, the presence of ammunition on a passenger ship and argues that the sacrifice of passengers was less than the toll that would have been taken by the ammunition had it reached the allies

During the day the German ambassador received an anonymous letter warning him that the embassy would be blown up at 1:32 a. m. He turned it over to the police but paid no serious attention to what he regarded as the work of a crank.

Germany Again Warns Americans.

New York, May 10.—The German embassy again printed its advertisement in the New York papers warning Americans that travel toward Great Britain and France is dangerous and that all persons taking passage on ships flying the flag of Great Britain and her allies do so at their own risk. This advertisement appeared originally a week ago just before the Lusitania sailed. Following the sailing of the Transylvania fear was expressed that submarines may be in waiting for it also.

MILITARY POMP AT FUNERAL

Public Burial Too Large for Ordinary Facilities of City—American Military Attaches Continue Investigation for U. S.

Washington, May 10.—If the Lusitania had been disarmed before its destruction, Germany was not advised of it, but it was previously advised that the liner had been armed, the German embassy announced here. It was added that the embassy also knew the ship was taking arms and ammunition to England on its last trip.

Queenstown, May 10.—This has been a day of the dead in Queenstown. Most of the survivors of the Lusitania left for their homes. No survivors were added to the meager list and the only figures augmented were those of the identified dead. No additional deaths were reported at the hospitals.

While soldiers toiled in the graveyard of a church digging graves for the unknown dead who will be buried there, groups of relatives and friends of the passengers went from morgue to morgue—some finding what they sought, others turning away to continue their search, with ebbing hope.

The public funeral which a representative of the viceroy of Ireland will attend, will be too large for the ordinary facilities of Queenstown and Cork, and trucks will be pressed into service, to carry the coffins. The funeral will be marked by military pomp such as is accorded those who die in the armed service of their country.

American Attaches Investigate.

Though too late to be of material assistance to their strained countrymen, Captains William A. Castle and Alexander Miller, the American military attaches, arrived here to confer with the American consul, Wesley Frost. They left in an automobile for Kinsale Head to continue their investigation in behalf of the government.

Consul Frost has been indefatigable in assisting the American survivors and attending to their wants. He has supplied many of them with money to reach their destination. All the identified American dead have been claimed by the consul, even in cases where no requests from relatives have been received. The bodies are being embalmed as rapidly as the work can be done.

The survivors are beginning to recover from their shock, and told more coherent stories of their experiences. Unlike those who were on the Titanic when she was sunk, they had so little time for observation that none of them can relate more than what happened very near them, with the result that little light has been shed on the last moments of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and other prominent passengers who are missing.

U. S. Ship Torpedoed, Rumor.

New York, May 10.—American line officials scouted a rumor which they admitted was in circulation locally that the steamer New York of their line, due in Liverpool Sunday, had been torpedoed. The line officials declared they had absolutely no word from their London office and were not worried by the rumor, which they attributed to nervousness incidental to the Lusitania disaster. The Philadelphia of the American line passed out of the Narrows shortly after noon.

EIGHT TURKISH SHIPS SUNK

TRANSPORTS ARE SENT TO BOTTOM BY RUSSIANS.

Teutonic Allies Claim Czar's Troops Are Being Pressed Back in Galicia.

Paris, May 11.—According to news from a reliable source in Constantinople, says a dispatch from Athens to the Havas agency, six Turkish transports have been sunk by the Russians off the Bosphorus and two others have been sunk in the Sea of Marmora.

The Turkish army, the dispatch adds, has left Adrianople in the direction of Midieh, a seaport on the Black Sea.

London, May 11. — In the fighting that is in progress along the battle lines in Belgium and France, and in Russia and the Carpathians, both the Triple Entente and the Teutonic allies claim successes at various spots.

None of them however, except possibly Austria and Germany, record successes on a great scale. Even the statements of the Teutonic allies are reiterations of the reports for several days past that the Russians continue to be pressed back in Galicia and the Carpathians and that Hungary is free of enemy forces.

Petrograd does not deny the gains claimed by the Teutons, but declares that the Russians are fighting back hard at certain points and that the attacks of the Teutons while undiminished in vigor, are becoming less frequent.

BERLIN CLAIMS CAPTURE OF CITY OF LIBAU IN RUSSIA

Berlin, May 10.—(Via London.)—Official announcement was made at the German war office that the city of Libau, in the province of Courland, Russia, has been captured by the Germans.

The text of the communication follows: "An infantry battle took place in the Vosges. Only in this section did the French attack our positions. All attacks resulted in failure with heavy losses to the French.

"In the eastern theater of the war the troops we sent against the city of Libau took possession of this town. Sixteen hundred prisoners, 18 cannon and four machine guns fell into our hands."

In the capture of Libau the Germans have gained one of the main objects of their invasion of the Baltic provinces of Russia. The movement, undertaken within the last fortnight was designed to occupy Libau and Riga, two of the principal Russian ports on the Baltic, which would enable the Germans to harass Russian communications with Petrograd.

Libau is about 75 miles along the sea coast from the German border.

Like Titanic Disaster.

Liverpool, May 10.—Scenes reminiscent of the Titanic and the Empress of Ireland disasters were witnessed in Liverpool where a large crowd, chiefly women relatives of the crew of the Lusitania, gathered outside the Cunard office anxiously awaiting news of their men. Little was available, however, but the people remained calm, although the strain was terrible. So far as could be learned here the Lusitania had no guns aboard.

Chicago Sends Hospital Corps.

Chicago, May 8.—A complete hospital unit, to be known as the "Chicago corps," will be Chicago's contribution to the British army, it is learned. At the request of the British war department, Dr. John B. Murphy is organizing the corps, to consist of 32 Chicago doctors and 74 nurses. It is expected to be ready to sail in five or six weeks. Its active head when it leaves America will be Dr. Jans F. Neff, an associate of Dr. Murphy. Volunteers are in excess of the requirement, Dr. Murphy said.

CARRIED AMERICAN FLAG WHEN STRUCK

GULFLIGHT BORE STARS AND STRIPES AT TIME OF DISASTER.

THREE EXPLANATIONS OPEN

Washington Looks for Pacific Settlement of Case—Aid Expected From German Government in Making American Position Easier.

Washington, May 7.—From the owners of the Gulflight, torpedoed off the Scily Islands, comes the information, addressed to the Department of tSate, at Washington, that the ship carried the American flag.

This leaves three possible explanations open to the Germans for the destruction of the American ship:

First.—That the captain of the submarine was mistaken as to the identity of the vessel.

Second.—That he assumed the American flag was being misused to cover the real identity of the ship.

Third.—That in view of the warning given by the German government, no vessel has a right to assume safety in the published war zone.

Friendly Settlement Likely.

So far as developments here are concerned, every indication points to a pacific settlement of all the cases in point and that Washington will confine itself to its usual program of writing notes and making protests.

Aid is expected from the German government in making the American position easier.

If a more drastic policy is adopted it will mean that the President has yielded to advisers in the State Department, not Secretary Bryan, and that the entire administration policy relative to foreign relations is changed. Pacificism is expected to prevail.

If Germany disclaims knowledge of the identity of the submarine which fired on the Gulflight, the administration will be puzzled to say differently, should it wish to do so.

It is generally admitted that the German advertisement warning Americans to avoid the war zone has a tendency to place the burden of proof on the German government, but the administration may not look at it that way.

The general expectation is that the administration will find a loophole out of the present difficulty.

Liberty Bell Is Repaired.

Philadelphia, May 6.—The clapper which had hung inside the liberty bell for 162 years has been removed and a "spider" of structural steel inserted on the inside of the relic.

The "spider," or steel skeleton, stretches its six metal fingers down underneath the bell and at equally distant points around the chipped edges, clasps them tightly so that the crack in it may be prevented, if possible, from growing further.

Whether the clapper will be taken with the bell to the Panama-Pacific exposition will be decided by the Councilmanic committee which has prepared the plans for the journey.

"Ripper" Threatens Another Murder.

New York, May 7.—The letter-writing murderer who killed 5-year-old Elenore Cohn and 4year-old Charlie Murray has written to the Murray boy's mother, telling her that he will commit another murder when the present excitement over her child's death subsides. The letter was received at the time the little victim's body was about to be buried. Mrs. Murray read one paragraph and collapsed. The murder of the boy, on May 3, was preceded by a similar threat contained in a letter.

INQUIRY INTO LOSS OF LINER ORDERED

LORD MERSEY IS DIRECTED TO INVESTIGATE SINKING OF THE LUSITANIA.

SEVERAL SUBMARINES SEEN

German Under-water Craft Assigned Task of Maneuvering Vessel Into Position Where She Could Not Escape, Is Belief.

London, May 11.—Lord Mersey, who conducted the investigations into the loss of the Titanic and the Empress of Ireland is at the order of the British admiralty to conduct an inquiry into the sinking of the Lusitania and until he begins, official opinion as to how the Lusitania came to be caught, and why so many lives were lost, will remain a secret.

The general unofficial opinion is that several German submarines were assigned to the task of attacking the Cunard liner and that they maneuvered her into a position where she could not escape.

Lusitania Alters Course.

Passengers say that for some time before the first torpedo was fired the Lusitania had altered her course and they ascribe this to the fact that one of the German submarines had shown herself sending the big liner in the direction where other underwater craft were waiting to strike with their deadly torpedoes.

These submarines, naval experts believe are of the latest type, of probably 1,400 tons and much more powerful than any possessed by other navies.

Beyond anger at the Germans, the catastrophe has had no effect on the British people. Steamers are arriving and departing as usual and even the steamers to Ireland are being freely patronized.

The heavy loss of life on the Lusitania was due, in the belief of rescued passengers, to the fact that some officials at least reassured them after the first torpedo struck home, that the Lusitania would remain afloat and could make Queenstown. Preparations, it is true, were made to launch the boats but before this could be done a second torpedo hit the steamer and she listed so badly that the crew could only work the boats on one side of the ship.

MIGHT HAVE SAVED BIG LINER

Hydro-Aeroplane Flying Ahead of Lusitania Would Have Detected Submarine, Say Experts.

Chicago, May 10.—A hydro-aeroplane flying ahead of the Lusitania would have detected the submarine and prevented the explosion which sank the ship, say experts.

In order that America may be prepared with plenty of experienced aviators, if this nation is drawn unwillingly into the world-wide conflict, the Aero club of Illinois has joined the movement to raise $100,000 with which to conduct a series of long-distance flying contests this summer.

Charles S. Dickinson, president of the club, said:

"No British warship proceeds without a convoy of hydro-aeroplanes and no submarine can reach one of the ships with these watchers above them in the air. Such a watchman ahead of the Lusitania for the last 50 miles of its course would have served the same purpose.

"America should have hosts of capable flyers. They would be invaluable in times of stress to save human lives. The government cannot have them ready in time of need unless they are trained in advance. Capable aviators do not develop over night."

Evidence Is Incompetent.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 10.—Justice William S. Andrews, presiding at the trial of William Barnes' suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt, ruled that unless it be shown that Mr. Barnes actually knew of and profited by alleged extravagance and waste in the execution in Albany of orders for public printing, evidence upon that subject was incompetent. The proof according to the ruling of the court must be either circumstantial or direct, and it must be shown that the waste and extravagance was brought about through his political influence. The question of printing in general would, it was said, come up again in a few days.

Duluth Girl on Ill-fated Ship.

Duluth, Minn., May 10.—Miss Millie Baker, daughter of Mrs. A. Baker of this city was a passenger on the Lusitania. She had been studying music under Madame Guilia Valda in New York and started to Paris to resume her studies under her former instructor, Trabadello.

Death Due to Drowning.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 10.—The coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Kate McGlade, about 50 years old, Marshalltown, Ia., came to her death by drowning when the automobile in which she and her husband were traveling to the home of their sons near Blunt, was overturned near Hartford, west of Sioux Falls. The unfortunate woman was pinned under the car when it fell into a creek. Her husband, 60 years old, was too overcome to render any assistance.

TOO MUCH FOR JUDGE GARY

Youthful Lawyer Made Technical Error in Billiard Contest With Legal Veteran.

Judge Martin, as a young lawyer and on first arrival in Chicago, thought himself fortunate in gaining an introduction to Judge Gary—the Gary who tried the anarchists. The judge took a shine to the young chap and proposed a game of billiards, wherein Martin made a technical error that he remembered for long. Gary played an old man's game, and Martin then, as now, was particularly handy with a cue.

Picture a contest of 34 points with four balls on a four and one-half by nine table. The judge (barely bending), with a childish bridge and a nerveless stroke, missed his first shot. Martin, in shirtsleeves, crouched over the table like a jockey piloting a winner, and applied himself to rolling up a run. He had counted fifteen or twenty when he turned and saw the judge disappearing through the door and moving with ruffled dignity.

Preferred to Laugh.

A little boy was sitting on one of the benches of Central park, watching some of the people ride the donkeys. An exceedingly fat woman hired a donkey and was about to mount when she saw the small boy and said to him:

"Little boy, don't you want me to hire a donkey for you?"

"No, thank you. I'd rather sit here and laugh."—May Young's Magazine.

FIND OUT
The Kind of Food that will Keep You Well.

The true way is to find out what is best to eat and drink, and then cultivate a taste for those things instead of poisoning ourselves with improper, indigestible food, etc.

A conservative Mass. woman writes: "I have used Grape-Nuts 5 years for the young and for the aged; in sickness and in health; at first following directions carefully, later in a variety of ways as my taste and judgment suggested.

"But its most special, personal benefit has been as a substitute for meat, and served dry with cream when rheumatic troubles made it important for me to change diet.

"Served in this way with the addition of a cup of hot Postum and a little fruit it has been used at my morning meal for six months, during which time my health has much improved, nerves have grown steadier, and a gradual decrease in my excessive weight adds greatly to my comfort."

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think what you can make with wheat around $1 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is a great demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient. CHURCH SYNODS AGREE TO UNION

THREE THOUSAND CONGREGATIONS OVER ENTIRE COUNTRY ARE INVOLVED.

STATE NEWS OF MINNESOTA

Interesting and Important Happenings Of the Past Few Days Selected and Arranged for the Convenience of Busy Readers.

Minneapolis.—Final steps in the preparation for a union between the three largest and oldest Norwegian church denominations were taken when a joint committee representing the synods met at the Hotel Andrews to draw up a constitution for the amalgamation. A doctrinal agreement has been adopted by the three churches and articles of agreement relating to church property by two, so members of the committee were confident that the union, which has been sought for years will soon be an actuality.

The churches represented are the Norwegian Synod of America, the Hauges Norwegian Lutheran synod and the United Norwegian Lutheran. The committee represents more than 1,000 ministers and 3,000 churches located in various parts of the country.

Union of the three churches was discussed for several years before any actual steps were taken, but in 1912 representatives of the churches met in Madison, Wis., and after a long consideration of the doctrinal beliefs of the churches drew up the "Opgjoer," a doctrinal agreement which was presented to the churches involved and adopted by them.

The next step to be taken was to arrive at articles of agreement, relating to questions of church property and other business details. A meeting for this took place in Minneapolis last year and the articles drawn up have been adopted by the United church and the Norwegian synod.

STOPS SHIPMENT OF GRAIN

Canadian Order Taken As Most Sensational Since War Began—Wheat Dealers Are Puzzled.

Duluth.—Canada has stopped the shipment of grain from that country, and, according to a dispatch received here, the closest restriction will be enforced.

The dispatch, which was received at the close of the market here, came to a vessel concern, and reads as follows:

"Ottawa has notified shippers that grain cannot leave Canada for the United States unless it is for domestic consumption. Exports cannot leave Canada for the United Kingdom unless specified consignees are named; nor to any foreign country unless under Ottawa permit."

"Domestic consumption," as mentioned in the dispatch, is taken by grain men here as meaning Canadian consumption, the grain passing through American ports on its way to Canadian points other than the point of origin.

Locally the order was taken as the most sensational the grain market has received since the war broke out.

The Ottawa order is taken by Duluth grain men as meaning that Canada is either short of grain or that a long and trying war is anticipated by Canada and the United Kingdom.

Finds Mother After Forty Years.

East Grand Forks.—Separated from his mother and other members of the family at the age of three years, when his father died and children of the family were adopted by neighbors, George Kenney, a prominent East Grand Forks man, got into communication with his mother for the first time. Mrs. D. W. Baldwin, of Whittemore, Iowa, is the mother, and the relationship was established accidentally, through a mutual friend. Mr. Kenney expects to go to Whittemore soon to visit his mother, the first time he will have seen her in 40 years—during which time he has never previously known of her whereabouts.

Look for Charlie Chaplin.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Charlie Chaplin day was evident at the West hotel, headquarters of the convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors association of the Northwest.

Two aspiring young movie actors, made up in true Chaplin style, paraded the lobby throughout the afternoon and the advent of several score of the famous Chaplin moustaches, adorning otherwise beardless faces, added to the spirit of the festivities. There is still hope that Chaplin may be here in person, although it is not yet definitely decided.

Boy Burned by Explosion.

Minneapolis, Minn. — Boys played with matches in L. S. Staple's garage and Charles Staples, aged 8, was probably fatally burned. Milton Bloomquist, a playmate, escaped with slight burns. The garage was destroyed. Mrs. Staples heard a muffled explosion. She ran toward the garage to find the clothing of her son on fire. She beat out the flames and took the boy to the Eitel hospital. An open pail of gasoline was in the garage and is supposed to have become ignited in some way.

Secret Order for War Horses.

Minneapolis, Minn.—A large consignment of war horses which has been secretly collected in the northwest on an order from the British government, which will use them in the European struggle, will be shipped from the Twin Citis about May 15. The number of horses and the identity of the English officer is kept secret.

Coleraine Cashier Kills Wife.

Coleraine, Minn. — Roy R. McQuade, aged 27, assistant cashier of the First National bank of this village, murdered his wife at their home here and then committed suicide. The bodies were found when the police broke into the McQuade home. The coroner's inquest has so far failed to develop any cause for the crime. An investigation of his accounts showed them correct. It is said his domestic relations were happy and the police are at a loss to assign a motive for the crime.

Stop Sunday Dancing in Jackson.

Sherburn.—Sunday dances are a thing of the past in Jackson county. At the last term of the district court the grand jury asked the court to instruct county officials to see that no public dances are held on the Lord's day in the county, as has been the practice for five years. Handbills were distributed announcing a big opening dance at the Lakeside bowery on Sunday night, but County Attorney Nicholas and Sheriff Lee took steps to stop it.

Five shots lodged in the woman's head. Menz shot himself in the temple, dying instantly. He was a widower before he married Mrs. Katherine Hammer, a widow of Centralia, Wash., whose acquaintance he had gained by correspondence. They were married in December.

Walter Roberts, the theatrical man, is usually ready with a quick answer to any question that is put to him, but once upon a time he was clearly nonplused. A woman had approached the ticket window and said:

"I would very much like to know if the show which is now going on is moral and proper."

Walter cast a scrutinizing glance at his questioner, but that was all.

"Why don't you answer my question, young man?" demanded the lady at the window.

"Because, madam, frankly speaking," said Walter, hesitating, "I'm not a good enough judge of human nature to know which way to answer without losing a patron."—Louisville Times.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

The Canadian immigration boomers will have to make extra efforts to get in emigrants to take the place of those they are loosing in the European war.

A man that is herding cattle on the plains of Arizona and New Mexico, one hundred miles from a telegraph station, can give just as reliable an opinion when the European war will end as a man can that is a correspondent for a daily newspaper, who is on the battle ground.

We notice that some of our exchanges made a great sensation out of the little flurry of snow that we had on last Wednesday evening. Some of their articles would create the impression in the southern states that we were having a terrible snow storm in May. As a matter of fact that storm was of immense benefit to the crops of northern Minnesota. Corn was not far enough advanced to receive any injury, and there was no frosts to injure the small grain, but the extra moisture will cause the wheat to stool out nicely.

There is located in this locality some of the most fertile farm lands in northern Minnesota, and there is a portion of them that were taken for speculation, at the time this land was opened for homestead entry. These lands remain vacant year after year, although their owners are offering them for sale at a moderate price. Why? Simply because the realestate dealers have got their lists of farms for sale crowded by land of second grade quality; on which they are making big profits. They of course land a man occasionally, but they also drive a large number of prospective settlers out of the country by showing them mosskeg land with quick sand bottom, instead of showing them the prime A No. 1 farms of Pennington county, that were taken by speculators, and are now lying vacant, that would please them on sight. But the poor strangers never get to see them; but are placed into an automobile; and taken to some outlandish place that has been abandoned by God and man, which if they buy they get badly beat, but more often they return home and tell their neighbors that there is no land up here that is fit to live on.

The destruction of the English passenger ship "Lusitania" last week by a German submarine has rather stirred up the American people, owing to there being a large number of prominent Americans who lost their lives in the disaster. But there was a very small number of the Americans that lost their lives that did not fully understand the risks they were running by taking passage on that ship. It was only a short time ago that this same ship escaped from German submarines by flying the American flag, and yet American people took passage on it, with the British flag flying, and the owners deliberately allowed it to sail into that war zone without the escort of torpedo boat destroyers. It is no time for the American people to get excited, and wish that this or that man was president, for we have as cool a head at the head of this government to handle the present crisis, as ever sat in the president's chair, and the American people should remain cool, until they have learned and fully considered all the facts in this disaster, before passing judgment. The Americans who lost their lives could have taken passage for Europe on a ship flying the American flag, and have landed safely at their destination, but if a man deliberately puts his head into a lion's mouth he must run his own risk of getting it snapped off. The present war is no child's play from either side and the safest plan for Americans to do, is to keep under the shelter of their own neutral stars and stripes when they are crossing the ocean at the present time.

40 HELD AT FERGUS.

In the United States federal court at Fergus Falls last week, 40 indictments were returned by the grand jury, about 25 of them involving persons charged with the introduction of liquor into Indian treaty territory. Although many have not yet been made public, some arraignments took place immediately. The Hamm Brewing company entered a plea of not guilty while the Kiewel Brewing company of Crookston and the Wadena Brewing company of Wadena pleaded guilty to the charge of introducing intoxicating liquor into the Indian territory. Edwin Tschoepe, former postmaster at Nebish, pleaded guilty to the embezzlement of $885. Pleas have been entered by several other persons, some of them being half breeds. J. E Johnson, of Bagley, indicted on a liquor charge, entered a plea of not guilty.

MAN TAKES HIS OWN MEDICINE IS AN OPTIMIST.

He has absolute faith in his medicine—he knows when he takes it for certain ailments he gets relief. People who take Dr. King's New Discovery for an irritating Cold are optimists—they know this cough remedy will penetrate the linings of the throat, kill the germs, and open the way for Nature to act. You can't destroy a Cold by superficial treatment—you must go to the cause of the trouble. Be an optimist. Get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to-day.—Adv.

WHITE MAN WITH BLACK LIVER.

The Liver is a blood purifier. It was thought at one time it was the seat of the passions. The trouble with most people is that their Liver becomes black because of impurities in the blood due to bad physical states, causing Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness and Constipation. Dr. King's New Life Pills will clean up the Liver, and give you new life. 25c. at your Druggist.—Adv.

SOME FORMS OF RHEUMATISM CURABLE.

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are: Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Rheumatic Headaches, Sciatic Rheumatism and Lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain; and especially Rheumatic Pain, because it penetrates to the seat of the trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." Get a 25c. bottle now. Keep it handy in case of emergency.

WHOLE FAMILY DEPENDENT.

Mr. E. Williams, Hamilton, Ohio, writes: "Our whole family depend on Pine-Tar-Honey." Maybe someone in your family has a severe Cold—perhaps the baby. The original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is an ever ready household remedy—it gives immediate relief. Pine-Tar-Honey penetrates the linings of the Throat and Lungs, destroys the Germs, and allows Nature to act. At your Druggist. 25c.—Adv.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE LOCAL NEWS.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brum[illegible] Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Miss Fogen started a term of Norweigen school in the Highlanding church Tuesday.

Mr. Tveit, of the firm of Tveit and Prichard, of Goodridge, was taking orders from the farmers for Stillwater twine Wednesday.

T. G. Rome, Ole Skreland and Gustav Swanson, were up here Wednesday, and signed contract and bonds for T. G. Rome as mail carrier on the Sunbeam route for four years.

The first half of real estate taxes are due and payable on June 1st, There is 10 per cent penalty added to all real estate taxes if the first half of them are not paid on or before that date.

The Hanson and Barzen Elevator Co. at Goodridge have plenty of first class seed flax for sale. They also have a large stock of flour and feed, and seed corn, which "Pete" sells under a guarantee.

Clay county went dry last Monday, by the county option route, Polk county votes on it next Monday, while Red Lake county don't propose to vote on it at all, but to sit back, smile and take in the coin.

The heavy rain storm that we had last Saturday makes it a difficult matter for the Electric Line to haul freight cars this week, They have already started to surface the track with gravel, and will have it in first class condition soon.

We have talked with quite a number of farmers the past week who are strong temperance men, who never touch liquor of any kind, and yet they are not in favor of voting out license in this county, at the present time. They look at the matter from a business stand point.

We understand that some of the farmers who made application to get realestate loans through the Singers have been delayed about getting their money. When you desire to get a realestate loan go to a bank and do your business, instead of trying to do it through a grocery store.

Some complaint is being made by the patrons of the Highlanding creamery about the difficulty they have in getting across the river. The river has been very high the past week, which has made matters worse. A bridge across that river at Highlanding is one of the present needs of this part of Pennington county.

The railroad companies are in favor of option in about half of the counties, as it increases travel on their lines. Of course the Thief River Falls people would not go down to Red Lake Falls to get a drink, but they would naturally have more business to attend to down there, that they would have to go down and give their personal attention to, than they do now.

It does seem as if that right of way to the Electric Line into Thief River Falls, should be settled so they could get to run their trains into town. If they are compelled to vacate Davis Avenue, which they have been ordered to do by the court, their Thief River Falls depot will be so far from the business part of the city, that it will compel passengers who are not good walkers to hire a conveyance to take them into the city.

Thief River Falls

Our County Seat have taken definite action to have the streets of that city paved this summer.

This is only another move toward the advancement of one of the fastest growing cities of northern Minnesota. The farmers of Pennington county take pride in the rapid growth of their county seat, for they are contributing their share toward the building up of what is disdained to be one of the richest counties in Minnesota. There is every thing here to make it a prosperous and a rich county, as we have the soil that can and will produce the crops, the true basis of all wealth.

Do not let us at this time take a backward step, but let us unite as farmers and business men to see to it that we are not handed that county option package on June 14th, by temperance fanatics who imagine that they are saving the country. Wait until we see how this law works in dry counties first, and profit by their experience, instead of taking a radical step in the dark at this time, without looking to see where you are going to land.

County Option Snags

St. Paul, May..It is learned from a reliable source that the Anti-Saloon league is strongly opposed to forcing county option elections in certain counties in this state. In fact, officials find there are entirely too many elections now on their hands.

After the passage of the county option law, the league, it is admitted, forced elections in counties where there was no opposition in order to obtain campaign material to be used in counties where a fight was certain. Now, however, officials are worried. While the real reason is not admitted, it is known that the Anti-Saloon league does not want prohibition too soon, because it will leave nothing else to agitate, and its activities would come to a close. This is an admission that the leaders of the league are working for profit and not for the interests of those they are enabled to enroll under the "reform" banner. It is an undeniable fact that sentiment against county option is growing and this is especially true in the counties where the voters are given an opportunity to study the measure before being called upon to cast their vote in a special election which prohibitionists do not deny, is called for the sole purpose of forcing a county dry.

HOT AIR.

Andrew Trovaton and his family returned from their extended visit east last Saturday, and we suppose Mr. Trovaton will take an active interest in the campaign for county option, but we must not now consider Andrew as one of the interested farmers of Pennington county, but as a member of an organized band of politicians who are not talking and campaigning through the country for their health, but for what there is "in it for them." Consider this question from your own interest my brother farmers, and not from "hot air" shot into you by a man paid to travel around the country to do it.

Doing His Best.

Teacher—Is there no way I can induce you, Johnny, to take some interest in your algebra? Johnny—Certainly, Miss Jinks. In fact, I do take an interest, but somehow I don't seem to be able to get hold of the principle.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

FURNISHED LIQUOR TO INDIANS.

Andrew Helseth was arrested this morning by Deputy Sheriff Frank McGinty for furnishing liquor to Indians. A number of Indians arrived in this city Wednesday and County Attorney H. O. Kjomme received word from the place that they came from the place that they came to be on the lookout for people furnishing them with liquor. He notified the sheriff and a close watch was kept over them during their stay in the city. Deputy Sheriff McGinty detected Helseth in the act of giving some liquor to an Indian named Amos Big Bird and at once placed him under arrest. This is a serious offense and is punishable by a term in the state prison.—T. R. Falls Times.

THE TOWN OF MAYFIELD'S SIDE.

Gunder Asbjornson, chairman, of Mayfield feels justly indignant over the statements published by Abel Bost last week, regarding the labor he done for the LaCountes last winter, for the township, during the enforced absence of Joe. Mr. Asbjornson says, that the township expended about one hundred dollars out of their poor fund for the La Countes last winter, and that they even provided feed for their chickens, (which of course they did not have to do.) Mr Asbjornson says, that the town of Mayfield is ready and willing to pay Mr. Bost for all the services he rendered to the LaCountes, ordered by the township, but that he as chairman, cannot pay only just bills. Mr. Asbjornson is not acting an an individual in this matter, but as the chairman of Mayfield, and the representative of the tax payers, and those best acquainted with him have confidence that he has done full justice in this case.

His Own Windows.

A woman had been arrested for throwing stones through the windows of a building on Pacific avenue and her lawyer, "Indignation" Jones, had applied to Judge Goggin for a writ of habeas corpus.

After the facts had been recited without comment, Judge Goggin exclaimed:

"Hold on there. What number did you say that was?"

"Number 16."

"That's my property. I'll pay the fine myself, but don't break the windows again."

THE PROFESSOR'S STATEMENT.

Prof. Aug. F. W. Schmitz, Thomas, Okla., writes: "I was troubled with Backache for about twenty-five years. When told I had Bright's Disease in its last stages, I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. After using two boxes I was somewhat relieved and I stopped the treatment. In the spring of the next year I had another attack. I went for Dodd's Kidney Pills and they relieved me again. I used three boxes. That is now three years ago and my Backache has not returned in its severity, and by using another two boxes a little later on, the pain left altogether and I have had no trouble since. You may use my statement. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills when and wherever I can." Dodd's Kidney Pills, 50c. per box at your dealer or Dodd's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

A Quibble.

John B. Stanchfield, the lawyer, was discussing in an interview in New York the case of his client, Harry Thaw.

"But objections like that," said Mr. Stanchfield, "are mere quibbles. They have no real bearing on the case. Like the farmer's wife, they only confuse and embroil matters.

"A sickly farmer said to his husky wife one spring morning:

"'I see by the papers that a woman down Paint Rock way goes out every morning and hoes with her husband.'

"'Well, what of it?' the wife answered. 'She could do it easily enough if he's as thin as you are. I've often thought of using you to peel potatoes with.'"

Irish Speed.

In Judge McKinley's court they were examining talesmen for the trial of a boy, who had killed his father. The lawyers dwelt mostly on the facts of marriage, paternity and whether there had been insanity in the families of the men under examination.

When they got around to Michael McCarthy the wait had been long and he proceeded to whip up.

Asked the first question he galloped away with this:

"My name is Michael McCarthy and I live at 1336 Fulton street and I am thirty-five years old and I am married and have one child and I have never had any insanity in the family and if I had I wouldn't be fool enough to tell you."

INSOMNIA

Leads to Madness, if Not Remedied.

"Experiments satisfied me, some 5 years ago," writes a Topeka woman, "that coffee was the direct cause of the insomnia from which I suffered terribly, as well as extreme nervousness and acute dyspepsia.

"I had been a coffee drinker since childhood, and did not like to think that the beverage was doing me all this harm. But it was, and the time came when I had to face the fact, and protect myself. I therefore gave up coffee abruptly and absolutely, and adopted Postum for my hot drink at meals.

"I began to note improvement in my condition very soon after I took on Postum. The change proceeded gradually, but surely, and it was a matter of only a few weeks before I found myself entirely relieved—the nervousness passed away, my digestive apparatus was restored to normal efficiency, and I began to sleep restfully and peacefully.

"These happy conditions have continued during all of the 5 years, and I am safe in saying that I owe them entirely to Postum, for when I began to drink it I ceased to use medicines."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

U. S. NOTE TO GERMANY IS FIRM; VIOLATION OF AMERICAN RIGHTS ON HIGH SEAS MUST BE STOPPED

Communication Insists Upon Absolute Cessation of Submarine Warfare on Ships Carrying Non-Combatants—America Will Not Omit Any Act Necessary to Perform Sacred Duty.

Washington, May 15.—The United States government has called the German government to account for violation of American rights on the high seas, culminating in the sinking of the Lusitania with the loss of more than 100 American lives.

President Wilson's note asks that Germany give adequate assurance that it will discontinue submarine operations endangering the lives of non-combatants.

AMERICANS WILL PERFORM SACRED DUTY.

The communication, which was cabled to Berlin over the signature of Secretary Bryan, concludes with this significant sentence: "The Imperial German government will not expect the government of the United States to omit any word or act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment."

GERMANY EXPECTED TO DISAVOW ACTS.

The note expresses the confident expectation of the United States that Germany will disavow the acts of which this government complains, and that it will make "reparation, so far as reparation is possible, for injuries which are without measure."

Germany is asked to take immediate steps to prevent the recurrence of "anything so obviously subversive of the principles of warfare for which the Imperial German government in the past so wisely and so firmly contended."

WILSON'S TERMS ARE UNMISTAKABLE.

President Wilson's communication, though setting forth in unmistakable terms the firm determination of the United States to obtain protection for its citizens in the exercise of rights guaranteed by international law, is phrased in exceedingly courteous language.

Text Made Public.

The text of the note made public by the state department, is, in part, as follows:

"Department of State, Washington.

"The secretary of state to the American ambassador at Berlin.

"Please call on the minister of foreign affairs and after reading to him this communication leave with him a copy.

"In view of recent acts of the German authorities in violation of American rights on the high seas, which culminated in the torpedoing and sinking the British steamer Lusitania on May 7, 1915, by which over 100 American citizens lost their lives, it is clearly wise and desirable that the government of the United States and the Imperial German government should come to a clear and full understanding as to the grave situation which has resulted.

"The sinking of the British passenger steamer Falaba by a German submarine on March 28, through which Leon C. Thresher, an American citizen, was drowned; the attack on April 28 on the American vessel Cushing by a German aeroplane; the torpedoing on May 1 of the American vessel Gulflight by a German submarine, as a result of which two or more American citizens met their death, and, finally, the torpedoing and sinking of the Lusitania, constitute a series of events which the government of the United States has observed with growing concern, distress and amazement.

Sanctioned by Germany?

"Recalling the humane and enlightened attitude hitherto assumed by the Imperial German government in matters of international right and particularly with regard to the freedom of the seas; having learned to recognize the German views and the German influence in the field of international obligation as always engaged upon the side of justice and humanity; and having understood the instructions of the Imperial German government to its naval commanders to be upon the same plane of humane action prescribed by the naval codes of other nations, the government of the United States was loath to believe—it cannot now bring itself to believe—that these acts, so absolutely contrary to the rules, the practices, and the spirit of modern warfare could have the countenance or sanction of that great government. It feels it to be its duty, therefore, to address the Imperial German government concerning them with the utmost frankness and in the earnest hope that it is not mistaken in expecting action on the part of the Imperial German government which will correct the unfortunate impressions which have been created and vindicate once more the position of that government with regard to the sacred freedom of the seas.

Strict Accountability Held.

"The government of the United States has been apprised that the Imperial German government considered themselves to be obliged by the extraordinary circumstances of the present war and the measures adopted by their adversaries in seeking to cut Germany off from all commerce, to adopt methods of retaliation which go much beyond the ordinary methods of warfare at sea, in the proclamation of a war zone from which they have warned neutral ships to keep away. This government has already taken occasion to inform the Imperial German government that it cannot admit the adoption of such measures or such a warning of danger to operate as in any degree an abbreviation of the rights of American ship-masters or of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality; and that it must hold the imperial government to a strict accountability for any infringement of these rights, intentional or incidental. It does not understand the Imperial German government to question those rights. It assumes, on the contrary, that the imperial government accepts, as of course, the rule that the lives of non-combatants, whether they be of neutral citizenship or citizens of one of the nations at war, cannot lawfully or rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unarmed merchantman, and recognize also, as all other nations do, the obligation to take the usual precaution of visit and search to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact of belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag.

Submarines Impracticable.

"The government of the United States, therefore, desires to call the attention of the Imperial German government with the utmost earnestness to the fact that the objection to their present method of attack against the trade of their enemies lies in the practical impossibility of employing submarines in the destruction of commerce without disregarding those rules of fairness, reason, justice and humanity, which all modern opinion regards as imperative. It is practically impossible for the officers of a submarine to visit a merchantman at sea and examine her papers and cargo.

Sustains American Rights.

"American citizens act within their indisputable rights in taking their ships and in traveling wherever their legitimate business calls them upon the high seas and exercise those rights in what should be the well justified confidence that their lives will not be endangered by acts done in clear violation of universally acknowledged international obligation, and certainly in the confidence that their own government will sustain them in the exercise of their rights.

"The government and people of the United States look to the Imperial German government for just, prompt and enlightened action in this vital matter with the greater confidence because the United States and Germany are bound together not only by special ties of friendship, but also by the explicit stipulations of the treaty of 1828 between the United States and the Kingdom of Prussia.

U. S. Ready to Act.

"Expressions of regret and offers of reparation in case of the destruction of neutral ships sunk by mistake, while they may satisfy international obligations if no loss of life results, cannot justify or excuse a practice, the natural and necessary effect of which is to subject neutral nations and neutral persons to new and immeasurable risks.

"The Imperial German government will not expect the government of the United States to omit any word or any act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment.—Bryan."

KAISER TO OFFER TO STOP ATTACKS

TEXT OF REPLY TO AMERICAN NOTE ANTICIPATED BY OFFICIAL WASHINGTON.

ARBITRATION SEEMS LIKELY

Teuton Government Will Seek Unrestricted Passage of Foodstuffs to Civilians, is Belief—No Word from Gerard.

Washington, May 18.—Without word from Ambassador Gerard as to the attitude of the German government toward the recent American note, official Washington attachs much significance to the intimations in diplomatic quarters here friendly to Germany, that the latter country in its reply might offer to suspend attacks without warning on merchant ships, while the United States renewed its informal proposals for the unrestricted passage of foodstuffs to civilians in Germany.

It was pointed out by well-informed European diplomats that an offer of arbitration or settlement by diplomacy of the questions at issue, would most certainly be made by Germany, with an agreement to abandon submarine warfare while the discussion was in progress.

Would Ship Foodstuffs.

Officials have been reticent about discussing the idea of arbitration or the proposal with reference to foodstuffs, but it was indicated that the situation had progressed to the point where the United States would not be likely to be satisfied with any conditional acquiescence in the American position.

It was intimated that if Germany accepted the American point of view, the natural tendency of the United States of its own initiative would be strongly to press its contention on the right to ship foodstuffs to Germany, a matter still under diplomatic discussion.

There is a likelihood, too, that some understanding might be reached through the medium of the American government whereby Germany could be definitely assured that no merchant ships leaving the United States would be armed, making it possible for submarine commanders to exercise the right of visit and search with impunity.

Must Pay for Neutral Goods.

Whether Great Britain would consent to disarm all her merchant vessels carrying contraband is a matter of conjecture. Britain has insisted during the present war and also maintained with much vigor in her correspondence with Russia during the Russo-Japanese war, that a prize should be sunk in case of military necessity. This position has been taken by the United States in its naval code of instructions on the theory that destruction of neutral goods of non-contraband character aboard belligerent merchantmen would require the payment of heavy damages.

That the question of permitting Americans to travel on armed merchantmen may be shortly taken under consideration is intimated in well informed quarters. On the other hand, some officials believe there will be little necessity for this, as Great Britain already has informally agreed not to arm her vessels plying between British and American ports.

What is regarded as one of the hopeful signs in the general situation, is the confidence reflected in official and diplomatic quarters that Germany will meet the United States at least half way and certainly will suspend for the time being, her submarine attacks without warning during the diplomatic correspondence.

NATION BACKS PRESIDENT.

Cleveland, May 17.—Delegates to the World Court congress read President Wilson's note to Germany with grave concern. All agreed that, whatever contingency arises, the government will receive the firm support of the nation.

"The American public will stand back of the government in any exigency which arises," said John Hays Hammond, chairman of the congress.

GERMAN EMBASSY SILENT; WILSON'S COURSE PRAISED

Washington, May 17.—The note sent to Germany by the United States government as a sequel to the Lusitania disaster was delayed in transmission because of congested cables.

Secretary Bryan received a message from Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page at Rome saying the note, which had been addressed to the American embassy there to be forwarded by telegraph, had arrived at 2 p. m. and that in an hour and forty minutes it had been copied and relayed to Berlin by telegraph, via Vienna.

Reply Expected in Week.

It will take a week at least for the answer from Germany to the American note to be prepared and received here, in the opinion of diplomatists and officials.

The note is in English, and in all probability it will not be necessary to have it translated before being formally considered. When the German government completes its reply, it will be handed by the foreign minister to Ambassador Gerard and will then be translated from the German before being transmitted to the United States.

Official Washington is talking of little else than the note. The practically unanimous approval given it in the editorial comment of the American press, the statements of governors, senators, and members of the house, was re-enforced by an incessant stream of messages from persons of every political party and from a variety of organizations and associations. President Wilson told his callers he was deeply grateful and appreciated the patriotic support that was being given him on every side.

Silence at German Embassy.

In diplomatic quarters there was wide discussion of the note to Germany. Among representatives of the allied powers the document was approved as well as by neutral envoys, many of whom obtained copies from the state department. The German embassy—the one place where it was natural to look for some inkling of intimation of what Germany's position would be—remained silent.

The German ambassador told inquirers later that he knew absolutely nothing of the position of his government, because he had received no communication and naturally would not until the note itself was presented. He declined to express himself for publication. Some of his friends said later the ambassador was pleased with the friendly tone of the note and was himself hopeful and confident that the questions in dispute could be satisfactorily settled through diplomacy.

Delay in Reply Improbable.

In all quarters it was believed Germany would not delay her reply, but high officials of the German government would take it under consideration when it arrived in Berlin. The belief was held by well informed European diplomats that Germany would consider carefully the military advantages of continued attack on enemy merchant ships and probably would consent to abandon them only if food supply was in some way guaranteed, as German confidence is strong that the allies can be kept at bay in the eastern and western theaters of war indefinitely. The effect on Germany's position in the possible entry of Italy into the war is another factor which trained diplomats think will be taken into consideration by Germany in determining whether she will abandon her powerful weapon of attack—the submarine—to destroy enemy commerce.

The fact that Germany once before had agreed to give up her submarine warfare if she could obtain the unrestricted passage of foodstuffs and raw materials to her civilian population was commented upon by many diplomats as making it not difficult for her to comply with the American position and satisfy national pride in Germany.

U. S. Expects Prompt Action.

While the United States is expecting prompt action from Germany in guaranteeing there will be no repetition of such a tragedy as sinking the Lusitania, diplomatic construction of the vital issues raised on points of maritime law probably would not be rejected by the American government, if, as many diplomatists think, Germany would of her own initiative suspend all submarine attacks on merchantmen even of belligerent nationality, while notes were being exchanged.

Wilson's Personal Hopes.

Firstly, the President personally hopes that the German government is as anxious as is the United States to maintain friendly relations.

Secondly, and, despite the many stories current, this is the exact truth—the administration has not decided just what the next step must be, should Germany defy this country.

The President is considering this question. He leans toward the suggestion that to break diplomatic relations would be the most emphatic way of convincing Germany that he is in earnest. He has been told, however, by men who should know, that under present conditions, with a world at war, such a breaking must be considered a prelude to hostilities and that if he goes so far he might as well go "the limit" and accompany the break with a call for a special session of congress to authorize the use of the army and navy.

Friends of Secretary Bryan openly declared that he has aged ten years in the last week.

Foodless Army Approaches U. S.

Winnipeg, May 17.—Split into two divisions five miles apart, without food but with a grim determination to cross the border into the United States, an army of 1,000 unemployed men, mostly Austrians, who left Winnipeg, is marching south. The men, who will reach the border shortly, are without leaders and most of them cannot speak English. They have refused to turn back, as advised by the Canadian constabulary, and they say they will cross the border.

Second U. S. Cruiser To Mexico.

Washington, May 17.—The United States cruiser New Orleans at Manzanillo was under orders to sail from there to Guaymas, Mexico, where she will join the cruiser Raleigh in extending aid if necessary to the American colony in the Yaqui valley, attacked by Indians. Orders to the New Orleans were dispatched by Secretary Daniels following receipt of unofficial advices which said that several Americans had been killed in the Yaqui valley.

A cracker that has kept fresh since the battle of Gettysburg is in the possession of T. F. Perkins of Hartsville, Tenn., a Confederate soldier. It is browned by its 52 years of age and by its days of exposure on the battlefield.

The old cracker, a hunk of flour and water, is two inches square and an inch thick and is a perfect specimen of Confederate army hardtack. It was picked up on the field on July 3, 1863, by Rounds Saunders, one of Jeb Stuart's cavalrymen, and sent to Miss Liela Roberta Perkins of Bedford City, Va. She is now Mrs. A. J. Only 160 Men and 20 Officers Are Reported Saved—Is Fourth Allied Battleship Destroyed By Moslems.

London, May 14.—The British battleship Goliath has been torpedoed in the Dardanelles with a los of 500 lives, acording to an official announcement from the admiralty, made by Winston Churchill in the House of Commons.

The British submarine E-14, Churchill announced, reported that it sank two Turkish gunboats and a large transport in an engagement inside the strait. The loss of life aboard the Turkish ships was not estimated.

The Goliath is the third British battleship known to have been sunk in the Dardenelles operations. On March 18 the British battleships Ocean and Irrisistible and the French battleship Bouvet were sunk in an engagement inside the strait.

BREAK GERMAN LINE 2 MILES

British Join French Near Arras and Gain Marked Successes Against Teutons.

London, May 17.—The southern end of the British line, which extends from above Ypres in Flanders to below La Bassee, joining the French front north of Arras, has been engaged in heavy fighting and the British troops have, according to official statements from both British and French war offices, gained marked successes against the Germans, whose line has been broken over the greater part of a two-mile front.

Further north, at Steenstrate, the Belgian allies have checked several German counter attacks and have held previous gains, notwithstanding the most violent effort of the Germans to win back the position.

North of Arras the French troops have been carrying out a series of actions with the object of strengthening their front, while in Champagne the French claim to have almost completely destroyed eight German companies, which charged the first line of French trenches after the explosion of a mine.

Police Chief Acquitted.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 17.—Charles E. Sensational charges made against them were declared by the defense to be part of a plot against Sebastian, who was nominated for mayor while the trial was in progress.

Airship Returns to Sea.

London, May 17.—A Dover dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says a hostile aircraft appeared to be approaching the harbor at 2:30 o'clock in the morning, but returned to sea. Several minor explosions were heard and all the electric lights in the town were extinguished.

Transylvania Reaches War Zone.

New York, May 17.—The Anchor liner Transylvania, carrying 876 passengers, bound for Liverpool and Glasgow, was believed in steamship circles to be well within the war zone.

PARIS PAPER LAUDS WILSON.

Paris, May 17.—The Temps, discussing a cabled forecast of the American note to Germany, says that it is firm in tone and leaves no doubt of the attitude of the United States. "The president, without mental reservation, has responded to the appeal of his conscience and the voice of his people," the Temps continues. Comment of many other papers was extremely laudatory of Wilson.

SUBMARINE MAKES REPORT

CRAFT WHICH SUNK LUSITANIA GIVES ACCOUNT.

Says Steamer Showed No Flag—Fired One Torpedo Which Hit Starboard Side of Vessel.

Berlin, via Amsterdam to London, May 17.—From the report received from the submarine which sank the Cunard line steamer Lusitania, the following official version of the incident is published by the admiralty staff under the signature of Admiral Behncke:

"The submarine sighted the steamer, which showed no flag at 2:20 o'clock, central European time afternoon, on the southeast coast of Ireland, in fine, clear weather.

"At 3:10 o'clock one torpedo was fired at he Lusitania which hit her starboard side below the captain's bridge. The detonation of the torpedo was followed immediately by a further explosion of extremely strong effect. The ship quickly listed to starboard and began to sink.

"The second explosion must be traced back to the ignition of quantities of ammunition inside the ship."

PUBLIC IS BEHIND WILSON

Feeling Grows That Germany Will Offer to Arbitrate Points of Difference.

Washington, May 17.—There is a growing feeling that Germany will offer to arbitrate the points of difference between herself and this country. The events of the past three days, coming in rapid succession, intimate clearly that the Imperial German government is leaving no stone unturned to create a good impression in America and to lessen the strain existing here as much as possible.

The announcement of the withdrawal of Dr. Dernburg is the strongest evidence of this that could be given. If she does offer to arbitrate, speculation in Washington is tense relative to what course the American government will take.

There is no question but the American public has taken the President's letter at its face value. Those close to the President say he meant just what he said in his note to Germany. The public has rallied behind him because the firmness of the note expressed the American consciousness of what should be done.

Navy League Visits Atlantic Fleet.

New York, May 17.—Officers and members of the navy league, accompanied by their wives and daughters, in all numbering nearly 4,000, visited the Atlantic fleet here. Admiral Fletcher received the guests aboard his flagship, the Wyoming, and turned over to them the freedom of the battleship.

Revolutionary Forces Win.

Lisbon, via Paris, May 17.—The success of the revolutionary forces has been confirmed. The new government, which will be presided over by Joa Chagas, was proclaimed from the windows of the city hall and the announcement was received with enthusiastic manifestations.

The military governor of Lisbon immediately posted throughout the city proclamations praising the courage of the citizens and calling upon civilians to deliver up all arms at the arsenal under pain of arrest

GERMANY ADMITS LOSSES IN FRANCE

ALLIES OPEN GAP, IS REPORT

Declare Invaders Are Driven Back—Teuton Submarine Believed Sunk —1,500,000 Germanic Allies Reported Near Przemysl.

London, May 15.—For the first time in the past six months, the authors of the German and French official announcements on the progress of hostilities find themselves in agreement.

The German communication admits the truth of the more important of the statements made by General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief as to the great sucesses won by the French between La Bassee and Arras.

If this attack can be pushed home the consequences will be still more marked, in the opinion of British military commentators, who are asserting that a little further advance by the French will open a conspicuous gap in the German line, a development which will necessitate the falling back of the Germans on a wide front.

Steamer Sinks Submarine?

The captain of the steamer Collairnie, which put in at Blyth, England, reported his ship had struck a submerged obstacle in the North sea, which apparently was a submarine, and that he believed the submarine had been sunk.

A Dutch trawler reported it had been attacked in the North sea by a German aeroplane while flying the Dutch flag. Three bombs were dropped, but the trawler was uninjured.

The great battle now in progress in northern France is characterized in a London dispatch as one of unbelievable fury. It is said both sides have been exhausted by the struggle, but that the allies are holding firmly to the positions in which they are now established.

1,500,000 Near Przemysl.

In the eastern field the Germanic forces in Galicia, who are said to number 1,500,000 men, are reported to be within 20 miles of Przemysl. The Russians would appear to be developing counterstrokes both on the West Galician front and in Bukowina and they claim initial successes, but military men here are careful of committing themselves on the outcome of these activities pending further developments.

The hint made by Lord Haldane of the possibility of conscription has been interpreted in some quarters as meaning there is now less confidence that the war will be over by fall and that the authorities are making their dispositions in case another winter campaign is necessary.

Girl Killed by Skidding Auto.

Hope, N. D., May 17.—Miss Laura Johnson, formerly of Crookston, was killed in an automobile accident near this city. The girl driving alone sent her car through muddy roads, the machine skidding and turning turtle. She was pinioned under the machine and strangled, her dead body being found several hours afterwards. Her remains will be taken to Twin Valley, Minn., for burial.

Passes Lusitania Wreck.

New York, May 17.—The steamship St. Paul of the American line has arrived here from Liverpool with 217 cabin and 106 steerage passengers.

Captain Passow reported passing over the scene of the Lusitania disaster off the Irish coast on May 9 and sighting more than a dozen bodies, some of which were on life rafts. The St. Paul did not stop.

The St. Paul brought the body of Captain Alfred Gunter of the American steamer Gulflight, which was torpedoed by a German submarine.

STATE BREVITIES

Virginia.—Jack Rose, aged 30 and single, was killed in Alpena underground mine. While working on the tracks an engine passed over his body.

Chatfield.—The Chatfield high school will graduate 27, the largest class in its history, on Friday, June 4. Professor A. E. Jenks of the University of Minnesota will deliver the commencement address. Rev. E. C. Teachout will preach the baccalaureate sermon on May 29.

Northfield.—St. Olaf college will hold its forty-first commencement the first week in June. The graduation exercises have been placed at an earlier date than first announced, in order not to interfere with the opening of the annual meeting of the United Norwegian Lutheran church on June 9.

St. Paul.—Carrying a rifle and cartridges, with a full change of clothing and mementoes of home, packed in a grip, Irving Hendrickson, the 15-year-old son of Andrew Hendrickson, a farmer living eight miles from Darlington, Wis., was found wandering about the Union depot.

Blue Earth.—The city council voted to have 12 additional blocks paved this year, making a total of 17 blocks. Main street from the North Western tracks to Twelfth street on the south will be paved, as also will Sixth street from Main to the union station. Creosote blocks are being used and the work is well under way.

Winona.—A 25 per cent increase in the corn acreage in southern Minnesota and western Wisconsin is predicted by experts here. Large tracts of land heretofore given over to barley are to be used for corn, according to S. L. Wright of the International Harvester company, who is in close touch with agricultural conditions.

Luverne.—The Mounds, three miles north of this city, the most picturesque and popular place for picnics for pleasure seekers from this and surrounding counties, has been closed to the public by order of the owners. The reason for this action is alleged misconduct on the part of picnickers in cutting wire fences and breaking down fence posts.

Winona.—The village of Independence on the Green Bay railway in Wisconsin is taking on city airs. Arrangements are being made for paving the two main blocks on the chief business street. The contract has been awarded for the construction of a $35,000 school, and a $15,000 parsonage is being erected in connection with the Catholic church there.

St. Cloud.—Stringent laws prohibiting Gypsies from loitering at ease in the state were recommended by the grand jury which has just adjourned. The jury also recommended the enforcement of laws protecting the public highways, prohibiting road auto races, and commended the county officials and the officials of the reformatory on the co-operation in the investigations conducted.

Mankato.—The Hubbard Milling company is installing additional machinery, so as to increase the output of rye flour from 75 barrels to 300 barrels a day. The output of white flour is about 2,200 barrels a day. Four additional large steel grain tanks are also being erected which will bring the entire storage capacity of the elevator and tanks of the mill to about 600,000 bushels.

Winona.—Almost in the identical spot where an unknown man was killed two weeks ago in exactly the same way, Ralph Perkins, 19 years old, stepped out of the way of a freight train and into the path of a passenger train. He was thrown 50 feet and instantly killed. The accident took place at Reed's Landing, on the Milwaukee line. Perkins was returning from a fishing trip.

Pelican Rapids.—University week here last year was such a success that it will be produced again the first week in June, among attaches of the state university to take part will be D. F. Swenson, N. E. Chapman, G. Bothne, S. F. Patterson, B. G. Pittinger, A. D. Wilson, James W. Cool, H. A. Erickson, Mmes. Hazel C. Cavanor, Neta Schumann, Hermonine Peterson and Harriet Hetland.

Hibbing.—The fact that her attorneys had informed her she did not have grounds for a divorce from her husband, Ernest Carlson, is believed to have caused Mrs. Hannah Carlson, aged 35, to kill herself here. She charged her husband with cruelty in a complaint filed in district court. In his answer the husband made sensational charges against her. The charges were corroborated by affidavits of three policemen.

Stillwater.—Prisoners at the Stillwater penitentiary during the seven months ending March 31 sent to relatives from their earnings $11,294, spent $3,257 for dental work, and $2,198 for newspapers and magazines. This report was received by board of control from Warden C. S. Reed. During the same period prisoners employed in the twine plant earned for themselves by working overtime $16,742, $4,591 more than for a year ago.

Hastings.—In the case of Mrs. Martha Wille of St. Paul vs. Theodore A. Wille of Inver Grove, an action for absolute divorce, the issue involved being statutory as a counter claim brought by the defendant, the jury after being out 20 hours, returned a verdict yesterday of guilty.

St. Cloud.—Peter Bostrum, employed by the Central Minnesota Granite company, will probably die as the result of injuries received when his clothing caught in a shaft he was adjusting. His body was whirled through the air, striking the ceiling.

WOOL GROWING IN CANADA A SUCCESS

This By-Product of the Farm Will Make Many Western Canada Farmers Rich.

Alberta wool growers are looking for 25 cent wool this year. That is the assertion made by a prominent sheepman of the Grassy Lake district. "It is quite within the pale of possibility that we will receive that figure from our wool this summer," said he, "and I would not be surprised to see some get more than that.

"The war has caused a great demand to be made on the woolen mills, and they have got to have the raw material."

The present season has been most propitious for the growing of wool, and the growers expect to reap a big harvest of a splendid quality. The winter has been very even, and the sheep are doing well on the ranges.

No special breed of sheep is kept on Western Canada farms, and all seem to do well. The advice of those interested in the welfare of the farmers of Western Canada, advise all who can at all do so to enter upon the raising of sheep. They have proved most profitable to those who go into that industry on a scale commensurate with their means, and their farm area.

The climate is perfectly adapted to the raising of sheep, they are easily kept, and as pointed out, there is good money to be made out of them.—Advertisement.

What Causes Tuberculosis.

Dr. John North of Toledo, O., is working on the theory that tuberculosis may be due to a lack of lime in the system, as he says that while tubercular germs are everywhere, they only thrive in ripe soil and just what is lacking in persons subject to tubercular trouble gives food for thought.

He says that there is less tuberculosis among people living in arid regions, and plants in such places have more lime in their composition than those growing in humid regions.

Sick Women Made Well

Reliable evidence is abundant that women are constantly being restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The many testimonial letters tnat we are continually publishing in the newspapers—hundreds of them—are all genuine, true and unsolicited expressions of heartfelt gratitude for the freedom from suffering that has come to these women solely through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Money could not buy nor any kind of influence obtain such recommendations; you may depend upon it that any testimonial we publish is honest and true—if you have any doubt of this write to the women whose true names and addresses are always given, and learn for yourself.

Read this one from Mrs. Waters:

Camden, N.J.—"I was sick for two years with nervous spells, and my kidneys were affected. I had a doctor all the time and used a galvanic battery, but nothing did me any good. I was not able to go to bed, but spent my time on a couch or in a sleeping-chair, and soon became almost a skeleton. Finally my doctor went away for his health, and my husband heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got me some. In two months I got relief and now I am like a new woman and am at my usual weight. I recommend your medicine to every one and so does my husband."—Mrs. Tillie Waters, 530 Mechanic Street, Camden, N.J.

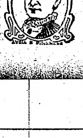
From Hanover, Penn.

Hanover, Pa.—"I was a very weak woman and suffered from bearing down pains and backache. I had been married over four years and had no children. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved an excellent remedy for it made me a well woman. After taking a few bottles my pains disappeared, and we now have one of the finest boy babies you ever saw."—Mrs. C. A. Rickrode, R.F.D., No. 5, Hanover, Pa.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman continue to suffer without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.



THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

We have no desire or intention of entering into personsalties or abuse of those advocating county option. The option advocates themselves are doing more or less of this kind of thing, but it may be attributed to the fact that this is practically the only kind of argument they have to put up. Appeal to prejudice are usually substituted where appeals reason are lacking.---Crookston Times.

The same thing might be said of the county option advocates of this county. As soon as thoy lay prejudice and abuse aside they have not one single argument in favor of voting out license in Pennington county, at this time.

COUNTY OPTION VERSUS TEMPERANCE.

Bismark is the capital of North Dakota. It has a population of about 6,000. This is a little more than half the population of Crookston. Bismark is supposed to be in "dry" territory. It is the capital of a "dry" state.

In an affidavit just made public, President Watkins, of the State Law Enforcement League swears that during the three months ending the 12th of the present month, there was shipped into Bismark from the mail order houses of the big cities, 3,404 cases of beer, or 67,696 quarts, which cost the people of that city at least $14,424. In addition there was shipped in 3,276 quarts of whiskey, which cost at least $5,000 more. Here is a total of $19,424 which was sent out of one small city in three months. These figures represent only the amounts shipped in by the railroads. It is fair to estimate that at least a fourth more was brought in in other ways. Here is a per capita consumption in a so-called "dry" community much larger than the per captia consumption of Crookston where the liquor traffic is licensed and regulated.

It is a fair showing of the conditions that would exist in this county should county option carry in the coming election.

If this kind of prohibition is any help to the cause of temperance or good morals, or to the business interests of the community, we fail to see it.—Crookston Times.

The above from the Times is a fair example of the conditions that would exist in this county, in the event that county option should carry. BUT THERE IS A DIFFERENCE! Viz, We can go down to RED LAKE FALLS and buy our whiskey.

We bitterly fought the division of this county from Red Lake county and we got defeated and Pennington county was established.

We accepted defeat with good grace, and are now in PENNINGTON COUNTY. NOW we are bitterly opposed to transferring the wealth of Pennington county to Red Lake county. You fellows, we mean YOU men like Thyaton, Mostue and P. O. Wold who favored county division, and got OFFICE, defeated the best interest of the tax payers and established Pennington county. Now you fellows loom up as GREAT REFORMERS, and want to call back the armies from the victorious fields that they have won, and make Pennington county a harbor for "blind pigs," a prosecutor of criminals, while Red Lake county can sit back and laugh at us, and take in the coin.

Criminal Libel

Ed. and George Singer, prominent residents of the Eleven Towns were in the city the latter part of last week. in company with their attorney P' J. Russel of Bemidji, consulting with the local authorities in regard to the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of Editor W. G. Hunt of the Sunbeam, on a charge of criminal libel. The warrant has not, as yet, been issued.---T. R. Falls News-Press.

Criminal libel of THE SUNBEAM against the Singers, "gee whiz!" We have only started to tell a few facts about them, and of course they call it criminal libel. Why we all know that about all of the poor fellows who are doing time in the Stillwater penitentiary will tell you that they got in there, by people lying about them. Any time the trio of Singers want us to prove any facts we publish about them, we are right on deck to deliver the goods. Again we say: Criminal libel! "gee whiz!"

The war situation in Europe has become so delicate that the ordinary country editor had better keep "hands off." However we will say stand by the President. He was elected by the democratic party, but you bet Wilson is O. K. He don't want war, but the old man will fight all right if he has to. Our honest opinion is, that if it comes to a "show down" and America has to declare war we may as well declare war against the whole bunch and "clean them up right" Can't do it hey? Well we think that we can. Why? Because both sides are getting their supplies from Uncle Sam to continue the war. Shut off the supplies for three months, and we have got them, We have just as much cause to declare war against England, as we have against Germany at the present time.

What After Safety?

Everybody from Dan to Beersheba is now thoroughly convinced that "safety first" is the proper thing. It may not always be possible to agree upon whose safety it shall be, but considered wholly in the abstract anybody caught putting anything ahead of safety in these enlightened days of peace and good will would have to dodge anathema the rest of his life.

Indeed, so amicably and universally settled is this problem of "safety first" that many are wondering if we shouldn't now stop talking about it and commence to consider what shall come after safety. Safety, although the first thing, is not the only thing. What shall we have for second? Any suggestion, however foolish, will be welcome.—Life.

THE LOCAL NEWS.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Gunder Stromme of Oklee, has been buying cattle in this locality this week.

Read the latest and up to date war news published on the inside pages of this issue.

Andrew Feland will get the greater part of his farm broken up and seeded to flax this year.

The Highlanding Cash Store has a large and well selected stock of summer goods.

Next Tuesday is the last day for the payment of the first half of realestate taxes to avoid the 10 per cent penalty.

Wheat and flax took another upward jump this week, and it will have to take an awful drop, if the farmers do not realize good prices this fall.

All of the farmers are busy breaking for flax by team power. The heavy rains has put the tractors out of business for the present.

We have egg cases at this office for any farmers who desire to ship their hen fruit to the big cities and get fancy cash prices for them.

We are now convinced that wheat will do well on mosskeg land after the sod is well rotted, as we have a field of mosskeg Marquis wheat that it would be hard to beat.

Ye editor was visiting among Kratka friends on Sunday last, and found quite a strong sentiment against county option in this county, as long as Red Lake county has licensed saloons.

The Highlanding creamery is doing a good business this year. The farmers should patronize their local creamery, instead of shipping their cream out of their home territory.

The farmers around Goodridge are endeavoring to get shares enough to build a farmers' elevator at that place. The farmers on the south side of the river will not take any active interest in it owing to that government fence, called Red Lake River.

If county option should carry in this county, and Red Lake county should want to consolidate the two counties, after about three years they could easily do it, as the little flag station on the Soo and Great Northern lines that used to be called the city of Thief River Falls would not be able to put up much opposition.

Ye editor has been busy breaking mosskeg for flax this week, and has not had much time to look up local news. When we started farming we adopted the motto of: "He that by the plow would thrive, himself must either hold or drive." As we have been both holding and driving, we hope to thrive by the production of a good crop of flax.

We have devoted some space to the explanation of county option this week, as we consider it a question of vital interest to the future welfare of Pennington county. We do not want to be understood as taking sides with the liquor dealers in general, but we think the tax paying liquor dealers of Pennington county have just as good a right to sell it as those of Red Lake county have. It is not a question of temperance v. s. intemperance, but it is a question of transferring the income of one county to another county.

Notwithstanding the large amount of hay that went to waste in this locality, by not being cut last year, some of the farmers are short of hay.

The Red Lake river is bank full and it seems to remain at about that stage, as the ditches make steady feeders for it, until all the water is drained out of the low lands.

The Expected Happened

As was expected county option won out in Polk county last Monday. Crookston have got what they justly deserved for opposing the division of that county, when they had the chance to set off the eastern end by the establishment of Columbia county.

There are located between Crookston and the eastern boundary of Polk county, six villages which have voted local option added to this is a well settled territory of farmers who favored the division of Polk county nearly unanimously, and they naturally improved their opportunity to take the cities of Crookston and East Grand Forks into the dry belt with them, to get even with them for opposing county division. Added to this was a disgustingly poorly managed campaign by those who favored the licensing of saloons in East Grand Forks and Crookston, by getting high priced professional speakers from outside the state of Minnesota to come up here and instruct the farmers how to vote. If the wets had not put up any campaign at all, they would not have been defeated as bad as they were last Monday.

PLANTED PIKE FRY.

150,000 PIKE PLACED IN RIVER ABOVE DAM THROUGH EFFORTS OF PRES. H. A. BRUMUND OF GUN CLUB,

With ordinary conditions existing, there should be a noticeable increase in the number of fish in the Red Lake and Thief rivers, due to the fact that on Monday evening, five cans of pike fry, containing 150,000 fish, were dumped into the river near the old boat landing. These fry were secured from the Bemidji hatchery through the efforts of H A. Brumund president of the gun club.

Bemidji sportsmen deserve considerable credit for their efforts to stock the lakes and streams of northern Minnesota. They recently took up a collection of $200 and built a hatchway at the dam across the Mississippi river about ten miles from Bemidji. The outfit used in equipping this hatchery was supplied by the state game and fish commission. It is estimated that about 300 cans of fry, or about 45,000,000 pike have been hatched there. These fry have been put in small lakes near Bemidji, Wilton, Bagley, Lengby, Fosston, Mentor, Gully, Trail, Clearbrook and Plummer in addition to those placed in the river at this place. The Bemidji hatchery is in charge of Frank S. Lycan and Game Warden Baily of Bemidji.—T. R. Falls News-Press.

The Shy Caterpillar.

The caterpillar, though a sociable creature, tries to keep out of everybody's way. Some species hide on the under surface of leaves; others on the stems or blades of grass, which serve them as food; others, again, build little nests for concealment or lie snugly hidden between the curled edges of leaves, which they draw close together until the opposite edges meet. The caterpillar is a sociable creature in his own family. He knows that there is safety in numbers, and you will find whole companies feeding side by side while keeping a sharp lookout for their bird enemies, but when a caterpillar is by himself he scarcely dares to move for fear of attracting attention. Even when he is obliged to change his skin he doesn't venture to leave his old coat lying around. The moment that he takes it off he eats it. The caterpillars that live in companies shed their skin boldly. Only the poor solitary fellows feel forced to swallow their old clothes.—London Mail.

Chivalry In Battle.

There was some chivalry in a naval fight in the good old days of Blake and Van Tromp, when sneaking submarines and barbarous torpedoes were unknown and naval commanders "courted war like a mistress."

When the Spanish Admiral Oquendo declined to come out of the shallow waters of Goodwin sands to fight because he had no powder Van Tromp said, "I have powder enough for both. I will give him half mine."

"It is not only powder I need, but masts for my ships," replied Oquendo. To which Van Tromp replied: "I have plenty of masts, a whole shipload of them, and you can have them if you will only come out and meet me."

The result justified the caution of Oquendo, for when the two fleets did meet the Spaniards were so terribly beaten by the Dutch that of sixty-seven ships only eighteen reached Dunkirk in safety.—Army and Navy Journal.

Scotland and Cakes.

Scotland came to be known centuries ago as the "Land o' Cakes" and as such has been celebrated in prose and poetry. One may yet in traveling through that northern land come upon country inns and herders' huts, see women who never attended a "cooking school" and who, over a peat fire in the great chimney place, a griddle swung by a crane over the slow coals, baking a cake more than a foot in diameter, savory and promising of a meal for the gods, and who, when the big cake is ready for the turning, will seize the griddle by the handle, give it a toss in the air and turn that cake with an art motion not to be seen in any other place on earth, the big, round slab turning a loop the loop and alighting with the other side down in the same place as before to the breadth of a slender stem of the heather.—Exchange.

Xerxes and the Hellespont.

Xerxes was furious when a storm wrecked his bridge of boats in the Hellespont from Abydos to Sestos. Not content with having the engineers decapitated, he ordered the infliction of 300 lashes upon the strait and the letting down into it of a set of fetters. Herodotus discredits the story that Xerxes also sent irons to brand the strait. But the historian does give the "non-Hellenic and blasphemous terms" which the scourgers were ordered to use: "Thou bitter water, this is the penalty which our master inflicts upon thee because thou has wronged him though he has never wronged thee. King Xerxes will cross thee, whether thou wilt or not, but thou deservest not sacrifice from any man, because thou art a treacherous river of salt water."

ITALY DECLARES WAR ON AUSTRIA; CLASH AT FRONT

Austro-Hungarian Ambassador at Rome Handed Passport--Alpine Chasseurs Drive Back Invading Austrian Patrol.

Amsterdam, May 24.—(Via London)—A dispatch from Vienna says the Italian ambassador to Austria, the Duke of Avarna, has presented to Baron von Burian, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, the following declaration of war:

"Conformably with the orders of His Majesty, the King, His August Sovereign, the undersigned ambassador of Italy has the honor to deliver to His Excellency, the Foreign Minister of Austria-Hungary, the following communication:

"Declaration has been made, as from the fourth of this month, to the Imperial and Royal Government of grave motives for which Italy, confident in her good right, proclaimed annulled and henceforth without effect, her treaty of alliance with Austria-Hungary which was violated by the Imperial Government and resumed her liberty of action in this respect.

"The government of the king, firmly resolved to provide by all means at its disposal for safeguarding Italian rights and interests, cannot fail in its duty to take against every existing and future menace measures which events impose upon it for the fulfillment of national aspirations.

"His Majesty, the King, declares that he considers himself in a state of war with Austria-Hungary.

"The undersigned has the honor to make known at the same time to His Excellency, the Foreign Minister, that passports will be placed this very day at the disposal of the Imperial and Royal Ambassador at Rome, and he will be obliged to His Excellency if he will kindly have his passport handed to him.

(Signed) "AVARNA."

TURKISH ENVOY LEAVES.

London, May 25.—Marquis di Garroni, Italian ambassador to Turkey, and his staff, are leaving Constantinople, according to an Athens dispatch to the Telegraph.

Rome, via Paris, May 24.—Lieutenant General Cadorna, chief of the Italian general staff, has left for the front.

MILLION MEN AT FRONT.

London, May 24.—"Austrian and Italian forces are facing each other, at some places only a half mile apart," says the Geneva correspondent of the Daily Express. "The forces at the front are estimated at a million men on each side.

"The Austro-German headquarters staff has arrived at Trent and the Austrians have mounted artillery in the Stelvio pass, which is still covered with snow. A continuous stream of troops from the Tyrol is arriving near the Swiss-Italian frontier."

London, May 24.—The authorities at Smyrna are taking stringent measures against Italian citizens there, says a Reuter dispatch from Athens. Their departure is forbidden under the death penalty.

Rome, May 25.—Italy has cast the die for war with Austria-Hungary. The Rubicon has been crossed and the Italian ambassador at Vienna, the Duke of Avarna, has been recalled.

The actual state of war now exists. The formal declaration handed to Baron Rajech, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, is to go into effect at once. Baron von Macchio, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador to Italy, was handed his passport and has left Rome.

Italian and Austrian troops are already in contact along the northern boundary of Italy. The Alpine chasseurs drove back an Austrian patrol which had crossed the frontier.

Prince von Beulow, the German ambassador, has received instructions to leave Rome conjointly with the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, according to a Berlin official dispatch.

Events Electrify Italians.

Although drastic action has been looked for momentarily, Italians of all classes have been electrified by the swiftly moving events. Great crowds gathered around the Quirinal to await the ministers who called on the king, for the purpose of discussing the situation and signing decrees.

When Premier Salandra and Signor Sonnino, the foreign minister, left the palace, the people cheered them enthusiastically. General Zeppeli, minister of war, and Vice Admiral Viale, minister of marine, remained with the king for a considerable time after the others left, and later they had a conference with Lieutenant General Cadorna, chief of staff, and Vice Admiral Phaon di Revel, chief of the naval staff.

Strong Forces on Frontier.

When the first blow will be struck cannot be foretold, but after many months of preparation, the army and the navy are ready. Exceedingly strong forces are in position all along the Austro-Italian frontier, on the Austrian side of which feverish preparations have been going on the last few days to make the fortifications as strong as possible and to clear the way for effective artillery action.

The German and Austrian ambassadors will be given safe conduct when they do leave and so far as Germans and Austrians resident in Italy are concerned, every effort has been made to see them safely out of the country.

On the other hand, most alarming reports have been received from the Italian border towns that Italian residents on the Austrian Tyrol are experiencing great difficulty in returning to Italy and in many cases have been placed under arrest.

According to the Giornale d'Italia the problem concerning the diplomats accredited to the Vatican has been solved satisfactorily and the law of guarantees remains untouched.

About 800,000 Bavarians and Hungarians have already been concentrated against Italy, Austria insuring them commissariat service.

Although Field Marshal Baron Conrad von Hoetzandorf, chief of staff of the Austrian army, had prepared for many years for a possible outbreak of war between Austria and Italy, the belief is held here that the campaign will be conducted by the German general staff, which, it is said, has planned a strong offensive movement against Italy, in the hope of breaking the Italian lines and forcing their way into Italian territory, thereby arousing alarm and strengthening the feeling favorable to peace.

Austrian Defenses Strong.

Should such an attempt fail through the resistance of the Italian army, the Austrians and Germans would then have to resort to defensive measures against a certain invasion. The Austrian defenses are particularly strong and have been constructed everywhere even along the Dalmatian coast which is already protected by fixed and floating mines and guarded by a dozen submarines carrying German officers and sailors.

The Austrian fleet is centered at Pola, with only a few torpedo boats and destroyers at Cattaro and Spalato. Other Austrian warships are in the Dalmatian archipelago on the northeast coast of the Adriatic sea. Naval men here do not consider it likely that the Austrian fleet will leave Pola unless forced by an Italian attack.

TERROR REIGNS AT TRIESTE

Inhabitants of Austrian Seaport Town Abandon Houses—Italian Flag Is Raised.

Udine, Italy, via Paris, May 24.—Terror reigns among the inhabitants of the Austrian seaport of Trieste, according to reports received here. Houses have been abandoned by the people and some buildings have been sacked. Police and soldiers are said to be in control everywhere in the city.

An unknown person during Saturday night succeeded in climbing the dome on the Basilica of San Guisto, the loftily situated cathedral in Trieste, and planted the Italian tri-color at the top. Austrian gendarmes were engaged for several hours removing the flag. Fugitives from Austria continue to arrive at Udine by hundreds.

KING OF GREECE IS STRICKEN

Ill With Pleurisy, Becomes More Feverish After Undergoing Operation at Athens.

Athens, Greece, via London, May 24.—King Constantine of Greece, who is ill with pleurisy; became more feverish after undergoing an operation. His temperature increased to 101.8, and later to 103.2. Crown Prince George is at his father's bedside.

Rome's Councilmen Volunteer.

Rome, via Paris, May 24.—Prince Colonna, mayor of Rome, has resumed his post in the army as major of cavalry and started for the front, where his three sons have preceded him.

SOME OF AMERICA'S DEMANDS ACCEPTED

GERMANY CONCEDES PRINCIPLE TO SAFEGUARD CITIZENS, IS REPORT.

REJECTS SUBMARINE PLAN

Holds That United States Cannot Demand Complete Abandonment of Under-Sea Warfare—Position Outlined to Gerard.

Washington, May 22.—Germany has unofficially accepted the general principle "that American citizens shall be protected and safeguarded by the United States under all conditions."

On the ground, however, that it is contrary to all rulings of international law, she will reject the suggestion that the United States can demand complete abandonment of her submarine warfare. She holds that America's legal rights extend only to the protection of vessels of American register and to the safety of Americans on board belligerent merchantmen.

German Position Outlined.

This was understood to be the German position, as outlined to Ambassador Gerard in the series of unofficial conferences which have followed presentation of the Wilson note to the Berlin foreign office. It is further understood that in his reports to the state department, Gerard said, in substance, such will be the general tone of the official German reply.

To Defend Submarine Warfare.

Germany, it is stated, will make her answer very specific.

She will take up the American note paragraph by paragraph from her understanding of the provisions of international law bearing on the case. She will warmly defend her submarine warfare as a reprisal against any enemy which courted such reprisals by arming her merchant ships, offering rewards for the destruction of German submarines, and will quote British board of trade and shipping organizations' resolutions as approving all the methods that would destroy German under-sea craft.

Bryan Angered at Stories.

Washington, May 21.—It is understood German officials have told Ambassador Gerard they consider they have been fighting fire with fire and that any de mand by the United States that they completely cease submarine activity is an improper one in the light of international law.

Stories that the United States has admitted the justice of the latter contention were emphaically denied by Secretary Bryan. He angrily refused to discuss the matter further in any form.

Washington, May 20.—With the ambassadors of Germany and Austria doing everything humanly possible to bring about a reapproachment between this country and Germany, a distinctly less optimistic tone prevails in Washington.

There are indications that Germany's note will not be satisfactory. Intimations are to the effect that she fails to realize the seriousness of the situation and will obstinately cling to the policy of warfare denounced by President Wilson.

Her note will be polite, will express the most cordial feelings, will be couched in the same diplomatic language which characterized that of President Wilson, but is very likely to fall short of the desired thing.

Viewpoint May be Changed.

There is still a possibility that the viewpoint of the German government may be changed. There is no doubt but Ambassador Bernstorff realizes the gravity of the situation and is doing everything possible to bring the force of the situation home to the men who will determine Germany's policy at Berlin. Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, is also keenly alive to the potentialities of the situation and his government apparently is also awake to the important consequences involved.

Various hints and suggestions have filtered through from Germany, indicating Germany is determined to stand by her submarine policy at all cost, while the secret messages that have come through have apparently indicated the same thing. There is no place more keenly sensitive to the war situation than the New York stock market, and that zig-zagged in a manner which indicated it was trying to dodge a submarine torpedo especially directed at itself.

Firm, Vigorous Policy Expected.

The influence of Von Tirpitz in the German government councils is an equation that is not being overlooked here. It is well understood that the men most powerful in the German government today are, next to the Kaiser, Von Falkenhayn, the chief of staff; Von Jagow, the foreign minister; Von Bethmann-Holweg, the chancellor, and Von Tirpitz, head of the admiralty and author of the submarine policy.

The majority of these advisors are expected to advise a firm and vigorous policy.

The suggestions that filter through here are that the German government insists on believing that America is not in deadly earnest in the matter, and that the situation may be handled by argument, suggestion of arbitration, and by a presentation of Germanys case, together wtih certain demands relative to bringing pressure upon Germanys enemies to which the American government will not be able to accede.

That the President is endeavoring to head off arbitration is supposed to have been indicated in his New York address, when he said America was asking nothing it did not have a right to ask for humanity.

Urge Suspension of Attacks.

Both the Austrian and German ambassadors are understood to have telegraphed to their governments urging suspension of submarine attacks on passenger ships while the diplomatic discussions are in progress, because of the serious situation that resulted in the United States from the sinking of the Lusitania. They have cautioned extreme care lest the sinking of another ship with American lives aboard may lead to an immediate break in the relations of the United States with Germany.

Protest to Britain Considered.

The general expectation here is that Germany will reiterate her willingness to abandon her present submarine warfare on merchant ships and follow the maritime laws if neutrals will influence the allies to permit the shipment of foodstuffs to civilians in belligerent territory. In this connection, there has been some consideration given in official quarters here to the advisability of sending a note of protest to Great Britain against the actual operations of its fleet in enforcing the blockade of commerce with Germany.

GERMAN NOTE TO BE DELAYED

Reply to U. S. Communication Likely to be Held Up Because of Italian Crisis.

Washington, May 19.—Two important factors, it has become known, are working to delay for another week Germany's reply to the American note of May 13, sent as a consequence of the Lusitania disaster.

First, the next few days are expected to decide whether Germany will be confronted with a new military situation by the entrance of Italy into the war and the cutting off of all supplies through the Mediterranean.

Second, interested diplomatists here believe the interim of delay will reveal whether the United States, of its own initiative, will send a general protest to the Allies with respect to their alleged violations of international law by interfering with commerce between American ports and neutral countries of Europe.

BERLIN PAPER ON U. S. NOTE

Lokal Anzeiger Declares German Reply Will be Polite as it Will be Clear.

Berlin, via London, May 19.—The American note to Germany has not yet been officially given out. The afternoon papers, however, print the version of the document as telegraphed here by the Havas agency. With the single exception of the Lokal Anzeiger, all refrain from comment. The Lokal Anzeiger says:

"The German government certainly will not delay long with the answer required, and probably reply that in occupying itself with its 'sacred duties' it is not to be disturbed from any side.

"That the American government should consider the Lusitania as a harmless packet boat, without taking notice of the fact that it was really an auxiliary cruiser, and an ammunition steamer for the British navy, appears to us scarcely believable. But the German answer to Washington will make it comprehensible to Mr. President in language as polite as it will be clear, that we must conduct the war as we are conducting it, and can conduct it with a clear conscience."

DRAFT OF GERMANY'S REPLY

Answer to American Note, Regarding Lusitania Tragedy, Is Nearly Completed, Says Report.

Washington, May 22.—Germany's reply to the American note, sent a week ago as a consequence of the Lusitania tragedy and other violations of American rights in the war zone, has been nearly completed, according to intimations which have reached here through diplomatic channels.

The return of Emperor William from the eastern front is said to be awaited by the Imperial Chancellor and the minister of foreign affairs before the document is put into final form for presentation to Ambassador Gerard.

Prepare Note to England.

Washington, May 20.—In spite of denials made at New York by Secretary Tumulty, the rumor remains current that the administration is preparing a stiff note to Great Britain protesting against that country's rather high handed methods of dealing with neutral commerce.

Official Washington is a volatile community and the intimation that things were not going as satisfactorily as might be, has been promptly reflected here.

Canadian Ship Rammed.

Ottawa, Ont., May 21.—Eight of the 14 members of the crew of the small government steamer Christine were drowned when that steamer was rammed and sunk by a Canadian submarine off the Island of Orleans. It has been learned that the vessel sank within three minutes and that the crew were unable to launch a lifeboat or don life preservers. Six of them were saved by another vessel. How the submarine came to ram the steamer was not disclosed.

ITALY'S DECISION STIRS WASHINGTON

WAR DECLARATION AGAINST AUSTRIA CREATES SENSATION AMONG OFFICIALS.

VARIETY OF SPECULATION

Proclamation of Neutrality Being Prepared Will be Issued by Wilson —Business Interests Ready For Cutting of Communications.

Washington, May 25.—Italy's declaration of war on Austria created a sensation in official and diplomatic quarters here, for while the announcement was not unexpected, the addition of another powerful nation to the number of belligerents in Europe brought out a variety of speculation on the military effect of the new operations on the conflict as a whole, and the possible attitude of Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece.

Neutrality Proclamation.

Up to a late hour the Italian and Austrian embassies here, as well as the state department, were without official notification of the declaration of war by Italy, but officials began the preparation of a neutrality proclamation which will be issued by President Wilson probably at once, when Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page advises the American government of Italy's action. The opening of hostilities between Austria and Italy had so long been forecast that American business interests had made preparations for the severance of communication.

U. S. Diplomats in Charge.

The United States government, in accordance with requests received nearly a month ago, will now take over the custody of Italian diplomatic and consular interests in Austria, and Austrian interests in Italy.

It is taken for granted in diplomatic quarters here that, as a result of the declaration of war against Austria, Germany and Turkey, as the allies of that country, will announce a state of war with Italy. One of the subjects on which information is awaited with much interest, is whether Italy will subscribe to the Order in Council, making impossible all commercial intercourse with Germany and Austria through the Mediterranean and whether the same rigid rules as to contraband will be enforced by the Italian

Woman is Asphyxiated.

Minneapolis, May 24.—Asphyxiated by gas that would not explode, the body of Mrs. A. D. Moore, 51 years old, was found by neighbors. Gas was escaping from an open burner in the kitchen stove. Another burner in the same stove was ignited, according to Deputy Coroner Carl M. Roan, who was unable to explain why the gas did not explode.

May Bring Earlier Peace.

The cutting of commerce to Germany and Austria through the Mediterranean, it is thought in allied quarters here, will soon seriously be felt by the central powers and may even compel a conclusion of peace earlier than might otherwise have been the case. The entrance of Roumania, shutting off a wheat supply from southeastern Europe, would be another important factor. There long has been understanding between Italy and Roumania, according to official information here, to enter the war at approximately the same time, but whether Bulgaria will permit that country to enter the conflict is still a matter of conjecture here, in spite of the recent assurances given Roumania that she would not be attacked. Such information as was received here several weeks ago from reliable quarters indicated that Bulgaria would side with Turkey as against Roumania if the latter country entered the war, but otherwise would remain neutral. The Grecian ministry is understood to be ready to assist the allies, though King Constantine personally is said to be pledged to maintain neutrality. In view of the king's critical illness, the belief has prevailed that Roumania's entrance would be followed by that of Greece, counterbalancing any attack Bulgaria might attempt on Roumania.

Russians Hurl Back Teutons.

Petrograd, May 24.—By fierce counter-attacks the Russians have forced General Mackensen's left wing to give ground on the east bank of the San, 30 miles north of Przemysl. An Austro-German force that gained the south bank of the Lubaczovka has been driven back acros the river. The engagement occurred near Radava. Russian artillery mowed down the retreating forces of the enemy, whose loses were extremely heavy. The fighting has been intense.

Outlaws Rule Mexico City.

Washington, May 24.—Outlaws in Mexico Ctiy, who assaulted the German charge d'affaires, now are threatening the lives of other foreigners, according to diplomatic dispatches received here. One message states that "indescribably loathsome" conditions prevail and that the government is powerless against bandits. Popular demonstrations because of the food shortage have occurred in the Mexican capital within the last few days. Reports to the state department said the situation was serious.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."—Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. WESTERN CANADA SEEDING FINISHED

Wheat and Other Grains Have Had an Excellent Start.

The seeding of spring wheat was pretty general this spring about 7th of April or about as early as in Illinois and Iowa. Oats and barley followed. Information is to hand that on first of May all seeding was practically finished. Farmers will now be busy at their breaking, and the land for summer fallow will be entered upon. Some who did not get their land prepared last fall, will be later than the others, but as the spring in Western Canada has been very open they will be only a few days later. At the time of writing rain would be welcome, but at seeding time, the ground contained a splendid lot of moisture and the lack of rain at the present time will not be serious. The number of farmers who have gone into the raising of cattle has been considerably increased, and the preparation for extensive cultivated grass pastures is in evidence everywhere. The cultivation of fodder corn is being largely entered upon in Manitoba there being upwards of 25,000 acres in corn. In Saskatchewan there will be a large increase in the area planted, and in Alberta many of the more progressive farmers are taking hold of it. The yield varies according to the cultivation it receives, and runs from five to nine tons per acre. In some portions of Manitoba where it has been poor for some years, success has been achieved in ripening and it is expected that a variety will soon be developed that will provide seed for the entire West, that will at an early date give to Western Canada a fame for the growing of a marketable corn equal to that it has now for the growth of smaller cereals.

A trip through Western Canada reveals field after field of alfalfa, the growth of which in any portion of the country is now absolutely assured. When these facts are made known to the farmers of the corn and alfalfa growing states, where their value as wealth makers is so well known, there will be no hesitancy in taking advantage of the splendid gift of 160 acres of land made by the Government of the Dominion of Canada, where equal opportunities are offered. Besides these free grant lands, there are the lands of some of the railway companies and large land companies, that may be had at low prices and on reasonable terms. During the month of February a large number of inquiries were received, asking for farm lands.

An encouraging feature of the farm land situation in Canada is the large percentage of sales made to settlers in the country who desire to increase their holdings or to others who will take up farming in place of different occupations previously followed.—Advertisement.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ON DRESS PARADE

OPEN FIFTIETH ANNUAL CONCLAVE OF SEMI-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

STATE NEWS OF MINNESOTA

Interesting and Important Happenings of the Past Few Days Selected and Arranged for the Convenience of Busy Readers.

Minneapolis, Minn.—A dress parade through the business section of the city, followed by a banquet at the armory, wound up a strenuous day for the Knights Templar who are in Minneapolis to participate in the fiftieth annual conclave of the semi-centennial celebration of the grand commandery of Minnesota.

While the banquet was its height, a large tank of coffee, boiling over a gas range in a temporary kitchen in the armory, exploded, and eleven waiters were showered with the hot fluid and severely burned. Three of them were so badly scalded that treatment at the City hospital was necessary.

Two Thousand in Parade.

Two thousand five hundred Knights resplendent in plumed helmets, uniforms which blazed with gold lace and medals, passed through the streets thronged by thousands of Minneapolitans and visitors. All along the line of march, which started at Tenth street and Nicollet avenue, down to the Gateway and then over to Hennepin and out Hennepin to the armory, the marching Knights, representing the 31 commanderies in the state, were cheered by spectators. Many of the commanderies treated the public to fancy drills and formations.

MEN MAKE APPEAL FOR WORK

Over Six Hundred Petition City Commissioners—Say Even Actual Necessaries Are Lacking.

Duluth.—Six hundred and twenty-one men petitioned the city commissioners for work. Their condition was couched in terse language and the city officials are appealing to employers to do something to help the men out.

The petition, which contained no threat, recited that most of the men were attracted here by stories to the effect that sawmills were opening up, the steel plant work resuming and other concerns taking on extra men. The petitioners' spokesman told the commissioners the men are in actual need of the necessaries of life and some have families.

The city commissioners are trying to devise some means of employment so the men may earn enough to buy food and a place to sleep.

Club Receives Pike Fry.

Two Harbors.—Minnesota game and fish commission car Glenwood brought to this city 20 cans of pike, each can containing from 750 to 1,000 fry, consigned to the Two Harbors Rod and Gun club.

Members of the club accompanied the car to Highland and distributed the fry in Thomas lake, Long lake and one of the Twin lakes.

They also had 35 cans of pike fry consigned to August Tabor, deputy game warden. These were taken to Rollins and distributed in the lakes in the vicinity of that station by Mr. Tabor.

Admit Alleged Forgery.

Little Falls.—After confessing to forging and passing a small check at a local store and writing and attempting to pass several others, Inga Emond, 17, and David Emond, 18, her husband, were taken to St. Cloud by Sheriff Felix to plead guilty before Judge Roeser in district court to a technical charge of forgery in the second degree. The girl passed one check which was cashed, the boy failing in several attempts. They say their home is in Minneapolis.

Observe Sunday School Day.

Stillwater.—Sunday School day was observed by churches here with addresses by out-of-town residents. Rev. W. A. Brown, D. D., of Chicago, superintendent of missions of the International association, spoke twice. Professor A. M. Locker, general secretary of the association, spoke at a mass meeting on organized Sunday school work. Others who delivered addresses were Mark G. Holtzmann of Minneapolis, E. T. Street, C. J. Hunt and Mrs. Jean E. Holbert.

Wanamingo Pioneer Dies.

Red Wing.—Andres A. Hailer, 88 years old, father of the late Jduge Axel Haller, died at his home in Wanamingo. He was one of the first white settlers of that township.

Find Dray Loads of Liquor.

Brainerd.—At the raid made on the Ideal hotel, of which W. T. Larrabee is proprietor, Sheriff Claus A. Theorin and Chief of Police Henry Squires, proceeding under a warrant charging Larrabee with conducting an unlicensed drinking place, found under search warrant, two dray loads of beer and whiskey which were hauled to the old city jail. Sheriff Theorin and Chief Squires then went to the Antlers hotel, where they seized a drayload of beer and whiskey and transported the same to the city jail.

ARRESTS CAUSE NEAR-RIOTS

Encounters Reported at Green Lake As Result of Obstructions Being Placed in Fish Outlet.

Willmar.—The past week has been a red letter week in the annals of the fishing sport in the county. The municipal court has had quite a run on illegal fishing cases during the last few days and there are more to follow. A couple of game wardens from St. Paul have been assisting in the detective operations in the county, it is said.

Especially down at the Green lake outlet have things been warm, and several arrests for illegal spearing have been made. Rumors of severe fistic encounters between wardens and native fishermen have reached this city.

A wire netting which had been placed in the lake to hinder fish from going down into the river has been yanked out by means of a team of horses, it is said.

It seems that since the digging of the ditch and draining of Lake Calhoun the fishing in Green lake has been poor and it is believed that the fish which have gone down the river to spawn in the spring have never found their way back into the lake. And for this reason those interested in preserving good fishing in the lake have caused the netting to be put in. Some of the farmers, however, declare that it only helps to preserve the fish for the city sports who come up in summer, and it deprives them of their usual opportunity of spearing a mess during this time of the year.

CHANGE IN PLANS FOR LOCK

Duluth Commercial Club Wants Waterway Built Deep Enough to Accommodate Ocean Craft.

Duluth.—The Duluth Commercial club has sent a request to the war department either to delay the construction of lock No. 4 at the Sault, for which excavation work has been finished, or to change the specifications so that the lock will permit boats that pass through it to load to a draft of thirty feet instead of twenty-four and a half feet as now planned.

When the new Welland canal is finished, in about two and a half years, vessels up to 800 feet in length, and having a draft of 30 feet, can be locked through. This will permit the passage of the largest ocean freighters.

Canada assures improvements in the St. Lawrence river, and the deepening of the channels in this harbor and in the rivers connecting the Great Lakes will complete the desired waterway.

TUNNEL THROUGH ROOF AND LOOT STRONG BOX

Minneapolis.—Working night after night with the determination of mining prospectors drilling for veins of gold, cracksmen drilled and dug their way through the brick and concrete roof of the vault in the rear of the Northwestern Fuel company's offices, 527 Marquette avenue, completed their work, droped into the vault and plundered the strong box of all it contained.

The work took several days, probably more than a week, the police believe. Each night the cracksmen replaced the roofing over the vault, but returned again to renew the operations.

The loss to the company in the robbery, the twelfth it has suffered in the last five years, could not be estimated by Manager A. W. Saunders without an examination of the books, but the robbers are believed to have obtained more than $500, which represented the day's late receipts.

Commencement Early at St. Olaf.

Northfield.—St. Olaf college will hold the twenty-fifth commencement of the college department and the forty-first of the school during the first week in June. Graduation exercises will be earlier than usual this year to avoid conflict with the annual meeting of the United Norwegian Lutheran church which begins June 9 and the twenty-fifth commencement of the United church seminary in St. Anthony park June 8.

Policeman Fatally Hurt.

Minneapolis, May 21.—Motorcycle Patrolman Otto Ostby was fatally injured when he collided with a street car at Lake street and Twenty-first avenue south, while traveling at a high rate of speed to answer what he thought was an emergency burglar alarm at the home of Miss Emily Martinson, 2529 Tenth avenue south. Ostby was picked up unconscious and taken to the city hospital where he died two hours later.

Owl Captures Prize Cat.

Buhl.—Frank Tily, a farmer, imitated an owl which he heard hooting in the nearby woods. He went into the house and a few minutes later heard a crash and an agonized "meow" of his prize cat on the porch. Tily ran to the veranda in time to see the owl fluttering away with pussy firmly clutched in its claws.

Jumps From Train; Held By Foot.

Crookston. — Sheriff O'Reilly of Grand Rapids had a hard struggle with Peter Erickson of Wheaton, whom he was taking to the Fergus Falls insane asylum. Erickson, after a hearing, was declared insane.

Before reaching Crookston Erickson jumped through a window of the moving train. Sheriff O'Reilly caught him by the foot and held him until the train was stopped and assistance secured in pulling the man back to safety. Later Erickson slashed his throat with a piece of the broken glass.

TO PRODUCE SANITARY MILK

Some Old-Fashioned Farmers Continue to Use Open Pail—Brush Cow Thoroughly Daily.

Only those back-number farmers who either fail to profit by the lessons taught in producing sanitary milk, or who have never learned such lessons, continue to milk in the old-fashioned, open pail, into which falls filth from the cow's flanks, and which allows the milk to absorb all the odors that surround it.

By the use of sanitary milk pails, dirt can be kept out of the milk, and that is the main thing.

It is much easier to produce pure milk by keeping the dirt out of it than to attempt to take it out after it has fallen in.

But the sanitary milk pail alone will not give us clean milk. The cows must be thoroughly brushed every day, and their udders washed and dried just before milking. The milking must be done in absolutely clean sheds, or in the open, preferably on a grass plot, and the milk removed to a clean house, where it can be quickly cooled.

One of these things is good enough in its way, but all must be observed if we produce an article that is not "near," but absolutely clean.

CHOICE KINDS OF POTATOES

Green Mountain Is Medium Late Tuber and One of Best of Early Fall and Winter Varieties.

The Haulton Rose is one of the best of the early potatoes either for market or for family use. Beauty of Hebron is equally good, pure white flesh, productive and early. Irish cobbler is an early variety, a heavy cropper, flesh white and of excellent quality. Green Mountain is a medium-late potato, one of the best of the early fall and winter varieties.

Bovee is said to be the earliest potato; it is not only early, but a productive and profitable potato. It requires a rich soil, heavy fertilizing and extra culture. These are popular and profitable varieties either for the wholesale or for the retail market. There should be no delay now in planting the whole of the crop. The early and the midsummer crop is the most profitable. Our summers are too hot and dry for June-planted potatoes. Select clover and grass sod ground; then sod ground should have a dressing of long manure spread over the sod and then plowed under. If the manure is well rotted and fine, it should be spread on top of the plowed ground and well harrowed in. Have ground fine and mellow. For market, drill 800 to 1,000 of standard potato fertilizer to the acre. Put the potatoes in with the planter; it saves time and labor.

WORLD RECORD BY OHIO COW

Five-Year-Old Guernsey, Murne Cowan, Produced Over Twelve Tons of Milk Last Year.

Tests completed here by the dairy department of the Ohio State university, establish a new world's record in milk production, according to figures made public at the university here. The new queen of the dairy world is Murne Cowan, a five-year-old Guernsey cow, who, during the last year, produced twelve tons of milk.

According to the university figures the cow's milk averaged 5 per cent in butter fat. During the year she produced 1,096 pounds of butterfat, which churned into 1,400 pounds of butter. Murne Cowan's home is a farm near Barberton, Ohio.

Handle Novelties Lightly.

Do not be in too great a rush to try novelties on the farm on too large a scale. New things may be all right under certain conditions, but in other conditions may be inferior to the old. We do not mean by this to become an old fogy in any respect, but handle the novelties lightly and experiment with them before planting them out on a large scale.

Pasture Lightly at Start.

The early pasture may be overpastured and not recover during the entire season. Pasture lightly to begin with and feed supplemental feeds liberally.

Heavy Cream Keeps Sweet.

Heavy cream does not sour as quickly as thin cream.

Locust Posts Last Long.

Locust posts have been known to remain in the ground for fencing purposes for a period of 60 years, and when removed the bark was not decayed, and the wood was almost as solid as iron.

Canadian Wheat to Feed the World

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The war's fearful devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and there is an unusual demand for Canadian wheat. Canada's invitation to every industrious American is therefore especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves while helping her to raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands can be bought at remarkably low prices. Think of the money you can make with wheat at its present high prices, where for some time it is liable to continue. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent.

Being and Doing.

As the man is in the integrity of his character, so is his strength. Being is everything. It conditions happiness; it determines and measures service. A man's happiness depends upon what he is in himself. A man's service to others is conditioned upon what he is in himself. Being is basal to doing. THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

We often hear the remark made that if county option wins that WE will prosecute the blind pigs. Look up the tax records my farmer tax payers, and see how much taxes, WE, that temperance league are paying in this county.

We suppose about all of our readers have read the county option law, but perhaps they did not notice this clause, viz:

"provided also that intoxicating liquor manufactured in said county may be lawfully kept or stored at the place or places in said county where necessary in due course of transportation from the place of manufacture, and provided further that any duly licensed and practicing physician or veterinarian may prescribe, or any duly licensed pharmacist actually carrying on business as such may in good faith as such druggists or pharmacists dispense or keep for the purpose of dispensing intoxicating liquor."

Scratch your head, and read the above again my tax paying friend, and if you are of the opinion that we are not quoting the law right, read it in your own, session laws on page 2 third column.

Did you ever hear of a druggist running a blind pig in a dry territory that he did not sell booze strictly for medical use? We never did. Is it any wonder that about all the druggists are for county option?

Are you of the opinion my sincere temperance friend, that county option will prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in this county? If you are, you will see your mistake if license is defeated.

WHAT COUNTY OPTION WILL DO.

It will increase, rather than diminish, the sale of intoxicating liquor in this county.

It will propagate a litter of blind pigs to take the place of the present licensed and regulated saloons.

It will encourage a contemptous disregard for law,

It will faciliate the sale of intoxicants to habitual drunkards and minors.

It will destroy nearly a half million dollars of taxable property in the county.

It will unfairly destroy the value of private property and take from many men their means of livlihood without due recompense.

It will materially increase the taxes of every taxpayer in the county,

It will create empty store buildings and reduce rentals, in the city of Thief River Falls.

It will destroy real estate values and reduce population,

It will encourage mail order patronage, which is one of the greatest of present day evils that threaten agricultural communities and the small towns.

It will cause many thousands of dollars to be sent out of the county each year to the breweries and wholesale liquor dealers of the big cities.

It will be a blow at state wide prohibition because its results will be antagonistic to the cause of temperance, and disgusting to those who are favorable to a curtailment of the liquor traffic.

If these are the things you desire to accomplish, you should vote against license on June 14.

If you are not in favor of these conditions you should vote for license and a lawful regulation of the liquor traffic in the centers where such regulation can be and is being enforced.

Many of those originally classed as doubtful are now certain to vote "No" at the coming election, June 14th. They realize that the question involved in the pending campaign is not one of temparance against intemperance, or of prohibition against anti-prohibition, but simply county option, which permits of buying and consuming all the liquor one wants so long as he sends to the big cities, or Red Lake Falls after it.

The wholesale liquor dealers of the cities are all ready to supply the demands of county option territory. The Consumers Protective Co., of Covington, Ky., are sending out price lists, to deliver booze at Goodridge by express at the following rates. Old Overholt whiskey, 4 full quarts $3.46. 6 full quarts $6.75. Of course one individual can only order 5 gallons shipped into a county option territory at one time, but he can order 5 gallons a day if he consumes it all. Isn't that county option law a whale of a temperance law?

The story has been sprung by some parties who do not want Red Lake River declared non-navigable, for fear the eastern part of the county would get their share of the road and bridge fund, if it was, that if the river was declared non-navigable that some corporation might put in a dam for power purposes. Wouldn't an argument of that kind "jar you?" Go down east of Crookston and look at that big power dam on Red Lake River. Is that a damage to the country? Other parts of the country are progressing, why not this part?

Bookplates.

No book collector should be without a bookplate, and a bookplate once inserted in a volume should never be removed. When the plate is that of a good collector it constitutes an indorsement and adds a certain interest and value to the volume. I was once going through the collection of a friend, and, observing the absence of a bookplate, I asked him why it was. He replied: "The selection of a bookplate is such a serious matter."—Atlantic.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Young pigs for sale, by Wm. Causin, Sec. 26, town of Kratka.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Miss Ella and Marie Causin returned home from High School, at Thief River Falls, on Wednesday.

We commenced the cultivation of our field corn yesterday, as it is now high enough for the cultivator to do good work.

They started a county option petition over in Red Lake county but could not get signers enough to get up a petition.

Pennington county should make a good exhibit at the Minnesota State Fair this year, just to show what this county can produce.

The Minneapolis Journal has been a great advocate of county option as long as elections were being held in other counties, but since a movement has been started to place Hennepin county in the dry belt, they begin to sing a different song. County option is all right for the other fellows.

Peter Hedeen is building a large stock barn on his Kratka farm. Although Mr. Hedeen has moved his family to Nelson, Minnesota, he still retains his half section of Pennington county land, which is one of the prize farms of the town of Kratka, noted for its fine farming lands.

There is to be a big celebration ~~in the town of Hickory~~ at the L. W. Wojnarowski farm. A large bowery will be built, and a big time is expected. If it rains or shines the ball will proceed just the same, as Mr. Wojnarowski has a big hall in the upper story of his barn that will be used if it rains.

Patronize your home creamery, for you must remember that it is by them that your home country is judged. The local merchants always howl about the farmers patronizing catalogue houses, yet some of them are always ready to lend all the assistance possible to get a farmer to ship his cream away from his local creamery to the cities.

We understand that the "temperance" people of Plummer has been "plugging" for county option in the Pennington county territory tributary to them. Plummer is a great temperance village you know! Their last spring's record was 42 wets to 12 drys. Undoubtedly some of the "temperance" people of Red Lake Falls will be out working for county option in Pennington county. But we don't blame you boys, for working for your own interest. But we are working for the interest of OUR home county and county seat.

C. L. Clark and W. G. Hunt are at Thief River Falls today, as witnesses for K. M. Kratzer to make another application for full citizens papers. It is not as easy to obtain citizen papers now days as it used to be. The politicians in 1880 used to haul wagon loads of foreign born citizens, have them get their papers in the forenoon and vote in the afternoon. The first time Knute Nelson run for Congress against Kindred, he obtained a lot of those kind of votes in Wadena county, and we suppose Kindred got a lot of them also, but things are different now, as Uncle Sam is not at all short of citizens, and proposes to know that a man is worthy to become a citizen before he is handed his papers.

W. H. Wilde went down to Oklee Wednesday, after a consignment of fancy bird dogs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Clark visited with Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Rome on Sunday last.

We expected to publish some figures on taxes and tax payers this week, but our copy failed to arrive in time, so it will not be published until next week. Watch for county option facts and figures next week.

The Reisgaard Bros. of Mayfield moved their gasoline plows onto John Quirk's farm yesterday, where they have a large contract for breaking. The ground is now dry enough so the tractors do first class work.

Now that Polk county has gone dry, let the baby Pennington watch and see how their older and wealthier neighbor likes it before they try it. Polk county is an old and wealthy county, with their big court house and first class jail all paid for, while we have practically no jail at all, and are on the last half of our ten years occupancy of our present court house, and can not afford to drive any business that pays taxes out of this county at the present time.

Bigger Prizes

Minnesota exhibitors of horses, cattle, and sheep have a greater opportunity to win premium money at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, than breeders from outside the state. This special inducement is offered by the State Fair in order to encourage the breeding of more good horses, cattle and sheep throughout the state.

Premium money offered for these three kinds of animals is divided into two general parts. One part is offered in the "open" classes, in which animals from everywhere may compete. The other part is offered in the "Minnesota" classes, in which only animal from Minnesota can compete. Thus Minnesota breeders not only have as good a chance to win money in the "open" classes as any other breeders but they also have an opportunity to win money in the "Minnesota" classes where competion is much less keen.

As a result of this handicap, Minnesota breeders of sheep, cattle, and horses owning farm animals considerably inferior to those exhibited by outside breeders can win quite a bit more prize money. Especially is this true when there happens to be very little competition in the "Minnesota" classes. There have been instances when Minnesota breeders unable to score a single victory in the "open" classes obtained more money than most any of the exhibitors from outside the state.

A general appreciation of this advantage according to livestock experts, is certain to result in a bigger Minnesota exhibit of sheep, horses, and cattle at the Minnesota State Fair this fall than at any previous time.

Teeth of the Ancients.

The silence of the classics certainly seems to indicate that the Greeks and Romans suffered very little from their teeth. Words for toothache and for tooth extracting instruments can, indeed, be found in the Greek and Latin dictionaries, but the authors quoted for them are generally late and always uninteresting. We can hardly believe that if toothache had been common in Athens Aristophanes would have made no jokes about it. But a classical scholar may pretty safely be defied to cite a single Greek or Latin passage about it. Even Lucretius, when he gets on the subject of teeth in a passage where a reference to toothache might be expected, merely refers to the jar given to the teeth by very cold water or by biting a stone in one's bread.—London Chronicle.

THE THIRD NAPOLEON

Spicy Pen Picture John Hay Drew of the French Emperor.

One of the best things John Hay ever wrote, says William Roscoe Thayer in his presentation in Harper's of Hay's unpublished diaries, is this pen portrait of Napoleon III.:

"Short and stocky, he moves with a queer, sidelong gait, like a gouty crab, a man so wooden looking that you would expect his voice to come rasping out like a watchman's rattle; a complexion like crude tallow—marked for death whenever death wants him—to be taken some time in half an hour or left, neglected by the skeleton king for years, perhaps, if properly coddled.

"The mustache and imperial which the world knows, but ragged and bristly, concealing the mouth entirely, are moving a little nervously as the lips twitch; eyes sleepily watchful—furtive, stealthy, rather ignoble, like servants looking out of dirty windows and saying 'Nobody at home,' and lying as they say it.

"And withal a wonderful phlegm! He stands there as still and impassive as if carved in oak for a ship's figurehead. He looks not unlike one of those rude, inartistic statues. His legs are too short, his body too long. He never looks well but on a throne or on a horse, as kings ought."

Conserving the Joy of Life.

The most hopeful feature of the development of a new attitude toward youth is the willingness to conserve the spirit of the joy of life—the great gift which youth has to offer to life. To youth has been given this great joy of life, and it is the right of the individual to carry its spirit on into age, making it fuller and deeper as the years roll on. The new movement is asserting the right of youth to its joy, recognizing that this is the creative force which will raise life from a dull level. It means less of the disenchantments of age, a keeping alive of the glow of life, cultivating an ever deepening optimism, so admirably expressed by those simple lines of Browning:

Grow old along with me,
For the best is yet to be.

—George F. Kearney in Forum.

"Dear Harold," with sadness she wrote to her former fiance, "as you are probably aware, I am to be married to Mr. Anthony the coming month. I shall therefore appreciate it if you will burn all the little notes I sent you, assuring you of reciprocity in regard to those you sent me."

She immediately received this reply:

"Dear Dorothy—I shall certainly comply with your request at once. And, incidentally, as your new fiance holds a few notes of mine I shall deem it a great favor if you will induce him to burn them with the rest."—National Food Magazine.

Golf Ball's Strange Flight.

That a golf ball does not travel in a parabolic curve was asserted by Professor C. Vernon Boys during the trial of a patent suit in the British chancery court. Professor Boys, who had been called as an expert on ballistics, described experiments he had made with mechanically propelled golf balls and said that these when driven hard more than counteracted the attraction of gravity. "A good flight," he said, "is very nearly straight for a long time, then gradually rising and then falling."

An Artist's Impromptu Solo.

Pierre Garat, the singer and exquisite of Napoleonic France, was not merely a glass of fashion and a wonderful, self instructed singer, but an artist devoted to his art. "But is the following," asks Bernard Miall in his biography, "an example of sincerity in art or of love of attracting attention?"

Coupigny had supplied him with a "romance" to be set to music. Whenever the two met Garat replied, "I have not hit upon an idea as yet." One day Coupigny was walking down the Rue Neuve des Petits Champs. Hearing a sound of some one running up behind him, he turned. It was Garat, who seized him by the arm, dragged him up the stairs of a neighboring house and, halting on the first landing, exclaimed, "I've got it!" At once he began to sing the romance through at the top of his voice. The inhabitants of the house began to open their doors, heads were projected over the banisters, finally they began to approach. But Garat, having finished, tore down the stairs like a monkey, dragging the bewildered poet with him.—Youth's Companion.

AUSTRIANS RETIRE; ITALIANS PUSH ON

KING VICTOR'S TROOPS ADVANCE RAPIDLY INTO ENEMY'S TERRITORY.

BLOCKADE AUSTRIAN COAST

Latins Fix Limits of Zone From Italian Frontier to Montenegrin Line—Naval Battle in Adriatic Is Reported.

Rome, May 31.—The mouth of the Isonzo, long coveted by Italy as a concession from Austria as the Italian boundary, and one of the prizes of the Italo-Austrian phase of the European conflict, is practically in the possession of King Victor's forces.

By the occupation of Grado, not only do the Italians dominate the Isonzo river mouth, but they have advanced by a huge stride toward the possession of the Panzano gulf, key to the mastery over the railway communications between Trieste and Monfalcone.

Italians Advance Rapidly.

Meanwhile rapid advance has been made in the occupation by General Vardona's forces of the most important Alpine points. Three of the most important mountain passes have been taken. These are the Guidacarie chain of the Lessini, the Sugana valley, and the Carnic Alps. Besides Grado on the eastern front, 14 other villages have been taken.

Although the Italo-German diplomatic relations have been broken off, war has not yet been declared. So far the presence of Germans on the Italo-Austrian frontier has not been confirmed.

Rioting in Trieste.

The triumphant march of the Italian armies upon Trieste has caused an outbreak of mob violence of serious proportions in that Austrian port. Rioting has become so general that the authorities are reported to have fled, leaving the mixed population to work out its own salvation until such time as the Italian columns shall take possession of the city.

The Turks and their German officers probably will have another invasion to meet before long. Unofficial reports reaching here are that the Italians have landed on the Island of Rhodes, off the coast of Asia Minor, while a cruiser has been bombarding Bedrum, which is on the Gulf of Kos, on the main land of Asiatic Turkey, not far from Rhodes. This is believed to be the first step in an attempt to land on the Asia Minor coast.

Rome, May 28.—Persistent rumors prevail that a naval engagement has been fought in the Adriatic. An Italian cruiser is said to have torpedoed and sunk two Austrian cruisers. Heavy cannonading is heard off Ancona.

Italian troops are advancing rapidly into Austria and the Austrian forces are retreating before them. The Italians have crossed the border, running north to the Gulf of Triest, and are hurrying toawrds the Isonzo river at three points. The Austrians seem to have made no determined resistance, and the Italians have simply pushed them aside.

To Avoid Trench War.

The military critics attribute great importance to the advance in Trentino, where it was necessary to capture every peak and road. The Italians are now holding three roads leading into Austria. The positions taken show a determination on the part of the Italians to avoid a trench war.

Great indignation is felt here over the treatment accorded the civilian population of Trentino. The Austrians are wantonly destroying and devastating everything. According to reports received here from that section, the inhabitants of Ala Riva and other towns and villages are homeless and foodless. After their homes have been sacked and burned they have been left to shift for themselves. The able-bodied men have been forced into the army and many of the inhabitants have been shot.

Naval Battle Reported.

The captain of the Greek steamship Adriaticos from Athens reports that he saw a naval engagement in progress off Lisa between five Austrian destroyers and three Italian cruisers.

The entire Austrian coast is declared under blockade and ships of friendly nations have been granted a brief time in which to leave the war zone. The official decree was published fixing the limits of the blockade from the Italian frontier to the Montenegrin line and along the Albanian coast from the Montenegrin border to Cape Kieppeball.

Declaration of a blockade followed the action of the government in seizing all Austrian ships in Italian ports and imprisoning their crews as prisoners of war. The ships seized included five taken at Syracuse, five at Naples, seven at Genoa, and others at Ancona and Venice.

WHY ITALY DECLARED WAR

ITALY'S NOTE TO NEUTRALS REVIEWS NEGOTIATIONS.

Claims Austria Disturbed Equilibrium of Balkans and Peace of Europe—Affected Italian Interests.

Washington, May 27.—Italy has addressed to the neutral governments of the world a lengthy communication explaining her reasons for declaring war on Austria, Count Di Cellere, the Italian ambassador, presented the document to Secretary Bryan in the form of a note to the United States government.

It reviews negotiations between Italy and Austria, revealing that they began immediately upon the dispatch of Austria's ultimatum to Serbia. Italy claimed that the action of Austria disturbed the peace of Europe in a way that vitally affected Italian interests. As an ally of Austria, Italy asserts the right to have been consulted before the sending of the ultimatum, the first news of which was received through the newspapers.

War Is Only Means.

Failing to obtain through diplomacy the satisfaction of her territorial and national aspirations, Italy announces in the note that a declaration of war was the only means of safeguarding her position in Europe.

The text of the note as translated and issued by the Italian embassy follows:

"The Triple Alliance was essentially defensive and designed solely to preserve the status quo or, in other words, the equilibrium in Europe. That these were its only objects and purposes is established by the letter and spirit of the treaty as well as by the intentions clearly described and set forth in official acts of the ministers who created the alliance and confirmed and renewed it in the interest of peace, which always has inspired Italian policy.

Treaty for Peace.

"The treaty, as long as its intents and purposes had been loyally interpreted and regarded and as long as it had not been used as a pretext for aggression against others, greatly contributed to the elimination and settlement of causes of conflict, and for many years assured to Europe the inestimable benefits of peace.

"But Austro-Hungary severed the treaty by her own hands. She rejected the response of Serbia, which gave to her all the satisfaction she could legitimately claim. She refused to listen to the conciliatory proposals presented by Italy, in conjunction with other powers, in the effort to spare Europe from a vast conflict certain to drench the continent with blood and to reduce it to ruin beyond the conception of human imagination, and finally she provoked that conflict.

Provoked European War.

"Thus Austro-Hungary violated beyond doubt one of the fundamental provisions of the treaty. The obligation of Austro-Hungary to come to a previous understanding with Italy, was the greater because her obstinate policy against Serbia gave rise to a situation which directly tended to the provocation of a European war.

"The Italian government taking into consideration what has been stated above and supported by the vote of Parliament and the solemn manifestation of the country came to the decision that any further delay would be inadvisable. Therefore on May 23 it was declared in the name of the King to the Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Rome that beginning tomorrow, May 24, it will consider itself in a state of war with Austria-Hungary. Orders to this effect also were telegraphed to the Italian ambassador at Vienna."

AUSTRO-GERMANS ADVANCING

Move Toward Italian Frontier From Innsbruck—Swiss Railroads Crowded With Refugees.

Lugna, Switzerland, via Paris, May 26.—Austro-German troops continue to move toward the frontier from Innsbreck and Meran. The Swiss railroads are greatly overcrowded with Italian refugees and reports reach here that the Italian residents in Austria and Germany are being badly treated.

Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, who is expected to come here from Rome, has not been heard from and the German consul here has no knowledge of when he will arrive.

King Victor Commands Force.

Paris, May 28.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Rome says King Victor Emmanuel has assumed supreme command of the army and navy forces and that he has left incognito for the Italian headquarters.

Steamer Sinks; Fifty Drown.

Santiago, Chile, May 27.—Fifty persons were drowned when the Chilean steamer, Maximiano Errazuris, struck a reef and sank.

"F-4" Within 40 Feet of Surface

Honolulu, T. H., May 27.—The use of air to lighten the submarine F-4 in the final effort to grag the disabled war vessel to the drydock, probably will be resorted to, it was said. Work of raising the submarine, which contains the bodies of the crew who lost their lives when the craft went to the bottom was halted temporarily by a heavy swell which parted two of the lines attached to the hulk. The F-4 now has been draged within 250 yards of the harbor entrance and lies only 40 feet below the surface.

GERMANY ADMITS REVERSE IN GALICIA

STATEMENT FROM WAR OFFICE SAYS TEUTONS FORCED BACK ALONG RIVER SAN.

PRZEMYSL ASSAULT FAILURE

Petrograd Official Report Says Austro-Germans Have Been Decisively Beaten in Attempt to Surround Fortress.

Berlin, May 29.—A reverse at the hands of the Russians in the fighting along the River San, in Central Galicia, is announced in a statement from the war office. It is said that the Germans in the region of Sieniawa, on the left bank of the river, were forced back and lost six cannon. The German positions, according to this announcement, were not defended by strong forces. The statement says further:

"In the district northeast of Przemsyl we are still progressing favorably on both sides of the river Wysznia. In addition to the booty reported May 25, about 9,000 additional prisoners have been taken and 25 cannon and about 20 machine guns have been captured."

Austro-Germans Decisively Beaten.

Petrograd, May 29.—The Austro-Germans have been decisively beaten in their attempt to surround Przemysl by a grand assault. Official dispatches reported a lessening of the violent artillery attack launched by General Mackensen. At no point on the east bank of the San is the enemy within 20 miles of the Russian line of communication.

Mackensen planned to pierce the Russian right wing by battering artillery and infantry attack and then to seize the railway. For 24 hours the enemy's artillery poured a torrent of fire against the Russians between Jaroslau and Przemysl. At the same time a German force that crossed the San above Jaroslau recrossed the river Lubaczovka and struck at the Russian flank.

Slavs Check Enemy.

Between Przemsyl and Jaroslau, the chief danger point, the Slavs have checked the enemy. On the east bank of the San, in the neighborhood of Jaroslau, fierce fighting continues. But the enemy's left wing is no longer advancing. A great see-saw battle between Stryj and Kolomea continues without definite results.

FOR BETTER U. S. SUBMARINES

Secretary Daniels Determines to Improve Important Branch of Navy—Appoints Commander.

Washington, May 31.—In line with his announced determination to develop the submarine arm of the navy and eliminate its present faults, Secretary Daniels designated Captain A. W. Grant, one of the highest ranking officers of his grade, to command the Atlantic submarine flotilla and exercise general supervision over that branch of the service.

Captain Grant, who now commands the battleship Texas, will assume his new duties next month, with headquarters aboard the flotilla flagship. He will have as his assistant Commander Yates Sterling, now commanding the flotilla and an expert on underwater craft, whose testimony before a congressional committee during the last session gave the public some interesting details about the weaknesses of the boats under his charge.

Russians Relieve Missionaries.

Petrograd, via London, May 29.—Urumiah, Persia has been occupied by the Russians after an engagement with the Turks in the direction of Dilman and near Bachkala, according to a statement issued by the general staff of the army of the Caucasus. Urumiah, in Azerbaijan province, with a population of about 50,000, is a center of missionary activity. It is the seat of Fiske seminary for girls and of Urumiah college. For weeks the missionaries there have been in grave danger.

REALIZE SUBMARINE MENACE

BRITISH SHIPPERS, HOWEVER, CONTINUE ACTIVITY.

Germans Threaten to Carry Under-Water Warfare to Suez Canal—May Increase Fleet.

London, May 31.—The success of the German submarines in their attacks upon the British fleet supporting the army on the Gallipoli peninsula, which has resulted in the sinking of the battleships Triumph and Majestic, and the ever-increasing activity of these boats in the waters around the British Isles, and the threat to carry this under-water warfare to the Suez canal and the trade which passes through that waterway, while they have not caused any great uneasiness in naval circles here, have brought the officials to a realization of the great danger that will exist if Germany is able largely to increase her fleet of under-water boats.

Reports tell of the sinking of the British steamers Cadeby and Spennymoor and the Swedish bark M. Roosvall, and a statement that the big liner Argyllshire was chased and fired upon by an undersea boat, but succeeded in escaping and reaching Havre.

Trade to and from British ports goes on as if there were no submarine danger, and it is stated that there will be no interruption in the operations in the Dardanelles.

The fleet there will have to assist the army on the Gallipoli peninsula, taking chances of destruction by submarines and mines or shell fire.

BERLIN WARNED BY ENVOY

Ambassador Bernstorff Urges Earliest Possible Answer to American Note—Tension Increased.

Berlin, via wireless to London, May 29.—The German foreign office has received a cablegram from Ambassador Bernstorff at Washington urging the earliest possible reply to the American note regarding the Lusitania incident.

"Tension in America has been increased by the damage done the American steamer Nebraskan," Bernstorff cabled. "The Nebraskan incident is still an unexplained mystery."

London, May 29.—The Evening News published a dispatch from The Hague, giving reports from Berlin that Germany's reply to the American note will be presented at once. "It will be of a temporizing character," the dispatch continues, "and will ask the United States either to affirm or to deny that the Lusitania carried ammunition destined for the Allies."

MAJORITY OF OFFICERS SAFE

London, May 28.—The British battleship Triumph has been sunk in the Dardanelles.

The disaster to the Triumph is described in a brief statement by the admiralty which says that while operating in support of the Australian and New Zealand forces on the shore of the Gallipoli peninsula, the Triumph was torpedoed by a submarine and sank shortly afterward.

The majority of the officers and men, including the captain and commander, are reported to have been saved.

The submarine was chased by destroyers and patrolling small craft until dark.

Roosevelt's Rib Broken.

New York, May 29.—It became known last night that Colonel Theodore Roosevelt met with an accident at his home at Sagamore Hill when, as he was trying to mount a horse, he fell and broke a rib.

Leader of Turks Wounded.

Salonika, May 31.—General Limond Van Sanders, German commander of the Turkish forces at the Dardanelles, has been wounded in the fighting at Gallipoli peninsula. Dispatches said that the German admiral, Von Usedom, has succeeded Sanders. For several days the Turks have been rushing reinforcements toward Krithia. It is now estimated that the Turkish land forces at the Dardanelles number 210,000. Opposed to these are allied troops numbering less than 100,000.

WARSHIP MAJESTIC SUNK BY GERMANS

BRITISH BATTLESHIP TORPEDOED OFF GALLIPOLI PENINSULA—CREW SAVED.

PRINCESS IRENE DESTROYED

Mine-Laying Steamer Accidentally Blown Up at Sheerness, England—All of Crew, Except One Seaman, Perish.

London, May 29.—The British battleship Majestic, another of the ships supporting the Allied army on the Gallipoli peninsula, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. Nearly all the officers and crew were saved.

At about the same time the mine-laying steamer Princess Irene, which was built last year for the Canadian Pacific British Columbia coast service, and which was taken over by the Admiralty at the commencement of the war, was accidentally destroyed by an explosion while at anchor at Sheerness, where she was undergoing repairs.

Few of Crew Saved.

All her crew, numbering about 250, except one seaman, and, besides, 78 dockyard workers, who were aboard at the time, lost their lives.

The Princess Irene was lying in the Midway off Port Victoria, undergoing repairs.

In addition to her crew, which is said to have numbered 250, there were 78 shipwrights on board the steamer when, at 11:15 o'clock in the morning, a terrific explosion was heard from the ship, and a column of dense smoke.

When the smoke had cleared away the steamer had completely disappeared. Only some floating wreckage marked the spot where she had been lying. Flying debris was scattered for great distances. Many men on ships in the vicinity of the Princess Irene were injured by this, and fragments of the wreckage were picked up as far away as Maidstone, 15 miles distant from the scene of the explosion.

Only one body has thus far been picked up from the Irene.

The Majestic, which was the oldest battleship on the active list of the British navy, is the sixth capital ship lost by the Allies since the beginning of the operations against the Dardanelles, and the second which has fallen a victim to German submarines which recently arrived in those waters.

The battleship was a vessel of 14,900 tons and of 10,000 horse power. Her officers and crew, on a peace footing, aggregated 957.

The Majestic was built in 1895, carried four 12-inch, twelve 6-inch and sixteen 3-inch guns and twelve 3 pounder guns. In addition, the vessel was armed with five 18-inch torpedo tubes.

The sinking of the Majestic makes the fifth British battleship lost in the Dardanelles campaign and the second by a hostile submarine—the Triumph having been sent to the bottom in the Gulf of Saros last Wednesday. The French also have lost one battleship in the Turkish campaign—the Bouvet.

Judge Stays Execution.

Tucson, Ariz., May 29.—The act of Federal Judge Sawtelle reserving decision until noon on the application for a habeas corpus writ made by attorneys for the five Mexicans scheduled to hang at the state penitentiary automatically stayed the executions until that hour.

German Army Well Supplied.

Berlin, via London, May 31.—Replying to a question at a sitting of the budget committee of the Reichstag as to whether the army administration had taken measures to insure a supply of raw materials and textiles in the event of a long duration of the war, a deputy war minister made this precise statement:

"Even a new winter campaign would find us prepared in every way. All the raw materials are at hand in sufficient quantities for it."

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

SEDIMENT CARRIED TO SEA

Figures Show an Almost Incredible Amount Transported by China's Mighty River.

Some estimates of the discharge of the Yangtze-kiang river and of the amount of sediment it carries have recently been published by Prof. Konrad Keilhack of the Berlin School of Mines, who visited the river in September, 1913, when the stage of water was unusually high. From measurements of depth made at Wusung, Nanking, and Hankow, and estimates of width and velocity, this authority concludes that the discharge below Hankow (685 miles from the mouth) amounts in time of flood to 3,500,000 cubic feet per second. The annual mean is estimated at 1,750,000 cubic feet per second. Filtration measurements made at the mouth, near Wusung, taken in conjunction with the above figures for discharge indicate an annual transport of sediment at the average rate of 37,500 pounds per second, or a total of 584,000,000 tons per annum.

Head Bookkeeper Must Be Reliable.

The chief bookkeeper in a large business house in one of our great Western cities speaks of the harm coffee and tea did for him:

"My wife and I drank our first cup of Postum a little over two years ago, and we have used it ever since, to the entire exclusion of tea and coffee. It happened in this way:

"I had an attack of pneumonia, which left me with dyspepsia, or neuralgia of the stomach. My 'cup of cheer' had always been coffee or tea, but I became convinced, after a time, that they aggravated my stomach trouble. I happened to mention the matter to my grocer one day and he suggested that I give Postum a trial.

"Next day it came, and we liked it so much that we will never change back; for I am a well man today and have used no medicine.

"My work as chief bookkeeper in our Co's branch house here is of a very confining nature. During my coffee drinking days I was subject to nervousness and the 'blues' in addition to my sick spells. These have left me since I began using Postum and I can conscientiously recommend it to those whose work confines them to long hours of severe mental exertion."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

The Deaf and Dumb Spy.

As the British forces under General Kitchener neared Khartum, a dervish spy was discovered in camp and taken to headquarters for examination. But neither bribes nor threats could elicit one word from the prisoner; he affected to be both deaf and dumb. Scarcely had be been put in a tent under guard, when another spy was led in who proved equally obdurate, so he was put with the first one.

Half an hour later, when the camp was settling down to rest, there was a fresh stir and hubbub and a third spy was brought in, who also would reveal nothing, and was finally placed in the tent with his fellows.

Soon the guards outside heard a murmur of voices from within. The dumb spies had found their tongues, but it was impossible to overhear their talk distinctly or to understand it. An hour or more passed.

Then the door of the tent was thrown open, and the third spy appeared and asked to be taken to headquarters. There he threw off his disguise and revealed—General Kitchener! He had discovered all he wanted to know.

Genuine Heroism.

The characteristic of genuine heroism is its persistency. All men have wandering impulses, fits and starts of generosity. But when you have resolved to be great, abide by yourself, and do not weakly try to reconcile yourself with the world. The heroic cannot be the common, nor the common the heroic. If you would serve your brother, because it is fit for you to serve him, do not take back your words when you find that prudent people do not commend you. Be true to your own act, and congratulate yourself if you have done something strange and extraordinary, and broken the monotony of a decorous age. It was a high counsel that I once heard given to a young person: "Always do what you are afraid to do."—Emerson.

Capt. J. P. Taylor, Doctor Bjorkman and H. W. Cousins are authority for the truthfulness of a whale story the like of which has never before been listened to in Long Branch. While fishing a mile from shore their attention was attracted to a titanic commotion in the water a mile seaward. With marine glasses the fishermen say they witnessed for more than hour a battle to the death between two California gray whales and a thrasher whale. The thrasher was victorious, they say.—Long Beach Dispatch to Los Angeles Times.

NEBRASKAN HIT BY TORPEDO, IS BELIEF OF CREW

AMERICAN STEAMER, DISABLED OFF COAST OF IRELAND, ARRIVES AT LIVERPOOL—BADLY DAMAGED.

SAW NO SUBMARINE, BUT KNOWS WHAT HIT VESSEL

Submersible Could Not have Failed to See Name and Nationality Outlined in Huge Letters, Says Crew—Forward Part of Ship Wrecked.

Liverpool, May 29.—The American steamer Nebraskan which was disabled by an explosion off the coast of Ireland, arrived here shortly before midnight. The captain said:

"I saw no submarine, but am certain it was a torpedo which hit us. Moreover, a submarine could not have failed to see our name and nationality, which was outlined in huge letters on our sides."

The members of the crew of the Nebraskan were agreed that the explosion was undoubtedly caused by a torpedo.

The forward part of the ship is completely wrecked.

Bulkhead's Strength Saves Ship.

The ship was saved from sinking by the strength of her No. 2 bulkhead, which held back the flood and buoyed up the ship. Considerable damage was done to the deck and fittings. The steamer's derricks were blown away by the force of the explosion.

Captain Greene of New York, captain of the Nebraskan, told his story of the damage to his ship:

"We left Liverpool Monday. The next night, 48 miles off Fastnet at 8:24 o'clock we were torpedoed. Only 10 minutes before we had hauled down the American flag but it was quite light and the submarine must have seen the big white lettering on our sides, which read 'Nebraskan of New York.'

Shock Injures Three.

"I was below at the time. There was a terrible shock, which threw everybody off his feet. Immediately afterwards came a tremendous explosion which slightly injured two quartermasters and the boatswain, hurled the derricks 30 feet high and blew up the hatches.

"The ship rapidly filled with water in the lower hold and commenced to settle. We thought the ship was lost and got into our four lifeboats. Two armed British vessels came up in reply to our distress signals.

"As the vessel still floated we returned on board and made a more careful examination. We found the No. 2 bulkhead holding firm and decided to remain aboard, and try to bring the ship into Liverpool under her own steam, which we accomplished successfully."

Page Cables Statement.

Washington, May 28.—Ambassador Page at London cabled the state department that Captain Greene of the American steamship Nebraskan had given the naval attache of the embassy a sworn statement at Liverpool concerning the explosion on his ship off the Irish coast Tuesday and that the attache was returned to London.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, formally presented a memorandum to the state department, stating that the mines laid by Germany were of such a character as would become innocuous when detached from their anchorages.

Steamer Torpedoed or Mined.

London, May 27.—The American steamer Nebraskan, Captain Green, from Liverpool May 24 for Delaware breakwater, was torpedoed or mined at a point 40 miles west-southwest of Eastnet, off the south coast of Ireland.

The sea was calm at the time. The crew at once took to the boats and stood by the steamer. The foreholds of the vessel are full of water.

The foregoing information was received by the British admiralty and at once communicated to the American embassy.

Immediately it was struck, the Nebraskan began calling for help by wireless. Browhead received the wireless communication at 9 a. m. from Crookhaven.

Surprise to Officials.

The torpedoing or mining of the Nebraskan was a surprise to American officials here. All foreign vessels leaving Liverpool recently have had their names and nationalities painted in large letters on their sides and have flown large flags.

British Steamer Cadeby Sunk.

Penzance, England, May 29.—The British steamer Cadeby, bound from Oporto to Cardiff with a cargo of pitwood, was torpedoed and sunk off the coast of Cornwall by a German submarine. The crew of 18, four passengers and a stowaway, were landed at Newlyn, near here, by a fishing boat.

The Cadeby was a 1,130-ton steel screw steamer owned by the Cadeby Steamship company, under British registry from port of Hull. She was built in 1892 and was 225 feet in length.

Cured by a Bullet.

Private Redmond of the First Colorado volunteers, once on duty at Manila, was the star stutterer of the English army corps. Nothing in the way of treatment did him any good, and he realized sadly that he could never be even a noncommissioned officer, because he could not give the simplest words of command without stuttering. He was a brave and efficient soldier, and always first in the firing line.

At the battle of Marquis Redmond was shot in the mouth. The Mauser bullet passed downward and came out at the nape of the neck.

He was taken to the hospital, where he recovered rapidly, and all that could be seen of the wound was a little scar about his upper lip where the bullet entered. But the remarkable thing about the affair was when he left the hospital he was cured of his habit of stuttering. How it happened neither he nor the doctors can explain, but he was so joyous over the fact that he blessed the bullet that brought him relief.

EXCELLENT FARMING CONDITIONS IN CANADA

Letters from Settlers Indicating Growing Prosperity.

The present year will add another proof that farming in Western Canada, when carried on with the same energy and system devoted to other lines of business, will bring about results fully as satisfactory.

Mixed farming as a tocsin has been sounded for a number of years, and today it is being adopted pretty generally throughout the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. There are those who have made no greater success of it than they did when they pursued grain growing alone, but where one has failed to accomplish what he had hoped to do, dozens have scored success.

From Sedgewick, Alberta, we hear of E. L. Deputy, for past twelve years manager for Frye & Sons, packers, Seattle, who during 1914 were the largest buyers of hogs on Alberta markets. He is taking up active work on his 1,200-acre farm near Sedgewick. Although he was one of the highest paid salaried officials on the Pacific Coast, his frequent visits and personal knowledge of farming conditions in Western Canada convinced him there are greater opportunities in farming Alberta land than in commercial life, with greater assurance of ultimate independence and prospects of home-making under the most desirable conditions.

Thomas McKay, a farmer near Hardisty, Alberta, has this to say about the country:

"I came to Hardisty from Osage City, Kansas, nine years ago and took up a homestead here. This is a good district for the farmer who wishes to raise grain exclusively, and as a mixed farming country it cannot be beaten anywhere in the world to my knowledge.

"I had ten cattle, which ranged outside all last winter, and this spring they were fat enough for the market, this without being fed but one night during the entire winter; they were fine fat cattle and looked beautiful. I raised some winter wheat here which weighed sixty-seven and a half pounds to the bushel, government weight, and which I shipped to Calgary. The miller who bought it said that it was the best wheat that had ever gone into Calgary. Wheat in this district yields as high as forty bushels to the acre, oats average sixty bushels. Alfalfa does well here.

"All in all I think the farmers are very well satisfied with the country, and the farmer who farms his land intelligently is sure to make a success. The climate here is the best I have ever lived in, the summers are delightful and the winters are mild. There has never been a blizzard during the nine years I have lived here nor any cyclones or wind storms."

A settler in the neighborhood of Gleichen, Alberta, spent $2,000 in improving his quarter section, has 125 acres ready for crop, keeps 70 head of stock, believes in mixed farming, keeps two hired men, one all year, the other in summer only. He milks 12 to 18 cows, and receives an average monthly cream cheque of $110. Last June he sold $1.200 worth of hogs and in November two more carloads, besides supplying his own requirements, and is not only making money but building up a good home amid desirable surroundings. This is an example of the possibilities open to the industrious in the Gleichen district.

It is stated in the last three months $38,000,000 of American capital has been invested in Canada, showing that United States financial men are satisfied of the solidity of Canadian institutions. Western Canada has been a heavy borrower and Western Canada's great resource is agriculture. U. S. financiers must be convinced that agriculture in Western Canada is sure and profitable or they would not be ready to invest so many millions in the country.—Advertisement.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30, 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The Crookston Brewery have moved their wholesale beer house from Crookston to Red Lake Falls, from which point they will ship their beer in the future. That county option law allows them to manufacture at Crookston, and ship in car load lots to Red Lake Falls, from which point they can supply county option territory. Is not that option law a great temperance measure?

The Commercial Club, of Thief River Falls, assisted by the banks of that city are going to ship in a lot of graded stock to be distributed among the farmers of Pennington county at actual cost. This is certainly a move in the right direction for the advancement of the interests of Pennington county, and shows the right spirit of co-operation among the business men and farmers. C. L. Hanson, president of the First National Bank has offered to loan money to the farmers without interest to construct silos. The next thing to graded stock is a preparation by the farmers to feed and care for them, as a graded cow standing at a straw pile all day during the winter's storms will not show her good bred qualities to any great extent. We hope to see the farmers take advantage of this opportunity to improve the grade of their stock for on them depends a greater part of the future prosperity of Pennington county.

Polk county went dry by a large majority. The fact makes some of our local "wets" think that Pennington county will be a barren waste after June 14th. Some of them are already looking with longing eyes toward Red Lake Falls as the one and only place to go and find refuge from the temperance "cranks." If all the saloon keepers who are looking so longingly at Red Lake Falls should emigrate there, Red Lake will certainly be an oasis in the desert, but it will not be a "Bonanaza" for the saloon keepers unless the wet population of that city increases considerably. We do not think that the citizens of Red Lake Falls will welcome any more saloon men.—Thief River Falls Times!

The citizens of Red Lake Falls would undoubtedly rather welcome a saloon keeper than a newspaper who would knife the city that he was getting his support from. Without discussing the wet or dry proposition, as it is to be submitted on June 14th, we will make this broad statement: That it is our opinion that any business man who has any consideration for the future welfare of Pennington county and the city of Thief River Falls, who will rejoice over the future growth of Red Lake Falls at the expense of Thief River Falls, that you could put his brains into a mustard seed, and rent the upper story for some other purpose. We try to publish a newspaper to advance, improve and build up our county and county seat, not to try to tear down and drive people out of the city and county. They call themselves temperance "cranks." They are not entitled to such a respectable name, but belong to an organized "pot gang" of low down rotten politicians, who are working for the gain of the money that is being put up by corporations that are trying to advance their own interests by driving the smaller liquor dealers out of business, the same as the Standard Oil Company drives all other dealers out of handling kerosine oil.

Two County Option Parties

The present county option law is being indorsed by two classes of people, viz: The sincere temperance people who do not understand it, and the big brewing interests who do understand it, which reminds us of a story of of North Dakota temperance: After the state had been dry for a few years there was an attempt made to have the legislature pass an act to resubmit the license question to the people. There was a powerful lobby appeared against it, among which was the Womens Christian Temperance Union.

About the time that the matter was to be brought to a vote, there was another assistant appeared, who fought tooth and nail to defeat it, and he succeeded.

After the bill was defeated a committee of the W. C. T. U. asked for an interview with the gentleman to thank him for his efforts, which he granted them. They thanked him kindly, then asked him if he was a minister. And his answer was: "No, ladies I am a wholesale liquor dealer, and represent the interests of the wholesale liquor dealers, who want to continue to ship liquor into Dakota by the case, keg and jug, instead of having it sold in the licensed saloons." Of course that interview ended in short order, but the gentleman told them the truth.

Making a Changeless Ink.

In shops where it is damp or chemical fumes are present it is usually difficult to cause labels to stick to bottles or cans. An ink for use on such containers is made as follows: Shellac, 20 grams; dissolve it in a hot solution of borax containing 30 grams of borax to 400 cubic centimeters of water; filter while hot and add a solution made of aniline black, 8 grams; tannin, 0.3 gram; picric acid, 0.1 gram, and ammonia, 10 grams, in water, 10 grams.

It will be found that this ink works nicely and resists the usual chemical and corrosive fumes.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Young pigs for sale, by Wm. Causin, Sec. 26, town of Kratka.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn,

Karl Korstad made this office a pleasant call yesterday.

J. W. LaBree was transacting business in this locality Tuesday.

Goodridge will make the eagle scream on July 3rd with an up to date celebration.

There must have been some very heavy rains east of here, as the Red Lake river is again rising out of its banks,

Louis LaCounte has been helping us to build a log barn this week. Our pioneer barn is no longer fit for use.

The rain showers of the past week have rushed the growing grain and grass forward very rapidly,

We had a light visit from Jack Frost last Sunday night, which done some damage to the early sown garden truck,

Red Lake county have side tracked their county option petition, or in other words they have put it into the pigeon hole where it remains DEAD.

Even J. Sund lost a $150 horse last Sunday night, He did not know the cause of her death, as she lay dead in the stable on Monday morning,

The prospects were never better for a big crop in northern Minnesota than they are this year. We have plenty of moisture for the young growing grain, and it is jumping upward with leaps and bounds.

If Pennington county goes dry next Monday the real estate transfers will be rather light the next year, but the additional taxes added to our ditch taxes will make the old residents sit up and take notice in a year or two.

After a careful sizing up of the hustling county optionists, we find that about eighty per cent of them are not tax payers in this county, but are hustling for parties outside of this county who are looking after their interest by placing Pennington in the dry column at this time.

We desire to warn the farmers of the towns of Mayfield and Deer Park not to be influenced by the work being done in your territory for county option by the people of Red Lake county, who are fighting hard to make this county dry, so their county will reap the benefit,

There is now no doubt that the next legislature will pass a state prohibition law. Then Red Lake county will have to go dry the same time that Pennington does, and we would have a prohibition law that will prohibit. Remember that this is no temperance fight, but a fight for the interest of Pennington county at this time.

The young people of Highlanding and Kratka, gave a pleasant surprise party at the residence of Wm. Causin on Saturday evening last, in honor of Miss Marie's birthday. Very nice refreshments were served at midnight, and Miss Marie received some nice little presents from her friends. The youngsters enjoyed themselves by playing games and dancing until the wee sma" hours.

Remember to turn out to election Monday and vote NO X.

YOUR HOME

The county option boomers struck a snag in Pennington county that they did not expect to run up against. They were rather expecting to find the breweries and saloon keepers out with professional speakers, the same as they have, hired at so much per night to try to influence voters, But this time they are meeting the business men, and tax payers of Pennington county, who have their homes and all of their interests in Pennington county, and our county seat of Thief River Falls, and they do not propose to have those interests turned over to Red Lake county and Red Lake Falls, by a "gang" sent in here, that never have paid a dollar taxes in the county, hired out to go crying temperance around the country at so much per night. Your home county and county seat needs your vote next Monday, Turn out and vote NO X.

A Few Straight Facts

The receipts from license last year was $15,000. Of this amount 10 per cent goes into our county treasury to pay taxes for public improvements, making a net sum of $1500 paid in to our tax funds yearly. This is a neat little income that helps decrease our taxes, If we vote license out of this county at this time we not only loose the amount saved in taxes, but we will be placed to a tremendous expense prosecuting the blind piggers and the fellows who will obtain their liquor in Red Lake county. This is no saloon keepers campaign, but is being conducted by the careful business men of the county, who are placing the facts before the voters as they are, This is not a booze campaign, as there are no votes being solicited by Mr. Beer or Alcohol, but it is a matter of business to every citizen of Pennington county, who is interested in the future of this county to turn out to election next Monday and vote NO X.

In addition to the above there was paid into the county treasury the sum of $885.93 in taxes by the liquor dealers of Thief River Falls. If you Pennington county tax payers drive this income out of this county into Red Lake county your taxes will nearly double, and the men that you want to vote the liquor away from, will simply go to Plummer or Red Lake Falls. where they can procure all the liquor that they have got money to pay for.

Poor Old Polk

If Polk county could have the chance to vote on county option one year from now, they would go wet with a bigger majority than they went dry, at their last election, for by that time they will discover that Red Lake county are raking in the coin while they are cleaning the spittoons.

Do you want to retain the money of your home county in your county?

If you do turn out to election next Monday, and show them that YOU live in Pennington county, and are not voting to boost Red Lake county.

Why is Polk County so deeply interested in the welfare of Pennington County? Is it possible that Crookston fears that Thief River Falls will capture some of her business if Pennington votes wet?

The down river city sent several of her lawyers and others to tell the people of Thief River Falls how to run their business.

The voters of Pennington county can get along very nicely with out the assistance of Joseph Hall, Charles Loring, Prof. Sathre, W. A. Marin and the rest of the Crookston weepers.

TROVATON TRAPPED.

One Andrew Trovaton, former treasurer of Pennington county, is prancing around the county fighting windmills. He and Thomas Smith, editor of the Times, took the bait of the wet committee, hook, bobber and sinker. They have proved themselves to be, to say the least, unreliable.

It come about this way: The wet committee suspected underhand work on the part of the drys; so they ordered some circulars printed by Smith, ostensibly for distribution. The circulars were delivered to the committee but not a single one of them was sent out.

Now comes Andrew Trovaton waving one of the circulars and calling attention to the lies it contains. Of course the circular lied; and it lied for the sole purpose of trapping the drys, and Trovaton got caught like a "sucker" in the trap.

DRY TOWNS WET AGAIN. DECLARES U. S. SENATOR

James E. Martine Says People Learn That So-Called Prohibition Lowers Civic Standards.

Illinois towns and those of other states that are voting out their saloons now are sure, within the next two or three years, to return to the wet column, according to James E. Martine, United States senator from New Jersey, who was in Chicago yesterday with a party of seventy Washington legislators and members of their families on the way to Honolulu for an investigation of local conditions there.

"I was sorry to notice that a number of Illinois towns voted the saloons out this week," said Senator Martine. "They will regret their action in time. Prohibition has proved itself all over the country, after years of experiment, to be the worst kind of farce. It is a failure and a failure of hypocrisy. It changes a day-light business, open and above board and subject to regulation and observation, into a sneaking midnight huckstering in dark corners, that is not susceptible to observation or regulation. It does not prohibit, for statistics show that the consumption is as large as ever. The only change is that it lowers the quality of the liquor sold and that it turns a legitimate business into an outlaw trade, a change thru which everybody connected with it, whether producer or consumer, suffers a moral degeneration.

Prohibition Not New

"When the good people of this and other states vote out a set of saloons they think they are doing a new thing. They think that the world is getting better; that folks are growing into higher ideals and that in a short time the liquor business will be no more and drunkenness will have disappeared from the face of the earth.

"But these people should look up the history of prohibition. If they did they would find that the dry idea, like other ideas, has its ups and downs, that it comes in waves, catching the popular fancy. The people get an idea that prohibition will raise conditions. They get worked up over it and enthusiastic, for they believe they are doing a good thing. Then the state goes dry. After a year or two or three the eyes of a majority have been opened to the hollow mockery of prohibition. They see that it does not prohibit, that it only makes conditions worse. As a result they become disgusted, and vote the state wet again.

Always Wet Again, He Says

"This has happened time and again. I have gone thru the Gough prohibition campaign, the Washingtonian campaign and a dozen others. Each time the people grew enthusiastic, thinking they were backing a real reform. But in a year or two or three they were disillusioned and returned to the old, normal, regulated, revenue-producing system. Each time the people said that the saloons were doomed and that we would have eternal, national prohibition. But each time the fact that human beings are only human asserted itself, and the saloons came back as the lesser of two evils.

"This must inevitably occur again in those states where the drys are now winning victories. I am familiar with the situation in all states, particularly in Maine, Georgia and North Carolina. Everywhere I find it a complete failure. In Georgia, which has been pointed out as so shining an example of prohibition, this is particularly so. Any honest Georgian will admit this at once. The condition in Atlanta is ludicrous. Hoke Smith tried to defend it, but could not. The saloons are as wide open as ever. The only difference is that they sell cigars in the front room and beer and rum in the back room. In the biggest and finest hotel in Atlanta I saw more highballs and cocktails than I have ever seen anywhere else in my life.

One Year in Plainfield

"I have seen prohibition tried in our own city, Plainfield, N. J. One year was enough. In place of a reasonable number of regulated saloons, openly operated under the law and amenable to supervision, hundreds of little sneakholes opened up. The locker system flourished and we produced a crop of clubs with a membership of no more than five men each. Doing business like rats in holes, supervision was impossible. Knockout drops and every kind of vile substitute for decent liquor came into common use. As a result during that one dry year we had five times the number of arrests for drunkenness and disorder that we normally have. At the end of the twelve months everybody voted the town wet again in order to have, not prohibition with its unlimited booze, but regulation with its limited number of saloons, open and susceptible of police observation and control, and paying the city a license of $1,000 each.

"The people of the West will find, as a result of their present experiments with prohibition, that they are lowering, in place of raising, their civic standard and that they will be forced back to the license system in order to bring things back to their present level."

SHOE TOKEN OF SUBJECTION

Ancient Significance of Custom Which Is Not Looked Upon as Merely a Joke.

As specially applied to weddings, there is a suspicion that the throwing of old shoes—or new slippers, for all that—had at first a significance which would surely be most objectionable to twentieth-century brides. It seems to have been a token of the complete subjection of the bride to her lord and master. In the East a shoe or a slipper was publicly borne at the head of the bridal procession in indication of the bride's subjection, and at some Jewish weddings the bridegroom used to strike the bride a blow with his shoe as a sign that she was thereafter to be submissive to his will. Among the Nestorians it was the custom for the bridegroom to kick the bride, and for her to remove from his foot the shoe with which he had kicked her. To this day there is a common custom in Russia for the bridegroom on his wedding night to require the bride to pull off his boots. In one of them is a whip, and in the other a gift. If she pulls off first the one containing the whip, she gets a stroke from the lash, and is to expect floggings thereafter, but if the gift is first disclosed her married life will be happy. It is related of Martin Luther that once, after performing the wedding ceremony for a couple, he took off the bridegroom's shoe and placed it upon the bride's pillow, as a sign that she should in all things and at all times be subservient to her husband.

Her Task.

"What was the class doing today, Ethel?"

"Knitting socks for soldiers."

"How many did you knit, dear?"

"Only one sock, mamma."

"Why didn't you knit a pair, child?"

"Because I was knitting for a one-legged soldier, mamma."

GET POWER

The Supply Comes From Food.

If we get power from food, why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by selecting food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

"Not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach trouble," writes a lady from a little Western town.

"It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me. Hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heart-burn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner until I literally became a living skeleton and in time was compelled to keep to my bed.

"A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I kept up its use. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed.

"All my unpleasant symptoms, the heart-burn, the inflated feeling which gave me so much pain, disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 98 to 116 lbs., my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my housework and enjoy it. Grape-Nuts did it."

A ten days trial will show anyone some facts about food.

LINER LUSITANIA WAS ARMED WARSHIP, GERMANY'S REPLY TO AMERICAN PROTEST

Answer to President Wilson's Note Cabled From Berlin to Washington by Ambassador Gerard—More Facts Asked.

German Government Regrets Attacks on Cushing and Gulflight—Sinking of the Falaba Justified on Ground Vessel Attempted to Escape After Being Warned.

Washington, May 31.—The German reply to the American note sent after the sinking of the Lusitania was received in Washington last night from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin and made public here.

The following is the text of the German note:

"The undersigned has the honor to submit to Ambassador Gerard the following answer to the communication of May 15 regarding the injury to American interests through German submarine warfare.

"The imperial government has subjected the communication of the American government to a thorough investigation. It entertains also a keen wish to co-operate in a frank and friendly way in clearing up a possible misunderstanding which may have arisen in the relations between the two governments through the events mentioned by the American government.

"Regarding, firstly, the cases of the American steamers Cushing and Gulflight. The American embassy has already been informed that the German government has no intention of submitting neutral ships in the war zone, which are guilty of no hostile acts, to attacks by a submarine or submarines or aviators. On the contrary, the German forces have repeatedly been instructed most specifically to avoid attacks on such ships.

Cites Misuse of Flags.

"If neutral ships in recent months have suffered through the German submarine warfare, owing to mistakes in identification, it is a question only of quite isolated and exceptional cases, which can be attributed to the British government's abuse of flags, together with the suspicious or culpable behavior of the masters of the ships.

"The German government, in all cases in which it has been shown by its investigation that a neutral ship, not itself at fault, was damaged over the unfortunate accident, and if justified by conditions, has offered indemnification.

"The cases of the Cushing and the Gulflight will be treated on the same principles. An investigation of both cases is in progress, the result of which will presently be communicated to the embassy. The investigation can if necessary be supplemented by an international call on the international commission of inquiry, as provided by article III of The Hague's agreement of October 18, 1907.

Justifies Sinking of Falaba.

"When sinking the British steamer Falaba, the commander of the German submarine had the intention of allowing the passengers and crew a full opportunity for a safe escape. Only when the master did not obey the order to heave to, but fled and summoned help by rocket signals, did the German commander order the crew and passengers by signals and megaphone to leave the ship within ten minutes. He actually allowed them 23 minutes' time and fired the torpedo only when suspicious craft were hastening to the assistance of the Falaba.

"Regarding the loss of life by the sinking of the British passenger steamer Lusitania the German government has already expressed to neutral governments concerned, its keen regret that citizens of their states lost their lives.

"On this occasion the imperial government, however, cannot escape the impression that certain important facts having a direct bearing on the sinking of the Lusitania may have escaped the attention of the American government.

"In the interest of clear and complete understanding, which is the aim of both governments, the imperial government considers it first necessary to convince itself that the information accessible to both governments about the facts of the case is complete and in accord.

Calls Lusitania a Cruiser.

"The government of the United States proceeds on the assumption that the Lusitania could be regarded as an ordinary unarmed merchantman. The imperial government allows itself in this connection to point out that the Lusitania was one of the largest and fastest British merchant ships, built with government funds as an auxiliary cruiser and carried expressly as such in the 'navy list' issued by the British admiralty.

"It is further known to the imperial government from trustworthy reports from its agents and neutral passengers that for a considerable time practically all the more valuable British merchantmen have been equipped with cannon and ammunition and other weapons and manned with persons who have been specially trained in serving guns. The Lusitania, too, according to information received here, had cannon aboard which were mounted and concealed below decks. To direct the particular attention of the American government to the fact that the British admiralty, in a confidential instruction issued in February, 1915, recommended its mercantile shipping not only to seek protection under neutral flags and distinguishing marks, but also while thus disguised, to attack German submarines by ramming. As a special incitation to merchantmen to destroy submarines, the British government also offered high prizes and has already paid such rewards.

Says Liner Carried War Material.

"The imperial government in view of these facts indubitably known to it, is unable to regard British merchantmen in the zone of naval operations specified by the admiralty staff of the German navy aas 'undefended.' German commanders consequently are no longer able to observe the customary regulations of the prize law, which they before always followed.

"Finally, the imperial government must point out particularly that the Lusitania on its last trip, as on earlier occasions, carried Canadian troops and war material, including no less than 5,400 cases of ammunition intended for the destruction of brave German soldiers who are fulfilling their duty with self-sacrifice and devotion in the fatherland's service.

"The German government believes it was acting in justified self-defense in seeking with all the means of warfare at its disposition to protect the lives of its soldiers by destroying ammunition for the enemy.

Puts Blame on Ship Owners.

"The British shipping company must have been aware of the danger to which the passengers aboard the Lusitania were exposed under these conditions. The company in embarking them, notwithstanding this, attempted deliberately to use the lives of American citizens as protection for ammunition aboard and acted against the clear provisions of the American law, which expressly prohibits the forwarding of passengers on ships carrying ammunition and provides a penalty therefor. The company therefore is wantonly guilty of the death of so many passengers.

"There can be no doubt, according to the definite report of the submarine's commander, which is further confirmed by all information, that the quick sinking of the Lusitania is primarily attributable to the explosion of the ammunition shipment caused by a torpedo. The Lusitania's passengers would otherwise, in all human probability, have been saved.

"The imperial government considers the above mentioned facts important enough to recommend them to the attentive examination of the American government.

Withholds Final Decision.

"The imperial government, while withholding its final decision on the demands advanced in connections with the sinking of the Lusitania until receipt of an answer from the American government, feels impelled, in conclusion, to recall here and now that it took cognizance with satisfaction of the mediatory proposals submitted by the United States government to Berlin and London as a basis for modus vivendi for conducting the maritime warfare between Germany and Great Britain. The imperial government by its readiness to enter upon a discussion of these proposals, then demonstrated its good intentions in ample fashion. The realization of these proposals was defeated, as is well known, by the declinatory attitude of the British government.

"The undersigned takes occasion, etc. JAGOW."

TRUTH ABOUT SOUTH AMERICA

Writer Tells of Conditions Which Have Come Under His Observation in Big Cities.

The romance which has clung to uninformed ideas of conditions in South America has been stripped away by Prof. E. A. Ross, in his book, "South of Panama." Here is an excerpt on social conditions in Lima, Peru:

"In social conditions Lima is of the Orient. A study made not long ago for the University of San Marcos showed that Lima, thanks to the Indians, who breed two and one-half times as rapidly as the whites, has a birthrate from 20 per cent to 30 per cent higher than the leading cities of the world, but that its people die about twice as fast as other urban people; that a quarter of the deaths are due to tuberculosis, which is from two to five times as deadly here as in other cities; that the loss of infant life is twice what it is in Liverpool, Hamburg or New York, and thrice what it is in Scandinavian cities. Nearly half of the hospital patients are victims of malaria, and the number of malaria sufferers in and about Lima is reckoned at eight thousand or ten thousand a year.

"Much of the waste of life here traces to the wretched housing and fatal overcrowding of the masses. Many of the unsanitary tenements are owned and let by the Sociedad de Beneficencia, Lima's great benevolent organization."

FOUR VICTIMS OF RAILROAD WRECKS

DEATH LIST FROM ACCIDENTS ON MILWAUKEE AND OMAHA INCREASED.

DIES ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

Engineer Thomas Sheehan Succumbs to Injuries Received Near Hudson, Wis.—Divers Find Body of Chas. R. Brooks at Lake City.

Lake City, June 8.—The death list from the railroad wrecks of Saturday night caused by washouts on the Milwaukee at Lake City and the Omaha near Hudson, was brought to four when wrecking crews discovered the body of Charles R. Brooks of Whitewater, Wis., in the wreckage at Lake City, and Engineer Thomas Sheehan of the Omaha train died while being taken to St. Luke's hospital in St. Paul. Two men were injured.

The bodies of Wilbur P. Taber, 2621 Bloomington avenue, Minneapolis, engineer, and Ray F. Brobert, 250 St. Anthony avenue, St. Paul, fireman, on the Milwaukee train, were located in the cab of their engine, which is still under water in the deep ravine into which it plunged. Divers from La Crosse located the bodies, but they were pinned in the cab and could not be extricated.

Body Found by Divers.

The body of Brooks was found by the divers. Brooks, it is thought, was beating his way on the blind baggage of the Milwaukee train. He was a carpenter and had been employed at Red Wing, but went to Lake City Saturday to look for work, and it is thought was on his way back to Red Wing. He was 30 years old, The body was taken to Red Wing.

Roy Fitzsimmons of La Crosse, extra fireman on the Milwaukee, had a narrow escape from death. He had been riding on the engine and was on his way to the baggage car to eat his lunch when the wreck occurred. He was thrown into the ravine ahead of the engine and was carried into the Mississippi rver. With his left leg broken and a bad cut on his head he swam until he caught hold of a small tree. Passengers on the train heard his cries for help but were powerless to assist him. Finally a farmer set out in a row boat and brought him to shore. He had been in the water more than an hour and was nearly exhausted. He was taken to a farmhouse and medical attention by a physician summoned from Lake City. His condition is said to be critical.

Fireman Seriously Hurt.

Frank Gault, fireman on the Omaha train, is in a serious condition at St. Luke's hospital in St. Paul. Sheehan, engineer, was badly scalded by water from the engine boiler, and died on the relief train. Both men live in Altoona, Wis.

J. W. Lacey, the Wells Fargo express messenger, thought killed, has been located in Minneapolis. He lives at 1025 Nicollet avenue. Lacey was in the forward express car, which was ditched and like Fitzsimmons was on his way to the baggage car to eat his lunch. He had just stepped into the baggage car vestibule when the wreck occurred. He was slightly bruised by the shock.

All traffic on the river division of the Milwaukee was blocked. The bridge, which was washed out by the cloudburst, was of re-inforced concrete. The ground at that point is in such shape that a detour track cannot be installed, so a temporary bridge will have to be constructed. Three wrecking crews worked all day and all night clearing away the wreckage of the mail and express car and putting in the new bridge.

Worst Wreck On Division.

Two trains on the Milwaukee road, both of which were coast trains, were routed over the Omaha. The wreckage there was cleared by 3 a. m., the engine, one baggage and one mail car having been derailed. As the Burlington route was washed out badly across Lake Pepin from Lake City at Stockholm and Maiden Rock, Wis., it was 11 a. m. before service was resumed. Two trains on that road were also sent over the Omaha. After the Burlington tracks were repaired all Milwaukee trains were sent by that route to La Crosse, where they joined the Milwaukee system again.

The wreck on the Milwaukee is declared by officials of the road to have been the worst on the river division.

American Liner Sails.

New York, June 7.—The American liner Philadelphia sailed for Liverpool shortly after noon with a full list of saloon and second cabin passengers.

Wild Cattle Win for Italians.

Rome, June 5 (via Paris, June 7).—Fifty wild cattle materially aided Italian troops in capturing a strong Austrian position near Monte Cordo, according to the Corriere d'Italia. The Austrian garrison had surrounded itself with a high barbed wire entanglement against which the Italians drove the cattle. Started by exploding bombs the animals attacked the entanglements with hoofs and horns and in a quarter of an hour had swept away the obstacle so that the Italians were able to gain the summit easily.

REVOLUTION MUST END, SAYS WILSON

ALL FACTIONS IN MEXICO CALLED UPON IN NAME OF U. S. TO SETTLE DIFFERENCES.

FAILURE TO BRING PEACE

Generals Carranza, Villa, Zapata and Others Must Unite in Movement, or Else United States Will Decide Course.

Washington, June 4.—All factions in Mexico have been publicly called upon by President Wilson in the name of the United States government to "accommodate their differences" and set up a government that can be accorded recognition.

Failure to unite in a movement to bring peace to Mexico within a very short time, it was announced in a statement telegraphed to Generals Carranza, Villa, Zapata and others, would constrain the United States "to decide what means should be employed" in order to save the people of the southern republic from further devastation of internal warfare.

Leaders Disagree.

"For more than two years revolutionary conditions have existed in Mexico. The purpose of the revolution was to rid Mexico of men who ignored the constitution of the republic and used their power in contempt of the right of its people, and with these purposes the people of the United States instinctively and generously sympathized.

"But the leaders of the revolution, in the very hour of their success, have disagreed and turned their arms against one another.

No Solution Near.

"All professing the same objects they are, nevertheless, unable or unwilling to co-operate. A central authority at Mexico City is no sooner set up than it is undermined and its authority denied by those who were expected to support it.

"Mexico is apparently no nearer a solution of her tragical troubles than she was when the revolution was first kindled. And she has been swept by civil war as if by fire. Her crops are destroyed, her fields lie unseeded, her work cattle are confiscated for the use of the armed factions; her people flee to the mountains to escape being drawn into unavailing bloodshed and no man seems to see or lead the way to peace and settled order. There is no protection either for her own citizens or for the citizens of other nations resident and at work within her territory. Mexico is starving and without a government.

Duty Towards Mexico.

"In these circumstances the people and government of the United States cannot stand indifferently by and do nothing to serve their neighbor. They want nothing for themselves in Mexico. Least of all do they desire to settle her affairs for her or claim any right to do so. But neither do they wish to see utter ruin come upon her and they deem it their duty as friends and neighbors to lend any aid they properly can to any instrumentality which promises to be effective in bringing about a settlement which will embody the real objects of the revolution—the constitutional government and the rights of the people. Patriotic Mexicans are sick at heart and cry out for peace and for every self-sacrifice that may be necessary to procure it. Their people cry out for food and will presently hate as much as they fear every man in their country or out of it, who stands between them and their daily bread.

Policy of United States.

"It is time, therefore, that the government of the United States should frankly state the policy which in these extraordinary circumstances it becomes its duty to adopt. It must presently do what it has not hitherto done or felt at liberty to do, lend its active moral support to some man or group of men, if such can be found, who can rally the suffering people of Mexico to their support in an effort to ignore, if they cannot unite, the warring factions of the country, return to the constitution of the republic so long in abeyance and set up a government at Mexico City which the great powers of the world can recognize and deal with, a government with whom the program of the revolution will be a business and not merely a platform. I, therefore, publicly and very solemnly call upon the leaders of factions in Mexico to act, to act together and to act promptly for the relief and redemption of their prostrate country. I feel it to be my duty to tell them that if they cannot accommodate their differences and unite for this great purpose within a very short time this government will be constrained to decide what means should be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico save herself and save her people."

To Extend Export Trade.

New York, June 5.—Henry Davison, a member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., said in testifying before the Federal Trade commission that he believed the fundamental requirement for developing the export trade of the United States to be by increased shipping facilities.

The commission began its hearings here to learn from business men their opinions regarding the advisability of permitting combinations among American exporters for the extension of an export trade with foreign nations.

THE GROWTH OF WESTERN CANADA

Increase in Railway Mileage, School Attendance and Population.

Some idea of the extent of railway construction in Western Canada can be derived from the fact that the railway mileage in the Province of Alberta has been doubled in three years. The present mileage is 4,097. In all of the settled districts there is ample railway privileges. The rates are governed by a Dominion Railway Commission, and in the exercise of their powers they not only control the rates, giving fair equality to both railway and shipper, but form a court to hear complaints of any who may desire to lodge the same.

In the matter of education no better instance of the advancement that is taking place can be given than that found in the information to hand that attendance at the University of Alberta has increased 1,000 per cent in five years, and is now thoroughly representative of all settled portions of the Province. The students in attendance are from sixty-one distinct districts.

Then as to the prosperity which follows residence in Western Canada, J. H. Edward of Blackie, Alta., gives splendid testimony. He writes, "In the spring of 1907 I first came to this locality from the State of Iowa, Cass County, and located on a quarter section of land near Blackie. Since coming here I have been engaged in mixed farming, which I have found to be more profitable than where I formerly lived. On coming here my worldly holdings were small besides having a family to care for. I now own three quarter sections, sixty head of cattle, twenty head of horses and forty head of hogs, without encumbrance.

"During the seven years I have not had a crop fail. My best crop of oats averaged ninety bushels per acre, with a general yield of thirty-five bushels and upward. My best wheat crop averaged forty-three bushels per acre. When I have had smaller yields per acre I have found that it has been due to improper cultivation. The winters here, although at times the weather is cold, I find as a whole are very agreeable. The summers are warm, but not sultry. The summer nights are cool and one is always assured of a good night's rest. My health has been much better, as I do not suffer from catarrh since coming here. I have no land for sale, and am not wishing to make any change, but would be pleased to answer any enquiries concerning this locality."—Advertisement.

FREE FROM THOSE WORRIES

Troubles of Commuter Got Little Sympathy From Fellow Passenger on Train.

"Some of my bulbs have rotted in the ground. Ever have that happen to you?" asked the commuter of the man who sat beside him in the train.

"No, I can't say I have," replied the other.

"And the bugs in my rosebushes are a pest. Do you have any trouble of that kind?"

"Not a bug on a single bush."

"That's strange. Now, with my lawn, I find that only about half the grass looks healthy. The rest won't grow no matter how much I water it. But I suppose you know from experience what that is?"

"Never had any grass trouble, either."

"Great Scott, man!" exclaimed the commuter. "How do you manage to escape all these annoyances?"

"Very easily, sir. I live in a hotel."

Why She Went to Church.

A devout old lady had become very deaf, and, as her church was some distance from her home, decided to attend another one, which was nearer. She spoke to the minister of the second church about it, and was cordially received and urged to come whenever possible.

"Ah, well," she said, "all churches lead to heaven, and as I have grown deaf and cannot hear any of the sermon I thought I would attend your church."

STATE BREVITIES

St. Cloud.—Adolph Lindberg, for many years a saloonkeeper here, but retired the past six years, died suddenly at his home. His wife, on her return from church, discovered his body.

St. Cloud.—Roland Knutson, 20 years old, alleged to be a representative of the Maxwell Motor company, was arrested here on a charge preferred by the Duluth police, in which Knutson is said to have forged several checks.

Hastings.—In the case of Miss Alma Block vs. the Milwaukee railway, an action to recover damages for the loss of two toes in an accident, a district court jury awarded her a verdict of $2,850. Miss Block's home is at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis.—At the request of the Swedish consul, C. E. Wallerstedt, acting in behalf of his government, the Hennepin county grand jury is to again consider the death of Carl Nyrall, who was shot the night of January 27 by William F. Allen.

Crookston.—Clifford Godbout, aged 13, who was run over by an automobile driven by George O'Brien of Halstad, died. An inquest is being held. O'Brien is not blamed by eye witnesses who say the boy, who was riding a bicycle, wabbled in front of the car.

Boyd.—An attractive feature of the welcome given the Minneapolis men here was the school children. They fell in line with the band and marched uptown and then sang two or three songs in charming style. No speeches were attempted because of the short stop.

Little Falls.—A city cannot collect from a county for sprinkling the streets abutting its property in the city, according to a ruling of Judge Parsons of the district court. The city attempted to collect a bill of this kind each month for several years and finally decided to take the matter to the courts. The decision favored the county.

Redwood Falls.—The liquor interests in Redwood county have organized and raised a campaign fund of $3,000. The organization is termed the "Redwood County Taxpayers' and Voters' association," with Paul Doepke president; H. H. Turbes, secretary and Gus Backer, George Dougan, Nels Geren, P. J. Pint and M. J. Eichten, executive committeemen.

Winona.—Winona will be a fountain of wholesome hospitality during the twenty-second annual convention of the United Commercial Travelers of the Minnesota and North Dakota jurisdiction which will convene in this city. The convention dates are June 10, 11 and 12. It is anticipated that fully 1,000 delegates and friends will be in attendance upon the annual meeting.

Owatonna.—County optionists expect that the Steele county petitions will be filed at once and that the election will result in an overwhelming victory for the "drys." Steele county has but one "wet" town, Blooming Prairie, and in that village at the last election under local option the vote was close, the "wets" winning by 15. Other parts of the county are strongly in favor of no license.

St. Cloud.—The city commission has gone on record as opposed to the establishment of cigar stores in the residence district. An application for the transfer of a cigaret license held by W. W. Cotton, until recently a Seventh avenue south merchant, has been rejected. Cotton asked permission to transfer his license to a location in the southern extremity of the city near one of the ward schools.

Duluth.—Duluth physicians who specialize in eye, ear, nose and throat diseases, find "pink eye," or conjuctivitis alarmingly prevalent in this city just now, and public school physicians have also reported that a great many children are afflicted. These are sent home as soon as the disease is discovered and ordered to remain there until the symptoms have disappeared. The disease is said to be very contagious.

Duluth.—The biennial convention of the imperial council of the Modern Samaritans will be held in Duluth. It is expected a renewal of the fight for control, which resulted two years ago in the election of C. E. Lovett as Imperial Good Samaritan, ousting John Christie, holder of that office since the founding of the order, will take place. Many delegates from the Twin Cites, where there are several councils, and from other parts of the state and from North Dakota, will be in attendance.

Mankato.—June 26 has been set as the date for the "president's tour" of the automobile clubs of the state to this city in honor of John H. Hohmann, president of the State Automobile association. Governor W. S. Hammond has accepted an invitation to be a guest of the association. The Twin City autoists will leave home at 9 a. m. and come to Mankato by way of Farmington, Northfield, Faribault and Madison Lake. The visitors will spend the night in Mankato and return to their homes on the following day, Sunday.

Farmington.—A. Bayerd, contractor for the new creamery here, committed suicide by hanging himself. Mr. Bayerd stood on a small scaffold, placed a rope about his neck and kicked the scaffold from under himself. He was found about two hours later by one of his workmen. He had a wife and 16-year-old daughter in St. Paul.

Duluth.—Officers and directors of the Pittsburgh Steel company passed through Duluth on their way to Riverton, in the Cuyuna country, to make the annual official inspection of the Rowe iron ore mine, owned by the company.

BIG REWARD FOR INVENTIONS

British Government Is Encouraging Ideas Tending to Improve Development of Army Equipment.

That there are handsome rewards for those who are able to devise improvements in guns and machinery is shown in sums that have been paid in fees to inventors at army ordnance factories for the year ending March, 1914. No less than £4,000, for instance, was paid to Col. C. L. Holden, late superintendent of the royal gun and carriage factories, for various inventions and improvements connected with ordnance mountings, machine tools, etc., in addition to £500 paid on another account; while £2,350 was paid to Mr. W. T. Thomson, chemist and manager, respectively, of the Royal Gunpowder factory, for improvements in the manufacture of nitrocellulose and accompanying apparatus, in addition to a previous £1,150.

Smaller amounts, such as £250 to Mr. W. H. Turton, manager of the Royal Gun factory, for improved machines for the manufacture of ordnance; £100 to Mr. W. Lambert for a process for testing steel bullets; £25 each to William Rogers and E. F. Pullar for labor-saving and improved tools for use at the Royal Carriage department, and £20 to Assistant Foreman S. Capon, Royal Gun Factory forges, for improved muffle for use in forges, have also been paid.—Tit-Bits.

Aviators' Safety Parachutes.

The energies of practically all the inventors of parachutes for airmen have been directed towards the development of a device for the airman alone, the aeroplane itself being allowed to drop to earth unhindered. Parachutes for the whole aeroplane have just been designed by a French inventor. Two folded parachutes, contained in cone-shaped receptacles, are attached to the wings as near the ends as possible. By means of a simple mechanism, operated by the movement of a small hand lever, these parachutes are pushed out of the containers, after which they are claimed to open freely, no matter in what manner the aeroplane may be falling. All the airman has to do is to hang on to the aeroplane.

Liberal Juries.

Based on verdicts by Mississippi juries Law Notes recommends that state as a place where money is easy. The case of Illinois Central railroad vs. Dacus resulted in a verdict for $500 to a prospective passenger because a ticket agent said "d——n" to him; while in Alabama, etc., Railroad company vs. Morris it appeared that a liberal jury gave $15,000 to a white woman who was compelled to ride a short distance with three negroes, although the stingy court cut the verdict to $2,000.

Varying Estimates.

"I put my reliance in the wisdom of the plain people," said Senator Sorghum.

"But suppose the plain people do not happen to agree with you?"

"Then I refuse to be influenced by the thoughtless crowd."

Close Enough.

"Where would the average 'speed king' be without his mechanician?"

"My first guess is under the car."

Too Sour.

Professor Copeland of Harvard, as the story goes, reproved his students for coming late to class.

"This is a class in English composition," he remarked with sarcasm, "not an afternoon tea."

At the next meeting one girl was twenty minutes late. Professor Copeland waited until she had taken her seat. Then he remarked bitingly:

"How will you have your tea, Miss Brown?"

"Without the lemon, please," Miss Brown answered quite gently.—Christian Register.

Caught.

"What a pretty hat Mrs. Pinkey wore this evening."

"Did you like it, dear?"

"Yes, it was very becoming. Why don't you get hats like that?"

"You mustn't blame me if I laugh, John. The hat you like is my hat. Mrs. Pinkey borrowed it this evening. It's the $30 hat you called a fright."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Status.

"That baseball player is an ugly mug."

"He isn't. He's a pitcher."

Russia Becomes Temperate.

The prohibition of selling brandy in the government monopoly shops was introduced throughout the Russian empire from the beginning of the war, on the day of mobilization, and has now been in force for more than eight months. One of the Russian papers has made inquiries concerning the results of this measure, and has published some of the statistical data that was collected. The following list shows the consumption of vodka in the city of Moscow in 1914 compared with the preceding year: July, 612,686 gallons in 1913 and 359,124 gallons in 1914; August, 667,926 gallons in 1913 and 23,373 gallons in 1914; October, 707,688 gallons in 1913 and 2,913 gallons in 1914. During the first three months vodka could be obtained at the first-class restaurants for consumption in the same, the selling of vodka in bottles being prohibited under a heavy fine.

The Height of Atrocity.

"I see the Germans are using gas instead of shot and shell," said Harkaway. "Could anything be more atrocious?"

"Oh, yes," said Dingleberry. "It would be more atrocious if after using the gas they should fire a volley of gas bills at their victims labeled 'Please remit.'"

Flow of Language.

"What a wonderful flow of language our friend has."

"Yes," replied Farmer Corntossel. "But he doesn't use it for much except drownin' ideas."

What the average man really should have is not his rights, but his deserts.

Earmarks.

Alexander Powell, war correspondent and lecturer, said at a tea in New York:

"The English volunteer troops are splendid. You can tell by certain earmarks where they come from. You can tell the miners of the Midlands, the mill hands of Manchester, the bookkeepers of London, the—"

"How do you tell them?" a young lady asked.

"Well," said Mr. Powell, "it's easy enough to tell, for example, the bookkeepers. Every time the bookkeepers are commanded to stand at ease they try to put their rifles behind their ears."

Steep the Sassafras.

A St. Louis clergyman gloomily informs us:

"The images of the poet and the painter have ceased to charm us. We want the realities. Hence the passing of poetry."

Sassafras tea in liberal doses, about this time of year, was formerly believed to be a sound remedy for the physical conditions which generate that state of mind.

A Diversion.

"I had a delightful experience this morning," said Gasserby.

"Tell me about it," said Dorfling.

"Two old gentlemen of my acquaintance forgot the war long enough to have an argument about a disputed point in Shakespeare."

There's a Reason.

"Why didn't you laugh at the boss' joke, Bill?"

"Don't have to; I quit Saturday."

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, innesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

The county optionists are rushing the elections through fast so the people will not have any chance to see how it will work in dry counties. Let us see how it works in dry Polk with Red Lake wet before we try it.

Do not allow Red Lake Falls and Red Lake county to give us the "ha""ha" next Monday. It is now time for Pennington county to get into line for their home county. Go to election and get an X mark opposite that word NO.

We cannot see how the Deer Park and Mayfield farmers are going to stop drinking men from getting liquor, while they are nearer to Plummer than they are to Thief River Falls. Stop and consider this before you vote next Monday, and vote for the interest of your home county.

The St. Hilaire Spectator wants an explanaton of why our board of commissioners gave $4000 to aid the building of a hospital at Thief River Falls. That hospital is a necessity, and while we were opposed to bonding for any large sum, we do not think that a great number of the tax payers of Pennington county, are opposed to the assistance given by the county at this time.

Next Monday will close the county option campaign in this county, and the dove of peace and quietness will settle down to rest. Our interest in the campaign has been taken wholly in the interest of our home county of Pennington and our county seat of Thief River Falls, and whether the wets or drys win, we are confident that we have honestly and faithfully represented the best interests of the farmers and tax payers in this fight.

HE USES HIS BRAINS

The Thief River Falls Times says!

"We arrived at our conviction on the liquor question by using our brains, looking at the proposition from every conceivable angle and in a fair manner."

Those who read our last weeks issue of this paper have an idea of how much consideration we have for the Times editors brains. If this was a straight temperance proposition it would be different, but it is not, and it seem to us that any man of ordinary intelligence living in this county had ought to see it and vote No X next Monday.

Ira C. Richardson comes out with a two column article in the last weeks Times, which he concludes with this statement.

"With the city "dry" anybody starting a blind-pig would be prosecuted under the state law and the sheriff would take care of him for his fees as in other criminal cases and the fine and costs would have to be paid by the defendent and no policemen would be required.—Ira C. Richardson.

But, Ira would not you and I have to pay the sheriff's fee, and for boarding the blind pigger for three or six months? Did you ever hear of a blind pig defendent having money to pay his board and the sheriff's fee? We never did. Drive the blind swine out of Pennington county next Monday. "Wheat Shoo."

Do not forget that we have a question of vital interest to the tax payers of this county to decide next Monday.

Stand By Your Home County

Pennington county is your home, Thief River Falls is your county seat. Stand by your own interest next Monday by getting your X opposite that NO on that county option ticket. Consider that this is not a question of temperance, but a question of vital interest to us as tax payers.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Hay promises to be a very heavy crop in this locality this year.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Congressman Steenerson is enjoying a well earned rest this summer, at his Crookston home.

Since the discontinuance of the Malone post office the farmers of that locality have practically no mail service whatever.

The heavy rains of the past week have been of immense benefit to the late sown flax, as it now has a good start.

This must be rather a discouraging year for the boys' corn contest, if their corn got as hard a bite from Jack Frost as our field did.

Thief River Falls entertained a big delegation of state senators on Tuesday, who are making an observation tour of the northern part of the state. The weather has been rather against the best appearance of this locality for the past week, but the indications of the rapid development of the northern part of the state must have been apparent to the senators.

Remember that when you take your cream to the Highlanding creamery that you are helping to build up the locality in which you live. If the farmers make the mistake of shipping their cream to the cities they will eventually kill off the farmers co-operative creameries, and then they will have to take just the price that the city creameries choose to give them. Do not be led into shipping cream by parties who are interested in killing off the local creameries, so as to make it possible for the large city creameries to form a cream trust and pay their own prices for good cream.

The Ladies Aid Society of the town of Mayfield will give a picnic at the residence of Grunda Austad on June 24th. They will give an auction sale of ladies handiwork commencing at 10 o'clock A. M. There will be a good program of speaking and singing. This picnic is gotten up by the ladies to raise funds to buy seats for the new Mayfield church, and all who attend can be sure of a pleasant afternoon spent. There will be ice cream and lemonade, and plenty of cigars for all who desire to smoke. All are cordially invited to attend.

We spent a few pleasant hours with our friend Grunda Austad, last Sunday morning, and enjoyed a visit to Norway by looking at views taken of the pleasant scenery of that country. It is no wonder that American tourists like to visit that country, and if we had the means to go to Europe that would be one of the first countries that we would head for. After dinner we drove over to the Farmers' Club meeting in the Myrum school-house, where there was a large number of farmers present, expecting to hear from some dry speakers from Thief River Falls, but owing to bad roads they failed to appear. The main issue then before the people was discussed for about two hours, with an overwhelmingly sentiment in favor of the drys. Our remarks were listened to with attention, but the large majority of the farmers present were determined to vote against license, and the result is history. However we enjoyed our day out, and will endeavor to call again.

County Option Wins

A majority of the voters of Pennington county at last Monday's election voted against the licensing of saloons, and Pennington is now in the dry column. Time alone can and will tell as to whether the voters made a mistake or not, but we cheerfully bow to the will of the majority, and sincerely hope that they have not made a mistake that will retard the future growth and prosperity of this county. The county option law is on trial this year, and we opposed Pennington county taking the chances of a try out on it, until the older counties in the state had tried it. We hope that our sincere temperance friends will see all the benefits that they expected to reap from it, but fear that they will discover in a year or so, that they have caused their home county to slip a cog in the wheel of progress without in any way advancing the cause of temperance.

Washington News.

The principal topic of discussion in Washington, as in the rest of the country, is the resignation of Secretary Bryan from the cabinet.

The President, while in good physical condition, is beginning to look careworn and to show the strain of the heavy responsibilities which have been placed upon him by our unpleasant foreign relations.

Now that this new note to Germany has been made public, the action of Mr. Bryan in refusing to sign the note becomes more inexplicable, in view of the fact that he signed the former notes which made demands and took a position exactly similar to the present note.

The June crop report of the Department of Agriculture has just been issued and indicates that the wheat crop this year will be a record breaker. The estimated yield will be 950,000,000 bushels, which exceeds last year's record crop by 59,000,000 bushels If anything like the present prices prevail, the farmers should be the most prosperous portion of our population.

There are a great many who share Mr. Bryan's views in regard to the advisability of Americans taking passage on ammunition laden ships, also his view in regard to arbitrating all disputes but there are very few who approve of his action, coming at the time it did, when it was necessary for the country and the administration to present a solid and undivided front.

Secretary of the interior, Franklin K. Lane, who upon assuming office organized the government employees in the departments under his control into a club known as the Home Club, is now anxious to see the club have a handsome club house of its own with all the equipment and comforts of an up to date club. The great obstacle in the way of such an undertaking is the financing of the club, and a committee has been appointed to look into ways and means of accomplishing this.

Quite a scandal has been unearthed in regard to the United States Naval Academy, at Annapolis, Maryland. It is found that a number of midshipmen have obtained the examination questions in advance of the examinations, which made passing a comparatively easy feat for them. Two have already been dismissed from the Academy, and a number of others are under arrest awaiting the outcome of the investigation into the matter, and it is thought that about 100 in all will be involved.

NO BRIDGE WANTED

The people of eastern Pennington county are again "up against it" for any method of crossing Red Lake River. The high water in the river has put the Highlanding ferry out of commission by raising it so high above the banks that a team can not be got onto it. But never mind boys we have got a navigable river, according to the views of our Board of County Commissioners, and of course we cannot get a bridge across it.

4th of July Celebration.

L. Wojnarowski and Ben Rindahl will make preparations to entertain the people on Saturday July 3rd, at the residence of L. Wojnarowski, in the town of Hickory. They will have a large bowery with a roof over it so that the entertainment can go on rain or shine. A good program of sports will be had in the afternoon. consisting of races, base ball and other sports. First class music will be in attendance for the big bowery dance in the afternoon and evening. Everybody come and have a good time. Remember the date July 3rd.

A LITTLE EXCITED.

Some of the newspaper publishers must have got a little excited over the campaign, as bundles of newspapers came through to this post office, that had never been wrapped up or sufficiently directed to tell who they were for, or what post office was their destination. As we have a pole list of about all the people of this end of the county we rewrapped and forwarded them to their destination. There was not a single issue of the Eleven Towns that ever reached this office last week so it must have got lost altogether in the mixup.

Newspaper publishers should consider that post masters are only human beings, and that if they get so badly rushed that they can not sufficiently wrap up and direct their papers they had better keep them at home and save postage.

Cornmeal For the Feet.

Men as well as women are finding cornmeal very beneficial to aching and sore feet. Simply soak the feet in warm water into which a handful of meal has been thrown, and the meal when rubbed over the feet opens up the pores in such a manner as to stop the very disagreeable annoyance of painful feet. It is far superior to salt baths for the feet.—Philadelphia North American.

Why Milk Sours.

We are told by those who study the ways and ravages of the mischievous microbe that he is very fond of sugar and that he delights to gratify this liking by turning the supply in milk into an acid which sours the milk. These microbes are constantly in the air, alive though invisible, and ready to drop into the milk when they can. If it were possible to keep the milk from the air after the cow is milked it would not turn sour. While milk is particularly inviting to the microbe and favorable to his operations, he does not get along well under chilling conditions, and that is why the sweetness of milk can be preserved if it is kept cold. Boiling fresh milk changes the sugar in such a way that the microbe cannot feed upon it.—Baltimore American.

AN EVEN TRADE.

It Wasn't Made Simply Because the Law Wouldn't Allow It.

A traveling salesman for a Gansevoort street wholesale grocery firm, recently back from a trip through rough lands of a neighboring state, tells this possibly true tale:

"One day on my last trip I had a six mile ride to make to the county seat, and the small village in which I was had only one horse that I could hire and no other form of conveyance. I may say that a friend had landed me in the town that morning from his car, and I had sold goods enough to pay the expenses of the trip.

"Well, I got away on the sorriest specimen of a horse I ever straddled; and I was to send him back by the mail carrier, though not as a parcel post package. It took me two hours to cover the distance—I was sorry enough I hadn't walked—and as I passed the county jail on my old bag of bones a face grinned at me from between the bars of a small square window. I was too sore to smile, but I nodded to the grin, and the prisoner called to me:

"'Say, mister,' he said, 'how'd you like to trade that critter for thirty days in jail?'

"Just then I would have been glad enough to have traded, but the law wouldn't let me, and I rode on."—New York Sun.

[illegible] POLEON.

Making Tin.

The tin of trade is not pure, but has in it a little iron, lead or arsenic. Tin is a metal of chemistry. Its principal ore is called tin stone or tin oxide and is made up of tin and oxygen. To obtain the tin the ore is heated in furnaces with charcoal. The carbon of the charcoal unites with the oxygen of the ore, forming carbonic acid gas, which passes off into the air, leaving the tin, which melts and is drawn off and cooled in iron molds. This is called block tin. Tin ore is chiefly found in Cornwall, England; Banca, in Dutch East Indies; Malacca and Queensland and New South Wales, in Australia. Tin was used by the ancients. The Phoenicians obtained most of their tin from the British isles. When the Romans conquered Britain they worked the tin mines in Cornwall by means of slaves.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

AT POINT OF REBELLION

Jimmy Had Reached the Stage of Boyhood When Kissing Became Rather Tiresome.

Little Jimmy had reached the conclusion that everybody in the world had kissed him or wanted to badly. He could not help being a boy that all the ladies wanted to pet and bestow their kisses upon. In fact, Jimmy longed for the day when he would have a say so in the matter of being kissed. One day a famous woman came to call upon his mother. Jimmy chanced to enter the parlor and was directed by his mother to come up and see the noted Mrs. So and So. Jimmy knew what was coming, but he could not prevent the occurrence. The visitor took him by the hand and gently gathered him up into her lap, and as she let him down to the floor again she graciously bestowed a kiss upon his pouting lips. Jimmy jumped away from her and began to rub his lips in a vicious manner.

"What, you are not rubbing my kiss off, my little man?" questioned the woman. Jimmy was puzzled for a few moments, then replied:

"No, ma'am, I'm just rubbing it in," and then vanished through the door.

VALUE OF THE "SCRAP HEAP"

"Secondary Metals" Have Added Much to the Wealth of the United States.

In 1914 the value of the "secondary metals," exclusive of gold, silver, platinum, iron and steel, recovered in the United States was $57,039,706, according to J. P. Dunlop of the United State geological survey. This is a decrease from 1913 of $15,746,321, the secondary metals recovered in that year being valued at $72,786,027.

The term "secondary" does not imply that these metals, which are recovered from scrap metal, sweepings, skimming,drosses, etc., are of inferior quality, but it is used to distinguish them from "primary metals," which are derived from ore. While the survey figures relative to lead, zinc, copper, aluminum, tin and antimony given in this statement cover a large field and form an essential addition to the reports on primary metals, the scope of the inquiry probably reveals less than one-half the extent of the waste-metal trade. The value of the old iron and steel reused amounts to millions of dollars.

What Interested Him.

Uncle Ben Barnstraw's city nephew took him into a fire station one night just in time to see the fire laddies shinning like squirrels down a pole from their quarters overhead. "I want to stay here until they come back, so I can see them scoot back up the pole again."—Judge.

SHE QUIT
But It Was a Hard Pull.

It is hard to believe that coffee will put a person in such a condition as it did an Ohio woman. She tells her own story:

"I did not believe coffee caused my trouble, and frequently said I liked it so well I would not, and could not, quit drinking it, but I was a miserable sufferer from heart trouble and nervous prostration for four years.

"I was scarcely able to be around, had no energy and did not care for anything. Was emaciated and had a constant pain around my heart until I thought I could not endure it.

"Frequently I had nervous chills and the least excitement would drive sleep away, and any little noise would upset me terribly. I was gradually getting worse until finally I asked myself what's the use of being sick all the time and buying medicine so that I could indulge myself in coffee?

"So I got some Postum to help me quit. I made it strictly according to directions and I want to tell you that change was the greatest step in my life. It was easy to quit coffee because I now like Postum better than the coffee.

"One by one the old troubles left until now I am in splendid health, nerves steady, heart all right and the pain all gone. Never have any more nervous chills, don't take any medicine, can do all my house work and have done a great deal besides."

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

LATEST U. S. NOTE RENEWS DEMANDS MADE ON BERLIN

FORMALLY ASKS GERMANY FOR ASSURANCES THAT AMERICAN LIVES AND SHIPS WILL BE SAFEGUARDED.

ALTERNATIVE, IN CASE OF REFUSAL, NOT STATED

Document Declares Imperial Government Must Have Been Misinformed When It Assumed Lusitania Carried Arms—America Stands On Principle of Humanity.

Washington, June 11.—The United States in its latest note to Germany, just made public, formally asks the Imperial government for assurances that measures hereafter will be adopted to safeguard "American lives and American ships" on the high seas. The alternative, in case of refusal, is not stated.

It was this note to which William Jennings Bryan refused to attach his signature, resigning instead his portfolio of secretary of state and thereby precipitating a dramatic cabinet crisis. Robert Lansing, secretary of state ad interim, signed the communication which went forth with the approval of President Wilson and his entire cabinet.

Friendly terms characterize the document which renews representations made in the American note that reached Germany on May 15, after the Lusitania was torpedoed and sunk with a loss of more than 100 American lives. The German government, it is declared, "must have been misinformed when it assumed that the Lusitania carried guns, as official information is at hand to corroborate the original contention of the Washington government—that the Lusitania was an unarmed passenger ship, which, since it did not resist capture, could not be sunk without transferring passengers and crew to a place of safety."

Stands for Humanity.

The communication informs Germany that it is "on the principle of humanity as well as upon the law founded upon this principle that the United States must stand."

Opportunity is given to Germany to submit any evidence that American officials did not execute their tasks thoroughly in inspecting the Lusitania before she sailed, but the cardinal fact—that the liner was given no warning and made no resistance and was primarily a passenger ship—the American government declares throws "into the background any special circumstances of detail" and lifts the case "out of the class of ordinary subjects of diplomatic discussion or of international controversy."

The issuance of another statement by former Secretary Bryan coincident with the publication of the note added to the surprise in official quarters at the character of Mr. Bryan's argument. High officials said the note employed the very process—persuasion—which Mr. Bryan advocated and did not necessarily lead to war.

The text of the note follows:

Text of American Note.

Washington, June 11.—The text of the American rejoinder to the German government's reply to the note following the sinking of the Lusitania is as follows:

"The Secretary of State ad interim to the American Ambassador to Berlin.

"Department of State.

"Washington, June 9, 1915.

"American Ambassador, Berlin:

"You are instructed to deliver textually the following note to the minister of foreign affairs:

"In compliance with your excellency's request I did not fail to transmit to my government immediately upon receipt your note May 28 in reply to my note of May 15, and your supplementary note of June 1, setting forth the conclusions so far as reached by the imperial German Government concerning the attacks on the American steamers Cushing and Gulflight. I am now instructed by my government to communicate the following reply:

Sea Free to Neutrals.

"The government of the United States notes with gratification the full recognition by the imperial German government, in discussing the cases of the Cushing and the Gulflight, of the principle of the freedom of all parts of the open sea to neutral ships and the frank willingness of the imperial German government to acknowledge and meet its liability where the fact of attack upon neutral ships which have not been guilty of any hostile act by German aircraft or vessels of war, is satisfactorily established; and the government of the United States will in due course lay before the imperial German government as it requests, full information concerning the attack on the steamer Cushing.

"With regard to the sinking of the steamer Falaba, by which an American citizen lost his life, the government of the United States is surprised to find the imperial German government contending that an effort on the part of a merchantman to escape capture and secure assistance alters the obligation of the officer seeking to make the capture in respect to the safety of the lives of those on board the merchantman, although the vessel has ceased her attempt to escape when torpedoed.

Principles Do Not Alter.

"These are not new circumstances. They have been in the minds of statesmen and of international jurists throughout the development of naval warfare, and the government of the United States does not understand that they have ever been held to alter the principles of humanity upon which it has insisted. Nothing but actual forcible resistance or continued efforts to escape by flight when ordered to stop for the purpose of visit on the part of the merchantman has ever been held to forfeit the lives of her passengers or crew. The government of the United States, however, does not understand that the imperial German government is seeking in this case to relieve itself of liability, but only intends to set forth the circumstances which led the commander of the submarine to allow himself to be hurried into the course which he took.

Gives Official Information.

"Your excellency's note, in discussing the loss of American lives resulting from the sinking of the steamship Lusitania, adverts at some length to certain information which the Imperial German government has received with regard to the character and outfit of that vessel, and your excellency expresses the fear that this information may not have been brought to the attention of the government of the United States. It is stated in the note that the Lusitanai was undoubtedly equipped with masked guns supplied with trained gunners and special ammunition, transporting troops from Canada, carrying a cargo not permitted under the laws of the United States to a vessel also carrying passengers and serving, in virtual effect, as an auxiliary to the naval force of Great Britain. Fortunately these are matters concerning which the government of the United States is in a position to give the Imperial German government official information.

Lusitania Declared Unarmed.

"Of the facts alleged in your excellency's note, if true, the government of the United States would have been bound to take official cognizance in performing its recognized duty as a neutral power and in enforcing its national laws. It was its duty to see to it that the Lusitania was not armed for offensive action, that she was not serving as a transport, that she did not carry a cargo prohibited by the statutes of the United States and that, if in fact she was a naval vessel of Great Britain, she should not receive clearance as a merchantman; and it performed that duty and enforced its statutes with scrupulous vigilance through its regularly constituted officials. It is able, therefore, to assure the Imperial German government that it has been misinformed. If the Imperial German government should deem itself to be in possession of convincing evidence that the officials of the government of the United States did not perform these duties with thoroughness the government of the United States sincerely hopes that it will submit that evidence for consideration.

German Contentions Irrelevant.

"Whatever may be the contentions of the Imperial German government regarding the carriage of contraband of war on board the Lusitania or regarding the explosion of that material by the torpedo, it need only be said that in the view of this government these contentions are irrelevant to the question of legality of the methods used by the German naval authorities in sinking the vessel.

"But the sinking of the passenger ships involves principles of humanity which throw into the background any special circumstances of detail that may be thought to affect the cases, principles which lift it, as the Imperial German government will no doubt be quick to recognize and acknowledge, out of the class of ordinary subjects of diplomatic discussion or of international controversy. Whatever be the other facts regarding the Lusitania, the principal fact is that a great steamer, primarily and chiefly a conveyance for passengers and carrying more than a thousand souls who had no part or lot in the conduct of the war, was torpedoed and sunk without so much as a challenge or a warning, and that men, women and children were sent to their death in circumstances unparalleled in modern warfare.

With Solemn Emphasis.

"The fact that more than one hundred American citizens were among those who perished made it the duty of the government of the United States to speak of these things and once more, with solemn emphasis, to call the attention of the Imperial German government to the grave responsibility which the government of the United States conceives that it has incurred in this tragic occurrence, and to the indisputable principle upon which that responsibility rests. The government of the United States is contending for something much greater than mere rights of property or privileges of commerce. It is contending for nothing less high and sacred than the rights of humanity, which every government honors itself in respecting and which no government is justified in resigning on behalf of those under its care and authority.

Lusitania Attack Unjustified.

"Only her actual resistance to capture or refusal to stop when ordered to do so for the purpose of visit could have afforded the commander of the submarine any justification for so much as putting the lives of those on board the ship in jeopardy. This principle, the government of the United States understands, the explicit instructions issued on August 3, 1914, by the Imperial German admiralty to its commanders at sea, to have recognized and embodied, as do the naval codes of all other nations, and upon it every traveler and seaman had a right to depend. It is upon this principle of humanity as well as upon the law founded upon this principle that the United States must stand.

U. S. Would Serve World.

"The government of the United States is happy to observe that your excellency's note closes with the intimation that the imperial German government is willing, now as before, to accept the good offices of the United States in an attempt to come to an understanding with the government of Great Britain by which the character and conditions of the war upon the sea may be changed. The government of the United States would consider it a privilege thus to serve its friends and the world. It stands ready at any time to convey to either government any intimation or suggestion the other may be willing to have it convey and cordially invites the imperial German government to make use of its services in this way at its convenience. The whole world is concerned in anything that may bring about even a partial accommodation of interests or in any way mitigate the terrors of the present distressing conflict.

Vindication of Justice Expected.

"In the meantime, whatever arrangement may happily be made between the parties to the war, and whatever may in the opinion of the imperial German government have been the provocation or the circumstantial justification for the past acts of its commanders at sea, the government of the United States confidently looks to see the justice and humanity of the government of Germany vindicated in all cases where Americans have been wronged or their rights as neutrals invaded.

"The government of the United States therefore earnestly and very solemnly renews the representations of its note transmitted to the imperial German government on the 15th of May, and relies in these representations upon the principles of humanity, the universally recognized understandings of international law and the ancient friendship of the German nation.

American Rights Upheld.

"The government of the United States cannot admit that the proclamation of a war zone from which neutral ships have been warned to keep away may be made to operate as in any degree an abbreviation of the rights either of American shipmasters or of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality. It does not understand the imperial German government to question those rights. It understands it, also, to accept, as established beyond question, the principle that the lives of noncombatants cannot lawfully or rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unresisting merchantman, and to recognize the obligation to take sufficient precaution to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact of belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag. The government of the United States therefore deems it reasonable to expect that the imperial German government will adopt the measure necessary to put these principles into practice in respect of the safeguarding of American lives and American ships, and asks for assurances that this will be done.

"ROBERT LANSING,

"Secretary of State ad interim."

Flew U. S. Flag 40 Hours.

Boston, June 11.—The British steamer Colonian of the Leyland line flew the American flag for 40 hours as a protection against German submarines while passing through the war zone, according to its commander, Captain J. McDonald.

Wants Army of 200,000.

Washington, June 11.—The details of Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison's plan for the reorganization of the army became known here following his statement that he was ready to submit his plan to congress when the president sees fit to convene it. The presentation of the Garrison plan indicates a change in the administration's policy toward national defense which has been made possible largely through the resignation of Mr. Bryan.

American Note Reaches Berlin.

Berlin, via London, June 11.—The first sections of the American note to Germany arrived in Berlin late in the afternoon and the other sections began coming in early in the evening. The note will be deciphered and then will be presented to Herr von Jagow, the German foreign secretary. During the afternoon James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, called on Herr von Jagow and was closeted with him for more than half an hour.

Coin To Bear Face of Laborer.

San Francisco, June 11.—A coin bearing the image of the face of a laborer will be placed in circulation by the United States for the first time in the history of the world's coinage, it was understood, when a special gold dollar commemorative of the Panama-Pacific exposition is stamped in a few days at San Francisco. The first of the commemorative coins, $50 gold pieces, will be struck at the mint here Tuesday. This issue will be limited to 3,000.

STATE BREVITIES

Mankato.—Silk thieves are plying their trade in Southern Minnesota. One of the latest raids was made at Marshall, where the store of W. W. Cook was burglarized.

Montevideo.—The Minnesota Shorthorn Breeders' association will meet here June 17 and 18 and a strong program has been prepared. Sessions will be held at the S. G. Eliason farm.

Staples.—A handcar loaded with section men jumped the track near Vining and was run down by another car from the rear. Two men were injured about the head and may die, and a third suffered broken legs. Two others were less seriously injured. A special train from here took the three seriously injured to the Northern Pacific hospital at Brainerd.

Elbow Lake.—An attempt was made to burglarize the Elbow Lake postoffice. Entrance was effected through a basement window. Two cents, taken from the till, was all that the burglar got. A handle was knocked off the safe door, but otherwise it was not damaged and it had not been opened. Evidently the burglar was frightened away while at work on the safe.

Elbow Lake.—The high school graduated a class of 12. The address was delivered by former Senator Gunderson of Alexandria. The graduates were Lillian Hanson, valedictorian; Richard Cosh, salutatorian; Latania Ackerson, Wilhelmina Godward, Ella Holt, Viola Evenson, Agnes Dols, Gladys Sauby, Jennie Vik, Genevieve Doely, Lennie Eidal, Raymond Bolkim.

Moorhead.—Receiver J. A. Kemp of the defunct Barnesville National bank, has notice from Controller T. B. Kane of Washington that an assessment of $12,000 had been placed against the bank. This assessment is made to meet the losses of depositors of the bank at the time it went into the receivership. The sum of $48 has been assessed against each share, which totals $12,000.

Warren.—An auto train of 20 cars left Warren on an alfalfa tour. The tourists will visit the farms of about 25 of the most progressive agriculturists of the neighborhood. They will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Morkassel and speakers from the agricultural schools at St. Anthony Park and Crookston made addresses. The tour was arranged by Professor Nernal of the agricultural department of the Warren high school.

Winona.—Leaping from his automobile when he realized a collision was inevitable, A. G. Sundee, buttermaker at Fremont, fell heavily to the street at St. Charles while Northwestern passenger train No. 506 wrecked his machine. A large number of persons at the St. Charles depot witnessed the accident. According to Mr. Sundee he was about to cross the tracks when a flagman motioned him to proceed. A freight train, he said, blocked his vision.

Glenwood.—By a vote of two to three, the commissioners of Pope county have appropriated funds to employ a county agent for the coming year. Sentiment in the county turned against the county agent principle and in order to ascertain the wishes of the voters, a special election was held this spring. Those opposing the county agent won. Although the county board was not bound by the vote, it was generally supposed the death knell of this special work here had been sounded.

Waseca.—A community picnic for the farmers of Waseca county will be held by the Waseca Commercial club. Farmers' clubs gave a picnic last year, to which the people of Waseca were invited, and the townspeople will now reciprocate. The picnic will be held at Maplewood park on the east shore of Clear lake. Dean Woods will be the principal speaker. Professor Andrew Boss and Thomas Cashman are also on the program. Motorboat races, a tug of war and other sports will be provided.

Hibbing.—A new significance of the Fourth of July will be impressed upon citizens here if plans of the Hibbing Commercial club materialize. Plans whereby on Independence day aliens here can take the oath of allegiance to the United States are being formulated by the committee in charge. The administration of the oath will not be confined to aliens, but also young men of American parents who have just become of age will be invited to take part and in a formal way acknowledge their citizenship.

St. Cloud.—Preparations are being made by Stearns County Bar association for the entertainment of the State Bar association in St. Cloud in August. The new officers of the Stearns county association are: President, R. B. Brower, St. Cloud; vice president, Frank Tolman, Paynesville; secretary, City Attorney James E. Jenks, St. Cloud; treasurer, Judge J. B. Himel, St. Cloud. Committee on arrangements for convention: R. B. Brower, District Judge John A. Roeser, Senator J. D. Sullivan, Judge J. B. Himel and City Attorney James E. Jenks.

Hibbing.—Secretary J. E. Lawler has given out the names of members of the delegation which will represent the Hibbing Commercial club at the Northern Minnesota Development association meeting at Coleraine. An effort will be made to bring the next summer meeting to Hibbing.

Owatonna.—Norman Evans, one of Owatonna's foremost citizens, president of the Security State bank, dropped dead while on his way from his home to the bank. Heart failure is ascribed as the cause of death. He appeared to be in good health when he left home.

DADDY'S GROUCH FADED AWAY

Little Bobby's Question Gave Him a Chance to Recover His Good Humor.

Papa had a grouch, and an atmosphere of deep gloom settled over the family dinner table. Even little Bobby felt that something was wrong, but he had to talk or burst, and he preferred to talk.

"Daddy," he asked, "why did they throw the tea overboard in Boston harbor?"

Daddy twirled the spoon in his cup while he thought up this mean thing to say: "If it was anything like this stuff they certainly had a mighty good excuse for throwing it overboard."

Having gotten this remark off his chest, the old man felt so good that he actually smiled, and before he knew it his grouch was gone.

Skulls as Drinking Cups.

The old Scandinavian sages represent as among the delights of the immortals the felicity of feasting and drinking to drunkenness from the skulls of the foes they had vanquished on earth. Mandeville goes further, and represents the Guebres as exposing the dead bodies of their parents to the fowls of the air until nothing but the skeletons remained, and preserving the skulls to be used as drinking cups.

Needed the Hammer.

A gunner of the Garrison artillery, who had successfully passed an armorer's course, was at home on furlough, wearing the usual decoration of the hammer and pincers on his right sleeve, when he was accosted by a civilian, who asked what the decoration signified. "Oh," replied Tommy, humorously, "I'm a qualified army dentist." "I see," said the civilian. "Of course, the pincers are for extracting teeth; but what is the idea of a hammer?" "Well, you see," rejoined the soldier, "some of the chaps are a bit nervous, and are afraid to take chloroform, so as a substitute we use the hammer to knock them unconscious with."

Reason for Her Social Prominence.

"Eh-yah!" said the landlord of the tavern at Polkville, Ark., in reply to the question of the Kansas City drummer. "The lady that just passed is one of our most prominent society leaders. She's already caused four men to be shot, and as you saw, she's still medium young and considerable handsome."

During an intermission of a Josef Hofmann recital in a New Jersey town, a woman glancing through the program observed the following advance notice: "Thursday Eve., March 25th, at Carnegie hall. He of the minor brogue was stumped for only a minute.

"She might sue in Cas Welch's court."

BRYAN RESIGNS; DISAGREES WITH WILSON ON NOTE

BELIEVES REPLY TO GERMANY MIGHT POSSIBLY DRAW UNITED STATES INTO WAR—PRESIDENT ACCEPTS.

ACTING SECRETARY WILL CABLE ANSWER TO BERLIN

Lansing Will Sign Document at Once. Cabinet Approves Response Prepared to Teuton Reply on Lusitania.—Bryan to Return to Private Life.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, Who Will Return to Private Life.

Washington, June 9.—William Jennings Bryan, three-time Democratic candidate for the presidency of the United States and author of nearly thirty peace treaties with the principal nations of the world, has resigned as Secretary of State as a dramatic sequel to his disagreement with President Wilson over the government's policy toward Germany.

The resignation was accepted by the President. The cabinet then approved the response which had been prepared to the German reply to the Lusitania note. Acting Secretary Robert Lansing will sign the document and it will be cabled to Berlin at once.

Returns to Private Life.

Secretary Bryan will return to private life when his resignation takes effect. It was learned that he intends to continue his political support of the President.

Rather than sign the document which he believed might possibly draw the United States into war, Mr. Bryan submitted his resignation in a letter declaring that "The issue involved is of such moment that to remain a member of the cabinet would be as unfair to you as it would be to the cause which is nearest my heart, namely, the prevention of war."

Wilson Regrets Resignation.

The President accepted the resignation in a letter of regret, tinged with deep personal feeling of affection. The letters constituting the official announcement of Mr. Bryan's departure from the cabinet to private life, were made public at the White House at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Causes Sensation in Capital.

Dramatically the official relation of Mr. Bryan with the administration of the man whose nomination he assisted so materially in bringing about at the Baltimore convention of 1912, came to an end. It caused a sensation in the national capital, scarcely paralleled in recent years. Ambassadors, ministers and diplomatists from foreign lands, officials of every rank and station, heard the news as it was flashed by newspaper extras. They interpreted variously its effect on the delicate situation that had arisen between Germany and the United States. The resignation of the staunchest advocate of peace in the President's official family spread broadcast the belief that the policy of the United States as definitely determined upon would assert and defend the rights of the United States in any eventuality that might arise.

Originally it was the intention of the President and Mr. Bryan to have the announcement of the resignation made simultaneously with the dispatch of the note to Germany, but when Mr. Bryan did not attend the cabinet meeting until President Wilson sent for him, rumors that the President had been unable to bring the Secretary of State to his point of view filled the air. Finally, shortly before 6 o'clock, the news leaked out and was confirmed.

Bryan Keeps Secret.

When the principles on which the note to Germany should be based were discussed at the cabinet meeting of Friday, Mr. Bryan found that he could not reconcile his own position with that of the administration. Work on the note went forward, however, Mr. Bryan keeping his secret, as did other officials, awaiting the hour when the communication would be ready to be cabled.

The cabinet assembled for a final reading of the note, Mr. Bryan was absent. He declined to receive newspaper men or callers and sent out word that he had been delayed on account of important business. At the White House no word as to the reasons for his failure to appear at the meeting were given, but after the cabinet had been discussing the note for an hour, Mr. Bryan arrived, telling the newspaper men at the White House that he regretted being late.

President Sends Invitation.

It was learned that with the knowledge that his resignation had already been accepted by the President, Mr. Bryan felt it would be indelicate to attend the session unless his presence was desired by the President. When Mr. Wilson telephoned an invitation, the secretary hurried to the White House, his face somewhat drawn and pale. When the cabinet adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock, Mr. Bryan entertained seven of his colleagues, all who could attend, at luncheon at the University club. The luncheon was in the nature of a farewell.

That there had been friction between the President and Mr. Bryan has been the undercurrent of comment for several weeks, but as the President heretofore had always been able to secure the acquiescence of the secretary in his point of view, talk of resignation was discounted generally.

It came to light that the position of Mr. Bryan in the cabinet recently has become very embarrassing—his advocacy of peace being so pronounced that other members of the cabinet, who felt that the United States should assert itself, irrespective of the consequences, were understood to have on one occasion declared their intention of resigning if a policy of firmness and vigor were not adopted.

Disagreement on May 13.

The real disagreement dates back to the famous session of the cabinet when the note of May 13, following the sinking of the Lusitania was drafted, informing Germany that the United States would not omit "any word or any act" to protect its rights. At that time Mr. Bryan made a speech counseling peaceful measures and cautious action. He gave his consent to signing the note only after it was tentatively arranged that a statement at the White House should be issued and transmitted to the German government, announcing that inasmuch as Germany had accepted the principle of the peace treaties negotiated between the United States and other countries, differences between the two nations might be adjusted by a commission of investigation. Opposition to this course was most vehement in some cabinet quarters, and the President, after having considered at length Mr. Bryan's suggestion, finally disapproved it at the hour the note was sent. Some cabinet officers argued that such an appendix to the note of May 13 would be construed abroad as a weakening of the American position, and their counsel prevailed.

Since then the official relations of Mr. Bryan with the President and the other cabinet officers have been somewhat strained, although the closest personal friendship has been maintained. Officials of the administration were unanimous in their expressions of personal regret. Secretary Tumulty issued a statement to that effect, and the President reflected the same sentiment in his letter. Admiration and praise for the courageous manner in which Mr. Bryan had fought for and held to his convictions were expressed by officials on every side, including those who had been most vigorous in their opposition to his policies.

The strong personal attachment of the President and Mr. Bryan has long been noticeable in their every-day conferences. Even as they met in the cabinet room for the last time their greeting was one of affection and regard.

It became known recently that twice before in the two years and three months of his term Mr. Bryan had offered to resign so as to save the President from embarrassment, and each time the President refused to accept his resignation.

U. S. Relief Ship Starts for Mexico

Washington, June 9.—The first organized effort to relieve suffering in Mexico will begin before the end of the week. The transport Bufort, with 10,000 rations on board, is en route from Galveston to Vera Cruz. Her cargo is destined for Mexico City, still held by Zapatistas. Its arrival may precipitate a serious crisis, as thus far the military element has confiscated all incoming supplies. Seizure of the Red Cross shipments would force President Wilson's hand.

Dynamite to Check Texas Flood.

Fort Worth, Texas, June 9.—Heavy rains continued to fall throughout northwest Texas, aggravating flood conditions which have worked serious damage to crops and property and virtually isolated Wichita Falls, Gainsville and half a dozen smaller towns. At Wichita Falls dynamite was used to relieve flood conditions by cutting railway embankments near the city. Wichita river is reported doing large damage there, while the Red river, is higher than in 10 years.

The Proudest Moment.

"Oh, no! A fellow's proudest moment was not the time he came out on top in his first scrap with "the kid next door." Nor was it the first time he "saw" Mary Jane home from the party. Nor, again, was it when she 'named the day."

It wasn't when he made his biggest business deal; got his largest raise; became a partner in the concern and was paying an income tax.

And while this, too, was a proud moment, the proudest of all was not when the first-born came, nor was it when the youngster first lisped "dada."

All those were big moments, moments most every fellow remembers long and happily, but the real proudest moment was the first time when He wore his first pair of long pants!

"Economics, hey?" said the father. "If that's got anything to do with economy, I don't see what makes you think you've got any special aptitude for the study."

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

There will be plenty of men to do the Dakota and northern Minnesota harvesting this year, as there is the usual surplus of idle laboring men beginning to show up in the Northwest, which always appear during a Democratic administration,

Bryan has resigned, and is now out of the way. Some may criticize him for stepping out of his office at this time, but we are of the opinion that it is the best thing that he could have done, and that the country had better let him remain a private citizen. He may gather a handfull of followers that will endorse his ideas, but the great mass of the American people will stand solid behind the President at this time.

The Italians getting into the European war will be of immense benefit to the laboring men of this country, as they are shipping the "Dagos" back to their native land, to join the army. Every two of them that goes will leave a vacancy for at least one respectable American laboring man, and as the laboring market is overcrowded at the present time, America will bid the "Dagos" good-bye without any regrets, and should they fail to ever return, there will be no flags displayed at half mast.

The editor of a North Dakota exchange is a public benefactor and when he dies the people of his county ought to erect a monument to the honor of his memory. He has discovered a new way to get rid of mosquitoes. He tells you simply to rub alum on your face and hands. When the mosquito takes a bite it puckers his gazoopie so it can't sting. Then it sits down in a damp place, tries to dig the pucker loose, catches its death of cold and dies of pneumonia.—Bemidji Sentinel.

There seems to be a considerable difference of opinion, among the tax payers regarding the appropriation of $4000 by our county commissioners, to aid in the building of a hospital at Thief River Falls. As to whether the commissioners pleased or displeased a majority of the tax payers is not open for discussion at this time. The deed is done, and the pledge of the county is given to contribute the $4000, and we now owe it and must pay it. It is early to discuss the election of the next board of county commissioners, but if you are of the opinion that they did wrong to appropriate this money for that purpose make a note of it in your political account book, and tell them about it, if they seek a re-election to their present jobs.

The farmers who are shipping their cream to the city creameries away from their local creamery are a detriment to the interest of the country in which they live. The Highlanding creamery was built by the farmers and is owned by the farmers, and has been one of the chief factors in the developement of this part of Pennington county. Had that creamery not been built at the time it was, it would have been nearly impossible for a large number of our farmers to have remained in this new country. This reminds us of a story of the girls who rode into town with an ox team, and when they got onto the sidewalk they raised their parasols, and would not look at the old man driving a yoke of oxen on the street, that had hauled them to town a distance of sixteen miles. So it is with your local creamery. Do not forget the Highlanding creamery that stood by you when you were in a pinch, but give it your patronage. Build up the locality in which you live, instead of the city concentrated creameries. Do not hesitate to loose one-half cent a pound on your cream, if you can raise the price of your farm $5.00 an acre.

Where Art Ceases.

All art is a matter of nature or life acted upon by man; a part taken out of its accidental surroundings and given artistic form. At either side of the field of true art is a waste place where art ceases to have beauty. And the waste on the one side is reached when the artist becomes so enamored of life that he forgets to interpret, to give artistic form, and only brings forth a photographic image. While the waste on the other side is reached when the artist perfects his form but forgets to put life into it.—Sheldon Cheney.

Pictures In Gardens.

Above most other arts, landscape architecture is based on nature, and the art chould be practiced on natural lines. The evolution of growing things, the development of distinct types of effect, although greatly varied, can be, and should be, made to bear the stamp alike of definite, though perhaps instinctive, ideas throughout the various kinds of landscape gardening, whether it be a park, an estate, a village garden or a window box. It should make a fine picture, no matter how small or how large.—New York Telegram.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

The small grain is looking fine, notwithstanding the heavy rains of the past three weeks.

The Kolski band of Deer Park furnished the music for the big ball at Oklee last Saturday evening.

The big Barnum and Baily circus is to be at Crookston on July 7th. This circus only shows in the largest cities, and will not exhibit at Thief River Falls.

We are a little better off up here than the people in parts of Kansas who have been drove away from their homes no floods, and killed by cyclones.

There were several realestate men up to Highlanding looking after farms to buy last Monday, but could not get across the Red Lake River to come over on the south side.

It appears that the temperance people created a riot on the streets of Thief River Falls on Sunday evening June 13, in which Lally Gillon was seriously if not fatally injured.

The past three weeks have been so wet that the farmers who have corn can not get onto the land to cultivate it at all. The highest land can not be driven over with horses, owing to the continuous rains that we have had.

If you want to enjoy a big celebration July 3rd, do not fail to attend the entertainment being gotten up by Wojnarowski and Rindahl, at the residence of Laurance Wojnarowski, in the town of Hickory.

Eugen V. Debbs the noted Socialist speaker has been making a speaking tour through Minnesota this month. He has drawn large crowds wherever he went, notwithstanding he charges an admission fee to hear a political speech.

The state experiment station is out with a bulletin advising the shallow cultivation of corn. But the cultivation of corn is something that the people of this locality have not been able to do for the past three weeks, unless they used ducks instead of horses.

Goodridge will have a big 4th of July celebration, on Monday July 5th, a big program has been prepared, with speaking in the forenoon, and a good program of sports in the afternoon, with a grand display of fireworks in the evening, and a big bowery ball in the afternoon and evening. Everybody is going to Goodridge July 5th,

There is only one chance now for a farmer to meet with a serious loss on crops, and that would be by hail. While this part of the country is not subject to hail storms, yet there has been some years that parts of the eleven towns have had hail that entirely destroyed the crops. If any farmer feels that he would rather insure his crop against loss by hail we have the agency of the St. Paul Mutual Hail and Cyclone Insurance Co., and can insure your crops against loss by hail, at the rate of not to exceed 5 per cent. If you feel like running your own risk do so, but if you prefer to have some one else run the risk so you will get the cash if your crop is haild out, drop a postal card to W. G. Hunt, Sunbeam, Minn., and he will call on you and insure your crop against loss by hail in a reliable company.

A pair of spectacles were found loose in the mail sack that came to this office Tuesday.

The people of Mayfield township are petitioning for mail service. There is a strip of country in western Deer Park, Mayfield and Kratka townships about ten miles square that have not got any mail service at all, and the matter will be placed before the post office department to try and get mail service for that part of the eleven townships.

The ladies aid picnic held at the residence of Grunda Austad, in the town of Mayfield yesterday was not as largely attended as it would have been had the roads not been so bad. The ladies served a fine lunch, and in the afternoon held their auction sale of ladies handiwork and closed out their entire stock. The proceeds of the picnic will be used to buy seats for the new Mayfield church.

The Clearwater river is higher than ever before now as that dam dam at the outlet of Clearwater lake has gone out and let about four feet of the level of the lake into the river at one time, which of course made a big food. Thare was a number of attempts made to get a dam dam put into Red Lake river at the outlet of Red Lake, but the people "got next" to the scheme and it was defeated. With the present high stage of Red Lake River it would not be very nice to have four feet of the level of Red Lake turned into it, and yet that is what always happens on the Clearwater, and would happen here if they had got a dam dam put in at the outlet of Red Lake.

BIG PRIZES FOR WOOL.

Prizes aggregating $250 in cash are to be awarded at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, for the best wool shown. This amount is given in addition to the generous premiums for sheep in order to encourage the raising of more sheep in the Northwest. Magnus Brown, of Farmington, in charge of the wool exhibit, declares that the high price of wool is bound to stimulate sheep growing to a remarkable degree in the immediate future.

CANADA APPEALS TO CITIZENS.

"Don't lag; follow the flag."
"Your king and country need you; enlist now."
"Every fit man is wanted"
"Remember Belgium; enlist now"
"Britain is fighting for the freedom of Europe and to defend your mothers and sisters."
"What will you think in the years to come when people ask you: Where did you serve your country in the great war?"
"What will you answer them when your children grow up and say: "Father why weren't you a soldier too?"
"Fight for the freedom with the strength of free men."

More than a score of multi-colored posters with the above appeals have been brought to Crookston from Canada by Paul G. Johnson, who was here last night on his way to Bemidji where he has interests.

"Canada," he declared "looked like a military camp when I was there. In Vancouver a person can see troops marching up and down the streets at all hours of the day and night and they attract no more attention than a passing auto would here."

The posters, he said, were effective. Canada has sent thousands of soldiers to the front and will send thousands more before the great conflict that is raging on the other side of the big pond is brought to a close.—Crookston Daily Times.

Mr. Highbrow chuckled and shook his head.

"At the same time," he resumed, "the fashionable woman of today reminds me of the prophet."

"How so?" said his interlocutor. "How so?"

"She hasn't much on 'er in her own country," was the smiling reply.

VILLA TO SUBMIT PLAN FOR PEACE

GENERAL FELIPE ANGELES GOES TO WASHINGTON TO REPRESENT MILITARY.

NEW ALIGNMENT IS EXPECTED

Officials Believe Best Elements of Carranza and Villa Factions May Form Organization Following Split in Cabinet.

El Paso, Texas, June 22.—Civil and military representatives of the Villa government will submit a plan for the pacification of Mexico to the Washington government, probably the latter part of this week.

It is understood the plan has the approval of General Villa; that General Felipe Angeles has gone to Washington to represent the military, and that Miguel Diaz Lombardo, foreign minister, will reach the border in a few days, en route to Washington to represent the conventionalist civil government.

Angeles Leaves Villa.

Washington, June 21. — General Felipe Angeles, artillery expert and right hand man of General Francisco Villa, has left his chief and is now in the United States en route to Boston, Mass., to visit his family.

Definite word to this effect reached the United States government from its border agents, who reported that Angeles had crossed into American territory secretly. An explanation advanced was that Angeles was coming to the United States to confer with prominent Mexicans who have been living in exile, taking no part in the revolutionary activity, but who lately have been planning to form a coalition with some of the forces in the field to enable them to get the "active moral support" which President Wilson announced in his recent statement the United States soon would give some group unless the warring factions could agree among themselves.

New Alignment Expected.

Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of the Villa-Zapata government, said he had heard absolutely nothing of the movements of Angeles. The Carranza agency gave out a statement pointing out that Angeles probably never would return to Villa's standard.

Many officials took the view that Angeles had left Villa because of personal differences which began shortly before the battle of Celaya, in which Villa lost his first important contest.

With Angeles' move coming on the heels of the split between General Carranza and his commander in chief, General Obregon, some officials were encouraged to believe that out of the tangle might come a new alignment comprising the best elements of the Carranza and Villa factions, forming an organization which might, if successful in dominating the situation, be accorded recognition by the United States.

No information was received through official channels from Vera Cruz concerning the resignations of the four cabinet ministers whom General Obregon has insisted should be retained nor was any explanation available for the removal of General Carranza to an isolated fort in the harbor of Vera Cruz.

For New Western State.

Durango, Colo., June 19.—Thirty-five thousand dollars, it is announced, has been subscribed to aid the movement to form a new state from territory taken from Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and Utah. These states adjoin and the people living about the point where all four touch believe they are being neglected by all four commonwealths. The Durango Chamber of Commerce will, therefore, ask congress to form a new state, or at least a territory, with Durango as the capital city.

KAISER CALLS ATTACK ON KARLSRUHE WICKED

Amsterdam, June 19.—A message received here from Frankfort says the grand duke of Baden, now at the front, has sent the following telegram concerning the recent raid on Karlsruhe by French aeroplanes to the burgomaster of that city:

"Emperor William has telegraphed to me his deep indignation at the wicked attack upon our beloved Karlsruhe. The poor, innocent victims among civilians have greatly afflicted him."

RELAY DASH ENDS AT SEATTLE

TIME ESTIMATED FOR TRIP FROM CHICAGO IS SMASHED.

One in Auto Party, Trying to Beat Relay Auto, is Killed, Two Injured.

Seattle, Wash., June 22.—Ending an automobile relay dash across the continent from Chicago to Seattle, calling the attention of the motoring public to the opening of the National Transcontinental highway, the car which completed the last leg of the journey from Ellensburg, Wash., 131 miles from this city, brought up at the city hall here at 11:03 a. m., smashing the time estimated for the trip by 2 hours and 51 minutes.

Officials of the Yellowstone Trail, in charge of the run, figured the trip which began in Chicago at noon, June 15, would require 100 hours, or an average speed of 24.4 miles an hour for the entire tour.

Rival Racer's Neck Broken.

George E. Dickson of Ellensburg, a member of the state legislature, was instantly killed near Redmond, a short distance north of Seattle, shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning when an automobile in which a party was attempting to beat the Chicago-Seattle relay auto into this city by taking another route, skidded on the slippery road and went into the ditch. Dickson's neck was broken.

John Kelleher, the driver of the car, escaped with two ribs broken. The third occupant of the machine, John Gilmour, sustained a number of painful brusises. Both men live in Ellensburg. Dickson's body was removed to an undertaking establishment at Redmond. A message which he carried from the mayor of Spokane to the Seattle executive was brought to this city by a deputy coroner.

Message to Seattle Mayor.

The official car bore a message from the mayor of Chicago to the mayor of Seattle, the communication, which was signed by Mayor Henry H. Thompson, being delivered to Mayor Hiram C. Gill by Mayor Samuel Kriedel of Ellensburg, who made the last relay in the automobile. The message was handed by Gill in the presence of representatives of the Automobile club of Seattle, numerous officials and a crowd of motoring enthusiasts which jammed the executive offices.

WILL RESIST U. S. MARINES.

Nogales, Sonora, June 21.—Governor Jose Maytorena authorized the statement today that the entire forces under his command would be used if necessary to resist the landing of American marines on the west coast to protect foreign settlers of the Yaqui valley Indians now at war.

2,000,000 Teutons Face Russians.

London, June 18.—Reuter's Petrograd correspondent says the Russian military critics estimate the total Austro-German forces operating against the Russians as not less than forty-five German and 26 Austrian army corps (about 2,800,000 men.) It is asserted that 15 German army corps (560,000 to 600,000 men) are operating on the Lubaczowka-Wisznia front in addition to the Austrian troops, while it is probable that the Germans have seven army corps (280,000 men) in the Baltic provinces.

TORNADO OF SHELLS KEPT UP BY FRENCH

GREAT DRIVE AGAINST GERMANS ABOUT ARRAS AND ALSACE CONTINUES.

TEUTON POSITION CRITICAL

Berlin Admits That Kaiser's Troops Have Surrendered Section of Trenches North of Lorette —French Losses Heavy.

Vienna, via London June 21.—The Austro-German troops in pursuit of the retreating Russians have crossed the Galicia border to the north of Sieniawa and have reached the heights north of Krezow, Russia, and occupied the Russian town of Tarnogrod, according to an official communication issued by the war office.

London, June 21.—The great French drive about Arras and Alsace continues. Following its impetuous initial advance at Souchez and Neuville, the left wing army set about strengthening the positions thus gained, while the artillery kept up a continuous tornado of shells and high explosives to discourage German counter-attacks.

The German batteries, however, replied with fierce bombardment and a duel of the big guns was precipitated which almost equalled the fury of the previous terrific cannonade when the French batteries alone fired continuously during 24 hours an average of more than 200 shells a minute.

Position of Germans Critical.

Against the Rhine positions the French made a fresh advance when they crossed the Fecht in Alsace, and occupied with their advance guards the outskirts of Metzeral. French gunners and riflemen, according to the French communique, have now brought under their fire the German communications between Metzeral and Munsterz, the German base and the position of the kaiser's forces at this point is reported to be extremely critical.

An entire attacking force of British troops was destroyed by the Germans north of the La Bassee canal, according to the Berlin official statement, which admits that the French on the sector between Souchez and Ecurie succeeded in penetrating the advance German trenches at several points.

Teutons Surrender Trenches.

Further admission is made by Berlin that the Germans surrendered a section of trenches to the north of the Lorette Heights. This sacrifice, according to the German report, was in accordance with their plans.

The Berlin statement adds that the French losses on this front have been equal to those suffered by the allies in the Champagne district, where, according to Berlin, the French percentage of casualties ran exceedingly high.

Thousands in Food Line.

Mexico City, June 21.—From 12,000 to 20,000 of the city's poor have been standing in line at the food distributing station from 3 o'clock in the morning until long after dark for the last seven days in an effort to get enough corn to keep alive. From 8 o'clock in the morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon they bear the hot rays of a tropical sun and from the latter hour until dark they stand in downpours of rain, for the wet season has begun.

On some days as many as 200 have been carried away on stretchers.

Marines to Protect Foreigners.

Washington, June 18. — Admiral Howard, commanding the Pacific fleet, is under orders to proceed immediately to Guaymas, on the west coast of Mexico, with three hundred blue jackets and three hundred marines and to dispatch this force twenty miles inland, if necessary, to protect Americans menaced by the Yaqui Indians. The Indians had threatened to annihilate all foreigners. Orders to Admiral Howard to proceed to Guaymas were sent by the navy department following a conference.

KAISER COMMANDS ARMIES IN GALICIA

AUSTRO-GERMANS THROW BACK RUSSIANS 150 MILES IN SEVEN WEEKS.

CLOSE TO GATES OF LEMBERG

Teutons Are Now As Near Galician City As Were Germans to Paris Last Fall—Petrograd Is Silent.

Vienna (Via London), June 22.—The Russians are in general retreat from their positions along the Werezyca river, a short distance to the west of Lemberg.

London, June 22.—An exodus of considerable proportions has already begun from Lemberg, says the Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent.

London, June 21. — After seven weeks' battering across Galicia during which the Russians have been thrown back more than 150 miles, the Austro-Germans are now as close to Lemberg as were the Germans to Paris after their dash across France last fall.

Never perhaps since before the battle of the Marne, have the Teutonic allies appeared so confident of success. Having failed in their original plan of crushing France, and then turning to Russia they have reversed the order of their strategy and now, judging by the expenditure of life and ammunition in Galicia, they have pinned their whole faith to so paralyzing the Russian army as to permit of the throwing of a tremendous weight of men and metal into the western theater, there either to break through the Franco-British line or force an interminable period of sanguinary warfare.

Kaiser is in Command.

A dispatch from Copenhagen says that the German emperor himself has taken supreme command of the Galician campaign, establishing his headquarters at Pless in Silesia as near to the front as practicable.

Although the Russian war office has had little to say of late regarding the Galician campaign, unofficial reports from Petrograd declare that the rapid retirement of the Russian forces has been accomplished without any demoralization whatsoever, and intimate that the Russian lines have been straightened and put in a state of preparedness to meet the further advance of the vast forces which are being flung against them.

Meanwhile the German official communication reports the further progress of the Austro-German forces towards Lemberg, both to the north and south of the city. It claims as well, that the Russians have been cleared from parts of the Dniester to the south.

The great question England and her allies is asking is whether Grand Duke Nicholas, commanding the Russian forces, can successfully emulate Joffre's tactics of last fall and check the Austro-Germans at the gates of Lemberg.

Optimists point out that the grand duke checked them almost at the gates of Warsaw, just as General Joffre stopped the Germans before Paris and Field Marshal Sir John Franch stopped them before Ypres, Dunkirk and Calais.

DROWNED AT ATLANTIC CITY

Seven Bathers, Carried Into Deep Water by Treacherous Undertow Lose Lives.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 21.—Buffeted by a huge wave and carried into deep water by a teacherous under-tow, seven bathers including prominent men of the Philadelphia summer colony, were drowned in the surf here. Scores of others were dragged to the beach in an unconscious condition after life guards and other bathers had battled desperately to save their lives.

One other man was drowned when six fishing smacks were capsized simultaneously as they were about to come ashore at Mississippi avenue and a score of the fishermen thrown into the water. The dead are:

Miss Marion Rhoades Creamer, 18, a student at Beechwood college, Jenkinstown, Pa.

John Lysle, 25, a prominent member of the junior bar of Philadelphia.

Philip Arnold, 18; Frank Brigham, 16; Charles J. Matlack, 28; James McCay and William Crowe, all of Philadelphia.

Charles Green, the fisherman who lost his life, resided here.

Refuses Cabinet Resignations.

El Paso, Texas, June 21.—The Carranza consulate announced, after the receipt of messages from Vera Cruz, that General Carranza had refused to accept the resignation of his cabinet.

Swedish Queen in Danger.

Berlin, June 21.—Queen Victoria of Sweden and the family of Prince Maximilian of Baden narrowly escaped injury from bombs dropped by French aviators in the raid on Karlsruhe, according to the Overseas News Agency, which says an official statement has been issued concerning the attack on Baden's capital. One bomb struck the roof of the castle above the bedroom occupied by the prince's children and another exploded above the chamber of a Swedish lady-in-waiting, Baroness Hochschild.

FOX-HUNTERS IN THE WAR

Thousands of Men Who Enjoyed That Sport in Britain Are Now at the Front.

Waterloo, according to the duke of Wellington, was won on the playing fields of Eton. Should Britain emerge triumphant from the present conflict we may find someone rising to claim that the campaign in Flanders was won in the English shires. The shires are the headquarters of fox-hunting, which most humanitarians denounce. George Bernard Shaw, for example, has no words strong enough to condemn it with. Mr. Jorrocks, the hero of a sporting novel, describing fox-hunting as "war without its guilt and only 25 per cent of its danger." It has to be admitted, however, that they who follow the hounds have answered magnificently to their country's call.

There are, it proves, 150 masters of hounds with the British colors, 3,000 members of hunts and 1,500 hunt servants. To them must be added the officers of the regular army who are accustomed to ride to hounds, likewise numbering some thousands. The total is an impressive one. It suggests that the real attraction of this sport may be that it is, as Jorrocks said, "a sort of war."

Ancient Artisans in Africa.

The question has often been asked: Was there any earlier race in occupation of the area in Africa at present held by the Bantus? In Man W. H. Beech reports that in the Kikuyu country some ancient pottery has been said to be the work of a people called Gumba, who displaced the Miathoachiana, cannibal dwarfs.

These Miathoachiana are now believed to be earth-gnomes, skilled in the art of iron working. Mr. Beech, with some amount of plausibility, suggests that they were possibly bushmen, pygmies, or both, and that they were a local indigenous race of the stone age who used flint instruments often found in the Kikuyu country. The Gumba are said to have made pottery and to have taught the Kikuyu the art of smelting. They may have been pre-Bantau Hamite invaders; but of this there is no evidence and the legend may tend to show that the first discovery of iron was made in Africa.

The Big Idea.

"Why do you want me to remain engaged to him another year? By the end of another year he won't have enough money left to get married on."

"That's what I was thinking."

Tommy's mother was an invalid, so his Aunt Lavinia looked after him and the house. And she never missed a chance of pointing out a fault or expounding a precept.

"Oh, dear," said Tommy one day, after auntie had lectured him for ten minutes, "I wish I had wings!"

"Why, my pet?" asked mother, pleased at this angelic inspiration.

"Oh, I'd fly up in the air with Aunt Lavinia, and I'd fly and fly till I couldn't get any higher."

"Yes, dear," said mother proudly, as the little chap paused impressively. "What would you do then?"

"I'd drop Aunt Lavinia!" said Tommy savagely.—Stray Stories.

LIBEL CASE IS WON BY OLIVIA EDITOR

SUPREME COURT FAILS TO FIND ANYTHING UNLAWFUL IN ARTICLE PUBLISHED.

STATE NEWS OF MINNESOTA

Interesting and Important Happenings of the Past Few Days Selected and Arranged for the Convenience of Busy Readers.

St. Paul.—The action charging criminal libel brought by the state against J. R. Landy, editor of the Olivia Times, Olivia, for articles printed June 4, 1914, concerning the candidacy of Dan W. Lawler, St. Paul, for governor, was brought to an end by a decision handed down in supreme court by Judge Holt reversing the order of the lower court to sustain a demurrer.

"Newspapers may still be permitted to express an opinion upon the merits of opposing candidates for political office and upon the influences supporting them," writes Judge Holt in his opinion. "Perhaps it is still allowable to surmise that corporations are not indifferent to the success of political candidates in spite of the stringent enactments to keep them absolutely dormant in that respect.

"We fail to find anything unlawful or wrongful in the article published. Corporations are public interests, are creatures of the law and not per se odious."

The article asserted that Lawler "has the backing of public service corporations in the state that are not in sympathy with the masses." The court holds that the statement is not per se libelous.

It holds that the court is not bound to take cognizance of the construction put upon an alleged libelous statement by the defendant or his friends.

ITALIAN "ARMY" SPECIAL

Nine Hundred Reservists from Montana Pass Through Winona—Appear Eager to Return.

Winona.—Italian reservists, hurrying across country to New York, were hungry when they reached Winona, and as a result six of them failed to regain the special train which continued east after a brief pause in the St. Paul road yards here.

When the train of fourteen coaches stopped, an army of men disentrained and hastily searched for food. At a little restaurant they bought everything in sight.

The army consisted of 500 reservists, which the Italian government is transporting from Missoula, Mont., to Italy. They passed through Winona at 9:30 A. M. Their train, which is traveling fast and making few stops, was decorated with branches of trees, and the reservists appeared eager to get back to their country.

This train is the second to pass through Winona with reservists within a week.

Buy County Fair Ground Site.

Zumbrota.—The Goodhue County Agricultural society has purchased 20 acres, three-fourths of a mile north of this village, and will use it as permanent county fair grounds. Work was commenced on the grounds and will be rushed to completion by August 20 so as to be in readiness for the annual county fair September 1, 2 and 3.

A main exhibition hall, a cattle and horse building, 30x180, a grandstand with a seating capacity of 1,000, a race horse barn, poultry exhibit building and a hog and sheep barn will be built of clay blocks. A half-mile race track is also being made under the supervision of Dr. R. C. Nickerson, a veteran turfman.

Indians Smoke Peace Pipe.

Detroit.—Ideal weather ushered in the forty-eighth annual council fire of the Chippewas of the White Earth reservation. Several delegations of Indians from Minnesota reservations and visiting Sioux took part in the parade.

C. C. Daniels, in charge of the Department of Justice affairs for Indian lands, spoke.

The usual ceremony of burying the hatchet and smoking the pipe of peace between the Chippewas and Sioux followed.

LOST BROTHER ON LUSITANIA

Virginia Woman Receives Information Regarding Fate of Relatives—Sister-in-Law Escaped.

Virginia.—Information was received by Mrs. U. G. Holloway regarding the fate of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Elliott, who were at first reported lost on the Lusitania some time ago. Later reports stated that her brother had been saved, but the information just received tells of his death.

That the passengers on the ill-fated ship little realized that the accident was so serious is evident. After the first crash Mr. Elliott told his wife to wait on deck while he went to his cabin to get more clothing. While he was in the cabin the second crash came, and the boat turned over. He was locked in the cabin below and unable to escape, so that hope of finding the body is slight.

Mrs. Elliott, who is an expert swimmer, was thrown into the icy waters as the boat keeled over. She managed to keep to the top for three hours, though the great waves tore her clothing to shreds and she was almost exhausted when picked up by a passing fishing boat and carried to the shore. Mrs. Halloway stated that her sister-in-law was now in England, and that she supposed that she would remain there while any chance to recover the body of her husband remains. The Elliotts made their home in Calgary, Alta.

Inheritance Tax $32,340.

St. Paul.—An inheritance tax of $32,340 will be received by the state of Minnesota from the estate of Frederick Weyerhaeuser, millionaire lumber king, who died April 4, 1914. This was determined at the hearing on the final accounting before Probate Judge E. W. Bazille of Ramsey county.

The original inventory of the Weyerhaeuser estate gave the value of the real estate as $60,750 and the personal property as $1,282,655.97. At the final hearing items totaling $9,060,62 were added, making the final total $1,352,466.59.

Before his death Mr. Weyerhaeuser was generally conceded to be one of the most wealthy men in the country and the announcement of these comparatively small holdings was a surprise.

Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith has been investigating and if it is shown that Mr. Weyerhaeuser disposed of his holdings in anticipation of death, the inheritance tax may be levied. It is understood that the state will accept the tax as estimated, with the understanding that additional levies may be made if there is any basis found.

Epworth League at Mankato.

Mankato.—The annual convention of the Mankato district Epworth league opened in North Mankato. The first evening there was a lecture on "The Loyal Leagues" by Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, D.D., pastor of St. James M. E. church, Chicago. The following forenoon was devoted to the department of spiritual work, with papers by Miss Carrie Thew of Vernon Center and Miss Margaret Snyder of Amboy; and the department of missions, with talks by Miss Fannie Wilson of Waseca and Miss Heragnaz Hovagunian of Turkey, the latter appearing in oriental costume.

Abolish Duluth Land Office.

Duluth.—The Duluth field division of the general land office will be abolished on July 1, and the work pertaining to it will be transferred, according to orders just received here. The order is due to the curtailment of government business in public lands.

The division includes Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the two Dakotas. South Dakota will be attached to the Cheyenne, Wyo., division, and the other sections will be handled from the general land office. S. J. Colter will likely be transferred.

Grape Juice Christens "Excelsior."

Excelsior, Minn.—With grape juice taking the place of champagne the "Excelsior," latest addition to the fleet of express boats at Lake Minnetonka, was launched at Excelsior. Miss Blanche Duncan, daughter of Ben Peterson, boat dispatcher, christened the boat. The Excelsior is the seventh express boat to enter the service. It is larger than any of the others and is said to be speedier. It was placed in service immediately.

Cannon Falls Pioneer Dead.

Red Wing.—Word has just reached here of the tragic death of Henry Thompson, 70 years old, a pioneer of Cannon Falls and vice president of the Farmers and Merchants National bank of that city, from scalds suffered in a sulphur bath at Ashland, Ore. He went west some time ago in search of health.

Charges Against Police Dismissed.

Austin.—Indictments against Chief of Police Galt and Policeman Lane were dismissed by Judge Quinn, who held that the evidence was insufficient. The men were charged with taking $12.50 from a prisoner.

Elks Gather at Faribault.

Faribault.—The eleventh annual convention of the Minnesota Elks' State association was held at Faribault. A thousand Elks and their wives took part in the excellent program prepared for their entertainment.

Special trains were run to the city, from Minneapolis and St. Paul, Duluth, Mankato, Red Wing, Rochester and Winona. Many visitors will motor here.

An expert decorator from St. Louis decked the city in gay attire.

TORNADOES SWEEP SOUTHERN STATES

MANY DEAD AND INJURED LEFT IN PATH OF TERRIFIC STORMS.

RAIL PRESIDENT IS DROWNED

Charles Morris and Son Lose Lives When Bridge Gives Way—Seven Tornadoes in Succession Passed Over Ellis County Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo. June 19.—Seven persons were killed as a result of the wind and rain storms that prevailed in this section of the southwest. More than a score of others were injured, none fatally.

Three persons lost their lives at Richmond, Mo., when a terrific windstorm swept that section of Ray county. Mrs. Arthur Covey and small child and Mrs. Mary Bell were the victims. The Covey home was lifted from its foundation, carried 50 yards and demolished. Mrs. Covey and child were buried in the wreckage.

Mrs. Bell was struck by lightning. O. C. Williams, a farmer, and his wife, living near Richmond, were struck by wreckage when their home was swept away. Both were dangerously injured.

Railroad President Drowned.

At Westmoreland, Kan., Charles Morris, president of the Kansas Southern and Gulf Railroad, his son Guy and John Gunther, a druggist, were drowned, when a bridge gave way under the gasoline car which is operated on the railroad. Five others persons who were on the car escaped. The accident followed a cloudburst.

Morris and his son were on an inspection trip when they met death. Near Westmoreland a bridge had been taken out by rising water in Rock Creek and the car was stopped. Morris, his son and Gunther decided to remain in the car while the others went back to tell of the discovery. A wall of water suddenly swept down upon the car and whirled it into the swollen stream. None of the bodies has been recovered.

Lightning Kills Farmer.

Gene Nicholas, a farmer living near Wamego, was killed by lightning during the storm.

The rains, which extended over Northern Oklahoma, all of Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and into Eastern Nebraska, were the heaviest in years according to reports to the weather bureau. At Paris, Mo., and near Lamonte, Mo., high winds unroofed houses and destroyed small buildings, but as far as known no lives were lost.

The disturbance was moving in the direction of the Great Lakes.

Reports from Ellis county, Kansas, were that seven small tornadoes in succession swept that section. Houses were demolished and great trees were uprooted.

U. S. S. ARIZONA IS LAUNCHED

Largest Battleship in the World Slides Into the Water at New York.

New York, June 19.—The largest battleship in the world, the Arizona, was launched here at the New York navy yard in Brooklyn. In the presence of many thousand spectators pretty seventeen-year-old Esther Rose of Prescott, Ariz., smashed across the bow of the mighty ship a bottle filled with the first water that passed over the spillway of the great Roosevelt irrigation dam. Thus the superdreadnaught was christened with the name of a prohibition state.

Loosed on her ways by a hydraulic trigger, the gayly decorated vessel, still minus her mighty guns, slid majestically into the waters of the East River. Twenty-five thousand pounds of grease had been used to ease her passage. Cheers came from the vast throng. Those present included Governor Hunt and fifty prominent citizens of Arizona, Vice-President Marshall, who represented the President, and Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

The Arizona is a great triumph for Rear Admiral Nathaniel R. Usher, head of the navy yard, and his subordinates. She was built in fifteen months, or three months less time than the privately built Pennsylvania. She will be able to throw from her dozen fourteen-inch rifles a broadside of 16,800 pounds a distance of twenty miles and make good target practice at twelve miles. She will displace 31,400 tons light and more than 32,000 tons when fully equipped and manned. On the water line she will measure 600 feet and will have an over-all length of 608 feet. Her beam is ninety-seven and a half feet and her mean draft almost twenty-nine feet.

The Arizona is armored according to a new and entirely American plan.

No Intervention in Mexico.

Washington, June 19.—"Intervention or invasion" in Mexico is not contemplated and cannot be so construed from orders given to Admiral Howard to take marines and bluejackets into Mexico near Guaymas to rescue an American colony threatened by an uprising of Yaqui Indians. This was emphatically and officially declared by high officials. They stated orders to Howard could not be construed as a change in the administration "hands off" Mexican policy or even as a step toward intervention.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think what you can make with wheat around $1 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada. There is no conscription and no war tax on lands. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient. DEVOTED HIS TO GOOD WORK

Devout Little Johnny Would Give His Penny to Buy Bibles for Poor Kids.

The little visitors at Aunt Mary's were Helen, age six, and John age four. They played keeping grocery under the piano, envelopes, books and other articles representing the stock in trade. They took turn about as grocer and customer. The grocer bore the name of Mr. Popcorn.

"Mr. Popcorn," said Helen, "have you any rabbits this morning?"

"Yes'm," answered the polite grocer.

"Are they nice and fresh?"

"Yes'm."

"Then you may give me a good, big fat one for 15 cents."

During a lull in the grocery transactions Aunt Mary gave each of the visitors two cents—two cents in real money.

"And what are you going to do with the money?" asked Aunt Mary.

"I'm going to put my two pennies in the bank," said Helen.

"And I," said John, "I'll buy candy with one penny."

"And what will you do with the other penny?"

And John, who has been impressed by the missionary talks at Sunday school, answered: "I'm a-goin' to give it to buy Bibles for poor kids."—Providence Tribune.

The Noiseless Age.

Diggs—Would you like to join our society for the suppression of useless noise?

Biggs—Don't know. When are you going to start?

Diggs—With the next political campaign. We are going to have the number of cheers reduced from three to one.

How we do love an idle person who comes along and bothers us when we are busy!

HAD HIS MOTHER PUZZLED

Washerwoman Never Could Understand Son, Therefore She Dubbed Him "Grasshopper."

Polly, the washerwoman, was deep in a discussion of her family's shortcomings.

"Mah fambly suttinly do hab some shawtcomin's," she declared. "Fur instance: Mah son Jawge es jes' lak a grasshoppah."

"My goodness!" gasped the mistress. "How, Polly?"

"Well, buhcawse only two things in de whole worl' worries him: He worries dat he has to wake up to eat, an' den he worries dat he hab to stop eatin' to go to sleep. Ah suttinly doan undahstan' dat boy."

"But how do you conclude that he is like a grasshopper?" queried the perplexed mistress.

"Jes' buhcawse he er de most misundahstandable creature dat Ah kin think of, dat's why," she answered.—Louisville Times.

Question of Supplies.

"Daisy," remarked her Sunday school teacher, "don't love your cat too much. What would you do if it died—you wouldn't see it again?"

"Oh, yes, teacher; I should see it in heaven."

"No, dear, you're mistaken; animals cannot go to heaven like people."

Daisy's eyes filled with tears, but suddenly she exclaimed triumphantly, "Animals do go to heaven, for the bible says the promised land is flowing with milk and honey, and, if there are no animals, where do they get the milk!"

The Real Thing.

Little Lemuel—Say, paw, what is gratitude?

Paw—Gratitude, son, is the thing that shows up when a rich old bachelor dies and leaves all his money to the woman who once rejected him.

THE SUNBEAM.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 3a 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

Wheat is steadily going downward, owing to heavy crops of winter wheat in the southern states,

Polk county is likely to have a gold rush, as it is reported that valuable minerals have been discovered near Mentor in that county,

The Fourth of July looses most of its flavor this year by falling on Sunday, as neither the 3rd or the 5th are the genuine article of the glorious 4th,

..Holland is to enter the European war on the side of the allies. They are likely to get all of the nations into the war before it is over from present indications,

No canteens are allowed at Lake City, where the state militimen are camped for annual practice, and the boys have to get along with common water.

Champ Clark, speaker of the house of Representatives has invited the whole state of Missouri to attend the wedding of his daughter. That will be somewhat of a crowd,

William E. Lee of Long Prairie is again being "pushed" forward as a candidate for governor next year, but he will find that he is out of date and on the shelf if he ever tries that little game again,

North Dakota as a state are not able to pay the expenses of taking prisoners to the state penitentiary, We just mention this for the reason that we often heard the remark made during the option campaign of "Look at North Dakota." Yes look at North Dakota and compare it with Minnesota.

We wonder how much longer it will take Bryan's clock to run down, so it will stop. He ought to know that the American people are tired of his senseless "appeals" and it is a wonder that the newspapers continue to use them as space fillers. He and Roosevelt had ought to run against each other for pound master, just to see which would get the most votes, as one is about as far astray as the other, regarding the policy of America in the present war.

The Duluth Herald is of the opinion that "local option the historic policy of Minnesota has served well the cause of temperance," Is it possible that the Herald begins to dread that little county option fight that will sooner or later be fought out in St. Louis county. When that option fight gets on tap in that county the wets of Duluth will regret that they so bitterly fought the division of the county last winter, as there is an antagonistic feeling against Duluth in a large portion of the territory that fought for a just and equitable division of the county. So confident were the members of the legislature from that district, that county option would not affect them, that they supported the measure in the legislature. Now they will undoubtedly have a chance to have a try out by a county vote, as the "dry wind" is blowing in their direction. When the option vote comes St. Louis county will be added to the drys to keep Hennipen county company.

Big Circus

COMING THIS WAY SOON

The Barnum and Baily Greatest Show on Earth will exhibit at Crookston on Wednesday July 7, and this good news is being heralded everywhere by the many agents of this, the biggest and foremost amusement institution in the world, The Barnum and Baily Circus has always been the largest that travels and this season the management has found it necessary to add many more cars to their trains in order to provide for the great equipment. It requires 85 double length railroad cars to transport the big show, 1280 people are employed, there are 700 horses, 40 elephants and a menagerie of 110 cages, 480 world famed artists take part in the greatest circus program this world has ever known.

A fitting introduction to the wonderful performance this year, is the presentation of the new, magnificent spectacular pageant "Lalla Rookh" in which nearly 1000 characters take part.

In the circus proper, which is presented in three rings, four stages, the hippodrome, and in the dome of the largest tent ever erocted, 480 performers from every nation in the world take part and present a vast array of foreign features entirely new to America. A wonderful trained animal exhibition is given by the Marvellous War Elephants, Pallenberg's Wonder Bears, Madam Bradna's Angel Horses, Thalero's Dogs, Ponies and Monkeys, and the Barnum and Baily Statue Horses,

Great interest is already being shown in this neighborhood and great crowds will no doubt, go to Crookston for the biggest and enjoyable holiday of the year. Everyone is advised to get an early start in order to be there in time for the parade which starts promptly at 10 A. M., and which is said to eclipse anything of its kind ever before attempted in the history of circus business.

Neptune will celebrate July 5th

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

The mosquitoes and black flies, are very bad owing to the extremely wet weather.

It is to be hoped that it will soon get done raining, so we will have pleasant weather for haying.

Crow Wing county went wet at last Monday's election, while Mower, Grant and Wilkin county went dry.

There have been numerous culverts washed out on the road grades by the heavy rains of the past week.

The farmers have been busy this week putting in small branch ditches to run the surplus water off from their grain fields.

Every time the Thief River Falls base ball club wins a game from Red Lake Falls, the Gazette calls them thieves.

The market day held at Thief River Falls last week was a success, and they are to have more of them in the future.

There will be a picnic and bowery dance at the Fore boys in Deer Park township to-morrow afternoon and evening.

P. O. Nelson, of Thief River Falls, was doing oculist work in this vicinity this week, and soliciting subscription for the Appeal To Reason.

The potato bugs seem to have survived the wet weather all right, as we found one in our potato patch floating around on a chip waiting for the potatoes to come up above water.

Chase Bros. Land Co. have put in a real estate office at Thief River Falls. They came from Manomen to Thief River Falls, and were out looking over realestate in this locality Wednesday.

Don't complain about the excessive rains and wet weather, and begin to talk about changing location, but just read the daily papers, and you will see that conditions are worse elsewhere than they are here.

From a careful sizing up of the damage done by the heavy rain of last week, we are of the opinion that the actual damage to crops will be very light in eastern Pennigton county. Of course the corn crop will not amount to anything as it is an impossibility to get onto the land to cultivate it.

An all day meeting of the Mayfield Farmers Club and the Deer Park Ladies Aid will be held at Wm. A. Swanson's, July 10th. A special program has been prepared and a good time is assured to all who attend. All members are requested to be present as there is special committee work to be attended to.

Canada will have to hustle to obtain immigrants to take the place of them that are being killed in the European War, as there is now only about 160 left out of the first regiment they sent over there and the balance are buried in Northern France. They died just to show Kaiser Wilhelm that England could not be bluffed.

Last Saturday afternoon this locality was deluged with one of the "just awfulest" rain storms that has visited this country since it's settlement. The rain poured down so fast that the water did not have time to run off, and all the highlands were flooded. The damage to crops it would be hard to estimate at this time, but it will certainly be heavy.

Mrs. T. G. Rome, visited her mother at Oklee on Wednesday.

There is one good feature about the county option agitation, and that is that it gives the reformers a means to connect with the pay check.

The flumeway and the mill race of the Hanson and Barzen Milling Company was swept out by the high water of Red Lake river, last Monday, doing damage of about $3000. The dam is in no danger of going out.

The big state ditches in eastern Pennington county were the salvation of the farmers' crops this week, for they certainly dumped that surplus water into the Red Lake river in a hurry.

Stiner Johnson, of Kratka township returned home from a Wisconsin visit yesterday. He reports conditions worse in Wisconsin, owing to the wet weather than they are here, as the farmers can not get onto the fields to cultivate their corn.

We have a letter, under date of June 18, from Aug. Berglund, in which he states that 3 inches of snow fell at Fort Francis on the 13th of this month. He also states that several of his former comrades in the mills, who inlisted in the Canadian regiments that are taking part in the European war, are in the list of dead.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

MARRIED: At the residence of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Klemmetson, yesterday afternoon Mr. Halvor Voxland, of McIntosh, to Miss Caroline Klemmetson, by Rev. Bjornson. The bride and bridegroom left for McIntosh this morning, where they will make their future home. THE SUNBEAM joins with their many friends in extending congratulations.

Edon Davis drove down to Thief River Falls to-day, to take down the butter from the Highlanding creamery, and will bring back a load of Vivo flour for the Ellingson Cash Store. Notwithstanding the heavy rains of the past week, there is a good dry graded road, that heavy loads can be hauled over, for the entire distance from the Highlanding creamery to Thief River Falls. Who says that Pennington county has not got roads?

BRIDGE WANTED.

We understand that a petition will be gotten up by the residents of eastern Pennington county to bond the county for $30,000 for the purpose of building a bridge across the Red Lake River at Highlanding, to comply with all the government specifications. Of course the proposition will meet with the active opposition of Commissioners Wold and Peterson, as they want a NAVIGABLE river, so the western part of the county can continue to "hog" all the road and bridge funds.

Washington News.

It is estimated that the blockade of European ports by the British has caused a loss in our custom receipts of $5,000,000 a month.

President Wilson left Washington Wednesday night for his summer home in Cornish, N. H., where he will remain until July 7, at which date he will return to Washington.

The conference lasted several hours and the President was, doubtless, given a clear insight into conditions in the old world. There seems to be no doubt that Col. House believes that the time for peace proposals has not arrived as yet.

LUMBER AND BUILDING MATERIALS.

If you are thinking of building a house, barn or any other building this year, it will pay you well to see us.

We carry complete stocks of lumber and all other kinds of building materials at all our yards, and would be pleased to have you inspect same at any time.

We would be pleased to help you plan and estimate the cost of any building you are thinking of erecting this year, and it is understood we do so with no obligation on your part to build.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN SILOS, we are Agent for the Celebrated Arctic Silos, which are the very best on the market. These Silos have stood the test of 30 degrees below zero without freezing, which no other Silo has done.

Better come in and talk it over.

The President stopped off to go to Roslyn, L. I. to have a conference with Col. E. M. House, who is generally supposed to have gone abroad as the President's special representative to look into the situation and report on the prospects of establishing peace in Europe.

The hearing of the western roads advance rate case is now on before the Interstate Commerce Commission. The roads affected are those lying east of New Mexico and Denver and west of the Mississippi River. The roads are petitioning for an increased rate on grain, grain products, live stock, fresh meats, packing house products, fruit, vegetables, etc.

Should the increase be allowed, it will bring the roads about $10,000,000 a year.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has submitted the question of government ownership of shipping lines to the trade and commercial organizations throughout the county, the result being that such bodies are overwhelmingly opposed to the government undertaking to purchase, charter or construct vessels for commercial purposes. The vote stood 698 opposed, and 82 in favor of the plan.

The reply of Great Britain to the latest United States note protesting against the unwarranted interference with our trade, has been received in Washington. The reply is very friendly in tone, points out the steps taken by Great Britain to make the burden placed upon our trade as light as possible but as for receeding from the position which she has taken, apparently such a thing is not to be thought of.

4th of July Celebration.

At Neptune

Arrangements have been made by Ben Tveidtbakk and others to celebrate on July 5th at Neptune. There will be base ball, races and a grand pow-wow and dance during the afternoon and evening. 1000 Indians will attend this big ball and celebration. Boat excursions on the Red Lake River during the afternoon and evening. Big bowery dance and grand display of fire works in the evening. Everybody come and attend this good old fashioned pioneer celebration.

Thrive Without Sunshine.

The doctrine that sunshine is necessarily helpful and beneficial to the health is not always true. The Turkish men and women upset this theory completely. Across every window in a Turkish home are lattices to keep out curiosity and sunlight. The Turkish women get as little sunlight outside of their homes as they do inside.

At the age of twelve the Moslem woman takes the veil and she is never seen without it. The only chance she gets to let the wind blow on her face is when she is seated in the courtyard and within the walls of her own home.

In spite of the fact that the men and women get so little exercise and fresh air they are strapping big and hardy people. Few Americans can match them in physique or powers of endurance.—[illegible] Republic.

MONKEY ANTICS.

The Orang Outang Is a Creature of Great Imitative Ability.

In hotels and private houses of India, monkeys have been found that were trained to wait at table, bringing dishes and articles of food in a more or less mechanical way.

The story of the talented orang outang of Buffon, the naturalist, is classic. This creature gave visitors his arm, walked with them, showed them to the door, ate with a knife and fork and drank from a glass, poured tea into a cup, sweetened it and waited till it cooled before he drank it.

An orang outang at the Jardin des Plantes in Paris regularly unlocked with a key the door of the compartment he occupied, opened the door, locked it on the other side after he had entered and then hung the key on a nail.

Flourens relates that he once visited the Jardin des Plantes in company with an aged scholar whose appearance greatly interested this orang outang, which was at large in the rooms of the institution. The scholar wore old fashioned clothes, one article of which was a tall hat with a wide brim. He was much bent from age and in walking supported himself with a heavy cane.

When the two men were about to depart the hat and cane of the old man were missing. Presently the orang outang was seen tottering through the room, his back bent almost double, wearing the hat upon his head and walking stiffly by the aid of the cane.—Chicago Herald.

Reciprocity.

"Dear Harold," with sadness she wrote to her former fiance, "as you are probably aware, I am to be married to Mr. Anthony the coming month. I shall therefore appreciate it if you will burn all the little notes I sent you, assuring you of reciprocity in regard to those you sent me."

She immediately received this reply:

"Dear Dorothy—I shall certainly comply with your request at once. And, incidentally, as your new fiance holds a few notes of mine I shall deem it a great favor if you will induce him to burn them with the rest."—National Food Magazine.

HUERTA ARRESTED BY U. S. OFFICIALS

FORMER MEXICAN DICTATOR AND OROZCO CHARGED WITH NEUTRALITY VIOLATION.

DRIVEN RAPIDLY TO EL PASO

Leaders Are Taken to Fort Bliss at Request of Mayor—Conspiracy to Incite Revolution Against Friendly Country Alleged.

El Paso, Texas, June 29.—General Victoriano Huerta, once president of Mexico, was seized by United States officers and, escorted by cavalry, taken to Fort Bliss, charged with conspiracy to incite a revolution against a friendly country and released on $15,000 bonds. Gen. Pascual Orozco, once a military leader in Mexico, was taken into custody with General Huerta, similarly charged with violation of neutrality laws and released on bonds of $7,500.

General Huerta, who had come to the United States several weeks ago from Spain, whither he exiled himself when he was unable to retain control longer in Mexico City, had been under surveillance from the time he left New York a few days ago, ostensibly for San Francisco. After Huerta left Chicago, westward bound, reports began to reach El Paso that he was bound for this city.

Uninvited Military Escort.

It was rather openly announced that the general would leave the train on which he traveled and come to El Paso from Newman, N. M., 20 miles distant. This proved to be true, but he came with military escort not of his choosing.

Federal officers had learned of his plan and Zack L. Cobb, collector of customs at El Paso, and Clifford Beckham, agent for the Federal department of justice, took several Federal officers and 25 cavalrymen from Fort Bliss and met the train at Newman.

The United States officers found General Huerta at the station, accompanied by Orozco and Major Luis Fuentes, a son-in-law of Huerta. The Mexican generals took the affair in good humor.

Taken to El Paso.

The Mexicans were taken in an automobile and driven rapidly to El Paso. A plan by friends of Huerta to serenade him as he arrived brought large crowds to the streets, but the assemblies were hurriedly broken up as word spread that Federal soldiers were escorting the general towards El Paso. Conferences were held by Mexican leaders and then a large throng assembled near the Federal building, whither Huerta and Orozco were taken.

Mayor Lee, fearing that there might be a demonstration that would start a riot, requested that the generals be taken to Fort Bliss until the department of justice should indicate what should be done with them. This request was granted, and the Mexicans were taken to the fort.

Violation of Neutrality Charge.

After Washington had been consulted, charges of violation of the neutrality laws were made against Huerta and Orozco. The men soon arranged bonds and were released.

The release of the Mexican leaders caused nearly as great a stir in Mexican and American circles as did the news of their detention. Immediately there was a revival of rumors relative to the new revolutionary movement, although Huerta reiterated his statement that he did not intend to attempt to enter Mexico unil peace is restored. The general stated that he is here merely to visit his daughter for a few days and greet old friends in El Paso.

After arriving at the home of his daughter, General Huerta received newspaper men but declined to comment on Mexican affairs. He positively denied that he was one of the leaders of a new Mexican revolutionary movement and asserted that he would never enter Mexico at the head of an armed force. "I have retired from the field as a soldier," he said, "unless my country should need my services against a foreign foe. I will never return to Mexico until after peace is established. This may take five or six years."

Huerta refused to comment on the possible effect of President Wilson's note to the warring factions.

When asked why he had visited El Paso he shook his finger emphatically and said:

"I came to visit my son-in-law and daughter. I think I have a perfect right to do that. I am en route to the San Francisco fair."

CARRANZA'S TROOPS ENTER MEXICO CITY

GONZALES ALREADY OCCUPIES CONSIDERABLE PORTION OF CAPITAL, SAYS REPORT.

FAMINE CONDITIONS WORSE

Fears Expressed That Much Suffering to Foreigners Will Follow Investment by New Army—Carranza Promises Protection.

New Orleans, June 28.—Constitutionalist troops under General Pablo Gonzales already have occupied a considerable portion of Mexico City, according to Vera Cruz reports received here by Constitutionalist consular officials. Troops under Zapata had evacuated parts of the city before the entrance of Gonzales, it was said.

Anxiety at Washington.

Washington, June 26.—Anxiety has increased in official quarters over the situation in Mexico City, with which the state department has been unable to communicate by telegraph for several days.

Reports that Gonzales was engaged in an artillery duel with the Zapatistas at Mexico City gave the first indication that the Villa-Zapata forces in the capital had determined to offer resistance to the inavding Carranza army instead of evacuating.

Reliable information indicates that General Gonzales himself cut the lines of communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City in order to isolate the Zapata force. This prevents the state department from communicating with the Brazilian minister and deprives all other foreign governments of information concerning their diplomatic missions and subjects.

Famine Grows Worse.

Famine conditions in Mexico City have been growing worse daily, and with the investment by a new army in progress, fears are expressed that much suffering to foreigners will ensue.

While it has been generally understood that there will be no further development in the general Mexican situation as far as the United States is concerned until the return of President Wilson from Cornish, it is thought in official quarters that the situation in the southern capital may force a new crisis.

To Guard Foreigners' Lives.

General Carranza has given the American government formal assurances that every effort will be made by General Gonzales to guard the lives and property of foreigners, if his troops enter the city. It is feared however, that the fighting may be carried into the old capital by the contending forces, although the diplomatic corps hitherto has been successful in persuading the garrison to evacuate rather than give battle in the streets.

Dispatches from Diaz Lombardo, Villa's secretary of state at Chihuahua, received at the Villa agency here, denied reports that Aguas Calientes had been taken by Carranza forces.

General Felipe Angeles, Villa's artillery expert, will arrive in Washington from Boston next Friday, according to an announcement.

Heavy Fighting at Aguas Calientes.

El Paso, Texas, June 28.—Heavy fighting in the vicinity of Aguas Calientes has been reported in Villa advices to United States officials here, but without any indication as to how the gage of battle stood. It was stated that General Francisco Villa was directing his troops in person.

Representatives of the Villa government maintained that they still retained the city of Aguas Calientes. Carranza agency was without reports on the situation since two nights ago.

HUERTA SALUTES OLD GLORY

FORMER DICTATOR WATCHES TROOPING OF COLORS.

Calls United States Troopers Splendid Fellows as They Escort Him to Prison.

Fort Bliss, Texas June 29.—Squatting at a window of his improvised prison in his shirt sleeves and using an old copy of an army order with which to fan himself, wrinkled, grizzled and old General Victoriano Huerta watched the ceremony of trooping the colors at the United States army post and stood at attention when the colors that he had once refused to salute were furled for the day to the national air.

As the colors billowed from the masthead the aged general stood at attention, his heels clicked together and he delivered that long delayed salute, the refusal of which had almost plunged his country and the United States into warfare.

Beside him on a camp cot sat six-foot Pascual Orozco, his head in his hands and a scowl of defiance on his lean wolf-like face, as if he would attempt to gain his liberty by force.

Steps Into Arms of Marshal.

Twelve hours before at the little desert station of Newlan, N. M., among the Yucca cactus, General Huerta had stepped from the Chicago flyer into the arms of a United States deputy marshal who had a warrant for his arrest on a charge of conspiracy to violate the neutrality laws of the country which had given him hospice.

The first to embrace Huerta was Orozco, who had driven up in a high-powered automobile. The two generals, who had opposed each other in the Orozco revolution at Bachimba, had just embraced when Deputy Marshal Edwart Bryant stepped from behind the pumphouse and informed the general in Spanish that he would be forced to detain them both and that he preferred to have them accompany him under escort of United States troops in command of Col. George H. Morgan, who was hidden in the cactus near the train.

"I am at your orders, gentlemen," General Huerta said, as he stepped into a waiting automobile and was driven to this city. As General Huerta caught a glimpse of the United States troopers he smiled, waved his hands in the morning air and said: "This is indeed excellent. They are fine men, splendid fellows, and I am proud to have such a military escort. Mr. Chauffeur, you may deliver me wherever these fine men may direct, for I am a soldier and I am under your orders, Colonel Morgan."

G. O. P. TO MEET IN CHICAGO

Chicago, June 28.—Chicago will get the 1916 Republican national convention. There is a "better than even chance" that the Democrats will also nominate their party leader here next year.

These facts became known when Fred D. Upham assured members of the Hamilton club that the Republicans would choose Chicago for their meeting. He declared 30 of 52 national committeemen have pledged their votes to Chicago. Upham was appointed by the club as a committee of one to communicate with national committeemen on this question.

Roger Sullivan was credited with assurance that Chicago probably will get the Democratic national convention.

Bryan Declines War Debate Offer.

Washington, June 26.—William Jennings Bryan declined today to engage in a joint debate with Congressman A. P. Gardiner of Massachusetts on the question of preparedness of this country to resist invasion.

Mr. Gardiner issued his invitation to Mr. Bryan in a public letter.

Mr. Bryan announced that he would not debate with anybody any subject relevant to war or peace in the present condition of affairs. "These two subjects are all I am considering at the present time," he explained.

WAR WILL BE LONG ONE, BRITISH CLAIM

RUSSIAN ARMIES MUST FIGHT FOR MONTHS UNDER TREMENDOUS DISADVANTAGES.

TO PRESS VICTORIES IN EAST

Germany Intends to Make Battering Stroke Against Polish Capital, Is Belief—French Repulse Teutons on Heights of Meuse.

London, June 29. — Not since the war began has the English public been so convinced that it will be a long one. Those who took this view months ago were called pessimists, but now it is generally admitted that the Russian armies must fight for months under tremendous disadvantages and that in the meantime the much heralded big general movement on the western front must be indefinitely postponed while the entente powers thoroughly reorganize their methods.

While the campaign for munitions in Great Britain is at its height it must be assumed that Germany is straining every fiber to the same end and calling into play her inventive skill so as to increase the deadly mechanisms of war to offset the inevitable and terrible drain on her men.

Germans Press Toward Warsaw.

The present consensus of opinion among military writers in London is that Germany intends further to press her Eastern victories with another battering stroke toward Warsaw in an endeavor to seize that city and the whole line of the Vistula.

The line of offensive now directed from the Przasnysz region is along the valleys of Omulew and Orzyc, tributaries of the River Narew, which flows across North Poland and joins the bend of the Vistula above Warsaw.

In that section on the heights of the Meuse known as the Calonne trench, a violent engagement has been characterized by the use of flaming liquid and asphyxiating gases by the Germans, behind which they succeeded in reaching their former first line, which had been carried some time previously by the French. Here hand-to-hand encounters ensued, and, according to the French war office, the Germans were repulsed with heavy losses. This territory in almost its entirety is held by the French.

Claim Allies Repulsed.

The Germans claim that attempts by the Allies on the heights of the Meuse to recapture territory have been repulsed and that a ridge of hills directly southeast of Les Eparges has fallen into German hands.

In the Italian theater the Italians are developing their operations along the Isonzo front. They have blown up the Monfalcone canal under a heavy Austrian fire for the purpose of hastening the subsidence of the floods so that operations may be conducted more speedily.

Torpedoes Italian Warship.

Vienna, via London, June 28.—An official announcement says: "One of our submarines torpedoed and sank an Italian torpedo boat in the northern Adriatic."

Robbery No Motive for Crime.

Joliet, Ill., June 25. — Finding of Mrs. Edmund M. Allen's pocketbook containing several hundred dollars and valuable jewelry caused the penitentiary officials to abandon a theory that robbery might have been the motive for the murder of the prison warden's wife. It has just been learned that the victim's purse was missing and a search for it was begun with the result that the black leather pocketbook was found among the debris of the charred bedroom where Mrs. Allen's body was discovered.

BRITAIN DEFENDS ORDER-IN-COUNCIL

MEMORANDUM TO U. S. TELLS OF EFFORTS TO BETTER NEUTRAL TRADE.

ORIGINAL NOTE UNANSWERED

No Attempt Made to Reply to Principles Asserted in American Communication of March 1—Merely Explains Concrete Cases.

Washington, June 26. — Great Britain, in a memorandum transmitted to the United States, and just made public here and in London, recites at length its efforts to minimize inconvenience to neutral commerce resulting from the order-in-council against trade with Germany, Austria and Turkey, and asserts that American citizens have no just grounds for complaint on account of the treatment accorded their cargoes.

Original Note Not Answered.

No attempt is made to answer the principles asserted in the American note of March 1, protesting against the order-in-council and insisting upon the right of neutrals to carry on legitimate commerce with each other and to trade in noncontraband with civilians in belligerent countries. In transmitting the memorandum, Ambassador Page said it was "merely an explanation of concrete cases and the regulations under which they are dealt with."

Another note to Great Britain is now in course of preparation at the state department and is expected to be dispatched as soon as the negotiations with Germany over submarine warfare have been cleared up. While this communication probably will make reference to the latest memorandum, it is understood that the manner of enforcing the order-in-council will not be treated as relevant to the question at issue—whether there is any warrant in international law for the powers that Great Britain and her allies have assumed to exercise over the commerce of the world.

Arrange to Buy American Cotton.

Arrangements for buying American cotton detained and for permitting the passage of goods bought in Germany by Americans before the date of the order-in-council are outlined and the promise made that consideration will be given to special cases of this kind of the future.

According to a summary of ships detained, there are now 27 vessels which cleared from the United States now held in ports of the United Kingdom. Of these, eight are said to be unloading cotton which Great Britain has agreed to purchase, seven will be allowed to depart as soon as items of their cargo placed in a prize court have been discharged and the other 12—three of them American ships—are the subject of investigations not yet completed.

Desire to Avoid Delay.

"His majesty's government," the memorandum concludes, "is earnestly desirous of removing all causes of unavoidable delay in dealing with American cargoes and vessels which may be detained and any specific inquiries of representations which may be made by the United States government in regard to particular caes will always receive the most careful consideration and all the information which can be afforded without prejudice to prize court proceedings will be readily commuted, but they can scarcely admit that on the base of actual facts, any substantial grievance on the part of the American citizens is justified or can be sustained, and they, therefore, confidently appeal to the opinion of the United States government, as enlightened by this memorandum."

London, June 25.—F. Robert Muller, who on Jnue 4 was found guilty at Old Bailey police court of being a German spy, was executed in the Tower of London by shooting.

Another alleged German spy, Robert Rosenthal, who is said by the police to have confessed that he was sent to England by the German admiralty to obtain information on naval matters, is to be court martialed.

Sing Minnesota Booster Song.

Los Angeles, June 25.—Aside from the routine of business transacted by the delegates to the National Realty Men's convention, the Minnesota contingent introduced an innovation when they burst into their booster song, "Glorious Minnesota," written by Theodore Figge and sung to the tune of "John Brown's Body," and given with such enthusiasm as to make the rafters of the auditorium shake.

AIRMEN SINK SUBMARINE.

Berlin (Via Wireless to London), June 26.—For the first time in history an aeroplane has sunk a submarine.

German airmen bombarded a Russian submarine in the Baltic, near Gotland island.

The success of the bombardment was not known until today, when positive advices reached the German war office from Petrograd that the submarine had been sunk.

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo. — "I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. Hurley, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

BOUNTIFUL PROMISE FROM WESTERN CANADA

Average Increase of Acreage in Wheat Over 22 Per Cent.

Province.	Wheat Acreage Increase.
Saskatchewan	25 per cent
Alberta	32½ per cent
Manitoba	15 per cent
Average for prairies....	22½ per cent

Saskatchewan.

The growth of the crop during the past week was very satisfactory. Rain fell in many places during the early part of the week, followed by warmer weather, which has been most beneficial to the grain. Breaking and summer-fallowing were well under way, and conditions generally were most promising.

The following reports have been received by the department from the various centers: Denholm—A little rain needed in the northern part to start late grain; remainder of district plenty of moisture. Davidson—Ideal growing weather; a few farmers harrowing grain to conserve moisture by breaking crust formed since last rain. North Battleford to Prince Albert—Good growing weather; crops looking well. Slight damage near North Battleford from cutworms; recent rains beneficial. Kindersley—Crops looking fine and prospects good; plenty of moisture, with prospects of more rain. Every slough in this country is full. Prince Albert—Crops in fair condition, though cutworms and light frosts have done damage in some sections. Have had moderate quantity of rain.

Owing to prompt marketing of the harvest of 1914, the farmers were enabled to devote more time than usual to cultivation in the autumn, under conditions which were decidedly favorable, and that, combined with the opportunities for soil preparation presented by an early spring this year, has resulted in the seeding of a wheat area estimated at twenty-five per cent greater than last year. Areas sown to oats and flax may be less than last year, because of the concentration upon the cereal in greater demand for export. Wheat seeding was completed eight days earlier than the average, under almost ideal conditions.

Alberta.

"Prospects excellent. Abundant moisture throughout the province, following rain. Area thirty to thirty-five per cent greater. Crop generally two weeks earlier."

Attention is drawn to the fact that the land has not been in such fine condition to work for years; neither has there been as much moisture as there was last autumn. This was protected during the winter by a little more than the average snowfall, which remained on the land, not being removed by the warm chinook winds, as is usually the case. There never has been a more optimistic feeling than exists today, judging by the information received from various parts of the province. We feel justified in saying that the crop never went in under more favorable circumstances; weather splendid and land particularly well worked.

While it is true that the acreage will be greatly increased, it is pleasing to learn that, despite the high price of feed, the receipts of milk and cream at the dairies continue to keep up, and that the output of the creameries has increased in quantity.

One of the most encouraging things in last year's work was the increase of practically thirty per cent in the output of cream and butter south of Calgary.

Manitoba.

Owing to the exceptionally early harvest last year and favorable fall weather, a much larger acreage of land was prepared than usual, and partly for the same reason and the prospects of high prices for all kinds of grain, farmers took more pains in the preparation of land, so that the spring opened up with 1,235,000 acres of fully prepared land above the previous year. Seeding was general by the 7th of April, some days in advance of the average. Since that time the weather has been exceptionally favorable for the sowing of wheat, and the farmers have taken full advantage of it. Much of the crop is now above the surface. There has been a very general and liberal rainfall; this will hasten the germination of the recently sown wheat, and will prevent the soil from drifting off the later sown crop. The area sown in wheat is fully 15 per cent greater than last year.

To sum up the agricultural situation generally, the Department of Agriculture says: "The area is larger than usual, the land has been well prepared, and the wheat has been sown at the right time; not so early as to run the risk of being killed off by frost, but sufficiently early to insure its ripening in the fall."—Advertisement.

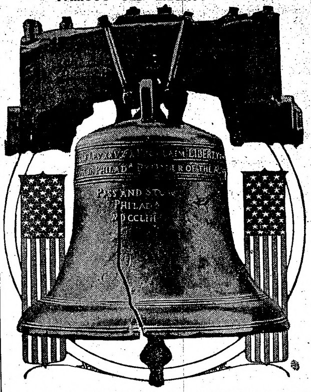
FAMOUS OLD LIBERTY BELL



FINAL TONE OF LIBERTY BELL?

What Is Believed to Be Its Last Ringing Is Said to Have Recently Taken Place at Philadelphia.

What may prove to be the last ringing of the historic Liberty bell took place in Independence hall at Philadelphia recently.

It was decided to transmit the tones of the bell across the country to San Francisco over the recently completed transcontinental telephone line, partly fulfilling in a literal sense the prophetic words cast on the bell, "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof." The bell was struck three times with mallets at intervals of five seconds. By an arrangement of three very sensitive transmitters, which were suspended beneath it on rubber bands, so as to exclude all foreign vibration, the tones were caught and clearly heard over the telephone wires on the Pacific coast. At the same time a phonographic record was made of the notes so as to preserve them for posterity.

This is the first time that the great bell has been sounded since it was cracked in 1835 while tolling the death of John Marshall, the first chief justice of the United States Supreme court. The reason that it may never again be rung is that a new crack, more serious than the old one, has developed in it.

It has been found that the bell is afflicted with the "disease of metal." This is partly responsible for the appearance of the latest fissure and has made it necessary to support its weight on padded props in order to relieve the stress which has gradually been pulling it apart.

The new crack is now plainly visible, while only a short time ago it was microscopic. It begins at the upper part of the original fracture, extending from the letter "P" in the "Philadelphia," diagonally a quarter of the way around the circumference, to the letter "y" in "Liberty," near the top. It is believed that the new crack might not have occurred had the bell been allowed to remain at rest after it was first broken. It has, however, been shipped on different occasions to New Orleans, Chicago, Atlanta, Charleston, Boston and St. Louis. That it is actually suffering from a malady known as the "disease of metal," is the description of its ailment in the technical phraseology of the metallurgist, and is not a popular figure of speech. The reason for this distemper is to be found in the history of the bell's casting.

It was originally made by Thomas Lester at London, in 1752, and shipped to Philadelphia. When it was hung to try the sound it was cracked by the clapper. At first it was intended to return it to England, but subsequently two workmen, Pass and Stow, neither of whom was experienced in the art, undertook the recasting in Philadelphia. Obviously the bronze was too brittle, and in order to toughen it, they added approximately ten per cent of copper to the original metal. When the bell was later rehung it was found that too much copper had been used, and, to the chagrin of everyone, the tone was destroyed. The same men again undertook the work, and this time are supposed to have added tin to restore the tone. The third bell was accepted, but too much tin had been used, and the tones were so highly resonant that it was seldom rung.—Popular Mechanics.

It is very hard to convince a writer who is paid by the word that brevity is the soul of wit.

EVADED CAPTURE BY BRITISH

Quick Wit of American Patriot Saved Himself and Family When in Dire Peril.

There is an incident in the life of George Read worthy of mention in connection with these men who were martyrs to the Declaration. Fortunately Read suffered no real privation at the hands of the British, a fact due, however, solely to his presence of mind. When President McKinley, presiding officer of Delaware commonwealth, was made a prisoner, soon after the battle of Brandywine, it was necessary for George Read to take charge, he then being vice-president of that colony. He was in Philadelphia at the time of the president's capture and to return home entailed considerable danger.

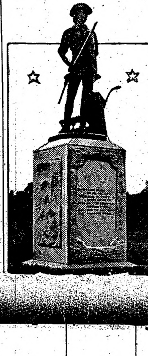
The enemy occupied the west bank of the Delaware river and Mr. Read had to take the New Jersey shore, run the risk of crossing the river and elude, if possible, the vigilance of the enemy's ships, which were strung along the whole distance. The 13th of October, 1777, Mr. Read reached Salem, N. J., where he obtained a boat for the purpose of conveying himself and family across the river.

At the place where he undertook the crossing, the river was about five miles wide. Almost in view of the British ships he had about reached the Delaware coast when he was discovered, for his boat had grounded just too far from shore to make it practicable to land his family. Unable to go on or leave the boat they were forced to wait while a ship's boat came up to them. Mr. Read's wits had not been idle, however, and he devised a plan which he and his wife immediately put into practice. They destroyed all traces of identification of their baggage, a feat made possible by the time required for the other boat's approach.

When the boat came alongside he politely informed them of his plight, and added that he was a country gentleman returning home from a pleasure excursion he had made with his family. The presence of his mother, wife and children added weight to this story. The commander of the English boat was only a coxswain, his companions common sailors. There was nothing suspicious about the party.

So, taking pity upon a family thus stranded but a short distance from their destination, the English boat's crew obligingly assisted them to land, helped to get the baggage on shore and, after receiving thanks for their kind assistance, returned to their ship. Mr. Read continued his journey, the end of which was the colony's governmental headquarters, where he assumed the role of chief executive until the release of the president was secured.

STATUE OF MINUTEMAN



STATE BREVITIES

St. Cloud.—William Harvey and Bozo Summerditch, employes at the Great Northern shops, were painfully injured when they became entangled in one of the machines. Harvey's arm was bruised and the other man sustained a scalp wound.

Fairmont.—Lightning struck the solid brick building occupied by the local telephone exchange and seriosuly injured one of the operators, Miss Clara Miller. A part of the system was demoralized and a crack opened in the wall from the chimney to the basement.

St. Cloud. — Despite an energetic search being made by a posse of officers and farmers, no trace has been found of John Williams, a negro trusty, who escaped from the reformatory. Williams had charge of the officers' quarters and before leaving stole a suit of citizens' clothes.

Fergus Falls. — The Solingslaget closed its annual convention and reunion in this city. Officers were elected as follows: President, Amund Ostmoe; vice president, O. Lunebo of Tolno, N. D.; secretary, C. M. Berg, McIntosh, Minn.; treasurer, Hans Erickson, Buxton, N. D.

Luverne.—Luverne's chautauqua will take the place of the usual Fourth of July celebration. The chautauqua begins on Sunday, July 4, and continues a week. Two of the best known speakers will be Congressman Victor Murdock of Kansas and Senator James K. Vardaman of Mississippi.

St. Cloud.—After eluding the reformatory officers for several days, John Williams, a negro convict who escaped from the state institution, fell asleep in the woods near Becker and was captured. So completely was he encircled by guards that it was impossible for him to get any food.

Winona.—V. L. Mangun, instructor of languages at the Winona normal school and former superintendent of the public schools of Caledonia, was elected superintendent of schools at Macomb, Ill., according to telegraphic information. Mr. Mangun was prominent in the Minnesota Educational association.

East Grand Rapids.—Inger Brocken of Gary, Minn., made the mistake of his life when he selected the right of way of the Northern Pacific railroad as a bed, allowing one arm to lie across a rail. Brocken is in a Grand Forks hospital, the arm cut off above the elbow. He is in a critical condition as a result of the shock.

Duluth.—Mrs. W. H. Magie, wife of one of the leading physicians of Duluth, and Miss Pearl Chalk, daughter of M. F. Chalk, United States marine boiler and engine inspector, had a narrow escape from death by bichloride of mercury, which they took by mistake for headache tablets. Both were hurried to a hospital and reported to be out of danger.

Plainview.—A fire was started in the home of H. W. Nunamacher here by means of the sun's rays shining through a spherical fish tank in such a manner that they became concentrated with a burning glass effect on the binding of a book on a table. Awakened by an odor of smoke, Mrs. Nunamacher traced it to the sitting room where the book was found to be on fire.

Hastings.—J. C. Hisler, a fireman on the steamer Morning Star, was thrown over the wheel into the river while approaching the levee, due to the engine stopping on the center and trying to reverse the same. He swam on his back in order to avoid being struck, a distance of about 700 feet, and was extended a plank by Floyd Stuart and W. A. Louden and pulled to shore.

Litchfield.—Much interest was created here when a notice of contest was filed by wet leaders on the result of Meeker county's vote, June 14, when the drys carried the day by a majority of 19. The petition sets forth many alleged irregularities, including the allegation that thirty-five voters in Kingston town were not naturalized, also that the ballot was not prepared in proper form.

Brainerd — Buzzing like a monster road engine, a miniature tornado struck the home of Ole J. Olson in Southeast Brainerd, jarred the house, tore his smumer kitchen to pieces, leveled three and damaged two other sheds near by, and, following a creek, traveled southeast out of the city. Lightning struck the barn of Martin Anderson near Sylvian, the first station west of Brainerd, killed four cows and destroyed the building.

New York Mills.—Farmers in this vicinity report that the small grain crop is at its best. The continued damp weather of the past weeks has given the small grain an opportunity for deep, strong rooting so that the plant can better withstand any hot, dry winds. It is the general belief in this vicinity that the corn crop is the only crop that has suffered from the inclement weather and it cannot be said that it has suffered to any great extent.

Winona.—John Hanson, Jr., aged 27, who was recently released from state's prison after serving three years and seven months, has been placed under arrest here for the theft of four dozen cans of tobacco. He was seen to take the goods and was followed to his home, where the secreted articles were recovered.

Thief River Falls.—The Thief River Grocery company's building, one of the largest mercantile establishments in this section, was destroyed by fire, supposed to have been started in a peanut roaster. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

WAVES HIGH UP IN RANK

Sufferer From Effects of High Sea Was Designating Them as He Watched Their Approach.

A New York man was crossing the Atlantic with an army officer who suffered greatly from seasickness.

On entering the stateroom one particularly rough day he found the officer tossing in his berth, muttering in what at first appeared to be a sort of delirium.

Stooping over to catch his words, the friend heard him say: "Sergeant . . . major . . . sergeant . . . major . . . brigadier general . . ugh, lieutenant general . . . a-a-a-h!"

"What are you saying?" asked the friend in some alarm, as the sufferer looked piteously up at him after his last gasping "a-a-ah!"

"Assigning the waves their rank," said the military man, rolling toward the wall again. "There have been eight lieutenant generals within the last twenty minutes."

In the Trenches.

"No blankets, captain."

"Well, boys, we'll just have to cover ourselves with glory."

Most old bachelors are hard to please; they don't even think a girl baby is fit to kiss until she is sweet sixteen.

Wrong Diagnosis.

One of the prominent clubs of this city gave a contract for the decoration of their building in honor of the visit of the fleet, and the decorator conceived the idea that the word "welcome" spelled out in signal flags would be an appropriate and beautiful design for the front wall, over the entrance. He asked a naval officer for directions, and, following the code which said officer wrote out for him, a very interesting result was obtained. Judge of the surprise of the contractor when an army officer, happening by, asked: "Do you know what you have written?"

"Why, welcome," stammered the decorator.

"Not by a long shot!" said the army officer. "You have got up there, "To h— with the army."—Life.

Interesting Comparison.

"It beats all how luck does play favorites," remarked Farmer Corntossel. "I jes' been to see Ezra Hankins."

"How's he gettin' along since he hurt his foot?"

"He's purty glum. The doctor charged him a hundred dollars fur cuttin' his foot off. An' when the railroad cut Uncle Jake's foot the company paid him six hundred in cash. Maybe these great corporations ain't as graspin' as some people says."

A kiss may be a reward or punishment.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 3, 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The daily papers who allow the war news to occupy first page, make an announcement of on what page the base ball news can be found,

When the county option campaigns are finished, the wet supply counties will be; Jackson for southern Minnesota, Ramsey for central, and Red Lake for northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

The O. H. Loken Mercantile Company are going to publish a monthly paper to circulate free to, who ever wants it. Usually merchants are of the opinion that they can run a paper better than the average publisher, but it is not very often that one of them tries it.

There is some talk of contesting the county option election, owing to so many of the judges of election not understanding the law. It seems strange that men of ordinary intelligence should make so many errors as was made, when they had the law before them to read.

A thirty per cent assessment was made by the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Co., last week, to cover loss of James Walker. Farmers who are insured in this company should remit their insurance promptly when notified, if they expect their own insurance to be paid in case of loss.

We are still fortunate in northern Minnesota, as we are not having any earth quakes or cyclones. Of course the Clearwater river is from three to six miles wide, but we can't say that we are having a very serious flood, as all of the people are still on earth that have not died from natural causes.

Hennipen county started the circulation of their county option petition last Monday. Former Governor Vansant is president and leader of the dry forces. We understand that St. Louis county is the next on the list, and that the petitions will be gotten up by the county division forces of that county. Hennipen county will undoubtedly take their place in the dry column.

The European warring nations are beginning to conclude that neither side can win, and are talking of calling it a draw game. In the meantime what about the thousands of common soldiers on both sides who have fought, bled and died, for naught! Anyway the kings on each side have showed the other kings that they would not be bluffed, and their salary will go on just the same, but what about the common people who must pay this enormous war debt?

The centralized creameries are doing their best to put the farmer's co-operative creameries out of business, by offering extra inducements to farmers to ship their cream. If they can "hoodwink" the farmers into this proposition until they get the co-operative creameries closed, they will then fix the price of cream on a price fixed by the cream trust, and not on the price of butter, or in other words they will then pay you just what they choose for your cream. Stand by your local co-operative creameries and get the highest market price for your produce.

Harry K. Thaw is making his final stand to get clear of the murder of Standford White, and as his money is still holding out, he will undoubtedly get out of it. One feature in his favor is that he rid New York city of an undesirable citizen to have at large among young growing girls. It will deprive lawyers of a great source of revenue, if there should be a final ending to the case, and they will undoubtedly try to make it hang fire for a few years longer, as neither the lawyers who are prosecuting, or the ones that are defending will allow that fat bird to escape, until they have plucked a few more feathers out of him,

We received an order for back copies of THE SUNBEAM since May 15th, and to place the name of the party on the subscription list, but as we never heard of him before his request will be dropped into the waste basket, as there was nothing in the letter that looked like cash to us, as we have as many delinquent subscribers on our list now, as we can afford to carry.

Pictures in Gardens.

Above most other arts, landscape architecture is based on nature, and the art should be practiced on natural lines. The evolution of growing things, the development of distinct types of effect, although greatly varied, can be, and should be, made to bear the stamp alike of definite, though perhaps instinctive, ideas throughout the various kinds of landscape gardening, whether it be a park, an estate, a village garden or a window box. It should make a fine picture, no matter how small or how large.—New York Telegram.

Yeast in Bread.

In the dough from which bread is made there is a lot of sugar, which contains carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. It is necessary to ferment this sugar to make bread edible, and yeast is used because it has the power to do this. It is made from a plant having this quality. Fermenting sugar is equivalent to burning it, and there are two results. One is the formation of carbonic acid gas. A great deal of this gas is caught in the dough in the form of large or small bubbles, and some of it escapes into the air. The part that cannot escape causes the dough to rise and makes the bread light. The holes in bread are the little pockets which held the carbonic acid gas. The effect of the bubbles is to lift the body of dough so that the heat can penetrate readily and bake it properly.—Boston Herald.

A Morbid Desire.

Two octogenarian darkies at White Sulphur Springs, having been employed by one hotel management since old time war days, are now retained as pensioners, though they occasionally do light and pottering jobs about the place.

One day not long ago they were languidly raking leaves on the lawn. As a lady passed she heard them quarreling and stopped to listen.

"Nigger," stated the older of the pair, "does you know what I wish't? I wish't dat hotel yonder had a thousan' rooms in it and you was laid out daid in ev'y room!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Overcharged.

In a western town the attorney for the gas company was making a popular address.

"Think of the good the gas company has done," he cried. "If I were permitted a pun I would say in the words of the immortal poet, 'Honor the light brigade!'"

Whereupon a shrill voice came from the rear, "Oh, what a charge they made!"—New York Times.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. Clark was transacting official business at Goodridge Wednesday.

Hover Falkedahl made a flying business trip (?) to Thief River Falls Wednesday.

There was a fairly good sized crowd celebrated at the residence of Otto Parno's in Star township on July 3rd.

The mosquitoes are like the Mexican revolutionists, as soon as you "swat" one, another one takes his place.

We understand that there was another extension of time granted on ditch 42 last fall, before the change was made in county officers.

It is reported that there was a large crowd present at the Goodridge celebration July 5th., but that government fence kept the people from the south side of the river from attending.

Some of the farmers on Ditch 42 have had their crops badly damaged by water, but it could not be helped as there was so much rain that it drowned out the ditchers, and turned the whole country into a lake.

The rivers that are flowing into the Red Lake are all flooded over their banks, which is the reason that Red Lake River continues to be so high, and it is likely to continue high for a long time, as it has a lot of water to pass down it before it lowers the big Red Lake two feet.

The Thief River Falls Times makes itself ridiculous by trying to make a joking matter out of the personal injury case commenced against Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Hamre, but they will find it is no joke, but a business proposition when W. E. Rowe, goes into court with a personal injury case.

As our county commissioners do not seem to think it advisable to pass a resolution to declare Red Lake River a non-navigable stream, it is up to the people living east of Thief River Falls to move with a petition from the people to Congressman Steenerson, asking for this relief, which will be done in the near future.

The county got a great deal more from the state for roads and bridges this year than they did last year, but the eastern part of the county got less, particulary the A. B. Mandt Commissioner District. Step down to the Auditor's office and look this up some of you fellows that were anxious to change county commissioners in that district last fall.

Corn is N. G. this year, and some of the farmers are disking up the land to prepare it for crops next year. The present season will stop corn planting in this locality for a number of years, as the farmers will consider that they are running too much risk of loosing the use of their land for one season by planting it to corn, and will sow barley instead of planting corn.

Minneapolis is having a warm county option campaign now, with a pretty sure cinch that the county will go dry. Then look out for a prompt repeal of that option law as soon as the next legislature meets, as the representatives from dry counties that adjoin wet counties will be in the majority. But the temperance people may pass a state prohibition law to take the place of the option law, which would put all the counties equal again.

We would kindly ask some of the parties who know themselves to be indebted to THE SUNBEAM to please pay up.

Read what the farmers living above Red Lake want, which we publish in another column, then stop talking about dams to raise the level of the lake.

The bridge that was built across the Clearwater river at Roland by private subscriptions of the settlers nine years ago is still one of the best crossings on that river, and if the people had only the right to bridge the Red Lake river at Highlanding, there would now be a bridge at that point, that people could cross on, at all stages of water in the Red Lake river, without any assistance from the county whatever.

Red Lake River Transportation Company

The farmer share holders of the Red Lake River Transportation Co. have been notified the past week to pay the amount of their shares, as an assessment to pay indebtedness of the company. We do not know anything about the legality of this assessment, but we took immediate steps to look the matter up. We know something about the right of it now, which is that Bakke, who was connected with the People's Bank at Thief River Falls at the time the debts were claimed to have been contracted, was secretary of the company, and kept the books away from the Board of Directors, and perhaps the ones who are now stirring up this muss for private gain are of the opinion that they have all of the records there are of the transactions of the company, but they are likely to find their mistake when they come into court. As there are a large number of farmers in the same boat as ourselves, on this boat deal, we will not express any opinion, as to what they can or can not do to collect these assessments, until we have had an opportunity to hear from competent counsel that we have employed to look the matter up and see where we are at.

We have a bill against the company for wood sold them in 1907 amounting to $17.45, but we suppose it is not the intention to pay the common people any just claims, but to bleed the farmers out of a few dollars to feed the bankers and lawyers.

NEW FENCE ERECTED

Boys intent upon gaining stolen access into the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, will find the trick extremely difficult, as a new fence is being erected around a large part of the grounds. This is not liable to work much of a hardship upon them, however, as all children are to be admitted free on the opening day, when a record attendance is anticipated. The largest attendance ever obtained on the first day was in 1912, when 100,792 persons, the largest daily attendance ever obtained by any fair in America, passed the turnstiles.

N. W. Minnesota Fair

The Northwestern Minnesota Fair will be held at Crookston next week, July 13th to 17th. This will be one of the largest and best fairs ever held in the northern part of the state. There has been $3500.00 hung up as prizes for races, and in addition to this the Patterson shows will provide an entertainment in the afternoons and evenings.

Do not forget the dates, beginning next Tuesday July 13th and closing Saturday July 17th.

Because of the large orders for munitions of war which have been placed with many American manufacturers, they have made very tempting offers to army and navy officers who are familiar with such affairs; this has caused some officers to desire to resign and take these positions. The government legal experts are now busy looking up the law to see if there is not some statute which would prevent officers from resigning.

President Wilson is enjoying his short vacation in New Hampshire. A daily round at golf is one of the President's favorite pastimes, and as a rule, a long automobile ride is taken. On the first day of his stay at Cornish, a fifty mile motor ride was indulged in during the course of which the chauffeur lost his way on several occasions and the President himself got out at farm houses to inquire as to the proper road to take.

MISSION OF THE RURAL CHURCH

SHOULD BE UNIVERSITY OF RELIGIOUS LEARNING.

Duty of Christianity to Evangelize the World.

By Rev. Jno. A. Rice, D. D.
Pastor St. John M. E. Church, South, St. Louis, Mo.

Some years ago, the question was asked: What is a college? The attempt to answer it shook the educational world in America from center to circumference. Another question is now beginning to be asked: What is a church? Without undertaking to give a definition of it, let me ask, in this initial paper, what the church is for? The New Testament reveals three distinct tasks to which it is committed.

First, that of evangelization. The church is divinely commissioned to reach for the lowest and the least man in the least land and offer him sonship to the Eternal God; offer him a divine power, which lifts him out of the bog and places him upon the highest levels of human life, where God and the soul are in fellowship. This alone were an immense privilege.

Teaching the Art of Living.

The church is commissioned also to teach and train those who are rich with its evangelistic message. The term, Religious Education, has come to mean a specific thing in our country, namely, the training of the people in the local church in those deep matters which pertain to the art of living. I am not now speaking of the work of education in schools, colleges and universities, but the work of education at our doors, in the congregation. Every agency in reach should be employed to the utmost in this important mission. Indeed, the local church could be made a sort of university for all the people, in which the simple, practical arts and virtues of everyday life should be taught and enforced. Only recently has this special phase of the church's work received anything like adequate attention. The New Testament word for it is Edification.

School of Religion Needed.

Of course, the Sunday School is the center for all this work, although the activities of the church should extend through the entire week and the Sunday School should cease to be so named. It should be called the School of Religion or the Church School or something else that indicates it to be an all-the-week activity. During this time various and sundry clubs, classes, musical organizations, culture courses, as well as distinctly religious meetings, should be held. Thickly settled neighborhoods, as we shall see, offer fine opportunities for the development of things spiritual.

The third task to which the church is committed is that of Christianizing the social order; that of infusing the spirit of Jesus into every nook and corner of our life. Nothing is foreign to the interest of the church.

Neighborly Love Essential.

If religion pervades and colors the whole life then ours is serious business, for it will let no corner of the world escape its influence. The sooner we learn that Christianity is not a thing to be practiced in a corner the better for the world. The question of the eighteenth century, touching Christianity, was, Can it be made to square with the human reason? Of the nineteenth, Can it be made to square with the results of scientific research? Of the twentieth, What can it do? We must learn to enforce not only love of God, whom we cannot see, but love to our neighbors, with whom we are living in constant contact. Neither without the other is Christianity whatever else it may be. Everything that interests his neighbors must interest him, if he is a genuine follower of the Christ.

It is the mission of the church—the rural as well as the city—to evangelize the whole world, to train to the highest degree of efficiency those whom it evangelizes and to seek to make the spirit of Jesus the absolute rule in all human relations.

SLAVS SINK TWO ENEMY WARSHIPS

RUSSIANS VICTORIOUS IN NAVAL BATTLE IN THE BALTIC, SAYS REPORT.

TWO BATTLESHIPS DAMAGED

Wittelsbach and Vessel of Kaiser Class Return to Kiel for Repairs—German Mine Layer Albatross Aground to Escape.

London, July 6.—"A naval action has occurred off the east coast of the island of Gothland," says the Stockholm correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company. "The German mine layer Albatross was chased by four Russian cruisers and ran aground to escape capture. Twenty-one of the mine layer's crew were killed and 27 were wounded."

Germans Lose Two Warships.

Copenhagen, via London, July 3.—The German battleship Wittelsbach, which is damaged, and a battleship of the Kaiser class, with many shots under the waterline, from the battle in the Baltic, have returned to Kiel.

The Politiken's Petrograd correspondent states that it is reported that not only was a German torpedo boat sunk at Windau, but a cruiser of the Magdeburg type also was lost.

Wittelsbach in Service in 1902.

The battleship Wittelsbach is of 11,830 tons displacement. Her complement in peace times is 650 officers and men. Her armament consists of four 9.4 inch guns and 18 6-inch guns. She was placed in service in 1902.

The battleships of the Kaiser class each have a displacement of 10,790 tons and a complement of 658 officers and men. The armament of this class consists of four 9 4-inch and 14 6-inch guns.

Advance North Planned.

Copenhagen, via London, July 3.—In preparation for an advance north, supported by a German squadron, the Politiken's Petrograd correspondent states that eight German army corps were concentrated at Riga and in the Shavli region. The attack on Windau, the correspondent believes, was an evidence that this was the object of the German military and naval authorities.

Sweden Protests Firing.

London, July 3.—The Stockholm correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company states that the Swedish minister to Petrograd has been instructed to protest against the violation of Swedish neutrality involved by Russian warships firing on German warships within Swedish territorial waters.

A division of Swedish torpedo boat destroyers has been sent to interne the German mine layer Albatross.

FIVE BRITISH SHIPS ARE SUNK

Steamers Caucasian, Inglemoor and Welbury Destroyed by One Submarine.

London, July 6.—Three British steamers, the Caucasian, Inglemoor and Welbury, the bark Sardozne and the schooner L. C. Tower are reported to have been sunk by German submarines in the vicinity of the Scilly Islands and off South Ireland. The Caucasian met her fate southwest of Lizard Head on the coast of Cornwall. While engaged in picking up her crew, the Inglemoor fell a victim to the same submarine. The Caucasian when the submarine opened fire was given full steam in an endeavor to escape. Not until the steamer was struck by several shots, one of which demolished the wheel, did her captain surrender. The crew of the steamer took to the boats. The submarine hauled alongside and fired eight shells into the vessel.

The crew of the Inglemoor and a part of the crew of Caucasian were landed at Penzance, but one of the Caucasian's boats with 19 men aboard was being towed toward France when last sighted.

Conditions in Mexico City Better.

Washington, July 6.—Reassuring reports on conditions in Mexico City, taken to Vera Cruz by refugees who left the capital a few days ago, have reached the state department by cable.

According to these advices, looting has been confined largely to small grocery stores, and the poorer class are not yet actually starving.

Seven Vessels Torpedoed.

London, July 3.—German submarines have sent to the bottom within the last 36 hours seven more vessels of the Allies, six English and one Italian, with a known loss of life of three and many missing. The crews of some of the ships were rescued.

Say Liner Is Marked for Attack.

New York, July 3.—Rumors in German circles predict that the White Star liner Adriatic, which left Wednesday for Liverpool with a large cargo of war material, munitions and automobiles, consigned to the Allies, has been marked for an attack by German submarines. Aside from being a floating arsenal, local Germans point out she is an especial mark because some prominent Englishmen are among her passengers. Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada, is one of the passengers.

SINKING OF VESSEL IS HELD JUSTIFIED

ARMENIAN REFUSED TO HALT AT SUBMARINE'S WARNING, SAY DISPATCHES.

LITTLE TENSION AT CAPITAL

No Likelihood That Any New Cause of Complaint Will Be Added to Issues Between United States and Germany.

Washington, July 3.—Official information on which to base an accurate judgment of circumstances under which the British merchantman Armenian was destroyed with the loss of a number of American lives is lacking and until all details are available, Secretary Lansing states that the position of the American government cannot be determined.

Hold Sinking Justified.

From news dispatches, however, and a closer reading of official reports, officials were inclined to the view that inasmuch as the Armenian apparently refused to submit to the warning command of the German submarine to halt and made repeated attempts to escape, according to international law the sinking of the vessel was justified, even though noncombatants were on board. This was the rule laid down in the case of blockade runners in the American Civil war and is the principle applicable also to neutral vessels which refuse to submit to visit and search.

No New Cause for Complaint.

There was little tension over the incident in official quarters here after it became known that the Armenian had sought to avoid capture. It was admitted that if official reports bore out the press dispatches, there was no likelihood that any new cause of complaint would be added to the issues pending between the United States and Germany.

One or two officials suggested that inasmuch as Germany had in effect given warning that enemy ships would be torpedoed without warning, a merchantman carrying contraband might be justified in attempting to escape, since to halt would mean certain destruction, with no assurances of an opportunity for the crew to escape. It was pointed out that the last American note to Germany on the Lusitania and Falaba cases said:

Passengers' Lives Forfeited.

"Nothing but actual forcible resistance or continued efforts to escape by flight when ordered to stop for purpose of visit on the part of the merchantman has ever been held to forfeit the lives of her passengers and crew."

These officials were inclined to argue that the German submarines might not order vessels to stop merely "for the purpose of visit." Others, however, declared that the rules of warfare do not require the commander of a warship to state his purpose when directing a merchantman to halt.

Colonel Blethen Sinking.

Seattle, July 3.—(Special.)—Colonel Alden J. Blethen, publisher, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, has suffered another sinking spell and his death is expected hourly. The physicians in attendance have given up all hope of his recovery.

Decision On Extradition Delayed.

Washington, July 3.—Decision on question of the extradition of General Victoriano Huerta on various criminal charges rests with the state department. Formal request for the extradition of Huerta was before officials of the department, having been submitted by Governor Ferguson of Texas, at the request of the Villa governor of Chihuahua of state. General Huerta is charged with implication in the murder of President Madero and Vice President Suarez.

WILL NOT LET HUERTA CROSS

U. S. DETERMINED DICTATOR SHALL NOT ENTER MEXICO.

Agents Keep Aged Leader Under Surveillance—Re-arrest May Follow Extradition Request.

Washington, July 6.—The United States government is determined that General Huerta shall not re-enter Mexico from American territory while he may constitute a factor for the disturbance of the political or military situation in the southern republic.

By just what means General Huerta is to be held has not been definitely determined. At present he is at liberty on bond of $15,000, and will be given a hearing on July 12, when the department of justice will endeavor to press its charge of violation of neutrality laws.

In the meantime, agents of the department are keeping Huerta under surveillance and the military authorities on the border have been ordered to prevent him from crossing into Mexico.

Emphasis was laid in official quarters on the possible re-arrest of Huerta as a result of the formal request for extradition received from the Villa governor of the state of Chihuahua. Should the government fail to prove in the next hearing that Huerta is guilty of violating American neutrality, or decide to withdraw its charges, high officials pointed out that he could be re-arrested and held for 40 days without bail pending the receipt of evidence from the Villa authorities.

EAT ALFALFA; BLUES VANISH

Patients at Chicago Hospital Cured of Indigestion by New Remedy, Says Homepathist.

Chicago, July 6.—Alfalfa as a remedy for indigestion and mental depression was recommended by Dr. Alexander L. Blackwood of Chicago before the American Institute of Homeopathy, which has just closed its annual convention here.

Doctor Blackwood told of experiments made with the new remedy on patients in a Chicago hospital.

"During the last year observations were made of the action of alfalfa on 17 persons," he said. "All of them noted that they grew so hungry that they could scarcely wait for their meals. Their minds were clear and bright, all bodily functions were stimulated and it was impossible to have the blues."

For Italian Munitions.

Milan, Italy, July 6, via Paris.—Lombardy, Italy's greatest manufacturing center, has organized a preparation for "a munitions committee," the executive committee of which in colaboration with the military authorities will work to organize Italian industries on a vast scale to cope with the new and unexpected national situation regarding munitions.

'Fight Until Victory," Russia's Reply.

Petrograd, July 1.—"With the help of God, Russia will continue the fight until her enemies are completely crushed. Until that time peace is impossible."

Premier Goremykin made this statement in a manifesto just issued. The document was made public immediately following the remarkable conference, participated in by the czar and his ministers, behind the great battlefront in Galicia, where the Russian armies are retreating before the Austro-German drive.

INVADERS CAPTURE KRITHIA IS REPORT

TURKISH STRONGHOLD ON GALLIPOLI PENINSULA FALLS, SAY DISPATCHES TO ATHENS.

IS GREATEST LAND BATTLE

Struggle at Dardanelles Said to Be Most Desperate Since Expeditionary Forces Were Put Ashore—Losses on Both Sides Heavy.

Rome, July 3.—Serbian forces are marching across Central Albania to effect a junction with the Montenegrins in a combined assault on the seaport city of Alessio, according to advices to the Montenegrin legation just received.

Athens, July 3.—The Allies opened a fierce assault upon the Turkish positions before Krithia Wednesday morning. Eight warships, led by the superdreadnaught, Queen Elizabeth, are pounding the Turkish forts with the greatest crash of metal since the attack upon Fort Kilid Bahr, more than three months ago. Unconfirmed reports reached here that Krithia had fallen.

Mitylene dispatches reported the losses on both sides in the last week of fighting at the Dardanelles to be the heaviest of the Gallipoli campaign. The Allied expeditionary forces are reported to have lost at least 10,000 in killed, wounded and missing. The Turkish casualties are believed to have been heavier.

Greatest Land Battle.

All dispatches received here agreed that the struggle being waged around Krithia is the greatest land battle waged at the Dardanelles since the expeditionary forces were put ashore. General Hamilton has concentrated his armies north of Sedd-Ul-Bahr and is sweeping the Turks back along the peninsula by successive short rushes.

Each charge is preceded by terrific bombardment of the Turkish trenches by Anglo-French battleships standing inside the strait and along the shore of the Gulf of Saros. The trench fighting is of the most desperate character. Turkish and Allied troops are gripped in a hand-to-hand combat on the sands.

SEIZE WEAPONS AT EL PASO

Federal Authorities Raid Premises of Co-defendants With Huerta; Take 9 Machine Guns.

El Paso, Tex., July 6.—Further seizure of weapons, supposed to have been collected here for the new revolutionary movement in Mexico, were recorded when the Federal authorities raided premises said to be owned by Ike and Frank Alderete, co-defendants with Victoriano Huerta, and three others charged with conspiracy to violate United States neutrality. The booty was nine machine guns.

Orders Children Vaccinated.

Davenport, Ia., July 3.—Every child that enters public schools of Davenport next fall must be vaccinated unless satisfactory evidences of previous vaccination can be shown. This order promulgated by the board of education is the most decided action that has ever been taken in the fight against contagious diseases in Davenport schools.

Crew Fears Torpedo; Rebels.

Queenstown, July 3.—Fearing attack by German submarines, the crew of the Norwegian bark Abyssinia mutinied while the ship was lying in the harbor here.

In a bloody battle on the Abyssinia's deck, officers shot three of the mutineers, wounding two fatally. Queenstown police ran alongside in a harbor boat, boarded the vessel and quelled the disturbance.

The Abyssinia is still in the harbor here.

CATHOLICS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

MORE THAN 1,000 FOREMOST EDUCATORS ATTEND INITIAL SESSION IN ST. PAUL.

STATE NEWS OF MINNESOTA

Interesting and Important Happenings of the Past Few Days Selected and Arranged for the Convenience of Busy Readers.

St. Paul.—With one of the most up-to-date and complete Catholic school buildings in the country as its meeting place, the Catholic Educational association opened its twelfth annual convention at the new Cathedral school.

More than 1,000 educators attended the initial session. The list includes the foremost Catholic educators of the country.

In his opening address, Bishop T. J. Shahan of Washington, D. C., president general of the association, reviewed the work of the association during the year. He said the educational work had the co-operation not only of the clergy but the Catholic people as well and as a result the year had been a successful one.

Finances Satisfactory.

Cheers greeted the reading of a letter from the apostolic delegate commending the work of the Catholic educators of the country. The treasurer general's report shows the finances of the association in a satisfactory condition.

Early day efforts of the Catholics to conduct their own schools as part of the state educational system were described by Rev. Francis T. Moran of Cleveland, Ohio. He mentioned two instances, one in Detroit, Mich., and the other in Lowell, Mass., which made a good start, he said, but later met opposition and became church schools exclusively. Father Moran reviewed the history of Catholic education in this country, declaring that the church was the pioneer in educational work in many sections.

In discussing Father Moran's paper, Brother John Waldron of Chaminade college, Clayton, Mo., explained that the Catholic Educational association is based on the co-operative good will and efforts of the different elements that enter into its composition. Its three departments of seminaries, colleges and schools serve one another, he said. The immediate education of the pastor, said Brother Waldron, is in the parochial school.

The opening session was held in the auditorium of the Cathedral school, which was crowded by clergy, sisters and laymen. Archbishop Ireland was present and followed the program with interest.

The halls and anterooms of the buildings were given over to school supply houses, which had exhibits of books and school utensils. Lunch was served in the basement by Catholic women.

Sectional meetings were held with addresses and discussions by prominent Catholic educators.

CLUB GIRLS AT ALBERT LEA

Industrial Council Opens Meeting—150 Young Ladies Representing Five States Are Assembled.

Albert Lea.—At the opening meeting of the Industrial council for club girls at Albert Lea college, 150 girls representing Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Nebraska were assembled when Miss Clara T. Taylor of Minneapolis, field industrial secretary, called the meeting to order.

Mrs. Gertrude Kingsland, dean of Albert Lea college, made the address of welcome. All other leaders from the different states made addresses.

Five Bible classes will be conducted. The class for secretaries will be led by Mrs. Emma Byers, executive secretary of the North Central field and four classes for girls under the leadership of Miss Grace Richardson of St. Paul; Miss Dodd, Duluth; Miss Elizabeth Brainerd, Cedar Rapids, and Miss Frances M. Crittenden, city secretary for the North Central field.

Dr. W. E. J. Gratz of St. Paul will be one of the speakers at the vesper meeting each evening.

Destructive Fire at Elk River.

Elk River.—Fire destroyed the new Falk building and caused a loss of $12,000 to $15,000, fairly well covered with insurance. The fire started in the basement and a terrific explosion of gas which had formed blew off the roof and the whole building was soon in flames. The building was erected on the site of one burned last fall and was just ready for occupancy. The fire department did good work in saving adjoining buildings.

Farmers and Taxpayers Meet.

Winona.—A special meeting of the Winona County Farmers' and Taxpayers' association was held here. It had been intended at the meeting to put the association on record as favoring a change in judges from Judge Albert Johnson to Judge George W. Granger in the trial of the action of W. J. Landon, relator, against County Auditor C. W. Anding, to mandamus him to let the contracts for 100 miles of improved state highways in Winona county.

MINNESOTA BANKERS MEET

State Association Opens Annual Convention in St. Paul—Gathering on Great Lakes Next Year Proposed.

St. Paul.—The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Minnesota Bankers' association opened in St. Paul.

A novel proposition will be submitted by George H. Richards of Minneapolis, secretary of the association, who will propose that the next annual meeting be held on board ship while the delegates are cruising the Great Lakes. Duluth had the meeting in 1913 and Minneapolis had it last year. Mr. Richards' aim is to keep this year's convention free from strife between the three cities. His suggestion is meeting favor.

A large number of delegates registered and it was expected that 800 would be mustered at the first session. A meeting of the executive council was held, at which President W. A. Willard of Mankato read his annual report. It is expected that O. W. Lundstrom of Hutchinson, will be elected president, as he is now vice-president, and that Henry Von der Weyer, of the Merchants National Bank of St. Paul will succeed to the vice-presidency.

INDUSTRY SHOWS INCREASE

Legislators in Recent Tour of Northern Minnesota Find Lumbering Second Only to Farming.

St. Paul.—Minnesota senators, representatives and state officials who recently toured Northern Minnesota, were brought face to face with the fact that the lumber industry in the state is increasing, not decreasing, as is generally supposed, and that it ranks in productiveness second only to agriculture.

While it is true that the big pineries have been quite generally cut over in the north central section, there are still great tracts of virgin pine remaining. With few exceptions this is in the interior and away from the main lines of travel.

But pine does not and never has constituted the bulk of Minnesota's forests, contrary to the general impression, and the legislators came to realize that spruce, cedar, tamarack, poplar, birch and balsam still remain in great abundance and are proving the bulwark of the lumber industry today.

Danger of Forest Fires Over.

St. Paul.—Danger of forest fires in northern Minnesota is now over until fall, according to Grover M. Conzet, inspector in the state forestry service, who was at the state capital after a visit to the districts about Northome, Kelliher, Aurora and Ely, where fires were raging until put out by the recent rains.

"An average of 3½ inches of rain has fallen in that region in two weeks, with rains almost every day," said Mr. Conzet, "and it has not only put out all the fires, but filled the swamps and drowned out peat fires.

"The swamps will stay filled through the summer and there is no danger from peat fires. All danger of forest fires is now over until fall, when the underbrush dries out."

Legislative Bribery Probe Likely.

St. Paul, Minn.—C. J. Buell of St Paul, county option advocate, following the denouncement by him in speeches Sunday and Monday of what he declared was the nefarious influence of the liquor interests in legislative matters, has announced that he will confer with C. D. O'Brien, county attorney of Ramsey county, relative to a grand jury investigation of the attempt he says was made to bribe Representative Thomas Tollefson of Dodge county.

Mr. Tollefson over the long distance telephone announced his willingness to testify before a grand jury that $200 was offered him if he would vote for H. H. Flowers for speaker.

Seek Reversal of Indian Ruling.

Detroit.—Business men of Detroit and vicinity who are vitally interested in the government suits to invalidate 1,300 land transfers made under the Clapp act by Chippewa Indians, will appeal from the decision of George R. O'Reilly, master in chancery, who in St. Paul sustained the government's contention in the first of the suits.

Weds Girl; Leaves for Front.

Grand Forks, N. D., July 1.—When the bugle calls at Winnipeg again it will separate Lieutenant Charles J. Dancer from his bride of two days.

Dancer, who is an officer in the 3rd Canadian contingent, that leaves for the front shortly, was married in Grand Forks to Miss Elsie D. Ward of Minneapolis. They left for Winnipeg.

Charged With Swindle Attempt.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Charged with attempting to swindle William Beyers, a Minnesota Lake farmer, of $5,000 on a fake horse race, John L. Lane and William Sherman, arrested in Chicago, will be brought here to answer trial. One other man and one woman are being sought.

Alleged Swindlers Jump Bail.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Fire which de- and William Sherman, alias Maxwell, wanted in Minneapolis on a charge of attempting to swindle William Beyers, a Minnesota Lake farmer, out of $5,000 or more in a fake horse race game, have jumped their bail in Chicago. This information reached the Minneapolis police department just as two detectives, armed with requisition papers, were ready to leave on the night train to bring the men back to Minneapolis.

Russian Victory.

General Ivan Pavlovitch sat in his room and studied the map. Then he rang the bell at his elbow. In came Sergius Julioffski, his aide-de-camp.

"What are your orders, excellency?"

"Sergius Julioffski, glance over this map. Do you see this hill?"

"I do, excellency."

"That hill must be captured. Attend to the matter and let me know when it is done."

"I will, excellency."

Twenty minutes passed and there was a knock at the door. Sergius strode in, clicked his heels together, and saluted.

"Well, what is it, Sergius, my son?"

"I have the honor to announce, excellency, that the hill has been captured."

"Already captured! Fine, my son, fine! Who occupies it?"

"The Germans, excellency."

Kind Wishes.

"You missed the train," said Mrs. Kermoot, reproachfully.

"Yes," replied her husband.

"Well, perhaps it's just as well to cultivate the habit. I wish I could be sure you were as likely to miss the train when your motor car hits a railway crossing as you are in ordinary travel."

"How many pancakes do you suppose you could eat at a sitting?" inquired Uncle George, as he watched his little nephew stowing them away.

"I don't know," said the boy. "The most I ever had a chance to eat was twenty-four. Ma won't let me try for a record."

Feminine of Chief.

They were discussing the North American Indian the other day in a rural school, when the teacher asked if anyone could tell him what the leaders were called.

"Chief," answered a bright little girl at the head of the class.

"Correct!" answered the teacher. "Now, can any of you tell me what the women are called?"

There was silence for a minute or two, then a small boy was seen waving his hand aloft, eager to reply.

"Well, Tommy?" asked the teacher.

"Mischief," he announced proudly.

Aurora Refuses to Die.

Aurora, probably the oldest mining camp in the state of Nevada, the former home of Mark Twain and other historic persons of the early days of the West, which was thought a dead camp, has not only revived as a mining community, but is beginning to show an unusual metropolitan aspect.

The Fourth of July celebration of Mineral county, writes a correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle, was held at Aurora and close to 2,000 people were entertained.

The entrance of the Goldfield Consolidated Mining company, the big Wingfield concern, into the camp has stimulated an unusual interest in Aurora. The old mining property has been taken over by the Wingfield interests, a new mill erected and a monthly production of close to $50,000 is now being realized.

SIDE OF CAPITOL IS WRECKED BY BOMB

TREMENDOUS EXPLOSION AT WASHINGTON IS BELIEVED WORK OF CRANK.

WATCHMAN BLOWN OFF CHAIR

Part of Ceiling and Side Walls of Public Reception Room are Shaken Down—No One is Injured By Blast.

Washington, July 6.—A tremendous explosion, believed to have been caused by some kind of bomb or infernal machine, wrecked the public reception room on the east side of the capital building shortly before midnight. No one was injured.

Officials believe that the explosive was placed by a crank who desired to create a sensation. Visitors were allowed in the room during the day and a timed machine might have been left without attracting attention.

Superintendent Woods of the capitol building, summoned by panic-stricken watchmen, made a hurried investigation and then telephoned for an expert on explosives. Until the expert has made his report no official statement concerning the incident will be made public.

Doors Blown Open.

Part of the ceiling and side walls of the room were shaken down, a huge mirror and a crystal chandelier shattered, and the doors blown open. One of the doors led into the office of the vice president and is said not to have been opened in 40 years.

The building had been closed since dark and there was no one in it but the watchmen and telephone switchboard operators. Watchman Jones on the floor below at the east entrance said he was blown from his chair by the explosion.

The report could be heard for a great distance and in a few minutes a crowd of excited people had gathered on the east plaza. In the meantime lights had been switched on and excited officials were rushing back and forth on two floors of the great building.

Believed Work of Crank.

While some officials thought the explosion was the work of an irresponsible crank with no other end in view than a sensation, others seriously suggested that it might have been perpetrated by a person desiring to demonstrate his disapproval of some of the policies of the American government. It was apparent that there was no intent to destroy life as it is generally known that the room is empty at night.

Some idea of the force of the blast was gained by the discovery of a chandelier crystal into the connection links of which a splinter of wood had been driven.

EVELYN THAW TO BE WITNESS

Reluctantly Decides to Obey Subpoena Summoning Her to Sanity Trial of Husband.

New York, July 3.—Although word was received here from Malone, N. Y., that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw had announced that she would decline to obey the subpoena summoning her to New York to testify as a state witness at the trial to test the sanity of her husband, Harry K. Thaw, information considered authentic has reached the deputy attorney general's office that she has reluctantly decided to submit to the ordeal.

Accordingly, plans which had been made to compel her attendance through the issuance of a writ of attachment were abandoned. She is expected to arrive in New York in time to take the stand on Tuesday.

ALLEGED UNNEUTRAL ACTS ARE INTIMATED.

Washington, July 3.—Intimations that the Allies are violating the neutrality of the United States, and that the American government is an innocent party to unneutral acts have come to light in connection with the investigation of the sinking of the Leland line steamer Armenian by a German submarine. The alleged unneutral acts comprise the loading of British admiralty transports at American ports under the representation that they are private merchantmen.

British Bombard Turk Ports.

Hoquiam, Wash., July 1.—Laden with a cargo of 4,000 old style Springfield rifles and 1,000,000 cartridges loaded with dumdum bullets, according to the captain, the three-masted schooner Annie Larson, arrived at Hoquiam short of both provisions and water.

Immediately on her arrival she was seized by Deputy Customs Collector R. L. Sebastian and was in charge of deputies until word is received from the customs collector at Seattle as to what is to be done with her.

She may have had experience in matrimony from what she said, but to all outward appearances she was a spinster. She had been sitting in the courtroom of a justice of the peace while he was preparing to marry a couple in his private office. Canadian Wheat to Feed the World

The war's fearful devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and there is an unusual demand for Canadian wheat. Canada's invitation to every industrious American is therefore especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves while helping her to raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands can be bought at remarkably low prices. Think of the money you can make with wheat at its present high prices, where for some time it is liable to continue. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent.

Military service is not compulsory in Canada. There is no conscription and no war tax on lands.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT,

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

With a $10,000 damage case on tap for assault, and an indictment of the grand jury against the city council, outsiders might get the opinion that our county seat was not a law abiding city, but they are, only they get a little lively sometimes.

The Times of Thief River Falls thought they had an opportunity to give THE SUNBEAM a dig last week, which we hardly consider worthy of notice, as an editor that can not distinguish an editorial from a circus add had better apply for a position behind a manure fork or a grub hoe, instead of running a newspaper.

Hon. D. P. O'Neill had a very good article in the last weeks issue of The Times explaining the repeal of the Elwell road law by the last legislature. The article covers the whole ground from A to Z regarding the unfairness of that law, and the reason for its repeal, which was one of the best acts passed by the legislature last winter. If some of the publishers would read this explanation they would stop digging up that old dead cat about the repeal of that Elwell law, and continuing to show their ignorance of the facts as they actually existed at the time of its repeal.

Minneapolis is circulating a petition for a vote on county option. It takes 12,000 signatures and will therefore be some considerable task, However, there will probably be no question but what the required number will be secured, after which the real fight will be on. The wets now claim the county by about 6,000, but in view of the large total vote the ultimate outcome is doubtful, and we would not be surprised to see the drys win. If Hennepin county goes dry it is quite likely to have some effect on legislation at the next session, and we predict that the present law will be repealed or that state-wide prohibition will prevail.—T. R. Falls News-Press.

That Red Lake Again

The people living north and east of Red Lake were greater sufferers from the recent excessive rains that the people of this locality, and what they now want is the level of Red Lake lowered.

Mr. Sarff, one of the prominent farmers living on the Tamarac river which flows into Red Lake, says:

"It is the Red Lake level that is causing trouble," said P. Sarff a prosperous and progressive settler whose property is located about one and a half miles from the east shore of upper Red Lake. Mr. Sarff was in Bemidji this week on business connected with his school district, of which he is clerk, and told of some of the flood conditions in his vicinity.

"My own land is so high that we were more fortunate than some of our neighbors who were compelled to move out," said Mr. Sarff. "We all feel that something should be done without further delay to lower the level of Red Lake. The Tamarac is always a sluggish stream, being nearly on a level with the lake and when several judicial ditches are emptied into this river, as has been done at an expense to the taxpayers of thousands of dollars, it adds to our troubles during a rainy season. We hope to see a movement started to lower Red Lake without further delay."

Read the above you people who are opposing declaring the Red Lake River a non-navigable stream, hoping to get a big government dam put into the river at the outlet of Red Lake to raise the level of Red Lake. Is it any wonder that those people telegraphed their Congressman last winter to oppose any proposition to raise the level of Red Lake?

As the matter now stands the people east and north of Red Lake want the level of the lake lowered, while there is some on the west side that want it raised. To either lower or raise that lake would involve a big expense to the government, and they will not either raise or lower it, but will let it remain just as it is, and don't you forget it; so we may as well get the river declared non-navigable so we can get bridges across it.

Skiing on the Water.

The ski is recommended as both a life saving device and a pleasure craft, combining safety with novelty. It cannot sink, makes better speed than a swimmer and does not tire the rider as swimming does. It is more practicable for long distances and can go through water where there is a heavy undertow, as it sits so high in the water that it is not caught in the grip of the undercurrent as the legs of the swimmer are. It doesn't take a long time to master, as the surf board does; requires no skill in balancing and sticking on and has the great advantage of being equipped with a motive power, whereas the ordinary surf board must be pushed and paddled out to sea before it can be ridden in.—Outing.

PIMPLES, SKIN BLEMISHES ECZEMA CURED.

No odds how serious, how long standing your case, there's help for you in every particle of Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment, It wipes out all trace of your ailment, and leaves your skin clean and soft as a child's. Hundreds of users have sent voluntary letters of thanks. Just try one box. It will mean freedom from suffering and embarrassment.—Adv.

A GOOD HOUSEHOLD SALVE

Ordinary ailments and injuries are not of themselves serious, but infection or low vitality may make them dangerous. Don't neglect a cut, sore, bruise or hurt because it's small. Blood Poison has resulted from a pin-prick or scratch. For all such ailments Bucklen's Arnica Salve is excellent. It protects and heals the hurt; is antiseptic, kills infection and prevents dangerous complications. Good for all Skin Blemishes, Pimples, Salt Rheum, Eczema. Get an original 2-ounce 25c. box from your Druggist.—adv.

Education.

Education is not merely the writing of facts on the mind as one writes on a blank slate. It resembles rather the placing of fresh color on canvas on which earlier colors are not dry. The new colors mix with the old. So the living mind mixes new information with what is already in it, and judges the new in the light of the old.

KNOW THY COUNTRY

I—Introductory

"Know America" is a slogan that should ring out from every school room, office, farm and shop in this nation. No man can aspire to a higher honor than to become a capable citizen, and no one can merit so distinguished a title until he is well informed of the resources, possibilities and achievements of our country.

This is a commercial age and civilization is bearing its most golden fruit in America. We are noted for our industrial achievements as Egypt was noted for her pyramids; Jerusalem for her religion; Greece for her art; Phoenicia for her fleets; Chaldea for her astronomy and Rome for her laws. Likewise we have men who will go down in the world's history as powerful products of their age. For, standing at the source of every gigantic movement that sways civilization is a great man. The greatest minds travel in the greatest direction and the commercial geniuses of this age would have been the sculptors, poets, philosophers, architects, and artists of earlier civilizations.

As Michael Angelo took a rock and with a chisel hewed it into the image of an angel that ever beckons mankind upward and onward, Hill took the desert of the Northwest and with bands of steel made it blossom like a rose, dotted the valleys with happy homes and built cities in waste places. As Guttenberg took blocks of wood and whittled them into an alphabet and made a printing press that flashed education across the continent like a ray of light upon a new born world, McCormick took a bar of iron and bent it into a reaper and with one sweep of his magic mind broke the shackles that enslaved labor of generations yet unborn, and gave mankind freedom from drudgery, and lifted the human race into a higher zone of life.

As Nelson organized the English navy and made England mistress of the sea, enabling the British Isles to plant her flag upon every continent washed by the ocean's waves, and to make footstools of the Islands of every water, Morgan organized a banking system that has made America master of the world's finances, brought Kings to our cashier's windows, the nations of the earth to our discount desks and placed under the industries of this nation a financial system as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar.

There is no study quite so interesting as progress; no sound so magic as the roar of industry and no sight so inspiring as civilization in action. A full realization of America's part in the great events of the world past, present and future will thrill every human heart with pride, patriotism and faith in Republican institutions.

Through the courtesy of the Agricultural and Commercial Press Service, the readers of this paper will be permitted to study America; her agricultural, manufacturing and mineral development, mercantile, banking and transportation systems which are the wonder of the world. The first article of the series will deal with transportation and will appear at an early date.

Leather Medals.

Leather medals were originally conferred as a genuine mark of honor. When King John of France, captured at Agincourt, was forced to pay to Edward III. of England a ransom of 3,000,000 gold crowns to effect his release he was left without precious metal for coins or decorations. So he found it necessary to pay the palace expenses with leather money. He also used leather medals when he wished to confer honor on some nobleman. The custom quickly arose of presenting leather medals as a burlesque distinction.—American Boy.

It is an admitted economic fact that there can be no permanent prosperity without a permanent agriculture.

Agriculture is recognized as the greatest of all industries and a prosperous, progressive and enlightened agricultural population is the surest safeguard of civilization.

THE LOCAL NEWS

The grain on the high land is about shoulder high, and is ailing nicely.

It is reported that there will be a shortage of twine this year, and it would be well for the farmers to look out for their supply early in the season.

Even J. Sund lost a fine young colt this week. Mr. Sund has had rather bad luck with his horses this year, as he has lost two colts and one horse.

The only way we can stop the weeds from getting taller in the potato patch is to mow them down with a scythe as the land is too wet to cultivate.

The potato bugs have made their appearance in great numbers, and should promptly be treated to a good dose of paris green.

From present reports it is a difficult matter to get across the Clearwater river, as it is so high that it is over all the grades on both sides of all the bridges.

The farmers club picnic that was to be held at the residence of Wm. A. Swanson in Deer Park township has been postponed until the roads get better. Notice will be given of the date it will be held a little later.

Advertisements are out for the Pennington county fair to be held at Thief River Falls, Aug. 2 to 6. As the committee and management are doing all their advertising by circulars, you can get further information at almost any grocery store or on the four corners of the road.

If you see something in your local paper that you do not like, rush up to the office and stop the "sheet," but do not tell anyone that you have stopped the publication of it so they will not get it next week, for if you do, they will laugh at you.

The mosquitoes and small black flies are dreadful annoying to stock now days. A good big smudge built in the barn yard helps them to get a little rest at night, There seems to be a day and night shift of mosquitoes, and they are on the job at all times, night and day.

At the county option elections held last Monday in four counties. two went wet and two dry. Goodhue and Sherborne counties went wet, and Freeborn and Anoka went dry. This makes just half of the counties of Minnesota in the dry column at the present time.

MARRIED: At the residence of Wm. Parnow, Sr. in Kratka township to day Wm. Parnow Jr. to Miss Agnes Thyra Hansen, of Duluth. A wedding reception and ball will be given at the Erie hall to morrow evening July 17th, to which all their friends are cordially invited. We extend congratulations to the newly weds, and wish them a prosperous matrimonial voyage over lifes troubled sea.

It seems that Germany's last note to the United States has gone pretty far when it requires us to notify Germany when a ship sails from one of our ports, and request them to mark the ships. We do not take any sides in this European war, but America does not have to notify either Germany, France or England when an American ship sails from this U. S., Old Glory will float over the ship, and that is notice enough to "keep hands off." If they do not understand that, they are likely to be made to understand it in pretty plain Yankee English.

Better Mail Service.

There is now no part of the eleven townships, that have absolutely no mail service, except the patrons of the former Malone post office in the town of Mayfield. To get some mail service the people have petitioned to the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General to make a change in the Sunbeam and Rhoda route, so as to have the carrier on his return trip turn west one half mile north of Rhoda post office, and drive west to the location of the former Malone post office, then north and east to Sunbeam post office. This would supply about thirty families with mail. that now have no mail service at all, and live a long distance from any post office. The petition call's for the mail to go from Sunbeam post office to Rhoda post office on the same road that they now return from Rhoda to Sunbeam, and abandon the route that they now drive from Sunbeam to Rhoda for part of the distance, for since the Highlanding post office has been re-established those people are no great distance from it. There is of course some opposition by a few patrons of the present route, who would like to have it continue as it is. But let us see how much consideration should be taken of this complaint. The route was changed some three months ago to accomodate these people, and the post master at Sunbeam informs us that the cancellation received from mail boxes on this route for the past three months is eight cents. In view of these facts, it is justice to the people that have no mail service at all to give them this service and let the other parties have their service one way instead of both ways. The people have the right to petition to have a mail route established, and the former patrons of the Malone post office are unanimous for this mail route, as they can readily see that the combination of the patronage on this route with the Sunbeam post office will give us a daily mail service in the near future which we will be justly entitled to.

A QUEER STORY.

Longview, Miss.—Mary Mc Cain, 13, evangelist, claims to have died, gone to heaven and returned to life, and her parents bear her out. They say she had no pulse, heart had stopped beating and her body was cold and rigid. Mary claims that, in heaven, God held one hand over her head and bade her preach; that she saw angels with arms and wings outspread and that God led her back to earth. Pastors in Louisiana and Mississippi are begging the child to conduct revivals in their churches.

SECRETARY DANIEL'S BIG IDEA

Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, has conceived the idea of an advisory board of civilian inventors, headed by no less a person than the greatest inventive genius of the world, as an adjunct to the United States navy.

Moreover, Thomas A. Edison has accepted this call to serve his country, and that means that the plan is a success.

This gears up to the navy the finest inventive brains in the world. It assures that what human ingenuity can do to cope with recent developments in killing devices for use on the water will be done. It means that the submarine peril will be met, and turned into an assurance of security. It is not too much to expect it to mean that the wonderful genius that has put this country far ahead of the world in the creation of cunning mechanical devices to serve industry will put it far ahead of the rest of the world in the creation of cunning mechanical devices for defence against aggression.

Mr. Edison has said that he never would turn his mind to the invention of war machinery except at the call of his country, The call has come, and Mr. Edison has responded.

Our hat is off to Secretary Daniels for the origination of the biggest thought anybody in the navy department has had for a century.—Duluth Herald.

It would appear from the above, that Edison has a plan to promptly electricute any foreign nation that attempts to invade America by touching a button, which will cause all submarines to sink to the bottom without leaving a man to tell the tale.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. TAINTED POLITICS

By Peter Radford.

This country is suffering more from tainted politics than from any other malady at the present time. There is scarcely a campaign speech made, a platform demand written or a measure enacted into law that does not carry the taint of personal gain of some politician or political faction thereof.

There is more "blue sky" in campaign promises of many politicians running for office than was ever contained in the prospectuses of the boldest promoters of chimerical business schemes. There are more secret combinations formed by politicians in the name of "My Country" than were ever formed under any and all other aliases. There are more political rebates hidden in the phrase "Be it enacted" than were ever concealed under any and all other disguises.

The inordinate thirst for political power and unrestrained passion for mastery has caused more distress in this nation than the greed for gold, and it ought to be regulated by law. No business combination ever pursued their competitors as relentlessly or visited more heartless cruelty upon their customers than a political party that seeks to make junk of an industry, or cripple a business for party success, through tariff measures, political supervision and ofttimes destructive legislation. Many political platforms are as alluring to the voter as the story of the rainbow with its pot of gold and their consummation about as far-fetched. Self-gain is the first law in politics. There are many men in office today who, if they could not shake plums off the tree of American liberty or cut a melon taken from Uncle Sam's commissary, would have less desire to serve the public.

The country is surfeiting with patriots, who will bare their breast to bullets in defense of their country, but there are few men in public life who will bare their breast to voters or run the gauntlet of party disfavor in defense of agriculture or industry. No representative of the people, who will permit personal prejudice to dethrone justice, party success to disfranchise reason or the rancor of a political campaign to influence judgment can render capable service.

The preservation of our prosperity depends upon wisdom, courage and honesty in government, and the American voter should seek these attributes as implicitly as the Wise Men followed the Star of Bethlehem and they will often be found to rest over the stable; the plow or the staff of the Shepherd. The surest cure for tainted politics and machine rule is fresh air and sunshine and these important elements are most abundant upon the farm, and when farmers, bankers and merchants are elected to membership in legislative bodies, much of the trouble in government will disappear.

Gallipoli.

Gallipoli is the door through which in 1358 the Turks first entered into their European possessions. And the entrance came about in a surprising manner. In that year an earthquake shattered all the cities of Thrace and overthrew the walls of Gallipoli. The inhabitants fled, while the Turks, for whom earthquakes had no terror, crossed the Hellespont and marched upon the deserted city. Emperor Cantacuzenus protested, but Sultan Orkhan calmly replied that "Providence had opened a way to his troops, and he could not disregard so clear an indication of divine interposition." Thus was taken the first plunge that kept the near east bathed in blood for centuries. —London Standard.

Horses on the Simplon Pass.

The horses of the Simplon post diligence—the coach which carries mail and passengers to the villages on the Simplon pass between Italy and Switzerland—are particularly well cared for. The road to the top is a steady pull of fifteen miles over a macadamized track. The horses are driven at a fast walk. Five miles up they are watered. At the ten mile station they are fed about a peck of black bread (rye or barley) cut into mouthfuls; this makes a light lunch, sustaining but not as difficult of digestion as oats. At the top of the pass, at noon, the horses are given an hour and a half to rest and are well fed and watered. The return trip of fifteen miles is made with a brake on the wheels most of the way, so that the horses trot freely and without the strain of holding back.—Our Dumb Animals.

SUBMARINE WAR RIGHTS UPHELD IN GERMANY'S REPLY

INTENSE DISAPPOINTMENT FELT AT WASHINGTON OVER FAILURE OF BERLIN TO COMPLY WITH DEMANDS OF WILSON.

GIVES NO DISAVOWAL; OFFERS NO REPARATION

Imperial Government Makes Counter Proposals Which it is Said Cannot Possibly Be Accepted By America—Complete Text May Not Prove as Unsatisfactory as Report.

Washington, July 10. — While the German reply to the protest of the United States government against submarine warfare upon merchant vessels bearing noncombatants has not been received by the state department, the text of the note, as contained in press dispatches is before administration officials. No attempt is made to conceal the intense disappointment felt over the failure of Germany to comply with the demands of President Wilson immediately after the destruction of the Lusitania by a German submarine. These demands were:

1. Disavowal of the acts which the government of the United States complained.

2. Reparation so far as reparation is possible for "injuries which are without measure."

3. Immediate steps to prevent the recurrence of anything so obviously subversive of t he principles of warfare.

Germany has given no disavowal and has offered no reparation. Instead of taking immediate steps to cease the submarine methods to which this government emphatically objected, she his made counter proposals which it is said cannot possibly be accepted by the American government.

To Continue Submarine Warfare.

The big fact stands out from the German response that the Kaiser's government intends to contimue submarine warfare irrespective of the protests of the United States. Thus the country is again, it is feared, facing the issue of broken relations with the German empire.

President Wilson is due back in Washington in time to discuss the note with his cabinet at a regular meeting Tuesday. Until the official text arrives there will be no comment made. Hope prevails that the complete text, carefully translated, will not prove as unsatisfactory as the cabled report, but officials here, it is known, are not optimistic over the prospects.

Text of German Note.

Berlin, via London, July 10.—The text of the German note follows:.

"Berlin. July 8.—The undersigned has the honor to make the following reply to his excellency, Ambassador Gerard, to the note of the 10th ultimo, re the impairment of American interests by the German submarine war. The imperial government learned with satisfaction from the note how earnestly the government of the United States is concerned in seeing the principles of humanity realized in the present war. Also this appeal finds ready echo in Germany and the imperial government is quite willing to permit its statements and decisions in the present case to be governed by the principles of humanity just as it has done always.

Recalls Principles of Humanity.

"The imperial government welcomed with gratitude when the American government, in the note of May 15, itself recalled that Germany had always permitted itself to be governed by the principles of progress and humanity in dealing with the law of maritime war. Since the time when Frederick the Great negotiated with John Adams, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson the treaty of friendship and commerce of September 9, 1785, between Prussia and the republic of the west, German and American statesmen have, in fact, always stood together in the struggle for the freedom of the seas and for the protection of peaceable trade. In the international proceedings which since have been conducted for the regulation of the laws of maritime war, Germany and America have jointly advocated progressive principles, especially the abolishment of the right to capture at sea and the protection of the interests of neutrals.

Would Spare Enemy Civilians.

"Even at the beginning of the present war, the German government immediately declared its willingness, in response to proposals of the American government, to ratify the Declaration of London and thereby subject itself in the use of its naval forces to all the restrictions provided therein in favor of neutrals. Germany likewise has been always tenacious of the principle that war should be conducted against the armed and organized forces of an enemy country, but that the enemy civilian population must be spared as far as possible from the measures of war. The imperial government cherishes the definite hope that some way will be found, when peace is concluded, or perhaps earlier, to regulate the law of maritime war in a manner guaranteeing the freedom of the seas, and will welcome it with gratitude and satisfaction if it can work hand in hand with the American government on that occasion.

EMPEROR WILLIAM

Germany Disclaims Guilt.

"If in the present war the principles which should be the ideal of the future, have been traversed more and more, the longer its duration, the German government has no guilt therein. It is known to the American government how Germany's adversaries, by completely paralyzing peaceful traffic between Germany and neutral countries, have aimed from the very beginning and with increasing lack of consideration at its destruction, not so much of the armed forces as the life of the German nation, repudiating in doing so all the rules of international law and disregarding the rights of neutrals.

Puts Blame On England.

"On November 3, 1914, England declared the North sea a war area and by planting poorly anchored mines and by the stoppage and capture of vessels made passage extremely dangerous and difficult for neutral shipping, so (by?) that actually blockading neutral coasts and ports contrary to all international law. Long before the beginning of submarine war, England practically completely intercepted legitimate neutral navigation to Germany also. Thus Germany was driven to a submarine war on trade.

Prevents Food Reaching Germany.

"On November 14, 1914, the English premier declared in the house of commons that it was one of England's principal tasks to prevent food for the German population from reaching Germany via neutral ports. Since March 1st England has been taking from neutral ships, without further formality, all merchandise proceeding to Germany as well as all merchandise coming from Germany, even when neutral property. Just as it was also with the Boers, the German people is now to be given the choice of perishing from starvation with its women and children or of relinquishing its independence.

Calls Submarine Warfare Necessary.

"While our enemies thus loudly and openly proclaimed war without mercy until our utter destruction, we were conducting a war in self-defense for our national existence and for the sake of peace of an assured permanency. We have been obliged to adopt a submarine warfare to meet the declared intentions of our enemies and the method of warfare adopted by them in contravention of international law.

Recognizes Neutrals May Suffer.

"With all its efforts in principle to protect neutral life and property from damage as much as possible, the German government recognizes unreservedly in its memorandum of February 4 that the interests of neutrals might suffer from the submarine warfare. However, the American government will also understand and appreciate that in the fight for existence which has been forced upon Germany by its adversaries and announced by them, it is the sacred duty of the imperial government to do all within its power to protect and save the lives of German subjects. If the imperial government were derelict in these, its duties, it would be guilty before God and history of the violation of those principles of highest humanity which are the foundation of every national existence.

Lusitania Tragedy England's Fault?

"The case of the Lusitania shows with horrible clearness to what jeopardizing of human lives the manner of conducting war employed by our adversaries leads. In the most direct contradiction of international law, all distinctions between merchantmen and war vessels have been obliterated by the order to British merchantmen to arm themselves and to ram submarines; and the promise of rewards therefor, and neutrals who use merchantmen as travelers thereby have been exposed in an increasing degree to all the dangers of war.

Might Have Destroyed Submarine.

"If the commander of the German submarine which destroyed the Lusitania had caused the crew and passengers to take to the boats before firing the torpedo, this would have meant the sure destruction of his own vessel. After the experience in sinking much smaller and less seaworthy vessels, it was to be expected that a mighty ship like the Lusitania would remain above water long enough even after the torpedoing to permit passengers to enter the ship's boats. Circumstances of a very peculiar kind, especially the presence on board of large quantities of highly explosive materials, defeated this expectation. In addition, it may be pointed out that if the Lusitania had been spared, thousands of cases of munitions would have been sent to Germany's enemies and thereby thousands of German mothers and children robbed of bread winners.

Americans in Neutral Ships Safe.

"In the spirt of friendship wherewith the German nation has been imbued toward the Union and its inhabitants since the earliest days of its existence, the imperial government will always be ready to do all it can during the present war also to prevent the jeopardizing of lives of American citizens. The imperial government, therefore, repeats the assurance that American ships will not be hindered in the prosecution of legitimate shipping and the lives of American citizens in neutral vessels shall not be placed in jeopardy.

Special Markings for Steamers.

"In order to exclude any unforeseen dangers to American passenger steamers, made possible in view of the conduct of maritime war by Germany's adversaries, German submarines will be instructed to permit the free and safe passage of such passenger steamers when made recognizable by special markings and notified a reasonable time in advance. The imperial government, however, confidently hopes that the American government will assume to guarantee that these vessels have no contraband on board, details of arrangement for the unhampered passage of these vessels to be agreed upon by the naval authorities on both sides.

"In order to furnish adequate facilities for travel across the Atlantic for American citizens, the German government submits for consideration a proposal to increase the number of available steamers by installing in passenger service a reasonable number of neutral steamers under the American flag, the exact number to be agreed upon under the same condition as the above mentioned American steamers.

Adequate Facilities Promised.

"The imperial government believes it can assume that in this manner adequate facilities for travel across the Atlantic can be afforded American citizens. There would, therefore, appear to be no compelling necessity for American citizens to travel in Europe in time of war on ships carrying an enemy flag. In particular, the imperial government is unable to admit that American citizens can protect an enemy ship through the mere fact of their presence on board.

"Germany merely followed England's example when she declared part of the high seas an area of war. Consequently, accidents suffered by neutrals on enemy ships in this area of war cannot well be judged differently from accidents to which neutrals are at all times exposed at the seat of war on land when they betake themselves into dangerous localities in spite of previous warnings. If, however, it should not be possible for the American government to require an adequate number of neutral passenger steamers, the imperial government is prepared to interpose no objections to the placing under the American flag by the American government of four enemy passenger steamers for passenger traffic between North America and England. Assurances of 'free and safe' passage for American passenger steamers would extend to apply under the identical pro-conditions to these formerly hostile passenger steamers.

Hopes for Understanding.

"The President of the United States has declared his readiness, in a way deserving of thanks, to communicate and suggest proposals to the government of Great Britain with particular reference to the alteration of maritime war. The imperial government will always be glad to make use of the good offices of the President and hopes that his efforts in the present case, as well as in the direction of the lofty ideal of the freedom of the seas, will lead to an understanding.

"The undersigned requests the ambassador to bring the above to the knowledge of the American government and avails himself of the opportunity to renew to his excellency the assurance of his most distinguished consideration.

(Signed) "VON JAGOW."

Steamer Detained Second Time.

London, July 10.—The steamer Muskogee, from New Orleans to Gothenburg, Sweden, has been detained and taken to Kirkwall for examination.

The tank steamers Pioneer and Polarine have been released.

The Muskogee sailed from New Orleans June 7, arrived at Newport News June 14 and sailed the same day for Gothenburg. This is her second detention by the British authorities. She was held up at Kirkwall from April 7 to April 16.

Blasts Destroy British Powder Mills.

London, July 10.—Curtis' big powder mills at Hunslow, Middlesex, were virtually destroyed by a series of explosions which occurred shortly after a hundred men had commenced work. No statement of the casualties is yet available.

The explosion was heard for a distance of 10 miles.

It was stated at the powder mills that only one person was killed, but that many others had been injured by flying debris.

Saskatchewan Battalion Depleted.

Regina, Sask., July 10.—Casualties in the fifth battalion, practically all men from Saskatchewan, have depleted the battalion to one-fifth of its ordinary strength, according to a letter received from F. M. Bagshaw, who went with the battalion in the first contingent. Of the men out of commission, nearly one-third have either been killed or captured, another fourth are seriously injured and the remainder are reported less seriously hurt.

FLASH WARNING TO BEWARE OF BOMBS

U. S. NAVAL WIRELESS TOWERS SEND MESSAGES TO TWO SHIPS AT SEA.

EXPLOSIVES PLACED ABOARD

Telegram from New Orleans Newspaper Says Letter to that Paper Signed "Pearce" Indicates Danger—To Continue Holt's Work.

Washington, July 13. — Warning to look out for bombs concealed in their holds has been flashed from the naval wireless towers at Arlington to two ships at sea which sailed from New Orleans July 9.

Sending of the warning was ordered by Secretary Daniels upon receiving a telegram from a New Orleans newspaper saying a letter to that paper signed "Pearce" indicated that explosives had been placed aboard those vessels.

Vessels Carry Mules for Allies.

Both the vessels, the British steamship Howth Head and Baron Napier, cleared with cargoes of mules for the British army July 8 and sailed the next day, the former for Dublin and Belfast, via Norfolk, and the latter direct for Avonmouth.

The radio message was broadcasted over the sea and even if it is not picked directly by the Howth Head or Baron Napier, some other ship in the neighborhood may relay it. Naval officers think responses may be caught by some of the wireless stations along the South Atlantic coast today.

Newspaper Receives Letter.

New Orleans, July 13.—A letter received by a newspaper here signed "Pearce" declared the writer intended to kill J. P. Morgan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, and finish the work of Enrich Muenter, alias Holt, who committed suicide several days ago after wounding Mr. Morgan.

It warned persons who had friends or relatives aboard the British steamships Howth Head and Baron Napier, which sailed from New Orleans July 9 with mules for the British army to watch for reports from these vessels.

The writer declared that it was Muenter who warned passengers on board the Lusitania before that vessel sailed from New York that it would be dangerous to make the voyage on her. It also is declared that Muenter personally called on Charles Frohman and urged him not to take passage on the ship.

To Carry on Holt's Work.

After announcing his intention to kill Mr. Morgan to avenge the death of Holt, the letter writer says:

"Holt (Muenter) was my partner and I glory in the thought of his comradeship. We worked together ever since this cursed war began. Holt is gone but I am still here and I am going to carry on the work the two of us began. I am going to carry on the work with redoubled fury.

"The statement that Holt intended to wreck libraries and other such public buildings is a lie. The capitol is the only building that we planned to wreck and we partly succeeded in our plan. But what we did plan and what I am going to carry out, is the just idea to stop this country from contributing to the damnable, hellish, barbaric slaughter across the ocean."

Frank Holt Buried.

Dallas, Texas, July 13.—Frank Holt, the man who shot J. P. Morgan, confessed to placing a bomb in the national capitol and later committed suicide, was buried here. Mrs. Holt and her two children were present at the services as was also her father, Rev. O. F. Sensabaugh. The services were conducted by Rev. J. P. Mussett of Fort Worth, a close friend of the family.

New Administration at Capital.

Washington, July 13.—Dispatches to the Carranza agency from Vera Cruz announce that General Carranza is sending officers of the various departments of his government on a special train to Mexico City to set up a civil administration there at once. General Lopez De Lara, newly appointed governor of the federal district, started from Vera Cruz with his staff several days ago and is believed to have taken charge in the capital when the Zapata forces evacuated.

Carranzistas in Mexico City, Claim.

Washington, July 10.—That the Carranzistas were already in Mexico City was the opinion expressed by individual members of the Carranza junta here. Lacking confirmation, however, the junta issued no formal claim.

Allies Seek American Boats.

New York, July 10.—The G. C. Smith Boat and Engine company has announced that representatives of the British, French and Russian governments have asked that company to submit estimates for the construction of upward of 150 powerful motor speed boats for war purposes. The craft are required to be strong enough to carry two or more light guns and are to be used, it is understood, in seeking out and attacking German submarines in the waters about England and France and in the Baltic sea.

CRITICAL POINT IN RELATIONS AT HAND

OFFICIALS FEEL UNITED STATES MUST REFUSE GERMAN PROPOSALS.

ACTION DELAYED FOR WEEK

Official Text of Note Received Differs But Slightly from Press Copy —America to Surrender None of Her Rights.

Washington, July 13.—Formal study of the official text of Germany's reply to the American note on submarine warfare as it affects neutral rights strengthens the conviction of high officials that a most critical point in the relations between the two countries has been reached.

Not only do they feel the United States must refuse to accept the German proposals for the future conduct of the American citizens on the high seas, but the failure of Germany to disavow the sinking of the Lusitania with the loss of more than 100 Americans, in their view has brought on a crisis the outcome of which it is difficult at present to clearly foresee.

Delay Action for Week.

That there will be no action by the United States for at least another week was indicated. Several days will be required to measure fully the consequences and responsibilities which will be incurred by the American government in framing a policy to meet the situation firmly.

Secretary Lansing will go to Cornish, N. H., within a day or two to confer with President Wilson. He said he would study the note carefully, and then communicate with the President.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, intends to call on Secretary Lansing during the week to learn informally whether he can be of any service in the situation. No engagement has been made for a conference, but it will likely take place at once.

Official Text Received.

The official text of the German reply arrived and was made public. It differed in only a few, unimportant words from the press copy which came from Berlin. The official version was delayed in transmission because of the time required for enciphering and decoding. Comparison of the two texts reveal that they were cabled from the same translation and that the press copy in transmission had omitted only a few scattering words which did not alter the sense or meaning.

In all quarters here the reply was the single topic of concern. What the action of the American government will be is doubtful, largely, in the sense that the means of expressing the ideas and purposes of the United States have not yet been decided. It was authoritatively indicated that obviously there would be no surrender of rights and no acceptance of the German proposal to guarantee immunity to American ships under arrangements to be agreed upon by the naval authorities of the two countries concerning the marking of neutral ships.

Responsibility On Germany.

There is no intention, from indications in official quarters, to force a situation, but in whatever policy is followed the American endeavor will be to place full responsibility on Germany for any subsequent rupture in friendly relations.

Since the Lusitania was sunk on May 7, there has been no violation of the principles for which the United States has contended, unless the mishap to the Nebraskan can be included, and in that case the Washington government has not finally reached a conclusion as to whether a mine or torpedo caused the explosion.

GERMANS BATTERING ARRAS

Teutons Bombard City From Long Range—Several Sections Reported in Flames.

Paris, July 12.—Arras is being systematically battered into ruins by German shell fire. For 48 hours the Teutons have been bombarding the city from long range, both day and night, with scarcely a moment's cessation. Several sections of the city are reported in flames. French soldiers have promptly extinguished all fires that threatened military works, but residences and public buildings are being wiped out by fire or falling before the crash of shells.

The bombardment has done no great damage of military importance, according to official dispatches, but in addition to the cathedral several fine public buildings have been pounded into heaps of wreckage.

Expect Billion Bushel Wheat Crop.

Washington, July 9.—Prospects of a billion bushel wheat crop this year were increased during last month. Basing its estimate on July 1 crop conditions, the department of agriculture placed the prospective total production at 963,000,000 bushels, compared with 950,000,000 bushels estimated from June 1 crop conditions.

Corn, the nation's greatest crop, should yield 2,814,000,000 bushels with continued favorable weather, the crop reporting board estimates from this month's figures.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong."—Mrs. Alonzo E. Baker, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Natural Procedure.

When telling the story of the Pilgrim Fathers to the children of a primary grade in a large city the leader tried to impress upon them the fact that the country was barren at that time. Later they were told of the planting, the harvest, the great feast, and the thankful attitude of those early settlers. Finally she asked:

"What did the Pilgrims do after the great feast?"

After a moment's silence a little girl said, "They went by the moving pictures."

Fooling the Enemy.

Rain was falling steadily as the weary cyclist plodded on through the English mud. At last he spied a figure walking toward him through the gloom.

Gladly he sprang off his machine and asked the native:

"How far off is the village of Poppleton?"

"Just ten miles the other way, sir," was the reply.

"The other way!" exclaimed the cyclist. "But the last sign post I passed said it was in this direction."

"Ah," said the native, with a knowing grin, "but ye see, we turned that there post round so as to fog those 'ere Zeppylings!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

The good man had just been informed by the only person who could possibly possess the information that he hadn't an ounce of sense, that he had never had an ounce of sense, and that there was not the remotest chance that he ever would have an ounce of sense.

Having been assured on these points, the good man turned to his paper, only to be interrupted by his young son and heir:

"Father," said the boy, "what is a vacuum and where can I find one?"

"My boy," replied the good man, "if we are to assume that your mother is qualified to speak on the subject, I possess the only real vacuum in the neighborhood, and, for your further information, it is situated just between my collar and the glossy open space where I used to grow hair."

"You mean your dome?"

"Yes, my son, that is the family vacuum."

Corn on the Cob —the Roasting Ear

Is not more delicious than the

New Post Toasties

In the growth of corn there is a period when the kernels are plumped out with a vegetable milk, most nutritious (roasting ears). As it slowly ripens this hardens and finally becomes almost flinty.

This nutritious part of the corn is cooked, seasoned, rolled thin, and toasted by a new process which enhances the true corn flavour.

Different from ordinary corn flakes, the New Post Toasties have a distinctive form and flavour; and they keep their appetizing crispness, even after cream or milk is added.

These Superior Corn Flakes come oven-fresh in tight wax-sealed packages; and they cost no more than ordinary "corn flakes." Insist upon having

PLAN TO RECLAIM MINNESOTA LANDS

STATE MAY SPEND $250,000 FOR IMPROVEMENTS—COMMITTEE TO ADVANCE AMENDMENT.

STATE NEWS OF MINNESOTA

Interesting and Important Happenings of the Past Few Days Selected and Arranged for the Convenience of Busy Readers.

St. Paul.—Minnesota will approve a plan to spend $250,000 for improving and reclaiming state lands if the proper advertising is given the plan. This is the belief of the committee appointed by Charles T. Kelly, president of the Northern Minnesota Development association, to promote the passage at the 1916 election of the revolving fund amendment.

The committee members held their first session at The Saint Paul. They are Senator Patrick H. McGarry, Walker; Senator Leonard H. Nord, International Falls; State Auditor Preus, St. Paul; A. A. D. Rahn, Minneapolis lumberman; L. B. Arnold, Duluth, land commissioner D., M. & N. railroad, and former Senator John Moonan, Waseca.

Would Be Perpetual Grant.

Under this amendment, which provides for the setting aside of a fund of $250,000 from the money derived from the sale of state lands, certain tracts would be cleared and drained each year and suitable roads built. Then when the property is sold the cost of these improvements would be added to the purchase price and turned back into the fund, which thus would be a perpetual grant.

Secretary of State Schmahl has promised to give the amendment first place on the amendment ballot. Last year, although not advertised, a similar amendment came within 12,000 votes of obtaining the required majority of all ballots cast at the general election.

The committee hopes to raise a substantial fund for a campaign of education.

MILL CITY WANTS SHRINERS

Minneapolis Will Be Chosen as 1916 Meeting Place of Imperial Council, is Belief.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Although no active campaign will be made, it is believed Minneapolis will be chosen as the 1916 meeting place of the Imperial Council of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine at the convention in Seattle next week.

Many of the nobles who will attend the Seattle council have passed through Minneapolis on their way to Seattle and many of them have been entertained here by the Zuhrah temple. All of them, it is said, have offered to lend their support towards making this city the next convention city. According to members of the entertainment committee of Zuhrah nearly all of the nobles here for the first time have been more than favorably impressed with the city and would like to come here next year. The central location is said to be another thing in the favor of Minneapolis. Last year the meet was in Atlanta, Ga.

The Imperial Council of the Shrine brings about 100,000 persons to the city. To care for this large number would be more than the Minneapolis temple could handle alone, but the Civic & Commerce association has offered to assist.

If they all go he will be convoyed by more than 25 gold-laced officers and orderlies.

Governor Hammond has added eight new members to his staff, making fully a dozen new officers so far. They are:

Aides-de-camp, Major Myron W. Hingeley, Floodwood; Major John L. Loy, Red Wing; Colonel V. E. Stolbrand, Faribault; Colonel J. G. Thaung, St. Paul; Colonel William H. Egan, St. Paul; Major John F. Murphy, St. Paul; Col. John J. Windrum, Minneapolis.

Assistant quartermaster general, Major Harry E. Boyle, Lake Benton.

U. S. Sues "14 Quarts and Auto."

Fergus Falls.—That men who take liquor into the Indian country by automobile are likely to lose both the liquor and their automobiles was demonstrated when a suit entitled "The United States of America vs. Fourteen Quarts of Whiskey and One Automobile" was begun here in federal court.

The complaint alleges that on June 26, 14 quarts of whiskey were brought from Moorhead to Waubun, which is in the Indian country, in a one-seated automobile, the license number of which was 74,061, and that the car was owned by W. J. Vsetch; that both whiskey and machine were seized by Special Government Agent Edward Belland and turned over to Deputy Marshal L. W. Carson at Detroit.

United States District Attorney Jacques asks that the court issue an order for the sale of the automobile and the whiskey, as provided by law. It is understood also that one-half the proceeds of such sales goes to the persons giving the information.

St. Louis Park Wins 2-Year Fight.

St. Louis Park.—Residents of St. Louis Park won a two-year fight against the City Quarantine hospital when the council committee on health and hospitals decided to transfer the building and land to the Board of Correction, together with the amount allowed for the balance of this year for maintaining the institution.

Mayor Nye, who is a member of both bodies, said he expected the offer would be accepted by the Board of Charities and Correction at its meeting and hereafter smallpox patients would be under supervision of this board instead of the health department.

WARRANT FOR TAWNEY.

Winona—James A. Tawney, former representative, and Mrs. Tawney, in warrants just issued are charged with violating Winona's new traffic ordinance. Tawney is charged with stopping his machine on the wrong side of the street.

Mrs. Tawney a short time later, is alleged to have turned her machine within a block in the business district.

St. Paul Publisher Dies.

St. Paul.—After an illness of six weeks, Edward A. Webb, president of the Webb Publishing company, died at his home. Never possessed of rugged health, Mr. Webb was able to attend to his business activities until about six weeks ago, when an oft-recurring disaffection of the heart compelled retirement.

Charge Evasion of New Law.

St. James.—The legality of the action of the St. James city council in canceling liquor licenses and issuing new ones just before the Watonwan county option election is being tested in injunction proceedings brought by the "drys" of St. James, which will be heard in Mankato. It is contended that this action, which has been taken in several other places, is an evasion of the terms of the county option law, which provides that no new licenses shall be issued after a county has voted "dry."

Exceptional Luck.

A vehement argument, in which two racehorse players were defending their judgment, was overheard last night.

"Why, nobody but a sucker would have played that horse," said the first.

"Well, he won, didn't he? You can't get away from that. How about this bank roll?"

"Well," said No. 1, as he looked rather longingly at the money; "well, all I've got to say is this: Most any old blind hog will dig up an acorn some day."—Louisville Times.

His Preference.

A gentleman in delivering one of a series of addresses excused himself one evening for being unable to speak on several points, the mice, he said, having destroyed part of his notes. Later, while visiting in the neighborhood, he asked one man:

"Were you at any of my lectures, Rooney?"

Rooney—Indeed I was, yer honor; all of them.

Lecturer—Which one did you like best?

Roney—The one the mice was at, yer honor!

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Modernizing the Roundup.

Each year seems to give the automobile a new hold on life. The war brought it to the forefront in a new field. The soldier of the present day seldom makes long forced marches like Sherman's march to the sea. He travels by motor car. As a result, the automobile casualty list is tremendous; the average life of a car in the battle line is estimated at thirty days. But it is not only the war zone that has lost part of its picturesqueness through the use of the automobile. The latter has begun to rob the annual cattle roundup of some of its thrills by replacing the horse. This year has seen the ubiquitous car with a cowboy at its wheel on our western prairies, discouraging the cattle from attempts to escape from the ever-narrowing circle in the roundup. Many a steer which has given a cow horse a run must feel disconcerted when it bucks up against the four-wheeled steed.—Wall Street Journal.

BIG INCREASE OF FARM PRODUCTS

Province of Alberta Shows Increase of Over 20 Millions.

Figures just compiled by the publicity branch of the provincial department show that last year, notwithstanding that quite a third of the province was affected by the drought to a very serious extent, the total value of agricultural products actually produced in the province showed an increase of over twenty million dollars over that of the previous year. Although southern Alberta had a bad year agriculturally, the province as a whole experienced a period of great prosperity, due principally to mixed farming, which is becoming more general with each succeeding year.

The value of mixed farming, in fact, was never better illustrated than last year as the value of the animals slaughtered and sold alone equaled the value of the spring wheat crop, without taking into consideration the value of the butter, milk, cheese, poultry, vegetables, and other by-products of the farm.

Oats was the banner grain crop, 1,147,382 acres being seeded, and producing 34,397,117 bushels, or 30.15 to the acre. Sold at an average of 50c per bushel, these yielded a revenue of $17,198,558. Comparatively little winter wheat was produced, the yield being a little short of one million bushels, but the spring wheat crop amounted to 15,102,083 bushels, the yield per acre being 15.26. At an average of $1.35 per bushel, the value of the spring wheat crop was therefore $20,387,812. The total production of barley was 7,847,640 bushels, which, at 55c per bushel, yielded a revenue of $4,316,202.

Other productions were as follows: Flax, 207,115 bushels, $310,672.00; rye, 261,843 bushels, $196,392.00; speltz, 42,707 bushels, $32,030.00; hay, 200,000 tons, $2,500,000; potatoes, four million bushels, $3,000,000; turnips, three million bushels, $750,000; carrots, 360,000 bushels, $180,000; mangolds, 640,000 bushels, $320,000; animals slaughtered and sold $20,000,000; butter and cheese, $1,500,000; milk, $3,000,000; wool clip, 1,300,000 pounds, $100,000; fish, $195,000; game and furs, $600,000; horticultural products, $150,000; poultry and products, $2,650,000.

The total of the agricultural products is given as $78,516,891, as compared with $58,098,084 in 1913.

The statistics also show that the value of the live stock in the province at the end of the year was $110,044,620, this being an increase of $7,762,845 over the previous year. There were 609,125 horses, 750,789 swine, 501,188 sheep, 192,905 dairy cows, 165,035 other cows, 190,923 beef cattle and 533,020 other cattle.—Advertisement.

THE SUNBEAM,

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August '8, 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3,1879

President Wilson is not likely to call any special session of Congress, and he is wise if he does not, as our present foreign relations can be handled better by the administration than by any red hot speech making in Congress.

When Shears and Starbuck get hold of a country paper in which the merchants do not advertise they hold a little joy dance. Then they have a thousands or so of their big catalogues shipped to the town the paper comes from by fast mail. "If those merchants in that town don't want the business, we do," they remark. And they get it—how? By advertising.—Ex.

The time of the District Court was taken up for one day last week to try a law suit of one John Mikplos to collect the sum of $54.00, from Stephen Singer, for labor done for him last summer. The jury promptly decided that Stephen had to come across with the cash, instead of an old straw stack bottom. It is funny that some men will not pay their labor bills without making the expense on the county of a law-suit.

The prospects for more than an average crop in the eastern part of Pennington county were never better than they are now. While there has been some parts of the crops drowned out by the heavy rains, the extra quality of the great majority of the acreage will more than compensate for the loss by too much rains. We understand that there has been some loss of crops on the bottom lands of Red Lake River, and a large amount that will be a total loss on the Clearwater river, but this loss will be light, when compared with the total acreage sown, and the prospects are for a heavy yield on the land that had ditch drainage to promptly take care of the surplus water.

The city of Thief River Falls are considering the buying of the Kretgschmar Dam, so as to have the city own their power of the dam. The idea seems to be a good one, but a resolution passed by the Commercial Club to have their secretary to correspond with Congressman Steenerson to secure legislation to straighten and deepen Red Lake river, makes us smile. They might just as well save their postage to help pay for the dam and their breath to cool their soup.

There has been "hot air" talk going on for the past ten years about Red Lake river, and getting the government to either dredge and deepen it, or put a dam in it at the outlet. The people cannot agree on either one of these propositions, and as soon as it is mentioned the opposition looms up to oppose it. To straighten Red Lake river would divide many farms, and leave one part on one side of the river and one part on the other side.

It only takes very little opposition to any proposed government improvement before they will promptly decide that the people do not want it, and thus they avoid the expense of making the improvement. It would of course cost the government a large sum of money to deepen and straighten this river, and there would be enough opposition to it to promptly put the proposition on the shelf. It is better for the people of Pennington county to drop this idea of getting any government improvements and get the Red Lake river declared a non-navigable stream, for as it is now, it is one of the biggest load-stones that there is to the development of eastern Pennington county.

Red Lake county is to have an exhibit at the Minnesota State Fair. We have not heard that there is any move being made to have an exhibit from this county, but we have got county option, you know, and that will perhaps do just as well.

Some people seem to think it strange that the new Electric Line to Goodrigde are having trouble with their new graded track, owing to the extremely wet season. The conditions are the same on nearly every newly built line of railroad, and we should not expect the new line to compare with the Great Northern main line to Duluth at the present time, but we can remember the time not many years ago, when trains were stuck by weeds on that track, between Crookston and McIntosh. Give the new line a chance to build up and develop the country, and give the people on the south side of Red Lake river a show to get a bridge across it, so they can haul their produce to it.

WOULD PAY STATE'S DEBT.

Samuel G. Walker, a wealthy liquor dealer of Southern West Virginia, proposes to pay the state government $12,393,929 with 3 per cent interest in the next ten years for the purpose of paying the Virginia debt which the Supreme Court recently declared West Virginia would have to pay. Furthermore Mr. Walker offers to lay aside $500,000 a year for the same period to be used in permanent improvements by the state. All he asks is that he be granted the sole privilege of selling liquor in West Virginia during that time. He has a bond for $2,000,000 to show his good faith. Mr. Walker's proposal in all probability will receive consideration, as West Virginia is seriously embarassed financially owing to the statewide prohibition law which wiped out a large yearly revenue. The treasury has no money to pay teachers salaries or those of government officials. The state militia may be disbanded, and the increasing deficit makes it imperative to raise money quickly. Persons interested in the liquor problem are commenting on the new issue of one-man-saloon-ownership which Mr. Walker's proposal has introduced.

KNOW THY COUNTRY

II—Railroads

In discussing the commercial achievements of this great age, we shall approach the subject as the historian chronicling events. This series will endeavor to record in writing the supremacy of American men and industries in the world's affairs and perptuate an appreciation of our marvelous industrial achievements by presenting simple facts, figures and comparisons that are overpowering in their convictions.

America holds her proud place among the nations of the earth today on account of her supremacy in transportation facilities. The mighty minds of the age are engaged in the problems of transportation, and the greatest men in the history of the world's commerce are at the head of the transportation systems of the United States.

In the discussion of transportation, let us consider separately our Railways, Telegraph and Telephones, Express, Public Highways, Steamships, Street Railways, Interurban and other forms of transportation, and this article will deal with railways.

The United States has the largest mileage, the best service, the cheapest rates, pays labor the highest wages, and we have the most efficiently managed of the railways of the world. They stand as a monument to the native genius of our marvelous builders, and most of the railroads in foreign countries have been built under American orders.

The railroads represent a larger investment of capital than any other branch of human activity. The mileage in the United States exceeds the accepted distance from the earth to the moon. We had in 1911, the last year in which figures for all countries are available, on the earth's surface, 639,981 miles of railway divided as follows: United States 241,199, Europe 207,432 and other countries 191,350. The United States has 38 per cent of the world's mileage, seven per cent of the estimated population and about five per cent of the area. The total capital invested in the railways of the world is $50,000,000,000, divided as follows: United States $13,000,000,000 Europe $25,650,000,000 and other countries $11,350,000,000. Reduced to a mileage basis the capitalization is as follows: The world $78,000, United States $54,000, Europe $124,000, and other countries $59,000.

A comparison of rates is equally as interesting and the United States takes the lead in economy and service. The average rate per ton per hundred mile haul is as follows: United States 76c, Great Britain $2.53, France $1.44, Germany $1.44, Russia 92c, Austria-Hungary $1.30, Italy $2.30 and Switzerland $2.82.

The average yearly pay of all railroad employes in the principal countries is as follows: United States $757, Germany $392, Italy $345, Austria $322, Great Britain $279, France $260 and Russia $204.

About 30 per cent, or 188,000 miles, of the railways of the world are government owned. About half the railway mileage of Europe is government owned.

A comparison of the economy, in time and money and the convenience in travel, will be made in a later article.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Ole Legvold and Ole Nesland, of Deer Park were down to Plummer Monday.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Lars Hyland was down to Plummer Monday after a load of well tubing.

Mrs. T. G. Rome was called to Oklee last week to visit her mother, who is seriously ill.

W. G. Hunt went down to Plummer Monday after a mower and a small load of lumber, returning Tuesday.

There does not seem to be much let up to the continued rains, and with harvest in sight, the farmers are beginning to fear that their field will be too soft to get onto with binders.

Ye editor received complimentary tickets to the Red Lake County Fair that is to be held next week, but the roads are too bad and the rivers too high to take any pleasure trips now days.

That long judicial ditch between Red Lake and Pennington counties was not able to take care of one fourth of the water that was dumped into it by the big rain of two weeks ago, and the loss of crops is heavy along its banks

The roads on the north side of Clearwater river are in fair condition to Plummer now, except about one mile this side of Plummer, where they are spitting on their hands and ripping up the roads, so it is pretty hard to haul any load over it.

Congressman Steenerson will speak at the Pennington County Fair, on Thursday August 5th. In the evening he will talk over the Red Lake River situation with the people at the Commercial Club rooms in Thief River Falls, regarding getting the river declared non-navigable, or of trying to get it deepened.

If the citizens of Thief River Falls would just stop and consider the thousands of bushels of grain tributary to them that the farmers are compelled to haul long distances to market in another direction because they can not get across Red Lake River, they would certainly say, "It is for our interest to have bridges across this river in the eastern part of the county.

We can drive to Goodridge and return in a half a day, yet we were compelled this week to go clear to Plummer after a mower and lumber, which took us two days. Why did we not go to Goodridge? Because there is a government fence six miles from Goodridge called the Red Lake river, which the government will not bridge themselves or allow the people to bridge it.

It might and undoubtedly would be a good thing to deepen Red Lake river, but that would not in any way increase the amount or the depth of the water that passes down it, so as to make it navigable. Supposing they deepen it two feet, can you not see that as soon as the waters of Red Lake were lowered two feet, that there would not be any more water running in the river than there is now? This is the first time for ten years that the Red Lake river has been out of its banks during the summer season, and the damage from the river overflooding land has been comparatively light even this year, compared to what it has been on the Clearwater river. That dredging and damming "hot air" talk has been going on for the past ten years, and there is always a certain class of people ready to listen to it, expecting the government to do some great improvements for them. But it seems to us that we have been waiting long enough for this, and that it is now time for the government to step aside and give the people a chance to get some bridges across this river.

The Myrum boys gave a social ball, on last Saturday evening, and all who attended report a pleasant time.

Wheat, oats and barley are looking fine, and seem to be filling well, and if the weather conditions will permit it to be harvested, the farmers may yet be fairly well satisfied with this years crop.

RED LAKE COUNTY FAIR THREE DAYS NEXT WEEK.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., July 21—With a continuation of favorable weather the 1915 Red Lake County Fair, July 27, 28, and 29, will be the biggest show in the history of the Red Lake County Agricultural society.

The farmers are taking much interest in exhibits in the live stock and other departments and the exhibit features will be well staged.

A big feature will be the race program. The track is in excellent condition, hard and dry. Already two dozen fast horses are here working on the track and more are coming. There is no doubt that every one of the fast harness races will be filled.

A fine new grandstand has been completed and everything is in readiness for the opening of the big show next Tuesday.

Fasting and Health.

"The practice of fasting," states a medical man, "is, when wisely followed, most beneficial. I am convinced that many people never feel the sensation of natural hunger. All they have is a morbid craving for food which comes of habit rather than from any actual need felt by the stomach. Natural hunger stimulates the palate and is felt in the mouth as well as in the internal organs. It makes the plainest food seem delicious. Some unfortunate people suffer, it is true, from insufficient food, but not so many as those whose ills arise from overnutrition, their digestions being continually over strained. A habit of judicious fasting would do wonders for them. The system would recover its lost tone, and—in the case of mental workers—the brain would work with an ease and lightness that would surprise them, for the brain is one of the chief sufferers from the practice of overeating."

Origin of the Lone Star.

If a place name is often crystallized history, how much more a nickname! Witness the flowery synonym for Texas, which orators mouth as the Lone Star State. To most minds this symbolizes concretely the fact that the state was first an independent nation. Behind the fact is this story, vouched for by tradition more or less authentic. At the outset, after achieving independence, Texas lacked pretty well everything but men. The leaders knew state papers required a great seal to validate them, and in default of anything better they improvised one from a coat button which happened to bear a single star. A document so sealed fell under the eye of an imaginative journalist. He straightway exploited "The Lone Star Republic" in print so fervid as to persuade Texas here was the device most apposite for her seal and her flag.—New York Press.

Mother Brook.

After nearly three centuries of usefulness Mother brook, the first canal dug in this country, still finds itself utilized to some extent, though the requirements which brought it about have long since passed. Its construction was undertaken and completed by the hardy citizens of Dedham, Mass., in 1639, to provide water for mill purposes. The artificial waterway was constructed to connect the Charles river with East brook, covering a distance of about a mile. It was a great undertaking for those days, when every foot had to be excavated laboriously by hand, but the work was carried out with the usual determination marking the settlers of the day. The canal winds round the highlands of the town, and on both sides, extending almost to its border, may be seen well kept gardens.—Exchange.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. FEDERAL INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

By Peter Radford

The recent investigation of the United States Commission of Industrial Relations brought together the extremes of society and has given the public an opportunity to view the representatives of distinct classes, side by side, and to study their views in parallel columns.

Capital and labor have always been glaring at each other over gulfs of misunderstanding and if the Federal Industrial Commission attempts to bridge the chasm, it will render the public a distinct service.

The farmer has been sitting on the fence watching capital and labor fight for many years and incidentally furnishing the sinews of war and it is quite gratifying to find them talking with, instead of about, each other. When honest men smile and look into each other's souls, it always makes the world better and far more satisfactory to the farmer, who in the end, bears the burden of conflict, than resolutions, speeches or pamphlets containing charges and countercharges.

The love for justice makes the whole world kin. Understanding is an arbiter far more powerful than the mandates of government, for there is no authority quite so commanding as an honest conscience; there is no decree quite so binding as that of the Supreme Court of Common Sense and no sheriff can keep the peace quite so perfect as Understanding.

We suppose the time will never come when capital and labor will not be occasionally blinded by the lightning flashes of avarice or frightened by the thunder peals of discontent. But Understanding is a Prince of Peace that ever holds out the olive branch to men who want to do right. A man's income is always a sacred thing for in it are the hope, ambition and opportunity of himself, and family, but there is nothing in a human heart quite so divine as Justice and Understanding is its handmaiden.

It is an admitted economic fact that there can be no permanent prosperity without a permanent agriculture.

THE NATION'S DINNER TABLE

When the dinner bell of this nation rings there have been slaughtered for the repast 13,000 beeves, 21,000 hogs, 4,600 sheep, 2,000 hundredweight of poultry and other meats, and there have been 700,000 bushels of cereals and 540,000,000 pounds of vegetables prepared for the feast. Multiply these quantities by one thousand, representing approximately the number of meals per annum, and we have the annual contents of the nation's larder. But with all our immense quantity, superb quality and wide range of products, the American housewife, like the wife of King Nebuchadnezzar, longs for variety and she goes marketing in foreign lands. She buys abroad $200,000,000 per annum of farm products that can and should be produced in the United States.

Its Drawback.

"Don't go into the well digging business."

"Why not?"

"Because it's sure to get you in a hole."—Baltimore American.

Canes at the National Museum.

A collection of canes made of practically every kind of suitable material and representing forty-five foreign countries, as well as twenty-one states of the Union, forms one of the most interesting exhibits at the National museum at Washington. Forty different kinds of wooden canes are on exhibition, as well as canes made of ivory, bone, horn, skin, paper, tin, wire and other substances. In this collection are many canes that are artistic and others that are merely curious in shape, as well as some made for emergency uses. Among the latter are a sketching cane with drawing materials stored in the handle, a number equipped with match safes, mountain climbing canes with sharp spiked ferrules, an officer's "swagger stick" and sword and gun canes of various types. The most interesting feature of the exhibit perhaps is the historical element.—Popular Mechanics.

THAW AS FREE MAN QUITS COURTROOM

DEPARTS TO PITTSBURGH HOME AFTER BEING ADMITTED TO $35,000 BAIL.

JUSTICE REACHES DECISION

Accepts Finding of Sanity Jury and Scores Alienists in Case—State Reserves Decision as to Appeal From Verdict.

Albany, N. Y., July 17.—Attorney General Woodbury will reserve decision as to whether he will appeal from the Thaw verdict until he has examined the court records before Justice Hendrick. This information was made public in a statement from the attorney general's office, explaining that the formal notice of appeal was taken to prevent Thaw leaving the jurisdiction of the court.

Leaves Courtroom Free Man.

New York, July 17.—Harry K. Thaw, who shot and killed Stanford White on the night of June 26, 1906, walked from the courtroom a free man. Justice Peter A. Hendrick accepted the finding of the jury that declared Thaw sane and immediately after announcing his decision admitted Thaw to $35,000 bail.

After the question of surety had been satisfactorily arranged Thaw, escorted by Sheriff Griffenhagen and several deputies, motored to the office of Thaw's attorney, where Thaw's suitcase was waiting.

The grip was tossed into the car and the autos headed for the Courtland street ferry, and Thaw passed out of New York state on his way to his mother's home in Pittsburgh.

Alienists Are Scored.

In announcing his decision, Justice Hendrick took occasion to comment unfavorably upon the action of alienists who had assisted the state in preparing the case and then appeared as expert witnesses in court.

"I have reached a decision in this case," Justice Hendrick said, "and it is based on my own mind fortified by the action of the jury."

Thaw, sitting comfortably in his chair, his counsel on each side, showed his pleasure and anticipated the court's decision with a broad smile.

"I meant to say a word about the alienist," Justice Hendrick continued. "We have been told by one alienist that it is impossible to determine the sanity or insanity of a person without taking the word of alienists. This court and jury cannot depend upon the word of an alienist who, for years, has devoted himself to a case of this kind and assisted in its preparation. That a doctor can help prepare a case and then go on the stand as an expert witness is wrong.

"I hope the legislature of the state will find some means to correct this. Some other method should be adopted. Gentlemen, I have adopted the verdict of the jury. I declare now that it is the decision of this court that Harry K. Thaw is sane."

EVELYN SAYS HARRY INSANE.

Malone, N. Y., July 16.—"If Harry goes to the San Francisco fair, he will assume ownership of the 'zone,'" was the comment of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw on the verdict declaring her husband sane.

"Harry is an insane man," she continued, "and if set free he will soon show it. He may have concealed it from the jury for a time, but with the first taste of liquor he will again become a crazy, irresponsible character.

COMBAT GERMAN GAS BOMBS

Cincinnati Chemists Perfect What They Call Effective Plan for Deflecting Fumes.

Cincinnati, July 17.—The Cincinnati chemists, Al C. Roach and his brother, William Roach, after many experiments in methods of combating the use of poisonous gas warfare, have perfected what they declare to be an effective plan for "deflecting or dissipating" these gases.

"We are now negotiating with an agent of the allies in Washington and he has informed us that he heartily approves of our invention. We are arranging to go to Washington to give a demonstration and in case this proves convincing, as we feel sure it will, we will carry our proposition direct to the French war office at Paris and also at Rome," said Al Roach.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 17. — S. M. Smith, Janesville, was elected president of the Wisconsin Bankers' association at the final session here.

Sees Settlement of Controversy.

Washington, July 17.—Count Johann von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, told Secretary Robert Lansing he believed the German reply to the last American note on submarine warfare presented opportunity for settlement of the controversy by further diplomatic negotiation.

The ambassador conferred with Mr. Lansing an hour and talked later with Assistant Secretary Phillips.

The ambassador personally is convinced there will be no repetition of the Lusitania disaster.

LEO FRANK HAS A FIGHTING CHANCE

FLOW OF BLOOD FROM WOUND IN THROAT STOPPED BY PHYSICIANS.

STRUCK BY FELLOW CONVICT

Blow Struck As Alleged Slayer of Girl Slept in Bunk at Night—Assault Planned Alone, Says Prisoner.

Milledgeville, Ga., July 20.—Leo M. Frank lays in the Georgia station prison hospital with what attendants say is a fighting chance for recovery. Physicians have succeeded in stopping the flow of blood from a jagged wound in his throat made with a butcher knife in the hands of William Creen, a fellow convict also serving a life term for murder. The blow was struck as Frank slept in his bunk in a dormitory late at night.

An investigation of the attack probably will be conducted by the Georgia prison commission, the same body that refused to commend that Frank's death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan be commuted to life imprisonment.

No Official Action Taken.

Governor Harris said that he had taken no official action in connection with the attack upon Leo M. Frank at the state prison farm at Milledgeville.

"Nothing has been done in the matter as there has been no official notice of anything out of the ordinary at the prison," said the governor. "I have no doubt, though, that the authorities will take such action as the situation demands. I have tried to get into touch with members of the prison commission, but so far have failed to reach any of them."

Attack Planned Alone.

Creen said when taken from solitary confinement long enough to be questioned, that he planned the attack alone and that no one knew what he intended to do. He was not communicative and gave as his only excuse that "he thought it should be done." He said, however, he regretted his act.

Frank was quartered at night in a dormitory with about 100 other prisoners and occupied a bunk about 40 feet from one of the two doors to the large room. Creen's bunk was fourth from his. No prisoner is allowed to leave his place without permission from one of the two guards stationed at the dormitory at night. Shortly after 11 o'clock Creen called out for permission to get up and it was granted.

He started down the line of bunks toward the one occupied by Frank. As he reached it he quickly grabbed Frank by the hair and delivered one blow with the knife he had concealed. A guard rushed to the bunk and prevented Creen from striking again.

Noted Hobo Killed in Holdup.

Winona, July 19.—Jimmy Kane, the famous hobo, known throughout the Northwest as "Section Boss Jimmy," is dead.

Kane died as a result of injuries received in a revolver fight in a boxcar near La Crescent several weeks ago. He refused to submit to a holdup and several bullets were fired into his body. He was taken to a hospital, where he died later.

Several men were in the car when the holdup man entered. None was armed and were powerless.

Heavy Export of Autos.

New York, July 19.—An indication of the extent of the shipments of supplies from the United States since the European war began is given in customs records available here which show that from August 1, 1914, to June 30, this year, automobiles valued at $41,000,000 were transported to Europe from this port. The records of the collector of the port show that for the period August 1, 1914, to May 31, this year, 18,451 cars valued at $34,453,178 were cleared mostly for France and Great Britain.

SUBMARINE FIRES AT LINER

ATTACKS ORDUNA WITHOUT WARNING, PASSENGERS CLAIM.

German Submersible Hurls Torpedo at British Steamer—Twenty-one Americans Aboard.

New York, July 19.—The British passenger liner Orduna, with 227 passengers aboard, 21 of whom were Americans, was attacked without warning by a German submarine at 6 o'clock in the morning of July 9, 16 hours out of Liverpool on its way to New York. Announcement of the attack was made by the ship's captain, Thomas McComb Taylor, and passengers when the Orduna reacher here.

Torpedo Missed Steamer.

A torpedo was fired at the steamer and missed it by 10 yards. Twenty minutes later a submarine rose to the surface, possibly a different submarine from the one that launched the torpedo, and for half an hour thereafter pursued the steamer, firing shells which whistled over the decks above the heads of passengers standing there with their lifebelts on.

Ten minutes before the attack a sailing ship with two American flags painted on its side was seen ahead. Captain Taylor became suspicious of this craft and began maneuvering his ship. Then came the attack, the first warning of which was the streak of a torpedo.

LIBERTY BELL NOW AT 'FRISCO

Ancient Relic Makes Seventh Trip for Ceremonial Purposes—Installed at Exposition.

San Francisco, July 19.—Tophatted reception committees, policemen, station porters and guards were swallowed up here in a tumultuous throng which gathered to greet the nation's Liberty Bell on its arrival here from Philadelphia. It will be installed in the Pennsylvania pavilion at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California, U. S. Senator James D. Phelan, Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco and representatives of the exposition management, accompanied on the last leg of the journey the delegation of 26 Philadelphia councilmen which escorted the bell.

This was the Liberty Bell's seventh trip for ceremonial purposes, St. Louis, Mo., being its previous farthest west. Exposition officials said it would remain here until the end of the exposition, Dec. 10, and would return to Philadelphia by way of Arizona and Texas. It left Philadelphia July 5.

Threatened Strike Postponed.

Bridgeport, Conn., July 20.—A series of conferences in this city and in New York has resulted in the announcement that the general strike of machinists employed by the Remington Arms & Ammunition company, would not begin at noon, the time set for the walkout.

Persons interested in the continued industrial prosperity of this city were said to be responsible for an agreement to withhold the strike call for at least 24 hours.

U. S. to Answer Austria.

Washington, July 17.—The United States probably will send within another fortnight a reply to the note recently received from the Austro-Hungarian government, which contended that the extensive shipments of war supplies from this country to the Allies was "not in consonance with the definition of neutrality."

Refund to Ford Owners.

Detroit, July 19.—The Ford Automobile company has announced a refund of approximately $15,000,000 to owners of Ford automobiles who have purchased their machines since August 1, 1914. On August 1, 1914, the company announced that if 300,000 machines were sold durng the ensuing year, each purchaser would receive a refund of from $40 to $60. The 300,000 mark has been reached. The company says the refund is strictly in the nature of the profit distribution policy of the company.

TEUTONS DRIVE AT RUSSIAN SEAPORT

GERMAN FORCES ARE REPORTED WITHIN EIGHTY MILES OF RIGA ON BALTIC.

NEW OFFENSIVE REVEALED

Mighty Effort to Destroy Slav Army Seen by Military Experts in Vast Enveloping Movement — Austro Hungarians Moving Northward.

Berlin, Wireless to Sayville, L. I., July 19.—French losses in the recent fighting around Arras total 78,300, according to official estimates made here.

London, July 19.—A new German offensive of huge proportions, with Rigo, a great Russian seaport and the seat of the governor general of the Baltic provinces as its objective, revealed in the latest official statements issued at Petrograd and Berlin.

Military experts here construe the offensive to be a vast envelopement movement in which the Germans are making a herculean effort to destroy the Russian army. Both the German and Russian communications agree that the German forces are at the Windau river near Goldingen, which is only 80 miles from Riga, the great strategetic commercial metropolis in the Gulf of Riga and on the upper Baltic.

Slavs Try to Hold Back Germans.

An official statement received from Petrograd adds details of sanguinary fighting all along the new line in efforts to hold back the German advance which now is being concentrated on Riga and on Warsaw while the Austrian-Hungarians are moving northward from the Dniester river.

Advices reaching London say that the Germans left a trail of destruction along the Baltic sea from Memel to Libau, where the villas, hotels and casinos are alleged to have been destroyed, about the only exception, it is said, being the palace of a Polish nobleman, whose cousin married an American woman. The palace now is being used as a military headquarters in which Prince Henry of Prussia and Field Marshal von Hindenburg recently conferred on the new offensive toward Riga.

Crown Prince's Drive Failure.

The Crown Prince Frederick William's drive in the Argonne forest now is reported as a small success, in gaining a few hundred yards of Terrain, but as a failure in attaining its real object—a decisive penetration of the French line.

Field Marshal von Mackensen's army that swept through Galicia is giving signs of renewed activity in pursuance of the assumed plan of the Teutonic forces to attack simultaneously all along the sweeping 800-mile front from the Baltic to Bessarabia. Unofficial reports through Geneva declare that the lower end of this line of Austrian troops who crossed the Dniester have been driven back to the other bank, where their retreat is being turned into a rout.

Tokio Cable Interrupted.

New York, July 20.—The cable between Guam and Tokio is interrupted, cutting off communication with Japan, China and the Philippine islands via the Commercial Pacific. Messages can be forwarded via the Azores, subject to British censorship.

Publisher Cruises Mississippi.

Winona, Minn., July 17.—Alexander Ray of St. Louis and owner of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, is making a tour up the Mississippi river to St. Paul. The party will reach their northernmost point in their motor cruiser "Ozard" Saturday night, according to the schedule.

Five other leading business men of St. Louis are accompanying Mr. Ray. Comfortable sleeping quarters are afforded on the boat and the party is spending most of its time aboard.

TO TELL GERMANS OF CONSEQUENCES

WILSON WILL COLLABORATE WITH LANSING IN COMPETING NEW NOTE.

ATTEMPT TO DESTROY ORDUNA

Attack by German Submarine Upon British Liner Carrying Score of Americans Materially Strengthens United States Position.

Washington, July 20.—With the return here of President Wilson the formulation of the policy to be pursued by the United States as a consequence of Germany's last note on submarine warfare will be begun.

The President will collaborate with Secretary Lansing in completing a note to the German government that has ben tentatively prepared, to be dispatched probably before the end of the coming week.

Consequences of Violation.

While details as to the course which is to be followed are withheld, it is known that both the President and Mr. Lansing have practically made up their minds that a definite statement of what the consequences of further violations of American rights would be should be given to the German government in the next communication. There is little likelihood that there will be any further discussion of the principles involved.

Involves Orduna Attack.

By the recent attempt to destroy the British liner Orduna, carrying more than a score of Americans on her voyage to the United States with no munitions or contraband, officials here feel that the position of the United States as stated in its previous notes has been materially strengthened. They declare it bears out the American contention that the character of a vessel, her destination and cargo can be safely determined only by visit and search. As yet official information is lacking to show whether the Orduna was attacked without warning and what the circumstances were of her encounter with the German submarine.

Attack Seemingly Unwarranted.

In discussion of the case stress is laid upon the fact that the vessel was en route to the United States and carrying no cargo of importance making the attack on a vessel carrying Americans seemingly unwarranted.

A statement of the circumstances probably will be made by American passengers aboard the Orduna to the state department, although the American government might take cognisance of newspaper statements. A thorough investigation of the facts will be made and a request probably will be sent to the German government for its report of the affair.

ATTACK FRENCH IN VOSGES

Germans Hurl Heavy Forces Against Positions—Teuton Assault North of Arras Is Repulsed.

Paris, July 17.—The Germans are hurling heavy forces into an attack on the French positions in the Vosges, the war office reports. Along a front of nearly two miles, extending from Champanoux to Vezouse, the Teutons made simultaneous charges upon the French trenches, but were driven back with heavy losses.

Whether the new German activity indicates the beginning of the German offensive in Alsace Lorraine is not yet known. Official dispatches launched were against positions previously occupied by French.

The Germans first shelled the French positions, particularly near Leintrey, with high power explosives. Then they rushed the trenches in a compact mass that offered a great target to the French guns. In their retreat the Germans left behind several hundred dead and dying. North of Arras a German attack was repulsed.

BATHERS DROWN AT CHICAGO

Two Young Women and Three Men Seized by Undertow in Lake Michigan.

Chicago, July 20.—Two young women and three men were drowned together while bathing in Lake Michigan. An under-current swept them into a deep hole and all the members of the party were drowned at almost the same time. The undertow swept the bodies away.

The dead are:

Miss Marie Dwyer, 21 years old; daughter of a probate court clerk; Miss Nora May, 20 years old; F. J. Kelly, G. H. Vetter and Stanley Kotoski.

London Bankers Urge Taxation.

London, July 19.—"In this national crisis expenditures, both public and private, should be rigidly curtailed and at the same time new taxation should forthwith be imposed upon all classes of the people in order that when the war shall be brought to a triumphant conclusion the nation may enter the period of restoration with its financial power impaired to the least possible extent."

This resolution was passed at a meeting of the leading bankers and financiers of London.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live. Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefitted by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above — they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger — it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

We would get more enjoyment out of our money if it took us as long to spend it as it does to earn it.

Would you like to make $2,000 a year? If so you are the man we want to represent us in your County, to sell the OXO-GAS Producer System. Her Own Business.

A woman mounted the steps of the elevated station carrying an umbrella like a reversed saber. An attendant touched her lightly, saying:

"Excuse me, madam, but you are likely to put out the eye of the man behind you."

"He's my husband!" she snapped calmly.

Twenty Cents Out.

"I made an awful break yesterday," said the fellow who is known as a tightwad.

"That is unusual for you. How did it happen?" asked the man in whom he was about to confide.

"I met Lulu in front of an ice cream parlor and I told her that her lips were like strawberries. She said the only way to prove it was by making the comparison, so I had to blow her to a strawberry sundae."

Insulted the Mayor.

A company had opened a new swimming bath in the place, and as a compliment sent a free ticket to the mayor.

That worthy man was very pleased. But he began to wonder when another ticket arrived.

Sitting down, he wrote to the bath proprietors as follows:

"Gentlemen: Your first ticket I received as a compliment. Your second strikes me as being rather suggestive. If you send me a third I will take it as a personal insult."

BUILT A MONUMENT
The Best Sort in the World.

"A monument built by and from Postum," is the way an Illinois man describes himself. He says:

"For years I was a coffee drinker until at last I became a terrible sufferer from dyspepsia, constipation, headaches and indigestion.

"The different kinds of medicine I tried did not cure me, and finally some one told me to leave off coffee and take up Postum. I was fortunate in having the Postum made strictly according to directions on the pkg., so that from the start I liked it.

"Gradually my condition changed. The old troubles disappeared and I began to feel well again. My appetite became good and I could digest food. Now I am restored to strength and health, can sleep sound all night and awake with a fresh and rested body.

"I am really a monument built by Postum, for I was a physical wreck, distressed in body and mind, and am now a strong, healthy man. I know exactly what made the change; it was leaving off coffee and using Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

The Sphinx propounded a riddle.

"How many girls would swim out beyond the danger line if the life guard was a woman?" she asked.

Edmund had just begun to attend the public school, and had found a new friend, a child of whom Edmund's mother had never heard. "Who is this Walter?" she asked. "Is he a nice little boy?"

"Yes, ma'am, he is!" replied Edmund, enthusiastically.

"Does he say any naughty words?" pursued his mother.

"No," with emphasis, "and I'm not going to teach him any!"—Youth's Companion.

Life in London.

On the day after the visit of the German Zeppelins there occurred in Southwark — so a wireless message from Berlin asserts—the following conversation:

"Betsy," whispered Mr. James, leading his wife into the darkest corner of the cellar, "here is a wallet. You will find in it all our valuable papers, the stocks and bonds, my will, my insurance policies, and the lock of baby's hair cut off on his first birthday. Good-by, Betsy. If I fail to return, bring up our children to be good English men and women."

"Oh, James, dear, you are not going on a dangerous journey, are you?"

"Yes, dearest. I must go up to the first floor."—New York Evening Post.

BE KINDER TO YOURSELF

Women Are Often Victims of Nervousness Because They Don't Know How to Relax.

One of the important things to know in life, especially if you are a woman, is how to let yourself alone, writes Mary Carolyn Davies in the Mother's Magazine. The ability to relax, the art of being judiciously lazy, the tact to let herself alone has saved many a woman from a nervous breakdown. We all know the housewife who nags herself into such a state of conscientiousness that she cannot rest. If she lies down she is continually worrying herself with thoughts of the work that she is neglecting.

Much of the blame for this state of affairs lies at the doors of the mothers. The mistake is in their training of their children, especially their daughters. They are taught from earliest infancy to be kind to others, to bear with them, to forgive them, to help them; but from birth to death no one ever tells them to be kind, also, to themselves.

The woman who nags herself can make herself more miserable than anyone else possibly could. She can make her life more of a nightmare than any misfortune could possibly make it. If such women could learn to be kinder to themselves there is no doubt that their own lives would be lengthened; and not only that, but the lives of those with whom they come in close contact would be made far more pleasant.

What She Expected.

"Look at her," said the ironmonger, indicating a departing customer. "She sent her wringer here to be repaired. I promised it to her for this week, provided I could get a certain new part in time from the maker's. I couldn't get it. Now she wants me to pay a charwoman, who came unnecessarily, half a crown an' twopence for the clothes."

The ironmonger paused to breathe heavily.

"But that's not all. Her husband dines out on washdays, and as he dined out on a washday that wasn't a washday—you understand?—she says I ought to pay for his dinner. No, she doesn't ask anything else. And they call 'em the weaker sex."—London Tit-Bits.

"There's a storm coming up," said the captain of the yacht, "and the boat is too heavily loaded. We'll have to lighten the ship sowehow."

And So It Is.

STATE AS DUMPING PLACE FOR INSANE

BOARD OF CONTROL OFFICIAL ASSERTS HUMANE POLICY IS RESPONSIBLE.

St. Paul.—Minnesota is being made the dumping ground for insane people of other states, said Ralph W. Wheelock of the State Board of Control.

"Insane people are not being sent into Minnesota by state officials," said Mr. Wheelock, "but by individuals."

During the last fiscal year 100 nonresident insane persons were deported by the board. The board figures the deporting saved the state $1,000 on each case, so the total saving last year was $100,000.

Humane Policy Responsible.

"We simply are compelled to accept these people into our institutions until such time as we can determine if they really are non-residents," said Mr. Wheelock. "The policy in Minnesota is to be humane. This same policy has led to the state being taken advantage of by people who do not wish to harbor their insane charges or relations."

NAME EFFICIENCY MEMBERS

Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Speaker Choose Men to Prepare New Minnesota Laws.

St. Paul, Minn.—As authorized by the recent legislature Governor Hammond, Lieutenant Governor Burnquist and Speaker Flowers of the house of representatives met and named a committee on civil administration to consider an efficiency and economy program and prepare proposed legislation for consideration by the next legislature. The speaker named four members, the lieutenant governor a similar number and the governor, three.

Those named by Governor Hammond were: C. P. Craig, Duluth; Representative L. C. Spooner, Morris and Representative Gunnar Bjornson, Minnesota; those by Speaker Flowers: Representative Thomas Girling, Robbinsdale; Representative T. J. McGrath, St. Paul; Representative Fred Bessette, C. H. Orr and C. H. Warner, Aitkin; those by Lieutenant Governor Burnquist: Senator F. A. Duxbury, Caledonia; Senator J. A. Carley, Plainsview; Senator J. A. Jackson, St. Paul, and Senator A. J. Rockne, Zumbrota.

The committee will consider a plan for reorganizing the state government either through consolidation or elimination of various state departments and the reduction of the hundred or more boards and commissions now in existence to five or six departments.

WIDOW REGAINS FORTUNE

Heirs of C. L. Ortmann of Detroit Are Given Possession of Mining Property on Mesaba Range.

Duluth.—With the filing of a judgment against the Mooswa Mining company and others in district court here, the final chapter was recorded in the story of how Marie A. Solms Ortmann, widow of Charles L. Ortmann of Detroit, Mich., regained a fortune of $500,000 that she had allowed to slip through her fingers.

The case was started in 1911 and has been fought through all the courts. Mrs. Ortmann and her son, in this suit, sought to recover title to 640 acres of valuable mineral land on the Mesaba range. The defendants were James Swan, a Detroit attorney, and others. It was contended that Swan, administrator for the estate, sold the property for $1 an acre to Dr. Frederick Steinbrecher, his family physician, who reconveyed it to the Mooswa Mining company, in which Swan held a large interest.

The court held that the land was sold for a "grossly inadequate price" and was woith many times the amount paid for it. The deeds of conveyance were ordered set aside and the Ortmann heirs restored to possession.

MORE ARRESTS IN OSSEO CASE

Bank Superintendent Trying to Get Other Men Responsible for Alleged Looting.

Minneapolis, July 16.—Charging that the banking laws of Minnesota had not only been violated by J. B. Thompson, cashier of the Osseo State bank, but by several others, A. H. Turritin, state superintendent of banks, announced that he had collected evidence which may cause the arrest of two and possibly three more men involved in the finances of the Osseo bank.

This evidence probably will be placed in the hands of John Rees, county attorney, at once. Mr. Turritin declared that his department is making rapid progress in the work at the Osseo bank and that he was digging to the bottom to get the men who, he charges, are responsible with Thompson for the alleged looting of the bank.

"The affairs at the bank are in very bad shape," said Mr. Turritin. "In a short period of time approximately $60,000 of the bank's money has passed into other hands and during the looting the work was cleverly covered up. There is no doubt that Thompson fell a prey to the wonderful word pictures drawn for him by clever men. His visions of great wealth allowed him to be worked to a frazzle."

NAVAL MILITIA AT CROSBY

New Division Is Mustered In — Ten Days' Cruise of Lake Superior to Start August 25.

Crosby.—Crosby's new division of the naval militia was mustered in at the Coliseum pavilion. It started with 65 members, but it is believed the number will grow when other young men in this and the surrounding villages see the opportunities for training and social enjoyment the organization affords.

The Coliseum pavilion was rented by the village council and will be used as a temporary armory. Captain Guy A. Eaton, Lieutenant Commander Clark W. Kelley and Sergeant F. J. Patton of the Minnesota naval militia examined the prospective members of the local division and the men were sworn into service.

The first taste of the sea life and service on board ship that the local division's members will get will be on August 25, when they will start on a 10-day cruise on Lake Superior. The fifth division of Bemidji, seventh division of Lindstrom and the eighth division of Duluth also will take this cruise. All of these are new divisions.

GARRISON DEFENDED BY LIND

Secretary of War Comes in for Criticism and Vigorous Defense at High Dam Meeting.

Minneapolis, July 16.—In the course of a luncheon meeting of the Civic & Commerce association held at the Radisson hotel the entire high dam situation, so far as the disposal of the power is concerned, received the most thorough airing it has yet been given in Minneapolis, the attitude of Secretary of War Garrison coming in for both criticism and vigorous defense.

John Lind, Governor Hammond and Fred C. Stevens, former St. Paul congressman, took occasion to score roundly, though in measured words, the recent statement of Congressman George R. Smith that the "water power trust" is all powerful at Washington, that Secretary Garrison has the power to grant a lease of the power to the Municipal Electric company if he so desires, and that the latter leans toward the idea that the people of this community do not really care whether they get the benefit of the power or not.

Health and Excitement.

The sick rate in Russia has decreased since the war began. Part of the improvement—doubtless the greater part—is due to the passing of vodka, but something must be said for the curious way in which the human frame reacts to excitement and develops resistance to disease under the stimulus of strong interests or emotions.

The refugees from San Francisco, for example, had not been devotees of vodka, but they showed a wonderful health record during their period of enforced open-air life and short commons.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 3, 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The Thief River Falls Times and the News-Press are having a little newspaper scrap just to pass away the time. The News-Press seems to have a little the best of the argument, as they have caught the "reform sheet" in a violation of the law.

St. Hilaire objects to Thief River Falls autoists speeding through their streets. They had one of them fined last week, and have got the numbers of several others who are likely to be invited by Sheriff LaBree to visit the down river village with him.

It may be all right to whistle to keep up your courage, but if the present wet weather continues it will take a forty horse power steam whistle to whistle loud enough to keep up the courage of the farmers.

The English papers are still telling about the heroism of the Canadian troops, but that will not do their mourning friends and relatives much good on this side of the water. They were marched up against machine guns and shot down by wholesale, without much chance to fight back.

If the United States does happen to get mixed up in that European war, their opponents will soon discover that they are at war with an intelligent nation, who will employ all the latest methods of science to dispose of their enemies. America is not a country where preference is given to the people, by reason of birth or political influence, but the best man gets to the front, and every artifice known to modern science will be brought to bear to kill, that the smartest men on the globe can invent. The great Edison will devote his attention to the electrical part, and will touch a button to paralyze all submarine crews without the shedding of any blood. Submarines that head toward the American shore will disappear, and the country that send them will never hear from them any more. Of course that will be a merciful and a painless death for the poor fellows, and will be a much more humane way to slaughter them than to tear them with shot and shell.

Bury Your Carrion

As there are a large number of families using the water of Red Lake and Clearwater rivers, it is well to call the attention of some dirty people to the state law regarding the dumping of dead animals in these rivers, Sec. 12 of the Penal Code reads:

DEPOSIT OF UNWHOLESOME SUBSTANCES.

"Every person who shall deposit, leave, or keep, on or near a highway or route of public travel, on land or water, any noisome or unwholesome substance; or who shall establish, maintain, or carry on, upon or near a highway or route of public travel, on land or water, any business, trade, or manufacture which is noisome or detrimental to the public health; or who shall deposit or cast into any lake, creek, or river, the offal from, or the dead body of, any animal—shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than $100, or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than three nor more than six months."

We wish to call the attention of some of the people living along these rivers that this law will be used, if they have no more respect for people living near these rivers than to dump dead animals into them.

Plans are under way for the establishment of a board of inventors who will lend their aid in perfecting equipment for the army and navy. Two members of the board will be Orville Wright and Thomas A. Edison. Other well known and successful inventors will also be asked to join.

Secretary of War Garrison has accepted the resignations of two officers, Lieut. Col. O.C. Horney, and Maj. William A. Phillips, both army construction experts, to allow them to take positions with private manufacturing companies. The Secretary contends that these officers will be of greater benefit to the country developing future sources of arms and munitions supply than by remaining in the active service.

President Wilson sent a telegram from his summer home at Cornish, N. H., where he is spending a vacation, to his secretary in Washington informing him that as soon as he had thoroughly considered the new German note and the terms of his reply thereto he would return to Washington to discuss the matter with Secretary Lansing and the cabinet. The belief is prevalent that the President will do everything in his power to avoid an open breach with Germany.

Agents of the Remington Arms Manufacturing Co. have been in Washington for some time offering attractive inducements to mechanics to work for them. They have succeeded in inducing a number of the mechanics of the local navy yard to leave the government service and work for the Remington Company. Secretary Daniels has warned the mechanics at the yard that employment with the Remington Company is likely to stop as soon as the war is terminated, but this does not seem to deter the men from leaving.

III—Telegraph and Telephone

Our transportation facilities are the most perfect product of this great commercial age and the telegraph and telephone systems of this nation crown the industrial achievements of the whole world. These twin messengers of modern civilization, born in the skies, stand today the most faithful and efficient public servants that ever toiled for the human race.

They are of American nativity and while warm from the mind of the inventive genius have, under American supervision, spun a net-work of wires across the earth and under the seas. Telegraphy, in its early youth, mastered the known world and the telephone has already conquered the earth's surface, and now stands at the seashore ready to leap across the ocean.

No industry in the history of the world has ever made such rapid strides in development and usefulness, and none has ever exerted a more powerful influence upon the civilization of its day than the Telegraph and Telephone. Their achievement demonstrates the supremacy of two distinct types of American genius—invention and organization.

The industry was peculiarly fortunate in having powerful inventive intellect at its source and tremendous minds to direct its organization and growth. It is the most perfect fruit of the tree of American industry and when compared with its European contemporaries, it thrills every patriotic American with pride.

Ambitious youth can find no more inspiring company than the fellowship of the giant intellects that constructed this marvelous industry and a journey along the pathway of its development, illuminated at every mile-post of its progress by the lightning-flashes of brilliant minds, will be taken at a very early date.

A brief statistical review of the industry brings out its growth and magnitude in a most convincing and unforgetable manner.

The telephone service of the United States is the most popular and efficient and its rates are the cheapest of the telephone systems of the world.

We are the greatest talkers on earth. We send 60 per cent of our communications over the telephone. The world has about 15,000,000 telephones and of this number the United States has approximately 9,540,000, Europe 4,020,000 and other countries 1,300,000. According to the latest world telephone census, the total telephone investment is $1,906,000,000 and of this amount $1,095,000,000 was credited to the United States, $636,000,000 in Europe and $175,000,000 in other countries. The annual telephone conversations total 24,600,000,000 divided as follows: United States 15,600,000,000; Europe 6,800,000,000, and other countries 2,200,000,000. The total world wire telephone mileage is 33,262,000 miles divided as follows: United States 20,248,000, Europe 10,335,000, and other countries 2,679,000. About six per cent of the world's population and sixty-one per cent of the telephone wire mileage is in the United States.

Ole Overvold is cutting the hay on the C. L. Conger quarter this week.

Corn is out of the running this year up this way.

Miss Elsie Causin is visiting Miss Myrtle Hunt to-day.

All the farmers are busy haying this week, with fairly good weather.

Cash paid for poultry at The Brumund Hotel, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Omlid, of Erie were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hyland on Sunday last.

Wm. Causin is cutting the hay on the Jerry O'Brien quarter this week, which has about fifty tons of hay on this year.

The young people had a picnic at the residence of James O'Brien on Sunday last, which they enjoyed immensely.

The hay is rather light on the muskeg meadows this year, as the hay is changing from wire grass to a better quality of meadow grass.

The clouds seems to have exhausted their supply of water, and it is to be hoped that we will now have fair weather for haying and harvest.

Some of our farmers should exhibit one or two bundles of wheat and oats at the fair next week, just to show them that eastern Pennington County have some tall grain this year.

There has not been any change in the management of the Electric Line running from Thief River Falls to Goodridge, and the line is fast being put into condition to handle the traffic of this eastern country.

The Winton-Nichlos Company are offering some rare bargains in lumber, such as a farmer would need to build granaries. Read their add published in another column, and buy your lumber while these bargains last.

People who never saw an aeroplane fly can get their curiosity satisfied by attending the Pennington County Fair next week, as there is to be two flights made daily, by an expert at the business.

The wheat, oat and barley crops never looked better at this time of the year in this locality, but flax seems to be very backward and does not promise well at the present time, although the present warm weather may give it a start.

Chicago has had another appauling disaster, and this time it is an excursion boat disaster. The investigators of the cause and prevention of accidents will now devote their attention to excursion boats, while the theaters can rig up fire traps to suit themselves.

Thief River Falls advertised a public wedding on market day last week, and it was pulled off as advertised, with Ole Brude of Thief River Falls as the groom, and Albert Lonson, of the First State Bank, as the bride, who was married to Ole as Miss Albertina F. Willing, of Trail, N. Dak. So clever was Mr. Lonson dressed as a bride that the audience were completely deceived, and some of them are undoubtedly telling their friends yet of the wedding they witnessed at Thief River Falls on market day. Anyway Thief River Falls gave the entertainment that was advertised.

If there cannot be any bridges built across Red Lake river, the school districts in this part of the country should be rearranged so children can get to school, for as it is now it is not possible for them to get across this river to attend school regular. Of course it is all right for the people who live on the same side of the river that the school house is on to promptly protest against any change in the present conditions, but there is bound to be a change in them soon.

The Red Lake River still remains just a little above its banks which is enough to prevent the Highlanding ferry from being of much use to cross teams on. The people living on this side, have adapted themselves to the conditions as they are and the Mayfield farmers and Deer Park farmers draw their cream clear to Oklee, as they well know that they can not depend on getting across the river at Highlanding, but if that government fence can be removed there will soon be a bridge at that point, if it is a poplar pole bridge.

Some of the Deer Park farmers have changed their patronage from the Highlanding creamery to the Clearwater creamery, not because they were not satisfied with the treatment received at the Highlanding creamery, but because they could not depend on getting across the river at Highlanding. One farmer after trying in vain to get across with his cream turned his team around and drove clear to the Clearwater creamery with his cream, and has been a patron of that creamery ever since. Is not that a fine condition of affairs to exist in a country that has been settled ten years? But we have a navigable river all right, all it lacks is enough water to run boats on.

BOOTLEGGING UNPROFITABLE.

George Delaurier, a well known resident of this city, was arrested at Argyle Monday on a charge of what is commonly known as "bootlegging" and on Tuesday was sentenced to a straight jail term of ninety days in the Marshall County jail at Warren. Delaurier had made a previous trip into the vicinity of Argyle, carrying a liberal supply of whiskey which he peddled to the thirsty residents in and around that village. The purpose of the visits was evidently suspected by the officials, for on his second trip, made the first of this week, he was arrested, and his incarceration followed.—T. R. Falls News Press.

WAR CUTS IN ON CUPID.

A new inconvenience, caused by the war in Europe arose last week at Baudette, when a young man at Warroad who was attending a dance at Baudette, becoming interested in a young Canadian girl, asked to escort her home after the dance. She consented and everything went fine until they reached the center of the bridge across the Rainy river and there they were stopped by a Canadian officer who in the name of "His Majesty" demanded that the young man return to the United States and that the girl would have to proceed, unescorted, to her home on the Canadian side. The young man was unable to persuade the officer that he was not a German carrying infernal machines in his clothes and had to return home without seeing the girl safe at her father's door, and now the citizens of Warroad wonder if there is not a way that Uncle Sam and Johnny Bull can arbitrate this international question.—Bemidji Sentinel.

Washington News.

The War Department experts are preparing plans to submit to Congress at its next session for securing a volunteer army of about 800,000 men. The idea as at present outlined, is to give 800,000 young volunteers a two months course of military training every year for three years. In this way it is hoped to build up a large reserve army which may be called on in time of need.

The President returned to Washington Monday and immediately assumed the heavy burdens and arduous labors of his position. The principal thing to engage his attention at first was the new note to Germany. With this now disposed of it is likely that the Mexican situation will demand consideration. The attitude of Great Britain with regard to certain classes of goods shipped from this country is also becoming a serious problem and one which will soon demand attention.

When the European war broke out many Americans found themselves standed in Europe without means. Congress appropriated a generous sum for the purpose of aiding them to get home, with the understanding that the government was to be reimbursed for the amounts advanced. Most of those aided in this way have cheerfully paid up, but a certain few have refused to reimburse the government for the amounts spent on them. The Department of Justice, at the Request of the Treasury Department, is preparing to bring suit against such persons to recover the sums advanced.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. London's Bridges.

At a time when the population of London was well over a million and her houses lay for miles on each side of the river she was apparently well content with her one London bridge. At length in 1734 Westminster was seized with the desire to have a bridge of her own. Application was made to parliament for powers only to encounter the fiercest opposition from the city, the 40,000 watermen, the inhabitants of Southwark and the west country bargemen, all of whom implored the commons to protect them against this new enemy. The result was that the bridge was not built till 1750. Blackfriars, at first called Pitt's bridge, was finished in 1769 at a cost of £260,000, defrayed by tolls. Waterloo was opened on the second anniversary of the famous battle with great pomp by the prince regent in person accompanied by his royal brother, the Duke of York, the Duke of Wellington and many distinguished people.—London Answers.

"No Quarter Given."

"It is forbidden to declare that no quarter shall be given." So say The Hague regulations. That is a more modern rule than you would think. The Duke of Wellington said that he understood that the defenders of a fortress taken by storm had no right to quarter, although he himself did not, as a rule, adopt such a cruel practice. A century ago, when a feeble garrison stubbornly held out in a feebly fortified place against a force manifestly superior and apparently able to take it eventually, it was usually refused quarter. There was an attempt to justify the refusal by a doctrine of "futile resistance"—that he who uselessly resisted and caused assaulting or besieging forces unnecessary loss of life did not deserve to have his own life spared. But that doctrine has been rejected. Carried to its logical conclusion it would mean that every member of a weaker force in any kind of armed contest could be killed.—William M. Collier in Forum.

A Troublesome Cargo.

"An elephant's shoulder is never still" is a Hindu saying with reference to the restlessness of the animal. An Englishman tells how the elephant's passion for moving about once came near wrecking a ship.

A number of elephants were taken on board a vessel at Calcutta, and the steamer went down the Hugli river. At night it anchored off Sangor point. The sea was as still as oil, but the ship rolled so much that she was in danger of going over. The elephants had found that by swaying to and fro all together they could produce a pleasant rocking motion. As the ship had no other cargo and rode light the captain was much frightened. The mahouts, or keepers, were hurried down into the hold, and each one, seated on his own beast, made him "break step," but they had to stay there for a long time.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.

Story of the Growth of a Famous New York City Landmark.

Madison Square Garden, indissolubly associated with the city of New York, was purchased in 1853 by the Harlem railroad after the extinction of the old eastern post road, which ran diagonally across the block. In 1854 the railroad company put up sheds for the handling of the early morning milk supply and farm products.

In 1863 the train sheds were rebuilt to house a passenger terminal of the Harlem on Twenty-sixth street and of the New Haven road on Twenty-seventh street, the trains being broken up at the present Grand Central and the separate cars being drawn down by mules.

The railway ceased to use the building in 1871, and in 1873 it was remodeled and leased to Barnum for the congress of nations. Sheridan Shook and Patrick Gilmore, in joint conduct of a museum, were the next tenants. Barnum returned with the circus and menagerie April 27, 1874. Gilmore took the place for the next season and produced the first of his concerts May 29, 1875.

On May 31, 1879, the place was first designated Madison Square Garden. The tearing down of the old building was begun Aug. 7, 1889. The present structure was formally opened June 16, 1890.—Argonaut.

GERMANY FLATLY WARNED IN THIRD AMERICAN REPLY

RESPONSIBILITY OF CONTINUING OR BREAKING FRIENDLY RELATIONS BETWEEN TWO COUNTRIES PLACED UPON BERLIN.

FURTHER VIOLATIONS TO BE HELD AS "UNFRIENDLY"

Communication Reiterates Insistance Upon Rights of Neutrals Upon the High Seas and Plainly Warns Teutons that Offense, Such as Sinking of Lusitania, Must Not Be Repeated.

Washington, July 24.—Without backing down, and withdrawing not one whit from his position originally taken, President Wilson has placed upon Germany the responsibility of continuing or breaking the friendly relations between the two countries.

In the American note addressed to the imperial German government and just made public, Germany is flatly warned that a repetition of the offenses of which this country complains will be regarded as "deliberately unfriendly."

The words "deliberately unfriendly," as used in diplomacy, constitute a polite and suave method of warning, which amounts to an ultimatum. While the interpretation of the words rests with the President, there seems little doubt but that the executive has substituted them for the words "strict accountability," and as he has withdrawn from consideration of these words, it seems hardly possible he can ignore the plain intention of the ones used in this last note.

Strongest Note By Far.

The document is by far the strongest expression that has come from this government in the course of the correspondence between America and the German government. The language is forceful, courteous, convincing and almost tart in places.

It will be regarded by the country as a document filled with the gravest possibilities. The President, during the deliberation he has given it at his home in Cornish, in conjunction with the aid given him by Secretary of State Lansing, has apparently come to the conclusion that the time for parleying has passed. The note does not necessarily call for an answer, except so far as it is suggested one would be acceptable relative to the Lusitania outrage and also in relation to the suggestion that the American government is interested in securing the "freedom of the seas." Stripped of all its diplomatic verbiage it is a repetition of the American expression of abhorrence of the German action in sinking the Lusitania. It reiterates the American insistence upon the rights of neutrals upon the seas. It does not insist upon reparation for the sinking of the Lusitania, but plainly warns Germany that whatever public avowal or disavowal the German government may make, the offense must not be repeated.

Must Not Repeat Offense.

If Germany should repeat the offense it will constitute an "unfriendly act" and in diplomatic language this means the breaking off of diplomatic relations and possibly war.

With such a declaration of the American position, this country will sit back and wait for Germany to speak, but more specifically to act.

The President apparently feels there is nothing more for this government to do and has returned to his summer home in Cornish.

Text of Third American Note.

Washington, July 24.—Following is the official text of the latest American note to Germany regarding submarine warfare, which was delivered to the foreign office at Berlin by Ambassador Gerard:

THE SECRETARY OF STATE TO AMBASSADOR GERARD,
DEPARTMENT OF STATE,

You are instructed to deliver texually the following note to the minister of foreign affairs:

The note of the imperial German government dated the 8th of July, 1915, has received the careful consideration of the government of the United States, and it regrets to be obliged to say that it has found it very unsatisfactory, because it fails to meet the real difference between the two governments and indicates no way in which the accepted principles of law and humanity may be applied in the grave matter in controversy, but proposes, on the contrary, arrangements for a partial suspension of those principles, which virtually set them aside.

High Seas Are Free.

The government of the United States notes with satisfaction that the imperial German government recognizes without reservation the validity of the principles insisted upon in the several communications which this government has addressed the imperial German government with regard to its announcement of a war zone and the use of submarines against merchantmen on the high seas—the principle that the high seas are free, that the character and cargo of a merchantman must first be ascertained before she can lawfully be seized or destroyed, and that the lives of non-combatants may in no case be put in jeopardy unless the vessel resists or seeks to escape after being summoned to submit to examination; for a belligerent act of retaliation is per se an act beyond the law, and the defense of an act as retaliatory is an admission that it is illegal.

United States Keenly Disappointed.

The government of the United States is, however, keenly disappointed to find that the imperial German government regards itself as in large degree exempt from the obligation to observe these principles, even where neutral vessels are concerned, by what it believes the policy and practice of the government of Great Britain to be in the present war with regard to neutral commerce. The imperial German government will readily understand that the government of the United States cannot discuss the policy of the government of Great Britain with regard to neutral trade except with the government itself, and that it must regard the conduct of other belligerent governments as irrelevant to any discussion with the imperial German government of what this government regards as grave and unjustifiable violations of the rights of American citizens by German naval commanders.

Inhuman Acts Indefensible.

Illegal and inhuman acts, however justifiable they may be thought to be against an enemy who is believed to have acted in contravention of law and humanity, are manifestly indefensible when they deprive neutrals of their acknowledged rights, particularly when they violate the right to life itself. If a belligerent cannot retaliate against an enemy without injuring the lives of neutrals, as well as their property, humanity, as well as justice and a due regard for the dignity of neutral powers, should dictate that the practice be discontinued. If persisted in it would in such circumstances constitute an unpardonable offense against the sovereignty of the neutral nation affected.

Unusual Aspects of War No Excuse.

The government of the United States is not unmindful of the extraordinary conditions created by this war or of the radical alterations of circumstance and method of attack produced by the use of instrumentalities of naval warfare which the nations of the world cannot have had in view when the existing rules of international law were formulated, and it is ready to make every reasonable allowance for these novel and unexpected aspects of war at sea; but it cannot consent to abate any essential fundamental right of its people because of a mere alteration of circumstance. The rights of neutrals in time of war are based upon principle, not upon expediency, and the principles are immutable. It is the duty and obligation of belligerents to find a way to adapt the new circumstances to them.

Causes of Offense Can Be Removed.

The events of the past two months have clearly indicated that it is possible and practicable to conduct such submarine operations as have characterized the activity of the imperial German navy within the so-called war zone in substantial accord with the accepted practices of regulated warfare. The whole world has looked with interest and increasing satisfaction at the demonstration of that possibility by German naval commanders. It is manifestly possible, therefore, to lift the whole practice of submarine attack above the criticism which it has aroused and remove the chief causes of offense.

Germany Admits Illegal Acts.

In view of the admission of illegality made by the imperial German government when it pleaded the right of retaliation in defense of its acts and in view of the manifest possibility of conforming to the established rules of naval warfare, the government of the United States cannot believe that the imperial German government will longer refrain from disavowing the wanton act of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania or from offering reparation for the American lives lost, so far as reparation can be made for a needless destruction of human life by an illegal act.

U. S. Cannot Accept Suggestion.

The government of the United States, while not indifferent to the friendly spirit in which it is made, cannot accept the suggestion of the imperial German government that certain vessels be designated and agreed upon which shall be free on the seas now illegally proscribed. The very agreement would, by implication, subject other vessels to illegal attack and would be a curtailment, and therefore an abandonment, of the principles for which this government contends, and which in calmer counsels every nation would concede as of course.

Contends for Freedom at Any Cost.

The government of the United States and the imperial German government are contending for the same great object; have long stood together in urging the very principles upon which the government of the United States now so solemnly insists. They are both contending for the freedom of the seas. The government of the United States will continue to contend for that freedom, from whatever quarter violated, without compromise and at any cost. It invites the practical co-operation of the imperial German government at this time when co-operation may accomplish most and this great common object be most strikingly and effectively achieved.

Object Can Be Attained.

The imperial German government expresses the hope that this object may be in some measure accomplished even before the present war ends. It can be. The government of the United States not only feels obliged to insist upon it, by whomsoever violated or ignored, in the protection of its own citizens, but is also deeply interested in seeing it made practicable between the belligerents themselves and holds itself ready at any time to act as the common friend who may be privileged to suggest a way.

As "Deliberately Unfriendly" Act.

In the meantime the very value which this government sets upon the long and unbroken friendship between the people and government of the United States and the people and government of the German nation impels it to press very solemnly upon the imperial German government the necessity for a scrupulous observance of neutral rights in this critical matter.

Friendship itself prompts it to say to the imperial German government that repetition by the commanders of German naval vessels of acts in contravention of those rights must be regarded by the government of the United States, when they affect American citizens, as deliberately unfriendly.

GERMANS REFUSE COMMENT

OFFICIALS WITHHOLD OPINION OF AMERICAN NOTE.

Newspapers at Berlin Publish British Forecasts—Imperial Chancellor Receives Direct Report.

Berlin, via London, July 24.—The officials of the foreign office who have as yet seen the latest American note to the German government concerning Germany's submarine warfare, which was delivered to Herr von Jagow, the German foreign minister, by Ambassador Gerard, asked to be excused from commenting on it until they had had an opportunity for digesting its contents carefully.

Herr von Jagow took the document and made a direct report on it to Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor.

The newspapers here have published the British forecasts on the note but refrain from commenting on it until they have received the official text.

EASTLAND SINKS AT CHICAGO DOCK; 1,000 MEET DEATH

VESSEL TURNS OVER IN RIVER AS IT LEAVES WHARF—MAJORITY OF VICTIMS WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

500 BODIES RECOVERED; INVESTIGATION ORDERED

Rescuers Cut Holes in Hull and Continue Removing Bodies from Boat—Feared List of Dead May Reach 1,500—Tragedy Over in Less Than Five Minutes.

Chicago, July 26.—The death ship Eastland has given up the bodies of 809 of its dead. The estimated total number of those who were drowned in the Chicago river when the steel steamer bearing 2408 excursionists rolled over at her dock, remain at approximately 1,000. Of the total of 2408 persons on board at the time of the catastrophe, 1072 including the crew of 72, have been reported safe. Of the 558 thus remaining unaccounted for it is believed 400 are still alive and have failed to report and that 199 bodies still are in the river.

One of Greatest Marine Disasters.

The Eastland lies on her side in the river with divers still floundering through her ghastly interior and burrowing in the death search while Chicago, appalled, is just beginning to realize the real and terrible significance of one of the greatest of marine disasters.

While the aggrieved thousands who lost their dear ones are walking through the morgue in the Second Regiment armory gazing into the faces of the dead, half in hope, half in despair, Chicago citizens and officials have turned their attention to the investigations that must bring forth some explanation of the catastrophe and to the work of providing relief for those left destitute.

No Families Made Dependent.

While no families were made wholly dependent by the disaster, as might be the case in a flood or great fire, it was said the victims, employes of the Western Electric company, had been working only half time or less in recent months. Several men who made this report, in asking for aid, were asked why they started on the excursion while in poor financial circumstances. They replied that an organization of employes gave the picnic and that experience had taught them that it was best to buy tickets if they desired preferment for work. They said said the company had nothing to do with this condition or the giving of the excursion, but that as members of the employes' organization purchase of tickets for the lake trip, an annual affair, was almost compulsory.

Evidence of Desparation.

Panic of the worst kind struck the passengers when the boat began to turn over. Best accounts of witnesses said the steamer rolled slightly twice, then turned further, and that hundreds of screaming, struggling men, women and children slid across the sloping decks, fought for room on the companionways and clutched at deck chairs or any other object that came to hand.

Women and children by the hundreds were caught below decks and the scratched faces, torn clothing and bruised bodies of the dead bore mute evidence of the desperation with which they had fought for a chance for life.

The whole tragedy occupied less than five minutes. Members of the crew shouted warnings as the steamer first tilted and Captain Pedersen ordered lower deck ports opened and all passengers shore. There was, however, no chance of such a measure to succeed.

Five Steamers Chartered.

Some 7,000 tickets had been distributed for the excursion and five steamers chartered by the company. The Eastland was first to receive its quota, and when its chartered capacity was reached federal inspectors ordered that no more be taken aboard. The boat was docked on the south side of the river and when the hundreds hurrying to the boat were turned back from it they streamed across the Clark street bridge to the steamer Theodore Roosevelt, which was to take the second boat load.

Screams of the Eastland victims halted this rush and the bridge was jammed with people until police, fearing that the structure would collapse, ordered it cleared.

City Turns to Rescue Work.

Every resource of the city was turned to the rescue work. Remembering the Iroquois theatre disaster, mercantile concerns in the vicinity hurried motor trucks to the scene laden with blankets to warm the living or cover the dead. Pulmoters by the score were sent to the dock, physicians, police, firemen, government life savers and nurses were summoned and all hospitals and morgues notified to prepare for patients or corpses.

The steamer floated on its side into midstream and tugs, motor-boats and other river craft swarmed about it. Firemen climbed on the wreck, forced openings in the steel hull and through these searched the cabins for possible victims.

None of the officers or department heads of the Western Electric company were on the Eastland when it overturned, according to an announcement from the offices of the company.

Survivors Unable to Talk.

Many survivors were too hysterical to relate their experiences. As soon as those received at the hospitals were in condition to leave they were taken to their homes, many owners of automobiles having offered their machines.

An undertaking establishment in North Clark street was surrounded by a crowd of curiosity seekers that threatened to get beyond the control of the police. A morbid crowd trailed through the rooms where there were twelve bodies stretched out on the floor.

The President also dispatched a telegram to Mayor Thompson of Chicago expressing profound sympathy and sorrow over the loss of life.

Rancher's Abductor Caught.

Idaho Falls, July 24.—Cowboys have captured the abductor of Ernest Empey, a wealthy rancher who was kidnaped several days ago and held for $6,000 ransom, according to a report received here. The bandit, it is stated, came down from Sheep mountain at nightfall and was surrounded and taken on what is known as Crane's flat.

Empey escaped while his captor was asleep in a hut on Sheep mountain.

Italy and Turkey May Fight.

Rome, via Paris, July 24.—Diplomatic relations between Italy and Turkey, already strained, are becoming more tense because of the reported refusal of the Turkish authorities to permit Italian subjects to leave the Ottoman empire. It is believed here that a declaration of war by Italy in the near future is highly probable. Reports from Cairo that a Turkish-German expedition has landed on Italian territory in Tripoli has aroused the ire of the Italian press.

For Families of Eastland Victims.

Chicago, July 26.—At a meeting of the mayor's citizens advisory committee called by Acting Mayor Moorhouse it was planned to immediately raise a fund of $200,000 by public subscription for the relief of the families of the Eastland victims.

In addition to this sum, officials of the Western Electric company, who attended the conference held in the mayor's office, announced that the Employes' Benefit association had $100,000 available for relief work.

A detachment of Mexican troops was sent out from Guaymas in pursuit of the raiders.

No apprehension is felt for the safety of Americans south of the Yaqui river.

SHOULD NOT HAVE MOVED

Story of a Man Who Was Making Good, but Roving Fever Got the Best of Him.

On May 4th, 1915, the St. Paul Farmer's Dispatch contained a very interesting account of the experiences of a man from Staples, Minn. Realizing that he was not making much headway, he decided to look up a homestead in Canada. With $250 he and his wife took up a homestead near Outlook, Saskatchewan. After recounting his experiences of a few years, in which they had undergone hardships which were likely to be unavoidable, with a small amount of capital, he continues the story by stating that in the fall after a fair summer's work on his 100 acres cropped, he cleaned up nearly all his debts, having now four good horses, a complete set of farm machinery including two wagons and a "Swell" top buggy and eleven head of cattle. He continues, "However, I was not satisfied. I had been reading of the splendid homesteads that were to be had in Montana. Wheat was cheap and I thought it would get cheaper, so I began to think that homesteading as a moneymaking proposition was better than farming.

I did not stop to consider that wheat was not the only thing; as a matter of fact I had sold pork for 14 cents a pound. Eggs and butter had kept us in groceries and more, we had now four milch cows, two heifers coming in and more growing up. We had a cream separator, and some hogs. We had a quarter section of land that could raise an abundance of small grain, roots and grass for feed, but I could not see all that; I had the 'moving' fever, and decided to sell.

I set the price on the land at $3,000 cash. I could not find anyone with that much money, however, so I came down until I finally sold for $1,400.

We had an auction and sold the personal property. On the sale we got just about enough cash to pay the auctioneer; the rest was all notes.

The horses brought about two-thirds what they were worth. The implements sold for hardly one-third of what they had cost. The cattle brought a good price.

Must Make Another Start.

We now have a homestead in Montana, but we find that after moving here and getting settled, what money we had did not go far. We have three horses, about all the implements we need, and a little better buildings than we had on our former place. We have no cattle, though we had to build much fence to keep ranch stock out of our fields. We have about $500 worth of honest debts.

True, we have a half section in place of a quarter, but that is no good to us, as long as we have not the capital with which to work it.

In summarizing it all up I see where I made my mistake. It will take fully five years to get into as good circumstances as we were before we made the change. It is five years lost.

My advice to anyone contemplating a change of location is to think twice before you act, and if your present circumstances are not too bad, 'stay by your bush till you pick it clean.'"—Advertisement.

Mean Disposition.

"Before engaging rooms in your house," said the bachelor, "I want to know if there are any families with crying babies staying here."

"I'm afraid there is," replied the landlady; "but we—"

"Well, I was just going to say," continued the other, "that if there are, I want you to put me in the room next to theirs. I want to wake up in the night and hear their trouble, so that I can congratulate myself again that I'm not married."

INDIAN LAND TITLE HINGES ON DIVORCE

HALF BREED SEEKS NEW TRIAL IN COURTS—JUDGE HOLDS TRIBAL LAWS GOVERN.

STATE NEWS OF MINNESOTA

Interesting and Important Happenings of the Past Few Days Selected and Arranged for the Convenience of Busy Readers.

Duluth.—David W. LaFramboise, Shakopee halfbreed, has filed notice in district court of a motion for a new trial of a case started by him three years ago to establish his right to the controlling interest in a 40-acre tract of mineral land on the Vermillion range. The case has just been decided against the plaintiff. LaFramboise's Indian name is Da-wee, and he is a grandnephew of John Otherday, or Chief An-pe-tu-tok-chu of the Med-in-han-kaw-an of Big Water tribe, who distinguished himself by showing heroic loyalty to the whites during the famous Sioux outbreak of 1862.

Tribal Laws Govern.

In his decision, Judge Cant declared that the tribal laws, and not the laws of the white man, governed when it came to questions of marriage and divorce.

The land in question is located about four miles east of Tower, in the mineral belt. It is considered valuable.

R. Noble Day purchased the property in 1901 from a squaw, who called herself Ellen Cekiya. She claimed to be the widow of Alexis LaFramboise, who died in 1876. The land was patented to the heirs of Alexis in return for script held by the Indians and in exchange for relinquishment of land held by them near Lake Pepin. David LaFramboise, the plaintiff in this case, claims that Ellen (Yuhana) Cekiya, who sold the land, was never the wife of Alexis LaFramboise, and not his heir, but that one Emma (Quana) LaFramboise, David's mother, was the real wife. The whole case has turned on this question.

David's mother, now 85 years of age, was a witness. She testified that when she was 16 years old Alexis "bought her" from her father. Ellen, the second wife, was her cousin.

WILSON'S 1916 RUNNING MATE

Hammond Is Probable Choice in Next Campaign, Is Declaration at Portland, Ore., Luncheon.

Portland, Ore.—"Governor Winfield Scott Hammond of Minnesota, gentlemen, is the probable running mate of Wilson in the next campaign," announced Representative C. N. McArthur, Oregon Republican, in speaking of the gubernatorial visitor at a luncheon given in the governor's honor at the Chamber of Commerce here.

Governor Hammond did not deny the possibility of his selection for Democratic honors.

In his address to the members' council at the Chamber of Commerce, Governor Hammond dealt with problems he said that Oregon had in common with Minnesota. State aid for settlers on logged-off land was one cause advocated.

BOUNTIES FOR GOPHERS, WOODCHUCKS AND RATTLERS.

Winona.—Hunting gophers, woodchucks and rattlesnakes in this section of Minnesota pays big dividends.

That fact is emphasized by the warrants issued at the office of the county auditor to meet the bounties on these undesirable creatures. From all over the cuonty the returns have been heavy this spring and the "harvesting" season is only approaching.

The town boards now must issue the warrants for bounties and they are paid by the chairman of the boards through the auditor. Chairman William Drenckhahn of the town of Mount Vernon, near Minneiska, was paid $134.94 for a month's bounty in his section. Sixty-seven dollars were for rattlesnakes, $31.99 for gophers and $31.95 for woodchucks.

William S. Nettleton of Minnesota City also was paid $3 as rattlesnake bounty.

Colonization in Crow Wing.

Brainerd.—One of the biggest moves for the colonization of Crow Wing county is the placing on the market of 8,000 acres owned by the Northern Pacific railway and the selling of the same to actual settlers at reasonable prices.

Prospect of Prison Life Kills.

Brainerd, Minn., July 24.—Ole Berg, an old man who stole a suit of clothes from a clothing store and whose plea of guilty caused him to be given an indeterminate sentence to Stillwater, died of a broken heart in his cell. He had lived the hard but free life of the lumber camp and the spectacle of a prison waiting to receive him prostrated him. The commitment papers were in the hands of Sheriff C. A. Theorin when that official found the prisoner dying.

THOMPSON TO PLEAD GUILTY

ASKS ATTORNEY TO FILE FORMAL CHARGES.

Former Cashier of Osseo Bank to Offer No Defense—Superintendent Declares Shortage $67,058.

Minneapolis, July 24.—At practically the same hour that A. H. Turrittin, state superintendent of banks, made public an official statement declaring the shortage at the Osseo State bank to be $67,058.26, Joseph B. Thompson, former cashier, asked County Attorney John M. Rees to file formal charges against him, allow him to plead guilty and begin sentence at once. It was predicted at the courthouse that Thompson would be on his way to the state penitentiary in 24 hours.

The charges were to be filed immediately after the county attorney had received a copy of Mr. Turrittin's report.

The superintendent's report declared that 17 forged notes, aggregating more than $20,000, had been found by his examiners and that funds were missing from practically every department of the bank's business, including the savings accounts. Despite this, Mr. Turrittin said, the bank probably would be reopened.

Thompson to "Face Music."

Thompson's determination to "face the music" was made during a conference in the county jail, at which his wife and attorney were with him for more than an hour. Attorney Manley Fosseen, who represents the former cashier, said no defense will be interposed.

"Thompson has made no pretense of innocence from the day he was taken into custody," said Mr. Fosseen. "He said he is anxious to begin serving his sentence. He realizes fully that delay is only making the parting with his wife and family the harder. Mrs. Thompson is standing the strain, but it daily grows harder to bear."

RURAL LIFE CONFERENCE

Meeting at University Farm Promises to Be Largely Attended—Inquiries Received from Over State

The rural life conference, which begins this week at Universty Farm, St. Paul, promises to be largely attended and of greater interest than the conference of last year even. Inquiries are being received from rural clergymen, educators, bankers, farmers' club presidents, and others. As a result of such varied attendance the discussions are likely to bring out points of unusual value.

"These conferences," says Dean A. F. Woods, of the Minnesota College of Agriculture, "are big with possibilities and should exercise a large influence on the development of rural life in Minnesota. As their value becomes better known, they should bring together annually all classes of men and women holding positions of leadership in town and country. Such a getting-together should be of inestimable value."

The program for the first day of the conference includes some interesting features. Among these will be an address of welcome by Dean Woods, who will review the stuation in the state; a round-table on rural education, led by Rev. C. O. Bemies, of McClellandtown, Pa.; a conference on the rural church, led by Rev. E. C. Hickman, of Byron, Minn.; a discussion of rural recreation by D. D. Mayne, principal of the Minnesota School of Agriculture, and an address on "How One Community Found Itself," by Mr. Bemies.

Auto Injuries Fatal.

Virginia, Minn.—William A. Whitney, wealthy Superior contractor and banker, while motoring home from the auto races at Hibbing, broke a wheel a mile west of this city. The car turned completely over, pinning Whitney underneath. His collarbone and several ribs were broken and he suffered other injuries from which he cannot recover.

Billion Dollar Committee.

Minneapolis, Minn.—After a tour of 13,150 miles, examining and inspecting reclamation projects in the West, the house committee on appropriations, known as the billion dollar committee, headed by its chairman, Congressman John J. Fitzgerald of Brooklyn, spent the day in Minneapolis on the last lap of the trip.

Hits Danger Lantern; Killed.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Falling into a street excavation while playing, Gerald, two-year-old son of John L. Brown, 4315 Tenth avenue south, overturned a danger lantern and was fatally burned. His clothing, wet with kerosene, was burned from his body. He died in the City hospital several hours later.

"Last Man's Club" Meets.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Eight of the "Last Man's Club," the thin remnant of its original roster, which in turn was the remnant of those in Company B, First Minnesota regiment, which made the famous charge at Gettysburg, stood round a long white covered table at which 22 vacant chairs were draped in black, bowed their silvered heads in silent tribute to their dead and then drank a toast to their deathless memory.

One small hint may be worth more than a ton of advice.

Canned.

"Is your wife putting up any fruit this summer?"

"No, but I've canned a few peaches myself."

"You have?"

"Yes. I've had three different stenographers this year, and not one of them knew half as much about spelling and grammar as she did about the latest fashions."

The Meter's Record.

A representative of the gas department called on a householder and intimated that he was afraid something was wrong with the meter. From the official point of view, of course, meters can only show one fault, and the symptom which had cast suspicion on this meter was that it had registered less during the quarter than in the corresponding part of the previous year. But the lady of the house has a convincing explanation of the decline.

"You see," she said, "my daughter was engaged last winter. She got married in June."

The official, who was evidently a parent himself, was quite satisfied, and the meter left the court without a stain upon its high character.

Beating the Bakers.

"Oh, I am almost tired to death!" said the woman who spends half her time addressing club meetings. "Our political economy club has been in session all day passing resolutions and drawing up petitions demanding a law regulating the price of bread. Only think! Three dollars' worth of flour costs, when baked into bread, $13. It's outrageous. We'll soon all be bankrupt. The bakers must be made to feel the power of the law. You should have been at the meeting."

"I couldn't come, I was too busy," said the calm-faced woman.

"Busy on a club day? What on earth at?"

"Baking bread," said the calm-faced woman.—New York Times.

WHERE THE INCHES COUNTED

British Statesman's Remarkably Neat Retort to Chairman's Shaft of "Wit."

Lloyd-George's wit on the platform is well known, but here is one of the neatest retorts he ever made.

He was addressing a meeting in South Wales, according to Pearson's Weekly, when the chairman, thinking to be witty at the chancellor's expense, remarked to the audience that he was a little disappointed in Lloyd-George's appearance.

"I had heard so much about Mr. Lloyd-George," he said, "that I naturally expected to meet a big man in every sense; but, as you can see for yourselves, he is very small in stature."

Many an orator would have been grievously upset by such an unfortunate beginning to the proceedings, but not so Lloyd-George.

"I am grieved to find," he said, with mock seriousness, "that your chairman is disappointed in my size, but this is owing to the way you have here of measuring a man. In North Wales we measure a man from his chin up, but you evidently measure him from his chin down!"

After that the chairman made no more personal remarks.

Melted Away.

John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, said at the Lake Mohonk arbitration conference:

"The day is not yet come when violence and oppression will melt away before right like the plumber's bill.

"Like, I repeat, the plumber's bill. For a plumber, you know, once presented a millionaire a bill of $100 for mending a pipe.

"But the millionaire handed the plumber a dollar note and said severely:

"'Receipt that bill of yours in full.'

"'But—but—' said the plumber.

"'Receipt it in full,' the millionaire repeated. 'I used to be a plumber myself.'

"The plumber at this gave a great start, receipted the bill and handed the millionaire 50 cents change."

Not Guilty.

"Hey, you big busher!" yelleld an excited fan as the pitcher of the home team issued his fourth successive base on balls, forcing a runner across the plate. "Where did you learn to pitch? In a correspondence school?"

If the pitcher heard, he made no sign, but another spectator sitting near the excited one administered a stinging rebuke.

"You talk like a fish," he said scornfully. "What makes you think that dub ever learned to pitch anywhere?"

Not Likely.

"A curious thing happened to me this morning," began the man who always told long-winded stories.

"Did somebody stop to listen to one of your yarns?" inquired the other, reaching for his hat.

Barnum's Frankness.

On one occasion Barnum had an elephant engaged in plowing on the sloping hill where it could plainly be seen by the passengers on the New Haven and Hartford railroad, an agricultural innovation that he knew would get notice of some sort in every newspaper in the country.

It was even said that he received letters from farmers far and wide asking how much hay one elephant ate, and if it were more profitable to plow with an elephant than with horses or oxen.

His replies were invariably frank, and were of this purport:

"If you have a large museum in New York, and a great railway company sends trains full of passengers within eyeshot of the performance, it will pay, and pay well; but if you have no such institution, then horses or oxen will prove more economical."

Probably Not.

"I believe a man should be master in his own house," said the newly married man. "There can be only one head in a family, and I mean to be it."

"That's a very good idea," answered his friend, who had been married more years than the other had lived. "A very good idea indeed. Have you spoken to your wife about it?"

There is at least this to be said for the angels: They do not play the bagpipe.

These New

Post Toasties

Are the first and only corn flakes that are "good to eat" without milk, cream or sugar

Try some fresh from the package, and at once you get a wonderful true corn flavour—vastly different from that of the ordinary "corn flakes" you may have had.

Notice the little pearl-like "puffs" on each flake—a characteristic that is distinctive; also that when cream or milk is added they don't mush down, but keep their body and appetizing crispness.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

The Russians started out to eat their Christmas dinner in Berlin last fall, but they are now traveling in the opposite direction.

Congressman Steenerson will speak at the Thief River Falls Fair next Thursday afternoon, and at the Commercial Club rooms in the evening.

If England, France and Italy cannot drive the Germans out of Belgium now, they won't have much show to do it after they get Russia cleaned up, so they can turn that army back toward Paris.

We cannot understand just why the judges and lawyers allowed Harry Thaw to get his liberty before they had got all of his money. But they have got him still under bonds and may get another opportunity to tap his gold mine.

The common people of Russia do not fight for their country willingly, but have to be forced into it, and a large percent of them are looking for an opportunity to get taken as prisoners of war by the Germans, so they will get something to eat and get the vermin cleaned off of them.

Illinois Democrats have indorsed President Wilson for re-election. Wilson will undoubtedly be the next Democratic candidate for president, and if the European war continues he will undoubtedly be elected on his war policy, for there never has been a President since Lincoln that the common people so highly respect as they do President Wilson.

According to reports, the second county option petition circulated in Red Lake county has been withdrawn. The promoters were unable to get even a small percentage of the voters, seventeen signers being all that could be secured in Red Lake Falls, according to reports brought to this city by Red Lake Falls business men.—T. R. Falls News-Press.

Sure thing. Red Lake County are onto their job, and they are to have a first class hotel built this summer at Red Lake Falls. Just wait until Polk and Pennington counties get their saloons closed, and Red Lake Falls and Red Lake county, will enjoy a business boom that it will be hard for them to handle.

On last Friday Deputy Sheriff Paul Midderigh acting under orders from County Attorney Kjomme notified Nick Kessler and Chris Porter to close their thirst parlors. His action was based on the fact that Kessler and Porter were selling liquor without a license as a result of the appearance of the two men in district court, where they were fined $50 and costs for selling liquor without a license. Kessler closed his place immediately, while Porter kept open until evening. Last Monday Kessler journeyed to Crookston for a consultation with Attorney Rowe, who advised them to open their places for the reason that the city council had neither refunded their license money or revoked their licenses, and further, that they had not been served with a written order from the court. What action will be taken is not known at this time.—The Eleven Towns.

Why no action at all will be taken, the council have their license money, and have got it spent, and they have got their licenses, and can run their saloons until the county option law takes effect. But it seems funny that they had to go clear to Crookston to find that out. If they had come up to Sunbeam we could have told them that.

Red Lake River is an easy river to bridge compared to the Clearwater River, as it has better banks and a solid bottom. But the banks are not high enough to build a bridge 32 feet high above low water mark, which is what the government requires. Of course a 32 foot bridge means no bridge at all, and the only way for the people of eastern Pennington county to get any bridges across this river is to get it declared non-navigable.

Pennington County Fair.

The Pennington County Fair to be held on August 4, 5, and 6 will be bigger and better than ever this year. Liberal premiums will be given for all agricultural products by the association. There is a big program of fast races, for the afternoons of all three days of the fair. The Great Patterson Shows of twenty-five car loads will exhibit on all three days of the fair. Take at least one day off from your daily labors, and attend the Pennington County Fair.

UNDOUBTEDLY THIS POTATO will take no prize. It will not be the only potato entered at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11. Its owner, however, recognizes the value of State Fair advertising, and will continue to enter potatoes until he does take a prize. Furthermore he wants to look over the million dollar livestock show and buy a boar to head his herd. As he is also thinking of buying a manure spreader and a silo he wants to look over the suitable types at the 70-acre machinery show and decide what to do. His wife is to show a lemon pie, and his oldest boy is to exhibit some corn. They sent to Secretary John C. Simpson, Hamline, Minn., for a premium list, looked it over, and decided to get into the game. Then they all want to see Aviator Art Smith, ten weeks at the Frisco Exposition, the auto polo, horse racing, the fire works, auto racing, music, and other great features. Say, LET'S GO TOO!

THE LOCAL NEWS

Wm. Chusin made a business trip to Hazel on Saturday last.

The farmers have no complaint coming on the present weather, and they are improving it to the utmost getting up hay.

Miss Annetta Klemmetson left for Thief River Falls yesterday, where she will be employed for some time.

Born to Mr. and Mrs, Ole Overvold a thirteen pound baby boy, on Wednesday. Mother and baby are doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Klemmetson and family, visited with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elling Klemmetson, on Sunday last.

Ye editor has been on a visit to the Pennington County Fair this week. A full write up of the Fair will be published in our next issue.

The Young People's Society of Deer Park township will meet at the Syversrud residence on next Sunday afternoon. All are invited.

We understand that Edward Kolski, Welenty Wojnarowski and Laurence Wojnarowski, will leave their farms and return to Chicago from whence they came.

About all the loss of crops by the excessive rains along the Red Lake River, was hay bottom lands, which the past few dry seasons have raised good crops of grain.

The farmers up this way should promptly oppose any proposition to deepen the Red Lake River, and have the cost assessed against the land lying along its banks, as we have all the ditch taxes that we can pay now, and more than some of the farmers now living here will ever be able to pay.

It is almost too easy for farmers to obtain loans on their farms at the present time.Some of them never stop to consider what their outgo will be for the payment of interest, until they get so deep into debt that they are swamped, the same as the excursion steamer, Eastland, was by being overloaded.

The people of the former Malone postoffice must have a very unfriendly feeling for the postmaster at Rhoda, who is trying to fake them out of any mail service, but we hardly think him, Skreland and Swanson is heavy enough to balance the scales against the thirty-five former patrons of Malone postoffice, who have petitioned the government for a mail service to return from Rhoda by their way.

Mike Kolski of Rhoda, has sold his farm to Anton Johnson, together with the crop for this year. The consideration was five thousand five hundred dollars. Mr. Kolski will sell his stock and farm machinery at public auction to-morrow. He will remove with his family to Chicago, Ill. Edward Kolski will also move to Chicago with his family, and we hear that P. L. Wojnarowski also has a touch of the Chicago fever, but may recover.

MARRIED: At Thief River Falls on last Monday, Howard Yohn of Goodridge, and Miss Caroline Elisson of Highlanding. A wedding reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents on Monday evening, which was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The newly married couple will make their home at Goodridge, where Mr. Yohn is in the livery business. THE SUNBEAM joins with their many friends in wishing them a long and prosperous wedded life.

THE LAST KICK OF A DYING CALF.

Since the discontinuing of the Malone postoffice, in the town of Mayfeld, the people of that locality have no mail service whatever. There are about thirty-five families that now have to go from three to six miles to get their mail, which they are trying to avoid.

Sometime since they got up a petition to the Fourth Assistant P. M. General to have the mail driver on his return from Rhoda to Sunbeam drive by the former Malone postoffice, so as to give the former patrons of that office an opportunity to receive their mail on the same day that the people of Sunbeam received theirs.

This of course was not satisfactory to the storekeeper at Rhoda, who has no regard for the people, but is looking after the interests of himself. He now goes to work ,and gets up an opposition petition to have the mail go by the way of Malone post office and return straight to Sunbeam.

This would of course leave all the mail of the former Malone postoffice lay over at Sunbeam postoffice for two days, which service would not be accepted by the former patrons of Malone postoffice, as that is not what they petitioned for.

Singer trumped up a few signers who live near to Rhoda post office to try to get the Malone people deprived of mail service, so he can get the cancellation from that territory.

But usually when a man tries to be crooked he gets caught in his own trap, as Mr. Singer now has to depend on the territory that he certified to the department last winter that there was no one lived in. We do not think there is any danger of Mr. Singer and his few selfish benchmen working their little scheme through, but if they do it will simply leave the people between here and Rhoda without any mail service whatever, as this office would promptly make application to be transferred onto the Highlanding mail route, and a new mail route be gotten up for free delivery for the Malona patrons from Hazel, as they certainly would not consent to have their mail lay over two days at Sunbeam.

Smoked Ceilings.

Smoke from a lamp or gas often soils a ceiling in the one particular spot, while the rest remains beautifully white. It is useful to know that soiled ceilings caused by lamp and gas will be rendered less conspicuous if rubbed over with dry whiting.

TELEPATHY.

That, Like Other Mental Operations, Cannot Be Explained.

"Marie Corelli has attributed telepathy to electricity. Is there any scientific truth in the matter, or is it but a theory?" writes a correspondent, and we answer:

Entirely theory. None knows how telepathy originates because nothing is known of the nature of mind—that is, no law of the mind has been discovered. Everything is theory until the law is discovered and then proved beyond all possibility of doubt. Every possibility of doubt or error of any kind, however minute, must be annihilated before anything is published as a law in any scientific book.

The mass of obscure things, such as telepathy, mind reading, action of mind on mind (as in hypnotism), action of mind on matter without physical contact, influence, suggestion, personal magnetism, automatic writing, drawing, painting, reading closed books, causing sound to be heard, conversations in space between invisible personalities, warnings, sending of messages from dying persons to their friends, rescues from danger by mind influences, transmission of drawings and pictures to minds of others by mind processes—all these and perhaps as many as 100 more most remarkable mental things are now occurring constantly in some part of the world.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

Government deposits to the amount of $4,970,500 are to be withdrawn from the national banks and remitted to the Treasury between August 10 and 25 The Treasury may, under the law, redeposit this money with the federal reserve banks.

The latest statement from the Department of Commerce shows that the trade balance in favor of the United States has risen from $7,000,000 in the week ending July 17, to $22,908,443 for the week ending July 24. During the week ending July 24 the imports were $31,213,917 and the exports $54,122,360.

Report has reached Washington of the arrest of Harry L. Wilson, a clerk in the American consulate at Berlin. Mr. Wilson was arrested by German authorities while attempting to leave Germany, at the Danish frontier, without a passport. The State Department is now investigating the matter.

Secretary of War Garrison has given out a statement in which he says that the army reorganization plans will be laid before the President next week. Until these plans are finally settled upon the Secretary feels that the same should not be discussed for publication, as unauthenic statements at this time would do more harm than good.

At the next session of Congress Attorney General Gregory will recommend some increase in his force. This is rendered necessary by the extra work placed upon the Department of Justice in enforcing neutrality because of the European war and the conditions in Mexico. It may be that another assistant Attorney General and staff will be asked for, to handle neutrality matters.

A Gladstone Anecdote.

Lord Alverstone tells this anecdote of Gladstone in his "Recollections:"

"Mr. Gladstone was very much interested in the Caucasus. I had a friend, Captain X., who had recently come home from that district, and I gave him a letter of introduction to Mr. Gladstone. A few days later I met Mr. Gladstone in Parliament street. He stopped me and said. 'Your friend, Captain X., knows more about the Caucasus than any man I ever met.' A few minutes afterward I met Captain X. in Pall Mall. I said to him, 'Well, you have made a great impression, Mr. Gladstone.' 'Have I?' he said. 'Yes,' I replied. 'He says you know more about the Caucasus than any man he ever met.' 'Well,' said Captain X., 'that is very strange, for, though I was with him for three-quarters of an hour, I made only three observations.'"

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. A DUKE'S REVENGE

It Gave to Germany Her Most Distinguished Regiment.

THE DEATH'S HEAD HUSSARS.

Organized Originally by Frederick William of Brunswick, Napoleon's Deadly Foe, the Famous Body of Cavalry Fought Its Way to Renown.

The curt refusal of Napoleon I. to allow Frederick William, duke of Brunswick, to bury the body of his exiled father in his native land inspired the organization of the Death's Head hussars, the most famous regiment in the present German army.

Deeply moved by the ungracious act of the despotic Napoleon, Frederick William, after his first paroxysm of indignation and rage had subsided, vowed eternal vengeance against the French conqueror, and until the day of his death, which was June 16, 1815, on the field of Quatre Bras, he was Napoleon's most implacable foe in all the German states.

Brunswick being barred to him by the victories of the relentless French invader, Duke Frederick William repaired to Bohemia after his father's death. He was without funds, but through the efforts of his sister, then princess of Wales, English funds found their way to him, and he was enabled to set on foot the plans he had formed to revenge himself upon his enemy.

All Germany was then under Napoleon's foot. His armies had swept away all opposition. Prussia, Brunswick Bavaria, Saxony, all the states were mere vassals of France. But though conquered or subjugated their hatred of the oppressor was intense, and underneath the surface a fire of hatred smoldered, which the duke helped to fan into the blaze that eventually sent Bonaparte to St. Helena.

The duke announced himself as Napoleon's foe. Men flocked to his standard. He organized and equipped 2,000 cavalrymen and, in memory of his father, clothed them in black. A silver skull and crossbones adorned their hussar headdress, and the silver lace slashings of the jackets were placed to resemble the ribs of a skeleton.

"The Black Brunswickers" they were called. With the gallant duke at their head they began a guerrilla warfare that was a continual worry to the French armies. Von Stein, Scharnhorst and others gave them secret encouragement.

Through Saxony, Hesse and Hanover the troopers gobbled up and put to the sword French detachments. Recruits flocked to them. At Berneck the duke gave battle to the French General Junot and whipped him. All Germany thrilled at the romantic accounts of the daring of the terrible "Black Hussars."

A Saxon army was whipped at Zittau and another force at Halberstadt. A regiment had grown into an army, the only one Napoleon's troops could not corner and whip. The duchy of Brunswick was invaded and the French garrison alarmed. Leipzig was surprised and captured.

Until the battle of Wagram the duke and his hussars rode over Germany at will. That victory gave Napoleon more time to devote to them, and the duke was forced to flee to England. But the "Black Hussars," with the death's head on their caps, continued the warfare in scattered bands. They were welded into a brigade in 1814 and, as a part of a division in the allied army commanded by the Duke of Brunswick, rode into Paris after Napoleon's downfall.

They fought again during the hundred days. The Duke of Brunswick did not live to see Napoleon's complete humiliation. He died on the field of battle while trying to rally some recruits who started a stampede at the first French fire.

The fame of the hussars had reached such a point that the organization was continued in the Prussian army. Today its colonel is the crown prince of Germany, and among its officers are princes of a dozen reigning German families.

The regiment presents a splendid appearance on parade, its picturesque uniform, of which the skull and crossbones on the headdress are the most striking attractions, imparting to the dashing cavalrymen a sinister and startling effect.—Kansas City Times.

CARRANZA FORCES RETAKE CAPITAL

OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION OF RE-OCCUPATION OF MEXICO CITY BY GONZALES RECEIVED.

TROOPS GUARD RAILROADS

Are Stationed On Outskirts of City to Protect Property—Further Assurances That Order Will Be Maintained Are Given.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Official confirmation of the report of the re-occupation of Mexico City by General Gonzales was received in a statement from General Carranza's headquarters at Vera Cruz. It says further immediate efforts will be made to send foodstuffs by rail to the starving people of the capital. The state department had no direct advices as to the situation there.

Heavily guarded trains, it was reported, are being prepared to leave Vera Cruz with provisions to supplement those being taken into the city by the army. Washington officials are hopeful that General Gonzales has protected the railway line so trains can get through with but slight delay.

Roads Re-Open.

Re-opening of the railroad will furnish an important test of the effectiveness of Carranza's operations to protect transportation from the east coast to the capital, officials here believe, while the United States government is determined to relieve the Mexican city famine if Carranza cannot do it.

Information of Carranza's plans came to Washington agency in a message from Jesus Acuna, Carranza minister of foreign affairs, who announced also that the railway between Queretaro and Aguas Calientes, connecting Gonzales with General Obregon's forces, would be re-opened.

Unofficial reports say an advance guard of Gonzales' army has taken possession of Mexico City without meeting resistance and that General Gonzales will arrive there at once. Troops have been stationed on the outskirts to guard the railroad lines and water works and assurances have been given that order will be maintained and normal conditions restored.

No News of Villa.

Since the announcement, officially confirmed in state department dispatches, that General Gonzales drove Villa's flying column under General Fierro from Pachuca, little has been heard of this southern division of Villa's army. Whether it may again menace Mexico City and obstruct the program upon which Carranza is to base an appeal for recognition by the United States, is a matter of speculation.

The Villa agency issued a statement saying the flying column was operating in the states of Hidalgo, Vera Cruz, Puebla and Mexico. In this it may be able to menace the railroad to Vera Cruz.

DESTROYERS FOR U. S. FLEET

Plans For Six Big Vessels Authorized by Congress, Approved—Influenced By War.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Plans for six big cruiser destroyers, authorized by the last Congress have been approved. They will be the first vessels, the design of which will have been influenced by the war in Europe. The vessels will have a maximum sustained sea-speed of thirty knots.

They will displace 1,125 tons, measure 310 feet over all, have a width of 30 feet, 7 inches and a mean draft of eight feet.

Each destroyer will carry four triple torpedo tubes, a main battery of four 4-inch guns, those in the waist mounted high enough to increase their efficiency in rough weather and two 1-pounder anti-aircraft guns.

Steamer Still Aground.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 2.—The Northern Navigation company's steamer Noronic, which ran aground Saturday near the head of Belle Isle, in the Detroit river, is still fast. Preparations were made to dredge a channel to the ship, it having been found impossible to pull her off the bottom. Vessel men said this operation might require two or three days.

Gerard to Present Note.

Berlin, via London, Aug. 2. — The American representations regarding the sinking of the United States steamer Leelanaw, which was sent to the bottom by a German submarine off the Orkney islands will probably be presented to the German government by Ambassador Gerard at once, it is stated.

Receive Black Hand Threats.

Santa Monica, Cal., Aug. 2.—Cutouts representing black hands and pasted upon the windows of the residences of Delphin M. Delmas, the attorney; Robert Farquihar, an architect and a son-in-law of the late United States Senator John P. Jones of Nevada, and a prominent banker whose name was withheld, started a police search for men believed to be engaged in a plot against the three men.

Threatening letters were said to have been received by Delmas and the other men.

TWO U. S. MARINES SLAIN BY HAITIENS

BLUEJACKETS IN LANDING PARTY AT PORT AU PRINCE LOSE LIVES.

REINFORCEMENTS ORDERED

Battleship Connecticut and Transport Hancock Dispatched to Haiti—Admiral Caperton Reports More Men Needed to Police City.

Washington, August 2.—When the Haitiens resisted the landing of Rear Admiral Caperton's bluejackets and marines, six of the natives were killed and two were wounded in the fighting. Admiral Caperton made this report and forecast further revolutionary disturbances on the island.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Two American bluejackets were killed in an attack by natives of Port au Prince, Haiti, held by Rear Admiral Caperton with 400 men from the cruiser Washington.

The attacking party was beaten off without having approached closer than the outskirts of the city and order was maintained in the city itself. No sailors were wounded and the loss of the attacking party was not reported. The dead:

William Gompers, seaman, of Brooklyn.

Cason S. Whitehurst, ordinary seaman, of Norfolk, Va.

Reinforcements Ordered.

Re-enforcements had been ordered to Haiti before word of the fighting was received. The battleship Connecticut will sail from Philadelphia at once with a regiment of marines, numbering 500 men. The navy transport Hancock, now being overhauled at Philadelphia, also will go to Haiti, it is said, although it is not known what force she will take south.

Admiral Caperton's message gave few details of the fighting. It showed, however, that he had been warned of the intentions of the Haitiens to attack the city and early in the evening Captain E. L. Beach of the Washington, commanding a shore detail, moved his men out to the edge of the city to meet them, leaving strong guards to maintain order in town. The Haitien soldiers and civilians in the city were disarmed to prevent sniping from the houses.

Attackers Driven Off.

The attack came at 8 p. m., the bluejacket battalion bearing the brunt of the fighting. From the brush beyond the last houses, snipers opened fire on them. The fire was returned and the attackers driven off, but not before Gompers and Whitehurst had been killed.

In his first message after his arrival at Port au Prince, when the marines and bluejackets encountered slight resistance on landing, Admiral Caperton asked for an additional regiment of marines. The men were needed, he said, to police the city and surrounding district adequately. He suggested that the additional marines be sent on the cruisers North Carolina or Tennessee, fast ships, indicating that he expected some difficulties. These vessels were not available, and the department ordered the battleship Connecticut at the Philadelphia yard made ready to sail immediately.

Wilsons Give Party.

Cornish, N. H., July 30.—President Wilson received members of the Cornish artist and author colony at an informal tea given in their honor by Miss Margaret Wilson on the lawn of Harlakenden House, the summer home of the president. It was the first time he has taken part in an affair of this kind since the death of Mrs. Wilson. The invitation list was restricted to about 80 people.

Hitherto on their visits to Cornish, the President and his family have remained much to themselves.

2 ACTIVE PROBES OF WRECK

INVESTIGATION TO PLACE BLAME FOR DISASTER NARROWS.

Death Ship Remains on Side at Chicago Wharf—Dead and Missing Now 996.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Investigation to determine whether anyone was criminally to blame for the capsizing of the steamer Eastland in the Chicago river with the loss of a thousand lives, was narrowed to a federal grand jury and the steamboat inspection service under Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield.

The ship, still lying on its side where it fell at its wharf, was taken over by a federal marshal on orders from Judge K. M. Landis of the United States district court. The county grand jury, it was decided by State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne, probably did not have sufficient jurisdiction to accomplish anything and ceased its inquiry for the present.

Develops Few New Facts.

Secretary Redfield's examination of steamboat inspectors continued, but developed few new facts. Charges that the steamboat inspection service would not be stringent enough with its own members continued and elicited from Secretary Redfield a repetition of the statement that the inquiry was according to law and that judgment should not be passed until the investigation was ended.

Before Mr. Redfield began his rearings labor leaders issued statements declaring that the department of commerce inquest would be a whitewash for federal inspectors. These labor leaders telegraphed a protest to President Wilson, but received no reply.

After testimony before Secretary Redfield, Mayor William Hale Thompson, Assistant Corporation Counsel Korshak and others said that the examination of witnesses seemed to them unsatisfactory, while Assistant State's Attorney Sullivan thought the questions put by Secretary Redfield were too leading.

ALUMINUM PLANT GUARDED

Sheriff Calls Militia to Take Charge of Plant at Mossena, N. Y.—One Workman Killed.

Massena, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Three companies of the state militia from Malone and Ogdensburg arrived here and took charge of the strike situation at the plant of Aluminum company of America, after a riot in which one workman who refused to walk out was killed.

Sheriff Day of St. Lawrence county, who was called to Massena at the first outbreak, was unable to subdue the strikers. With deputies and policemen he charged them at a bridge entrance to the plant, which they were holding, but the officers were driven back. In this encounter a policeman was severely clubbed.

Finding it impossible to control the 1,000 employes on strike, Sheriff Day called upon Governor Whitman for troops and the three companies reached here.

The strikers, barricaded behind the bridge, were charged by the troops and dispersed.

Kansas Expects 115,700,000 Bushels.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 2.—Kansas farmers will harvest 115,700,000 bushels of winter wheat this year, according to the estimate, based on conditions July 24 in the July report of the state board of agriculture.

Thousands Sacrificed Before Warsaw.

London, August 2.—Thousands of lives are being sacrificed before Warsaw in an attempt to make a German holiday, according to dispatches from Petrograd.

In a desperate attempt to capture the Polish capital and celebrate the anniversary of the outbreak of the great war by raising the German flag over Warsaw, the attacking armies of Von Hindenburg are being hurled forward in a series of desperate rushes along virtually the entire line of the attempted enveloping movement.

BECKER LOSES LIFE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

FORMER POLICE LIEUTENANT EXPIATES MURDER OF GAMBLER HERMAN ROSENTHAL.

PRISONER GIVES OUT LETTER

Attacks New York Executive for Giving to Newspapers Statements Which Cast "Foul Aspersion on My Character."

Ossining, N. Y., July 31.—At peace with his Maker, a prayer on his lips, but with never a faltering of his iron will, former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker expiated the murder of gambler Herman Rosenthal at 5:55 a. m. Pinned on his shirt, above his heart, the former Czar of the tenderloin carried with him in death the picture of his devoted wife. In his hand he clutched a crucifix. The death current cut off in his throat the whisper "Jesus, have mercy." It was not the plea of a man shaken and fearful of death, but rather the prayer of one who faced the Ruler of destiny with the conviction that he was an innocent sacrifice. Just before he entered the death chamber Becker declared to Father Curry:

"I am not guilty by deed, conspiracy or in other way, of the death of Herman Rosenthal. I am sacrificed for my friends."

Previously the former police lieutenant, at 4 a. m., had issued "My dying statement." It was a passionate reiteration of innocence—and it left as his only legacy to his wife his declaration: "I declare to the world that I am proud to have been the husband of the purest, noblest woman that ever lived, Helen Becker."

Wife Fails to Move Whitman.

Ossining, N. Y., July 31.—The last hope of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, twice convicted for instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, gambler, died when he was told that his wife had failed to move Governor Whitman to commute his sentence to life imprisonment.

This Mrs. Becker asked of the governor at a conference which she had with him at Poughkeepsie. Failing in her mission, she started for here by automobile to break the news to her husband, but it had already reached him before she arrived.

Had Not Expected Clemency.

Becker, it was said, had not expected clemency. Almost at the moment the news was received the prisoner gave out a letter that he had written to Governor Whitman in which he attacked the executive for having, as he indicated, given to the newspapers statements which cast a "foul aspersion of my character," and for which he demanded a retraction.

Becker had spent nearly the whole day in his cell preparing the letter. The statements which elicited it appeared in copies of the morning papers which were sent to his cell shortly after he arose at 6 a. m. to spend what were to be the last 24 hours of his life.

Pope Issues Peace Appeal.

London, Aug. 2.—The Rome correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company states that in the Osservatore Romano, official organ of the Vatican, there appears a letter addressed by Pope Benedict to the heads of the belligerent countries, inviting all friends of peace to unite with him in his desire to terminate the wars.

In this letter, which was written on the anniversary of the outbreak of the war, July 28, the pope asks why there should not be initiated a direct or indirect exchange of views.

TEUTON PLANS AT WARSAW DELAYED

AUSTRO-GERMAN ARMIES FAIL TO OCCUPY POLIS HCAPITAL AS INTENDED.

BRITISH TRENCHES TAKEN

Positions Near Hoage Lost—Teutonic Allies, With Apparently Inexhaustible Supplies of Munitions, Struggle to Retain Hold in West.

London, Aug. 3.—The anniversary of the outbreak of the war passed without the Germans occupying Warsaw, which was understood to be part of their program. However, news of this climax to the Austro-German offensive in the East, which was begun in the early days of May, is hourly expected, for what little information is allowed to leak through is to the effect that the Russians for several days have been withdrawing to the Brest line, leaving small forces to fight rear guard actions so that the main armies might make good their retreat.

The rear guard actions have developed at many places into fairly large battles, as the Russians whose steadiness has been phenomenal in the face of defeat, are offering stubborn resistance to the German advances and delivering powerful counter-attacks. For example they have prevented Field Marshal von Hindenburg from throwing more of his troops across the Narew; repulsed German attacks to the northwest of Warsaw and driven back to the river some of the invading troops who crossed the Vistula to the south of Warsaw.

Forces Slav Retreat.

In the southwest Field Marshal von Mackensen continues his victorious advance. He has swept aside the resistance of the Russians and forced them to retreat along both banks of the Bug. The Germans have already passed through Chelm in pursuit. Thus, on this front the retirement of the Warsaw armies is seriously threatened. During the month of July, Berlin says, the Germans captured more than 95,000 Russians between the Pilica river and the Baltic alone.

The Russians, according to Petrograd, have stopped General von Buelow's advance in Kovno province, toward the Vilna Petrograd railway. If Grand Duke Nicholas is to hold the Brest line after his retirement from Warsaw, it is absolutely necessary that General von Buelow's offensive should be arrested, for should he reach the railway he would seriously interfere with the Russian communications.

Attempt to Crush Russians.

It is not yet certain whether the Russian armies can make good their retirement from Warsaw. Certainly the Austro-Germans are doing their best to prevent it and have moved up very strong reinforcements to hasten their encircling movement. The appearance of fresh troops also suggests that the German staff will not be satisfied with the capture of the city, or even the destruction of part of the Russian army, but, should this be accomplished will attack the Brest line and endeavor finally to crush the entire Russian forces.

Meanwhile, the Germans, who appear to have inexhaustible supplies of munitions, are fighting desperately to retain every position which they hold along the western front. They have re-captured part of the trenches which they lost to the British near Hooge and are making an effort to regain what they lost to the French in the Muenster region of Alsace.

An unconfirmed report came from Rome that the Austrians are preparing for the evacuation of Trieste and have already removed the machinery and the munitions factories.

Wilson Refuses to Comment.

Cornish, N. H., Aug. 2.—President Wilson has received from the state department official dispatches telling of the sinking of the Leyland line steamer Iberian by a German submarine. The dispatches were to the effect that the steamer had disregarded a warning to stop.

There were no indications here that the president regarded the incident as being one likely to cause further complications with Germany. He refused to make any comment.

Threatens to Destroy Town.

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 2.—General Felipe Angeles, Villa commander, arrived here and held a conference at the boundary line with General Maytorena, governor of Sonora, who came from Nogales, Mexico, just across the border, to meet Angeles.

General Calles, commanding a Carranza force advancing on Nogales, warned non-combatants to seek safety, as he said he intended to destroy the town within a few days.

Parker Urges Coast Defense.

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 2.—From the pulpit of the trinity Methodist Episcopal church here, Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate in 1904 for president, made a plea for stronger coast defenses.

"I would especially ask your aid," he said, "in arousing public opinion that will force congress to build enough submarines and submarine bases for the protection of both our coasts."

He also urged the need of more military aircraft.

WITH BARNS FULL OF STOCK

Didn't Look Much Like Hard Times in Western Canada.

A. Meyer, who left one of the best Counties in Minnesota, probably because he got a good price for his excellent farm, and left for the Canadian West, writes to his local paper, the Bagley Independent. His story is well worth repeating. He says:

"To say I was greatly surprised when I reached Saskatchewan and Alberta would be expressing it mildly. In a country where so much suffering was reported, I found everyone in good circumstances, and especially all our friends who have left Clearwater and Polk counties. They all have good homes and those who were reported to have sold their stock through lack of feed, I found with their barns full of stock, and it did not look very much like hard times. They have from 160 acres to two sections of the finest land that can be found.

Those that left here two or three years ago have from 100 to 400 acres in crops this year.

Prospects for a bumper crop are splendid. It is a little cold now, but nothing is frosted, either in gardens or fields. Land can be bought quite reasonably here from those who volunteered their services in the European war. Here are certainly the best opportunities for securing a good home with a farm and independence for life in a short time. Before I started I heard that prices were so high. Flour was reported at $12 per hundred it is $4.25 here. In the west all the groceries can be purchased for nearly the same as in Minn. The only article that I found higher was kerosene at 35 cts per gallon. When I saw the land I wondered why people do not live where they produce enough from the soil to make a comfortable living. We visited T. T. Sater. John Dahls, W. J. and R. D. Holt's, Martin Halmen, Ole Halvorson, Wm. Walker and Geo. Colby, all from Bagley. We found well and prosperous farmers who wished to be remembered to all their Bagley friends."

"Footing It" Is Favored.

The United States public health service has issued a warning that failure to walk shortens life. The medics make this plea for more pedestrians:

"The death rate after the age of forty is increasing, in spite of more sanitary modes of living. The expectation of life after forty is less than it was thirty years ago. This is due largely to increased prevalence of the diseases of degeneration.

"Take daily exercise. Have a hobby that gets you out of doors. Walk for the sake of walking. Join a walking club and keep your weekly scores of miles. Gymnasium work is good for those who like it and can afford it, but avoid heavy athletics. You may not burn the family carriage, as Benjamin Franklin suggested, but at least, as he advised, walk, walk, walk!"

INDIVIDUALITY AS A FACTOR

Impossible to Separate What Is, and Must Be, the Part of Man's Own Being.

Any attempt to define the ultimate spirit of the individual seems doomed to failure.

There is a saying of Bishop Butler's which might well be recommended to the philosopher: "Everything is what it is, and not another thing."

So individuality is simply individuality; and the attempt to discover some further meaning for the word can only lead to error.

We might be tempted, for instance, to suggest that a man's true ego is nothing more than his character.

But individuality goes deeper even than character.

Character changes; the individual remains the same.

Thus a man who in his youth is honest may meet with temptations that make him a thief; so, too, the sentimentalist may become a cynic.

The changing character is no more than a manifestation of the individuality beneath.

Safety First.

State News in Brief

Doings of Last Few Days Throughout Minnesota Condensed for Hasty Perusal.

Stillwater.—Leo Bonin, a laborer at the Tozer sawmill, has been committed to the county jail for 90 days for failure to comply with an order of the municipal court to provide $20 a month for the support of his wife and children.

Northfield.—Business men and farmers of the Northfield community gathered at the Commercial clubrooms to pay tribute to the work of A. M. Field, who has been agricultural instructor in the local high school the past four years, secretary of the Commercial club and the county fair the last two years, and organizer of 20 farmers' clubs. Mr. Field leaves for Wisconsin to teach in the state university at Madison.

Stillwater.—John Nystrom of this city was instantly killed and August Kappen, also of this city, was severely injured at Summit, four miles from this city on the Northern Pacific railway. Seven track repairers under the direction of Charles Myhrer, foreman, were on a section car operated by gasoline, coming to this city for dinner, when the car jumped the track at a curve and turned over. Nystrom's head was crushed.

Winona.—Draw bridges over the Mississippi river at Winona opened to permit the passage of the last lumber raft. The Ottumwa Belle and bowboat Pathfinder took down stream a large raft consigned to Fort Madison, Iowa, from Hudson, Wis., which comprised a score of sections of dressed lumber and thousands of bundles of lath. Joseph Hunter was captain and Charles Brown mate of the lone survivor of lumbering days.

St. Cloud.—Shortly after the evening revival in a tented enclosure at Sauk Rapids had closed, fire was discovered in three places on the big canvas top and for a time it threatened the entire destruction of the tented chapel. The evangelists, who have been conducting an active campaign at Sauk Rapids for nearly two weeks believe that the fire was of incendiary origin caused by a well defined faction opposed to the evangelistic work.

Minneapolis.—More than 800 tracts of land in Mahnomen county are said to be affected by a decision of the supreme court that the Minnesota probate courts have no jurisdiction over the disposal of Indian lands in certain circumstances. The court held in the case of E. G. Holmes against W. E. Praun and Louis Larson that the probate court could not administer the estate of Henry Hutchinson, an Indian who died before a land patent was issued.

Albert Lea.—When Detective Crummy of Minneapolis arrived here to take charge of C. E. Cowen, arrested at Waterloo, Iowa, charged with stealing an automobile belonging to John Benz of Minneapolis, and brought here recently, he found the prisoner had mysteriously disappeared. The heavy bars on both sides of the cell window had been sawed away. It is believed Cowen was aided from the outside. Cowen is said to have completed a term of several years in the state's prison of New Hampshire two months ago.

Bemidji.—Shooting at imaginary persons in self defense with a rifle, often in the middle of the night, was the pastime of Adam Powell, an old soldier who owns a farm near the village of Nebish. Dr. C. N. Thompson, who lives but a few rods from the Powell home, swore out a complaint against Powell, who was adjudged insane and taken to Fergus Falls for treatment. Martin Hagen, a laborer at the Crookston Lumber company plant, was taken before Judge M. A. Clark and examined as to his sanity. The young man's mind became affected about five months ago. He will probably be deported to Norway, as he is not a citizen of the United States.

Speed of Bullets.

The speed of bullets is measured in several different ways and with the most exquisite accuracy, even to the millionth of a second. A cylinder having a circumference of 1,000 millimeters revolves ten times in a second. Each space of one millimeter will represent one ten-thousandth of a second. Each millimeter space is divided into one-hundredths, which can be read with a Vernier scale. A tube 100 meters long is filled with an explosive and at every ten meters of its length is fixed an insulated conductor governing an electro-magnet that sets in motion a pen or stylus tracing lines upon the cylinder, the surface of which has been coated with lamp black. When the charge is exploded, the breaking of the successive circuits fixes exactly the time that elapses between the breaking at every ten-meter interval, and this gives us the speed of the explosion.

"Joseph," said the grocer to his new boy, "what have you been doing in the back room so long?"

"Pickin' the dead flies out of the currants, sir," Joseph answered briskly.

The grocer's lip curled. "So that's what you were doing, is it, Joseph?" he said. "And your father told me that he knew you were cut out for the grocery trade. Well, Joseph, you'd better study for the ministry."—London Opinion.

BUILT FORTUNE ON THUMB

German Surgeon the Fortunate Possessor of Digit That Had Remarkable Peculiarities.

Not long ago a famous physician in Saxony, Doctor Metzger, celebrated his seventieth birthday. He had been retired from active practice for some years, owing to the fact that he had become immensely wealthy through the use of the wonderful thumb of his right hand. This thumb stands out at a right angle from his hand and, it is said, cannot be bent back automatically. He soon found it of great service in massage, and when he became a specialist in intestinal disorders he was called as assistant to the greatest surgeons of Europe, bringing relief to many illustrious patients.

The queen of Roumania sent for this doctor with the curious thumb when she suffered from facial neuralgia, while the late king of Sweden once drove a beautiful span of horses over the border of his kingdom to consult the doctor and on returning left the horses as a token of gratitude to his preserver.

There was a time, early in his career, when the use of this curious thumb was looked upon as a form of charlatanism, but so well did Doctor Metzger establish his reputation that the medical profession accepted his thumb for what it was worth, without trying to explain the phenomenon.

"Indeed I do," said the tireless patron. "When I see so much splendor and magnificence supported by the humble jitney, the presence of three or four of those coins in my pocket makes me feel like a millionaire."

Congenial.

"They are. They both studied bridge whist from the same authority."

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think what you can make with wheat around $1 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada. There is no conscription and no war tax on lands. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient. Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Superintendent Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to Landlord Likes Chess Players.

"Are you a chess player?" a landlord asked a prospective tenant. "I much prefer to have my house occupied by chess players."

"No, I am not a chess player and I can't account for such a singular preference," replied the would-be tenant.

"It is simple enough," said the landlord. "Chess players move so seldom and rarely without great deliberation."

Paxtine

A Soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed

For Douches

In the local treatment of woman's ills, such as leucorrhoea and inflammation, hot douches of Paxtine are very efficacious. No woman who has ever used medicated douches will fail to appreciate the clean and healthy condition Paxtine produces and the prompt relief from soreness and discomfort which follows its use. This is because Paxtine possesses superior cleansing, disinfecting and healing properties.

For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been relieved say it is "worth its weight in gold." At druggists. 50c. large box or by mail. Sample free. The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

THE SUNBEAM.

EXPLAINING KANSAS PROHIBITION.

Springfield Republican: "Half a million young men and women in Kansas," declares ex-Governor Hodges of that state, "never saw a place where liquor is legally sold." How many of them have seen places where liquor is illegally sold he of course could not say, but it is likely that total abstinence is practised to as great an extent as in any other state in the country. The contrast with its neighbor is rather striking and is emphasized by the close juxtaposition of Kansas City, Mo. and Kansas City, Kan. In great part, no doubt it is due to the character of the settlers and the peculiar individuality which has marked the evolution of Kansas as a great agricultural state, with little urban or cosmopolitan influence. To a large part of the American frontier population little was known of the use of alcohol save in the form of dram drinking associated with ruffianism. The issue was directly between the saloon and the home, and prohibition was the answer to outlawry. The case is not so simple where a more cosmopolitan public and more varied social customs have modified these primitive conditions. To millions of Americans a moderate use of alcohol is as natural and innocent as the consumption of food; in Kansas there are no shades between black and white.

Becker who was electrocuted in New York for the murder of Herman Rosenthal last Friday, claimed that he was innocent to the last. But he had abundant opportunity to prove his innocence before two juries, which he failed to do. The present Governor of New York prosecuted him at his first trial, and if he had have had an idea that there was any possibility of his innocence he would have promptly commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

With a few jaunts to the Northern part of the state by legislators from the southern part of the state we may be able to get what is coming to us by taxation, if not from any other source. The northern part of the state has helped pay for the state improvements in southern Minnesota and when we ask for the same treatment there has always been strenuous objection. Since the tour by state officials and legislators, we may begin to get some of the aid that rightly belongs to northern Minnesota. Just keep hammering away something will come our way soon.—The Newfolden Review.

The Newfolden Review is one of our latest exchanges, and we would suggest, that the editor either buy a dictionary, or marry a good proof reader--as we did.

Harry K. Thaw is again under arrest for auto speeding at his home in Pittsburgh, Pa. The lawyers will now have another opportunity to tap his gold sack, and maybe the insanity experts may again be called on.

The city politicians are busy looking up an opponent to Senator Clapp next year, but up to the present time they have not decided on one that they think is strong enough to defeat him. Ex-Governor Eberhart is one of the latest names mentioned as his opponent, but Adolphus would be easy picking for Moses.

If the press reports of the number killed in the European war are reliable, the population must be getting thinned out over there, so that none of the nations will need any more territory for some time.

There was an application made for the positions of all the laboring people who were drowned on the Eastland excursion steamer the next day after the accident, and yet you sometimes hear of people going from northern Minnesota to Chicago looking for a job.

Foreign Nations wondered at the small loss of American lives during the Spanish war, and they would undoubtedly again wonder, should America be so unfortunate as to get into the present European mix up, The United States does not march their young men up to the slaughter pen like England marched the poor Canadians up, but they fight on scientific principles, and put the other fellows out of business without any serious loss to themselves.

From this distance it now looks as if the end of the European war was in sight, with Germany as the winners. If England, France and Italy could not make any advance on the Germans, while they were devoting the main powers of their armies to the Russians in Poland, what can they expect to do after Russia is conquered and sues for peace? When that time comes, which is likely to be soon, Germany will turn her armies toward Paris, and make as steady and determined advances on Paris as they have on Warsaw, until the allied armies will have to get out of the way to keep from getting run over, the same as the Russian armies have done at Warsaw.

Its Drawback.

"Don't go into the well digging business."

"Why not?"

"Because it's sure to get you in a hole."—Baltimore American.

LABOR AND ART CLASHED.

The Battle Was Rather One Sided and Labor Won the Night.

Among the experiences which Sir Frederick Cowen, the eminent composer, relates in his book "My Art and My Friends" is the following: Once while conducting in Melbourne a terrible noise of hammering started overhead as soon as the concert began.

"I put down my baton and stopped," writes Sir Frederick; "so did the noise. Thinking it was over, I began again; so did the noise. I then sent a messenger with a polite request that the noise should cease. After about ten minutes, during which the hammering grew more and more persistent, the messenger returned, and I said to him:

"'Did you give them my message?'

"'Yes, sir.'

"'And what was their answer?'

"'They said, "Tell Mr. Cowen we've got our contract to finish by a certain time and we ain't going to stop for no concert or nobody."'

"Upon this I turned to the audience and said:

"'Ladies and gentlemen, as you have possibly noticed, there has been a fight between labor and art. Labor has won. I am very sorry, and I wish you all good night.'

"Then I dismissed the orchestra, and there was no concert that evening."

FIRE RISKS ON FARMS.

Safety First Should Be as Much the Rule There as Elsewhere.

A contributor to Farm and Fireside shows how appalling fire risks are on farms. He tells how to reduce some of these fire risks and writes in part as follows:

"The inveterate smoker is about as dangerous as a walking stick of dynamite. It makes me shudder to see a man smoking around the farm buildings. One man I know never will forget the way he was run off the farm when I caught him smoking a cigarette while stacking hay.

"Another dangerous practice of which the average man is guilty is that of carrying ordinary matches loose in his pockets. He should carry either safety matches or keep the ordinary kind in a metal box.

"On most farms the lantern is still the usual light for working about the buildings after dark. A good way to keep it clean and safe is, first, to take out the burners and clean them by boiling in strong soapsuds. This will keep the ventilating passages of the burner working properly. Then wipe all leaking or spilled oil off the base.

"Never set a lantern down. Either hold it or hang it up. Then when it is accidentally struck it will swing instead of upsetting."

Even a canary must be cared for judiciously if its life is to be happy. Regular exercise outside its cage is desirable, if its owner has time to look after this exercise. A scrupulously clean cage, fresh water and seed every day, greens of some sort—lettuce, celery, plantain—once or twice a week, and enforced abstinence from sugar, sweet biscuits and other odds and ends that are often fed to birds—these details insure health and, therefore, happiness to the caged bird. Perhaps the fact that it is caged, that it has so few ways of making its wants known, should make its owner more careful of its health than she would be even of the health of a dog or cat.—New York Sun.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Harvest is with us again.

Several of the farmers from Hickory and Deer Park visited the Pennington county fair with autoes last week.

There was a large crowd of youngsters that attended the Young People's Society at Mr. Syversrud's on last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. W. G. Hunt and daughter Myrtle visited at Thief River Falls yesterday, and of course dropped in to see the elephants at the circus, returning home this morning.

The barley and rye harvest will be completed this week, and next week the harvest of the oat and wheat crop will begin. The grain is all well filled with no report of rust in this locality.

NOTICE!

R. R. Johnson of the Goodridge Meat Market will visit Highlanding on Mondays and Fridays with a full line of choice fresh meat for sale. Do not forget the days Mondays and Fridays.

Joseph DuChamp proprietor of the Mavie townsite, is building a fine new residence at that place. Mr. DuChamp predicts that Mavie is soon going to be one of the prosperous villages of Pennington county, as it is surrounded by a good territory of choice farming land.

There will be a combined meeting of the Farmer's Club and Young People's Society, at the residence of Wm. Swanson in Deer Park township on Sunday August 22nd. Good speakers will be present, and a fine program rendered. There is to be a picnic dinner. All are invited.

Above the town of Highlanding along the banks of Red Lake River, there is a large amount of bottom meadow land, which the past few dry seasons have been cropped by the farmers. These lands should have been left as meadow lands and seeded down to timothy, instead of being broken up to raise crops on.

The Hilda post office has been dicontinued. We suppose this is another case of a fourth class post master having grown tired of his job of working for Uncle Sam for nothing, and boarding himself. The people who have been mailing their letters so that the Eric post office got all of the cancellation, can now take a walk down to that office and get their mail.

The farmers living along the mail route from Rhoda to Rudell should mail their letters at Rudell post office, if they wish their daily route to continue, as all letters mailed at Rhoda are credited to the Plummer route. The same rule would apply to the Sunbeam route, which may be changed so you will be placed in the same position as Malone and Hilda, viz: Go to the post office after your mail, where you mail your letters.

The farmers that have land that is too low to raise grain on this year, should seed it down to clover and timothy hay. Did you ever stop to consider the difference between a two year old steer that had been fed on wire grass hay and straw in the winter, and one that has timothy and clover hay? We will tell you about what will be the difference. The wire grass fed steer will bring from twenty-four to twenty-eight dollars, and the timothy and clover fed one from fifty-five to sixty dollars, and they both take the same amount of room through the winter.

Stiner Johnson, of Kratka was transacting business at Highlading to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Palmer autoed down to Thief River Falls to the circus yesterday.

Superintendent of Schools E. A. Mostue was up this way yesterday explaining consolidated schools, but there is no use to talk about consolidated schools in this locality, until we can get that government fence called Red Lake River torn down, so people can get bridges, so they can get their children to school.

In view of the fact, that the tax payers living on the south side of Red Lake river in Highlanding have not seen a road overseer on this side of the river for the past four years, or received a dollar for south side roads, it strikes us, that it is up to the Supervisors to fix the approaches to that Highlanding ferry so the people living on the south side can cross it. The Town fixed the approaches last year, but there must have been a kick put in by some one against WASTING the road and bridge funds for the benefit of the south side, and they have left us to sink or swim this year.

RED LAKE RIVER AS IT IS

Many of the first settlers along Red Lake River remember the high waters of ten years ago. At that time the country east of Highlanding was as badly flooded as it has been this year. At that time boats were running on the river, and the lumbering companies were driving millions of feet of logs down it. and they run the large lake steamers down it for repairs at Thief River Falls. Of course there was no attempt being made to farm those low lying lands, but after we had three successive dry years, and the river nearly dried up, they seemed to think it was always to remain in that condition and opened up the low lying lands along its banks in the eastern part of the eleven townships for farms. This year we have had as much and a little more rainfall than we had in 1905, and of course the river overflowed its banks and drowned out the crops on them low lands, and it would have done the same in 1905 before there was a ditch running into it. The remedy for the owners of those lands is to seed them down to timothy and clover and raise stock, as that is not a grain producing country, and never will be until the Red Lake dries up.

Washington News.

Harry L. Wilson, the clerk in the American consulate at Berlin, whose arrest was reported last week, has been released with the understanding that he is to return to the United States. Mr. Wilson was accused of getting British subjects out of Germany on American passports.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo visited the President at his summer home a couple of days ago and had a short conference with him. The Secretary states quite positively that earnest efforts will be made when the next Congress convenes to build up our merchant marine.

After experimenting for some time with a few automobile rural mail routes, they were found so satisfactory that 208 routes are to be established at once. This will gradually be extended until, in the course of a few years, all or nearly all rural routes will be served by automobile.

President Wilson was fortunate in being at his summer home in Cornish, N. H. during the past week, as it has been the hottest week of the summer in Washington. While the exact date of the President's return to Washington is not known, it is understood that it will be the latter part of this week or early next week.

The building up of our merchant marine is great desired by all, though the means by which this is to be accomplished are not agreed upon. With the legislation now in existence it would seem a hopeless task. Ship owners say the recent seamand act will put them out of business. In fact the Pacific Mail steamers are to go out of business November 2, according to the officials of the company, because of this act. Secretary of Labor Wilson, in a recent speech, compared this act to Magna Charta, the Declaration of Independence, and the like. So we see how differently such things appear from different sides.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

MACHINERY DISPLAY BIGGEST EVER HELD

Minnesota State Fair Show Occupies Seventy Acres.

The big machinery show at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, covering over seventy acres, exclusive of the area used for plow demonstrations, is to offer a large number of new types of farm machinery to the public this fall. As last year it will continue the biggest display of machinery in America.

Several new large modern structures are being erected by firms interested in making machinery, and Machinery Hill will be better equipped to handle machinery exhibits than formerly. One of the new buildings will be a modern farm house built from the plans that won first prize in the model farm house contest conducted by the State Art Society a year ago. It is to be the first of a series of farm buildings, including a modern barn, granary, milk shed, and other structures.

Many New Models.

There is a tendency on the part of manufacturers to exhibit more new models this year than ever before. As a result everything new in the farm machinery field will be shown at the Minnesota State Fair this fall. It will afford an excellent opportunity to farmers in the Northwest to study all the different types of machinery now being introduced for the first time. The usual lines of staples will be exhibited as formerly.

It is believed by W. W. Sivright of Hutchinson, Minn., superintendent of the machinery department, that the previous high mark of 312 exhibitors will be exceeded this year. Many local manufacturers who have never exhibited at the state fair are considering the proposition this year. The fact that over 300,000 persons will visit the fair and inspect their lines makes this method of advertising a very profitable one.

No Space Charge.

There is absolutely no charge for outside space on Machinery Hill. For the limited amount of inside exhibit space a nominal charge of 5 cents a square foot is made to partially cover the depreciation, lights, and other expenses. Only one exhibitor's ticket must be purchased by any exhibitor, free admission being given to all the helpers necessary to care for the exhibit.

LIFE IN A SUBMARINE.

How the Crew Gets Air Fit to Breathe While Under Water.

The commander of a submarine observes what is going on at the surface by means of the periscope, but when that is submerged he sees nothing. And if he moves his vessel while using the periscope he leaves a white flake on the water, which exposes him to the enemy.

However, the periscope is sometimes of a length—about seventeen feet—to give partial safety, as when only the tip shows the boat is unlikely to be damaged by an enemy's fire, although if the periscope chances to be shot away it might cause a fatal leak. Also the submarines can be rammed.

The diving rudders are mounted in pairs, one on either side, fore and aft, with an ordinary vertical rudder at the stern for lateral steering. Each motor set drives a reversible propeller. The accommodation for the navigating officers is in the conning tower, while the quarters of the crew of ten men are in the bow, as is also the galley.

Special arrangements have been made to secure an adequate ventilation of the interiors of the boats. During surface operations the air is drawn in from outside. When traveling submerged the heated atmosphere of the engine and the exhaled air of the crew are drawn off through ventilators which pass it through various filtering, oxygenating and cooling devices, after which it is returned to the interior and is fit to be breathed again.—Exchange.

A Gladstone Anecdote.

Lord Alverstone tells this anecdote of Gladstone in his "Recollections:"

"Mr. Gladstone was very much interested in the Caucasus. I had a friend, Captain X., who had recently come home from that district, and I gave him a letter of introduction to Mr. Gladstone. A few days later I met Mr. Gladstone in Parliament street. He stopped me and said, 'Your friend, Captain X., knows more about the Caucasus than any man I ever met.' A few minutes afterward I met Captain X. in Pall Mall. I said to him, 'Well, you have made a great impression, Mr. Gladstone.' 'Have I?' he said. 'Yes,' I replied. 'He says you know more about the Caucasus than any man he ever met.' 'Well,' said Captain X., 'that is very strange, for, though I was with him for three-quarters of an hour, I made only three observations.'"

WARSAW FALLS BEFORE KAISER; SLAVS RETREAT

BAVARIAN FORCES UNDER PRINCE LEOPOLD STORM LAST DEFENSES WHILE RUSSIAN ARMIES FALL BACK.

STRUGGLE SHORT BUT FIERCE

Capture of Polish Capital Marks Culmination of Greatest Sustained Offensive Movement of European War—Plan to Make Poland Semi-Autonomous State.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—Warsaw has been taken by German troops, according to official announcement made at German army headquarters.

The Russian garrison fell back over the three Vistula bridges to Praga, Warsaw's eastern suburb, after only a brief resistance. Bavarian troops under Prince Leopold stormed the last line of Russian defenses and entered the city on the Kolish and Radom roads.

Continuing their retreat from Praga, the Russian center is falling back along the railway leading to Novo Minsk and over the plain north of the railway, keeping in contact with its right wing near Novo Georgievsk.

Garrison Crosses River.

All reports agree that the complete retirement from Warsaw apparently was ordered two days ago and that the Russian armies on both sides of the Warsaw salient began falling back at the same time the Warsaw garrison began crossing the river to Praga.

Rumors that the city had fallen, or was about to fall, were circulated here early in the day. Church bells were tolled and there was general rejoicing throughout Berlin.

The first bulletin from the war office contained few details of the final battle at the gates of Warsaw or of the greater engagement on the wings of the German armies seeking to envelop the Slavs.

That the struggle was a short, fierce one is evidenced by the fact that Prince Leopold's armies arrived before the Warsaw outer forts only 36 hours ago. It was the belief here that a large part of the Russian garrison who made the final stand at the city gates fell into the hands of the Bavarians.

Vistula Bridges Destroyed.

It was assumed here that the Slavs either completely destroyed, or at least attempted to destroy the Vistula bridges.

The first German troops entered the city during the night. At the same time general attacks were begun by the German right wing extending along the Narew to Ostrolenka. A great battle is raging in this section, the result of which is in doubt. The Russians are fighting desperately to save the Warsaw-Petrograd railway.

The fall of Warsaw marks the culmination of the greatest sustained offensive movement of the European war. Twice before Teutonic armies have knocked at the gates only to be denied by the strength of its defense and the resistance of the forces holding it.

London, Aug. 7.—With the great Russian fortresses of Warsaw and Ivangorod captured and the fall of Riga, the capital of the Baltic provinces, imminent, the Austro-German onslaught has reached its climax in the East. The next step will be the German emperor's triumphant entry into the Polish capital.

Petrograd asserts that the Teuton pincers held by Hindenburg in the north and Mackensen in the south failed to close on the fleeting Russians in time to catch the 100,000 men retreating from the abandoned Warsaw salient.

Greatest Retreat In History.

If the Russian statement is correct, the Grand Duke Nicholas has conducted successfully the greatest retreat the world has ever witnessed.

While many opinions are expressed as to the direction of the next smash to be delivered by the 1,000,000 first line troops released by the fall of Warsaw, the popular view is that the Kaiser will continue to press the Russians, launching an attack in the path of Napoleon toward Petrograd in the hope that the weakening Russian morale will be crystalized into a possibility of a separate peace.

The Petrograd correspondent of the Times messaged that "the fate of Riga is sealed," and that the evacuation of the city was in full swing when last reports reached Petrograd. The Times correspondent said that the Russian government last week set aside $25,000,000 to pay for the removal of factories from Warsaw.

Berlin reports a council to be held on Sunday will formulate a proclamation declaring Poland to be a semi-autonomous state under joint Polish and Austro-Hungarian rule. This conforms with a recent decision of a Polish congress held at Piotrkow, Russian Poland, which proposed a joint Polish and Austro-Hungarian rule with a separate Polish army and the fullest Polish autonomy.

Influence On Fighting.

British critics conceded that the fall of Warsaw will have a tremendous influence on the next six months' fighting in Europe and possibly upon the political fortunes of the Allies.

Capture of Warsaw will release 1,000,000 Autro-Germans for operations elsewhere. It makes it possible for the Austro-Germans to hold the Vistula line with a minimum of men against any offensive blow the Russians may be expected to deliver for many months.

It is possible that the Germans will renew the offensive against Paris at once, or hurl all available forces against the Anglo-French lines in an effort to reach Calais. Other critics suggested that the kaiser will now join Austria in a determined attempt to march down the Alps into Northern Italy, or completely to crush Serbia.

FIRST TO ENTER WARSAW.

Prince Leopold of Bavaria after storming the last line of Russian defenses was the first German field Marshal to lead his troops into the Polish Capital.

British Lose 13,656 Officers.

London, Aug. 9.—Officers' casualty lists from July 19 to July 30 show that the British army lost 115 killed, 236 wounded and 14 missing, a total of 365. This brings the aggregate of losses since the beginning of the war to 13,656, of whom 4,176 are recorded dead, 8,305 wounded and 1,175 missing.

During the ten days covered by the lists regiments operating in the Dardanelles have again been the greatest sufferers.

British Consulate in U. S. Hands.

London, Aug. 9.—The British consulate at Riga, the Russian seaport which is being evacuated by the civil population, has been placed under American protection, according to the Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company.

The correspondent states that women are replacing the sailors on Volga river steamers.

Loss to Make Slavs Fight.

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—The Russian newspapers were unanimous in stating that Russia's determination to pursue the war to a victorious end has been strengthened by the enforced evacuation of Warsaw. The Rech says:

"As long as the army is intact we can confidently face the future."

Substitute English for German.

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—The English language is to be substituted for German in most of the commercial schools of Russia as one of the compulsory subjects of the curriculum. This step was ordered by the minister of finance at the request of the school authorities.

Rails Ordered by Russia.

Baltimore, Aug. 9.—It is announced that the Maryland Steel company has received an order from the Russian government for 100,000 tons of steel rails.

Expect Eastland Indictments.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—No indictments against those held responsible for the steamer Eastland disaster will be returned until next week. Both the federal and state grand juries which are investigating the Eastland accident have adjourned. Secretary of Commerce Redfield having adjourned his inquiry into the cause of the accident left for Pittsfield, Mass., where he will finish his vacation before returning to Washington. It is expected at least six indictments will be returned.

Rail Head Held For Wreck.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Edward J. Dickson, vice president of the International Railway company, is under arrest at St. Catherines, Ont., in connection with the wreck of July 7 of an international trolley car on Queenstown Heights, which resulted in the death of 15 persons. The warrant for Mr. Dickson's arrest was sworn out by a special representative of the attorney general of Ontario and charges criminal negligence. He was released on $10,000 bail.

ATTEMPT TO TRAP RUSSIAN ARMIES

AUSTRO-GERMANS ADVANCE WEDGE—PENETRATE RUSSIAN TERRITORY.

EVACUATE KORNO, IS CLAIM

Copenhagen Dispatch Says Municipal Officials As Well As Civilian Population Leaving City—Italians Report Victory.

London, Aug. 9.—The Germans continue to make progress in all directions in their efforts to cut off the retreat of the Russian army from the Polish salient. They have commenced an attack on the fortresses of Kovno and Ossowetz, which are among the obstacles they must overcome in order to reach the railway running from Warsaw through Vilna and Dvinsk to Petrograd.

They have taken the minor fortress of Serock, at the junction of the Narew and the Bug, and have crossed the Vistula in the vicinity of Warsaw. Further south, General Woyrsch is advancing eastward, but Field Marshal Mackensen is being stubbornly resisted and apparently making at the best very slow progress.

Try to Envelop Slavs.

London, Aug. 9.—Holding the bridgeheads at Warsaw over the Vistula river, the most formidable military obstacle is eastern Europe, Germany and Austro-Hungary, having conquered the river line and with it invaded Russian territory for an average depth of 100 miles along a front from the Baltic to Bukowina, are now throwing their forces forward in an endeavor to accomplish what Russia's allies have so feared, the complete envelopement of the Russian armies.

Garrison at Bay.

Though still holding Novo Georgievsk, the whole Russian garrison remains at bay. Thus the Russian armies not only are menaced back of the Warsaw salient, from which it is assumed they were not entirely clear before heavy German forces broke across the Vistula to the southeast of Warsaw; but a larger and more formidable enveloping movement has taken definite form, being in effect a greater pair of pincers aiming at Dvinsk, in the north, and at Brest-Litovsk in the south and superimposed on a smaller pair which seeks to crush the Russian forces in and around Warsaw.

Furthermore, Riga, at the mouth of the River Dvina, is expected to pass to German possession at any time.

A news dispatch from Athens indicates that Greece is holding out against the Allies in their evident effort to win this country, a key to the entire Balkan situation, to their side. The adherence of Bulgaria and Rumania is dependent largely on the attitude of Greece.

An Italian submarine has been sent to the bottom in the Adriatic by an Austrian submarine, according to a news dispatch from Rome.

Italian forces are reported to have captured Monte San Michele, on the Austrian frontier, a position which threatens Gorizia.

A London dispatch announces the sinking by a German submarine of six British fishing boats. The crews were saved. A Danish steamer was set on fire.

College Enrolment Increased.

Washington, Aug. 7.—An increase of nearly 7 per cent in the number of students in American colleges, universities and technological schools in 1914 over the previous year is shown in the annual report of the federal commission of education. The figures, 216,493, compared with 202,231 in 1913. The report shows that men still outnumber women in higher education. There were in colleges 139,373 men in 1914 and 77,120 women. Benefactions to colleges and universities totaled $26,670,017.

OFFER OF PEACE BY GERMANY

PROPOSAL TO RUSSIA IS DISMISSED BY DUMA.

Representative of Slav Foreign Office Denies There Is Remotest Possibility of Peace.

London, Aug. 10.—Reiter's correspondent at Petrograd transmits the following:

"The Bourse Gazette learns from an unimpeachable source that the German Emperor made an offer of peace to Russia last week, through the King of Denmark. The answer sent to the king stated that the question of peace negotiations could not be raised at the present time."

Russian Duma Discusses Proposal.

Petrograd, via London, Aug. 9.—The report that Germany had made peace proposals to Russia became known in official circles several days ago, and was freely discussed in the lobbies of the Duma, according to the Vechernee Vremya.

"We learn on good authority," says the newspaper, "that Germany through Denmark proposed to Russia a separate peace, Russia to receive Galicia while Germany would retain the western district of Poland. A representative of the foreign office categorically denied that there was the remotest possibility of any peace negotiations. In the lobbies of the Duma the proposal was dismissed as unworthy of serious consideration."

POSTAL INSPECTOR QUITS

Head of Central States District to Try Scientific Farming in Minnesota.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 9.—The latest recruit in the "back to the farm" movement in the United States is Col. William L. Moore, known from coast to coast by "mail frauds" promoters, who resigned as postoffice inspector in charge of the central states district after having served Uncle Sam for 30 years.

"It's me for the simple life," said Colonel Moore. "I'm sick and tired of sitting in an office. I'm going up to my 160-acre 'model farm' in Minnesota, near Hill City. I'll sit around and do a little scientific Minnesota farming by having somebody else work for me. I'll smoke my pipe, and every once in a while go out in the back yard and shoot a deer. There's no sense in a fellow slaving in an office until he is a wreck. He'd better go out on a farm before its too late."

NOAH, CAUSE OF MAN'S FALL

Builder of Ark, Not Adam and Eve, Brought Curse, Says Translation of Tablet.

Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—It was not Adam and Eve who brought about the fall of man but Noah, according to a translation of a tablet now in the University of Pennsylvania museum. An announcement to this effect was made by a representative of the museum. According to the Sumerian theology found on the tablet, which is said to have been written before the days of Abraham, and translated by Dr. Steven Langdon, professor of Assyriology in Oxford university, England, Noah, was ordered not to eat of the cassia tree in the garden of paradise and when he disobeyed the curse fell upon him.

The curse was that he should have ill-health and an early death instead of living to be 50,000 years old like his ancestors.

Dives 80 Feet; Will Die.

Dubuque, Iowa, Aug. 9.—R. V. Wells was fatally hurt at McGregor near here as the result of a high dive into the Mississippi river. Wells climbed the flag pole surmounting a bridge across the river, a distance of 80 feet from the water, and dived into the river. He struck the water at full length and was taken out by swimming companions in an unconscious condition.

Physicians failed to restore him to consciousness and said he could not recover.

CAPERTON SEIZES HAITIEN CUSTOMS

AMERICAN ADMIRAL TAKES OVER OFFICES AT CAPE HAITIEN —CONDITIONS QUIET.

POSTPONEMENT OF ELECTION

Choosing of President of Republic to Succeed General Guillaume, Who Was Shot by Mob, Is Delayed —Disorders Repressed.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Rear Admiral Caperton, commanding the American naval forces in Haiti, reports that he has taken over the administration of the customs office at Cape Haitien, and has placed Paymaster Charles Morris, of the Cruiser Washington, temporarily in charge. No mention was made of the reported seizure of the customs office at Port au Prince.

Business conditions in Cape Haitien, the dispatch said, were improving, and there was an apparent disposition among the natives to support the city government being reorganized by Admiral Caperton.

Arrival of the Haitien gunboat Nord Alexis at Port au Prince with 800 disarmed Haitien soldiers was reported. The soldiers came from outlying districts to be escorted by American marines to their homes after pledging themselves to keep the peace.

Except slight disturbances at Miragoan, conditions throughout the island were reported quiet.

Presidential Election Postponed.

Port au Prince, Aug. 9.—The election of a president of the republic to take the place of General Vilbrun Guillaume, who was removed from the French legation by a mob of Haitiens July 28 and shot to death, was postponed.

The election was to have taken place soon.

The American naval forces at Croix-des-Bouquets, near Port au Prince, repressed some disorder on the part of a band of brigands. The chief of the band was taken prisoner and placed on board the United States cruiser Washington.

Other disorders are reported to have occurred at St. March and Aux Cayes. Details concerning them are lacking.

Fear Guns; Hit By Train.

Salem, Ore., Aug. 9.—Thirty-seven convicts on a motor truck, returning from a day's work in the flax fields, figured in a collision with a switch engine. Fearing that their action in jumping to safety might be misunderstood and armed guards following in an automobile would fire on them, they stuck to the truck while the engine crashed into it at a crossing. Seven of the convicts were seriously injured, two perhaps fatally, while 20 others were slightly cut and bruised.

Picture of Holt With Dynamite.

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 9.—A package of dynamite securely wrapped in heavy paper and containing a folded newspaper photograph of Frank Holt, assailant of J. P. Morgan, is puzzling officials here. The dynamite package was found beneath a viaduct between north and south Fort Worth. Other than the picture of Holt little indication as to the origin of the dynamite has been obtained. The cartridges are the product of an East Alton, Ill., factory.

Train Wrecker Confesses Crimes.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 6.—Harry G. Hontz, a printer, who gives Leighton, Pa., as his home, was in jail here, having surrendered to the police and confessed that he wrecked the Scenic Limited on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad near Springville, Utah.

He threw a piece of angle iron under the train to avenge himself on the railroad because a brakeman had ejected him from a freight train. He was arrested in 1910 and sent to prison for wrecking a semaphore.

THE CHARM OF MOTHERHOOD

Enhanced By Perfect Physical Health.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

RICHES LIE IN OURSELVES

What the Man Is, Not What He Has, Makes Him Wealthy or Poor.

In my own life, as I wander farther and farther along the vagabond trail in search of truth and beauty, I find it easier and easier to find contentment without the riches of the world. Leave me imagination, and I shall still be rich; but give me all the wealth of the world and take from me imagination and you will plunge me deep into a bottomless hell of indescribable misery.

We cannot own things without being owned by them. Thoreau understood this. His life was so successful that Emerson wrote of him, "Wherever there is knowledge, wherever there is beauty, he will find a home."

I cannot live Thoreau's life. But I can live my own.

"In the transmission of heavenly waters," says Emerson, "every hose fits its hydrant."—Thomas Dreier, in the Nautilus.

Naturally.

"What kind of a dance was it the bellboys gave at the hotel?"

"Of course, it was a bell hop."

Just So.

"What do you think of these here 'summer furs'?"

"It's carrying things pretty fur."

NO IDEA

What Caused the Trouble.

"I always drank coffee with the rest of the family, for it seemed as if there was nothing for breakfast if we did not have it on the table.

"I had been troubled for some time with my heart, which did not feel right. This trouble grew worse steadily.

"Sometimes it would beat fast, and at other times very slowly, so that I would hardly be able to do work for an hour or two after breakfast, and if I walked up a hill, it gave me a severe pain.

"I had no idea of what the trouble was until a friend suggested that perhaps it might be coffee drinking. I tried leaving off the coffee and began drinking Postum. The change came quickly. I am glad to say that I am now entirely free from heart trouble and attribute the relief to leaving off coffee and the use of Postum.

"A number of my friends have abandoned coffee and have taken up Postum, which they are using steadily. There are some people that make Postum very weak and tasteless, but if made according to directions, it is a very delicious beverage." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

STATE PROVIDES FREE ANTITOXIN

BEGINS TO FURNISH REMEDY TO WORTHY FAMILIES UNDER NEW HEALTH MEASURE.

STATE NEWS OF MINNESOTA

Interesting and Important Happenings of the Past Few Days Selected and Arranged for the Convenience of Busy Readers.

St. Paul.—Among the many new laws which have just gone into effect is a health measure empowering the state board of health to supply diphtheria antitoxin without charge to worthy families. Free antitoxin stations have been established in every county of the state and some of the larger counties will have two or more. The state board of health has instructed the custodians of the stations to supply the remedy upon the application of a reputable physician and it is not to be limited to the indigent but to any one who may not have the ready money for purchase. The legislature has appropriated $5,000 a year for this measure.

The board of health also resumes the laboratory work at Minneapolis, Duluth and Mankato, which was discontinued May 15 after the legislature had refused to make an emergency appropriation to maintain the activities of the board of health.

The office and laboratory forces of the board of health have been reduced to fit the appropriation and the board has announced that regardless of consequences the board will live within its income. Every effort, however, will be made to make all required tests for diphtheria, typhoid fever and tuberculosis and to maintain the Pasteur institute. Field work may be restricted but every effort will be made, says Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the board, to keep up with the demand.

AUTO STRIKES BURIAL HACK

Motor Truck Collides With Funeral Party on St. Paul Streets—Four Injured.

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—Four persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, in St. Paul when an automobile truck collided with a funeral hack. Mrs. Charles Peterson, 60 years old, may die as the result of the accident.

All were relatives of Swan Peterson, who was killed in an automobile accident at the Twin City Motor Speedway grounds here. They were returning from the funeral. As the carriage turned into Mississippi street from Granite the truck struck the carriage and then swerved around, frightening the horses, which started to run away.

Mrs. Peterson was injured internally and had both legs fractured. Her husband, daughter, Edith, and Raymond Shogren, a nephew, were all seriously injured. Ole Jenson, driver of the carriage, was knocked from his seat and was badly bruised.

Anton Klein, driver of the truck, was held by the St. Paul police pending the result of the injuries to Mrs. Peterson. He said that he was driving slow and charged that the hack was on the wrong side of the street.

Eastland Hero Dying.

Winona.—G. H. Grant, one of the heroes of the Eastland disaster, is believed to be dying at a Winona hospital as a result of the excitement incident to the wreck of the excursion steamer ten days ago. Grant fell unconscious while walking on a street here. The patient is a noted athlete. He told physicians he rescued seventeen persons before he himself sank while grappling with a drowning person. He was rescued, but since has been in failing health.

Hope to Oust Two Saloons.

Winona.—The Winona Civic league, through its president, Dr. O. M. Dickerson, has served formal notice on the city council that it will protest against the reissuance of licenses to two saloons at Center and Mark streets on the ground that both are less than 1,500 feet from the Winona normal school. The league is prepared if necessary to fight the matter in the courts and assurance of assistance has been received from the office of the attorney general of the state.

Boys Cremated at Swanville.

Little Falls, Minn., Aug. 6.—Orrin McCrea, aged 14, and Walter Tatro, aged 16, were burned to death at Swanville. They had fitted up a sleeping room in the loft of a feed stable and used a lantern for light. It is supposed they tipped over the lantern and set fire to the barn. McRae was the son of J. J. McRae, a banker.

Citizen Offers Aeroplane.

Duluth.—A leading citizen who refuses to have his name used has offered the Duluth branch of the Minnesota naval militia a valuable gift in the way of an aeroplane—probably a Wright—with the services of an expert aeronaut from an eastern school. One of the conditions of the gift is that the identity of the donor be kept secret. "This aeroplane," said Commander Guy A. Eaton of the naval militia, will be the nucleus of what will be eventually a part of the naval militia's aeronaut reserve.

RECEIVE CREDIT FOR WORK

7,000 Todd County Rural School Students to Enjoy Benefits of "Home Work Credits."

Long Prairie.—Todd county rural school students to the number of 7,000 will receive credit at school after this for work they do at home.

The idea has been worked out by County Superintendent Knutson and will be put into operation with the beginning of the school year. It is in line with other innovations he has introduced of late years to make school work more practical and to increase the interest of the boys and girls in the work. The "home work credits" will be required and the student to make a grade must have earned during the year at least 1,000 credits. Some of the items of home work for which the boys and girls are to receive credit at school are:

Washing dishes, 1. Making beds, 1. Making entire meal, 3. Taking care of baby, 1. Mending socks, 1. Feeding three cows, 1. Feeding five pigs, 1. Milking one cow, 1. Bringing in wood, 1. Building fire, 1. Baking bread, 5.

There are credits for other home work and the industrious boy or girl can earn 25 credits a week if they apply themselves. The parents keep track of the work, report to the teacher each week and the teacher reports to the superintendent at the end of each month. Diplomas are issued to the students at the end of the year.

HIBBING AWAITS OUTCOME

Hopes Double Conference at Duluth May Help Re-stock Depleted Treasury.

Hibbing, Aug. 4.—Hibbing anxiously awaits the outcome of a double conference at Duluth. It hopes one may help re-stock the somewhat depleted shelves of Hibbing stores. It hopes the other may re-stock the more than depleted treasury of the city.

In the latter, the officials of Hibbing, excepting its mayor, will meet with officials and counsel of the mining companies in an endeavor to reach a settlement of the tax controversy. Mayor Power has not been invited. In the former, merchants of Hibbing will meet with wholesalers of Duluth in an effort to have the jobbers accept village warrants as a part payment for goods.

With a feeling that the mining companies would agree to pay their taxes under an agreement involving a restriction of municipal improvements, and with an added feeling that the governor of the state will be behind them in their efforts to collect the taxes if no such compromise is reached, Hibbing looks expectantly to the future.

Auto Suffocates Gophers.

Pipestone.—Richard. Frederickson, who resides on a farm between here and Avoca, has been having much trouble with gophers which eat and dig his alfalfa. He took his automobile to the field and attached a rubber hose to the exhaust pipe and placed the other end of the hose in a newly-made gopher mound. He then started his engine and in a short time he saw smoke coming out of a mound nearly 200 feet away. Mr. Frederickson says that the experiment resulted in the killing of a large number of gophers.

Want Minister Returned.

Winona.—At the fourth quarterly conference of the Central Methodist church in Winona a resolution was unanimously adopted requesting the presiding bishop to reappoint Rev. Dr. J. W. Taylor as district superintendent. Dr. Taylor reported that excellent work was being done in the tent meetings conducted by the Winona district country life commission. Meetings have been held at Byron and Eyota and at a point midway between Wykoff and Fountain.

Rochester Maintains Record.

Rochester.—Rochester's remarkable building record for the last five years will be surpassed this year from present indications. The Commercial club is erecting a handsome home, costing $25,000, that will serve as a community house, while a large three-story addition is being constructed to the Brown hotel and a new business block has been started on Main street. A new rooming house is nearing completion on Fifth street.

Conceal News of Drowning.

Crookston. — Drowned before the eyes of three companions, the fate of Denzel McLaughlin, 7 years old, was not known until the following morning, when the boys told of the tragedy, after the police, relatives and neighbors had searched all night for the missing lad. When a faithful collie dog was found on the bank of the river where the drowning occurred, the child's companions confessed.

Bull Gores Aged Man.

Fergus Falls.—Coroner Vigen was called to Dent by the death of Fred Kulke, 70 years old, who was gored by a bull while visiting at a neighbor's farm.

Faribault Crops Damaged.

Faribault.—The continuous rains in this part of the state are reported to have done considerable damage to crops.

Grains of all kinds were never better and there is a bumper crop, but the difficulty will be to harvest it. Many farmers are purchasing old-fashioned cradles to cut the grain in low spots.

Much hay is down and in some places covered by water. The crop of potatoes will be large and the quality is good.

A Test Case.

"I don't know whether my pretty neighbor takes me seriously or not."

"You can easily find out."

"How?"

"Pretend you have found another pretty neighbor in the same block."

A Fellow Feeling.

"All sorts and conditions of men have excellent explanations for their position in life," said the senator. "A tramp, however, came under my observation who had no illusions about the cause of his own condition. A fine-looking and fashionably dressed woman had just alighted from her limousine at the hotel entrance and was suddenly approached by this shabbily dressed man, who requested a dime. 'No, I have no money to spare for you,' she said. 'I do not see why an able-bodied man like you should go about begging.' 'I s'pose, ma'am,' replied the lazy tramp. 'It's fer about the same reason that a healthy woman like you boards at a hotel instead of keepin' house.' "—Harper's Magazine.

Russian Soldiers Wear Paper Shirts.

Shirts made of paper in Japan are in regular use in large quantities for the Russian army. They proved their worth during the winter campaign in Poland and East Prussia. The paper used is made from mulberry bark. Paper clothing known as kamike has long been in use among the Japanese. Such clothing is not only cheap, but most serviceable, its only drawback being that it cannot be washed. The paper is very soft and warm, but has little "size." For this reason a thin layer of silk wadding is placed between two sheets and the whole quilted when it is to be used for shirts or other clothes.

Served Him Right.

If there was one thing more than another that he prided himself on, it was the fit of his clothes.

"I can never get a dress coat really to fit," he said to his partner, as he glanced down at a perfectly made garment, with a hope, of course, that she would at once disclaim the insinuation. "Look at this thing."

"Well, it is atrocious," she said coolly. "But why not save your money and buy one? It is so much cheaper in the long run than hiring."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Self-satisfied people have reached the jumping off place.

Miss Julia May's Candles.

It was Miss Julia May's birthday, and in honor of the occasion a cake had been baked to be decorated with candles, one candle for each anniversary. Dinner was being delayed and Miss Julia May called to Aunt Piney:

"What is holding dinner, Aunt Piney?"

Aunt Piney's answer called for no further explanation:

"Lawdy, honey, is you forgit how many of these candles dey is to light?"—Nashville Banner.

Some people make a bluff at hiding their light under a bushel who never had a light.

Refutes Osler's Theory.

A blind woman, eighty-one years old and partially deaf, refuted Doctor Osler's theory by recently completing a life of Nathan Hale which is declared to be of unusual interest and authority. The woman, Mrs. Jean Christie Root of Glen Ridge, N. J., has learned to use a typewriter with great facility and makes light of her infirmities.

Drink Denison's Coffee,
For your health's sake.

A young woman named Gold and a young man named Ring were married in Minneapolis the other day. A court commissioner did the molding.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Ostriches Cheaper These Days.

It helps one to realize the South African slump in ostriches, as shown by the sale of a full-grown bird for three pence at Grahamstown, when one recalls former prices. In the early days of ostrich farming a chick newly out of the egg would sometimes fetch £10, and £500 has been paid for a good pair of grown birds. But those were the days when one plucking of a single bird would bring in £25, and of late years prices have not ruled so high—you could get quite a good pair of ostriches for £12. Ostrich farming dates from about 1807, and brought many a pioneer a fortune when it first began.—London Chronicle.

Too Sour.

Professor Copeland of Harvard, as the story goes, reproved his students for coming late to class.

"This is a class in English composition," he remarked with sarcasm, "not an afternoon tea."

At the next meeting one girl was 20 minutes late. Professor Copeland waited until she had taken her seat. Then he remarked bitingly:

"How will you have your tea, Miss Brown?"

"Without the lemon, please," Miss Brown answered quite gently.—Christian Register.

Wise.

"Has Brown a comfortable income?"

"Large, but not comfortable. His wife knows just how much it is."—Puck.

What Holds a Man.

Good men are attracted and held not alone by salaries, but by the conditions under which they work. The efficiency of the board of water supply force compares favorably with any large public or private engineering organization. This board has been noted also for its esprit de corps and enthusiasm for its work. These desirable qualities, the report states, were obtained by selecting the most suitable available men for the leading positions, giving great weight not only to technical fitness, but also to those personal qualifications which cannot be learned or rated by examinations.

A Queer World.

This is a queer world. In one end of town a woman who has denied herself enough to eat so that the children might have milk for supper will pick up a piece of newspaper and see a big headline over the news that a woman in the other end of town has just paid $10,000 for a Pekingese poodle.—Cincinnati Inquirer.

A Helpful Girl.

"Won't you do something to help a poor family who are hungry?"

"Most assuredly. I'll make some fruit salad or some macaroons, which ever you say, I'm good on both."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August 30 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

The meeting at the Commercial Club, at Thief River Falls last Thursday evening did not have any definate results. Congressman Steenerson explained to the farmers that it was not at all likely that they could get any government assistance to improve Red Lake River in the near future.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw claims that her husband Harry goes insane as soon as he drinks liquor. They had better bring him up to Minnesota after we get that county option law to working, but they would have to see to it that he did not visit the club rooms of The Times county option editor at Thief River Falls.

There was a larger attendance at the Pennington County Fair last week than there has ever been in the history of the county, and the management are certainly entitled to full credit for the excellent entaintermen given. The Patterson Shows were not up to the expectations of some of the people who visited them, but the Pennington County exhibits were certainly first class. The splendid order maintained both in the city and at the fair grounds was a credit to the efficiency of the police officials of the city, and the sheriff's office of this county.

Preparations are already being made by some of the leading county optionists of Thief River Falls to supply the thirsty with drink after the saloons are closed. The Editor of The Times was one of the great reform leaders, but he is not afraid of the injury that beer will have on the people provided he can have a hand in dealing it out. The following taken from the last weeks issue of the News-Press explains the consistancy of the county option people.

"There is in the city of Thief River Falls an organizaton called the Loyal Order of Moose. This lodge is composed of many very worthy men and young men.

The lodge maintains club rooms in the basement of the new Citizens Bank Building and these club rooms are equipped with card tables, billiard and pool tables, reading tables, a cigar stand, etc., and in connection are shower bath rooms, and in fact the club is both modern and up-to-date in all respects.

In addition to all this the members propose to make the club rooms still more inviting by allowing the dispensation of liquid refreshments in the way of beer and a resolution to this effect was adopted at a meeting last week.

Thos. H. Smith, president of the Civic League, is one of the board of managers of the Moose Club, and he was present at the meeting which passed the resolution in favor of the keeping of "booze" in the club rooms, and voted in favor thereof.

"The idea is, donther know, that really no beer is to be sold, or even given away. It is simply to be delivered by the brewing company to any member who desires it, and is to be iced and kept in the club cooler for his use and the use of his friends."—T. R. Falls News-Press.

While it is rather early for the public turning loose of the blind swine, the above would indicate that there will be an effort made to handle liquor unlawfully instead of lawfully in that city, after the saloons are closed, and again we say, "we told you so."

NEW GAME LAW.

The prairie chicken and wild duck season opens this year on the 7th of September, and it is unlawful for any one to hunt any game birds without first procuring a hunting license from the County Auditor, the cost of which is $1.00, and can be procured three days before the opening of the season, of the County Auditor of the county in which you reside. Any farmer has a right to hunt on lands owned and occupied by him as his actual residence, but as soon as he goes over the lines of his own land he is subject to a fine of $50 or imprisonment in the county jail for a term of thirty days, if he has not a hunting license.

We realize that there has been some crop losses by the farmers on both Clearwater and Red Lake Rivers by the excessive rainfall of this season, but we do not think that there is any use to get discouraged and appeal to either the state or the nation for assistance, as the means and capital of either Red Lake or Pennington counties have not been exhausted. We are now satisfied that the cash returns from the crops will be much larger than we have ever had before, and while some of the farmers who have lost their crops may not be able to meet their obligations this fall the great majority will have a surplus, which will enable the ones who have been unfortunate, to obtain credit for another year.

A careful reading of the daily papers of the flood conditions in other parts of the United States makes our conditions here look rosy in comparison. Just last week they had a cloud burst at Erie, Pennsylvania, in which there was seventy-five people lost their lives. Just stop and realize that Erie, Pa. is in the United States, the same as Erie, Minn. is, and are just as much entitled to government relief! Then read of the awful floods that they have had in Illinois, Oklahoma and Kansas, then stop and consider that all of these people live in the United States, and that lots of them are suffering for food, and are just as much entitled to government relief as this upper Red Lake River country. There has not been any loss of life or stock in this locality and eastern Pennington county has the best crops that they ever raised, and while there is some loss by the excessive rains, the loss is light compared to the gains of heavy crops on the higher lands. There is no use to expect any relief from the government for the improvement of this Red Lake River, and the sooner the people can get them to take down that government fence and give the people a chance to bridge the river the better we will be off.

A Museum of Crime.

Professor Hans Gross of the University of Gratz, Austria, has the credit of establishing the first museum of criminology and a criminalistic laboratory, where the weapons, tools and other paraphernalia and materials used by criminals are assembled to assist in the analysis of the workings of criminal minds and a study of methods and systems for dealing with this large and dangerous class of every community. This museum was established in 1895, and since then other establishments of the same character have been organized.

One of the most important of these is the Society of Criminology and Social Defense in Paris, which has a membership of more than 200, including many prominent representatives of the law, the police and medical profession, and it was organized to concentrate and centralize the scattered efforts of individuals who were studying this disquieting social problem and to make the results of their work available for mutual information.

Almanacs are in existence that were compiled in the fourteenth century, but they are only in manuscript. The first printed almanac was issued about the year 1475.

Over $300 in prizes are offered for corn shown by the boys. A baby show for children between 12 and 36 months of age will be a big feature. The greatest display of school work ever assembled is to be shown in the School Exhibits building. Over one-fourth of the Woman's building is reserved for a child welfare and kindergarten exhibit, and the work of little boys and girls in state schools for the unfortunate. VOL. XV. SUNBEAM, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 20, 1915 NO. 24

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE LOCAL NEWS

The farmers should take an interest in the formation of farmer's clubs, for their mutual benefit.

Eddie Hyland started up his threshing rig at the residence of M. E. Hyland last Friday, and thrashed out some rye and barley for feed.

THE SUNBEAM force are busy in the harvest fields this week, which makes local news rather scarce, as this paper is published on a farm.

John Nelson, road overseer of Highlanding township was over on this side of Red Lake River this week, and employed Ole Overvold to fill up some of the dangerous wash outs in some of the grades.

With ideal weather the farmers are busy harvesting the biggest crop that Pennington county ever produced. There has been no storms in this locality to destroy any of the crops or hinder harvesting them.

NOTICE!

R. R. Johnson of the Goodridge Meat Market will visit Highlanding on Mondays and Fridays with a full line of choice fresh meat for sale. Do not forget the days Mondays and Fridays.

An effort is being made to have the Town Board build approaches to the Highlanding ferry, so it can be crossed with loaded teams so the farmers on this side can market grain at Goodridge, if they desire to, instead of hauling it to Plummer or Oklee.

A. B. Mandt of Kratka has accepted a very flattering offer to buy wheat for the Farmers Elevator at Georgetown, Minnesota. A letter received from him this week, states that there was more loss of crops by the heavy rains in that locality than there was here, as they did not have as good a system of drainage.

As usual at about this time of year something has happened to the wheat market, as the grain speculators are aware of the fact that it is the time of the year for the shock thrashed grain of the Northwest to be dumped onto the market. With the present prospect of the European war, it would not be a bad idea for our local farmers to hold at least part of their surplus grain until later in the season.

SOMETHING TO BE PROUD OF.

There are not many villages in the State that have incorporated within one year from the time the first building was erected.

On September 1st 1914, there was not a building of any nature erected on the town site of Goodridge. On Aug. 6th. we voted to incorporate and out of 30 votes cast there was not one cast in opposition and before September 1st 1915 we will be organized and have a full set of officials.

Not only that but our business buildings are much more substantial than in many of the cities and the dwellings nearly all neat and attractive.

Goodridge is also doing a business that warrants expansion and before winter sets in you will see a fine $15,000 school building; one or more churches; our streets in better shape and provided with crossings—in fact Goodridge will soon be a town that every resident may well feel proud of.

Our people are all "live wires" and all pull together for Goodridge.—The Eleven Towns.

There has been more than the usual large amount of hay put up in this locality this year.

Miss Christine Klemmetson and Miss Marie Causin visited at Sunbeam Sunday.

Goodridge is enjoying a substantial growth this summer, and will soon be an incorporated village.

The Farmers Club of Mayfield will picnic at the residence of Wm. A. Swanson in Deer Park township Sunday. All are invited.

Flax which was backward for a time is now making rapid growth and promises to be a heavy crop.

Some of the farmers who have gasoline plowing rigs are plowing their land at the same time that they cut the grain. They hitch first the binder, and then the plows behind it, and do all of the work at the same time.

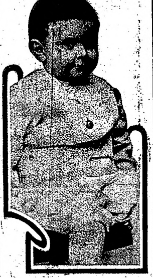
The county optionists, of Red Lake County seem to have a hard time to get signers enough on their petition to call an election. If they do not get a vote on option before the law goes into effect in this county they would not stand a ghost of a show to win out, for as soon as sensible people sees how County Option works they will promptly repudiate it.

BABIES IN CAGE.

Unusual Attention Paid to Minnesota State Fair Baby Show.

Babies entered in the baby show at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, will be given an unusual public reception, as a result of a novel arrangement just made by Mrs. Bertha Dahl Laws of Appleton, Minn., superintendent in charge.

All physical examinations are to be conducted in a big glass cage erected in the center of the Woman's building. The mental test will be carried on in a closed apartment at the rear of the glass cage, but visitors will have an opportunity to see most of the examination.



1914 CHAMPION GIRL.

As formerly there are to be three classes: Children from the country, children from towns and villages under 2,500; and children from towns and cities over 2,500. In each class there are sub-classes for girls twelve months old and under twenty-four, boys twelve months old and under twenty-four, girls twenty-four months old and under thirty-six, and boys twenty-four months old and under thirty-six. All prizes are to consist of ribbons and medals except in case of the championships, $25 being given the most perfect boy and girl.

The Webb Publishing company of St. Paul is furnishing all prizes, and will give either or both champions $25 extra in case residence is in the country. Only Minnesota babies can enter.

Spanish Women's Hands.

The hands of a Spanish woman have a classic beauty, and their movements are incomparable. Such hands cannot be described; they can only be admired. When they manipulate a fan or roll a cigarette, when they raise a skirt or arrange a mantilla, it is always done with infinite grace. A Spanish woman alone knows how to use her hands as they truly should be used.—New York Sun.

Washintgon News.

The latest report of the Department of Commerce gives a very good idea of the effect of the war on our commerce and shows how thoroughly Germany is cut off from direct shipment from this country.

Many notes have already passed between this country and Great Britain in regard to our trade with neutral countries but so far nothing has been accomplished thereby and Great Britain continues to seize our cargoes and convey them to British ports.

General George Hosley of Boston is in Washington making arrangements for the G. A. R. encampment. In commemoration of the grand review of 1865, a parade of veterans will be held, in which 40,000 men are expected to participate.

Secretary of State Lansing and the representatives of the South American countries were discussing means of establishing peace in Mexico when the situation became such as to demand some immediate action on the part of the United States, and terminated the discussion for the present.

A committee of the packers of the country called again at the State Department to urge upon the government the necessity of coming to some understanding with Great Britain whereby they would be allowed to ship their goods to the neutral countries of Europe. All the large packers of the country were represented on the committee.

Because of the seriousness developed in the Mexican situation it became necessary for President Wilson to hurry back to Washington from Cornish, N. H. The President will meet the members of his cabinet this morning and discuss the Mexican problem, and it is likely that some definite plan of action will be agreed upon at that time.

For the month of June 1914 exports to Germany amounted to $16,678,846, and for June 1915, they amounted to $1,767. For the year ending June 1915, the exports to Germany were $28,863 354, as compared with $344,794,276 for the preceding year. For the year ending June 1915, our total exports were $2,768,580,340, as compared with $2,364,599,148 for the preceding year.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

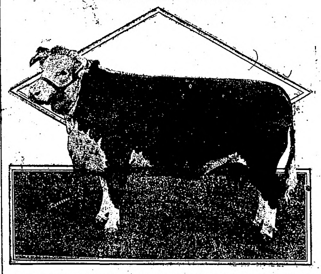
TO SELL THOUSANDS OF ANIMALS.



Farmers interested in the purchase of better live stock will have an excellent chance to buy pure-bred horses, cattle, sheep and swine at the great public livestock market which is to be held at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11. Most of the noted herds, stables and flocks in America will be represented.

There are indications of unusual interest in the cattle and horse shows, a large local entry in all breeds being promised. There have been times when the exhibit of dairy cattle has been better than that at any other show in the country. The fact that special emphasis is being placed on the value of the cattle show as a place for the sale and purchase of breeding animals would indicate that a big show will result.

Horses in Demand.

The European war has created such a demand for good horses throughout the country that it is probable that more horses will be raised in the near future than ever before. Especially is this true of the Northwest, where good brood mares are employed to such an extent in doing the farm work. Breeders of good horses all over America are being urged to attend the Minnesota State Fair this year, and not only compete for the $13,215 in cash prizes but interest the buying public in their sale animals.

Farmers are being urged to visit the Minnesota State Fair for the purpose of buying good pure-bred stallions and mares for breeding purposes. As practically all the leading stables doing business in this part of the country will be represented some excellent bargains may be obtained. Attention is being called to the excellent opportunity afforded of studying the best types so that it may be easier to pick a good stallion in the raising of colts. Horse and cattle entries close Aug. 12.

Swine and Sheep.

The public markets for swine and sheep will be emphasized as much as those for horses and cattle. There is known to be a need for more sheep in the Northwest. Last year 200 sheep were sold at private sale at the Minnesota State Fair, and it is probable that a much larger number will be disposed of this year.

The twenty-three nominations for the Poland-China futurity show insure one of the largest swine shows ever held at Hamline, despite the fact that each successive year has been a record-breaking one. As usual a large sale of surplus hogs will be made to farmers in search of breeding stock. Entries for sheep and swine close Aug. 26, giving ample chance to enter within ten days of the fair.

Persons interested in the livestock show will find the earlier part of fair week more interesting than the latter part, since all the judging is generally ended by Thursday.

AIRMEN FLY OVER CONSTANTINOPLE

FRENCH AND BRITISH SHELL GALATA, SUBURB OF TURK CAPITAL.

TO GET MUNITIONS TO TURKS

Next Austro-German Offensive Will Be Directed Against Serbia to Allow War Supplies to Reach Ottomans, Is Belief.

London, Aug. 16.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Athens says:

"French and British aeroplanes have flown over Constantinople. They threw bombs on Galata, causing heavy casualties."

Galata, on the north side of the Golden Horn near Seragli Point, is Constantinople's largest suburb and the custom house of the capital. The inhabitants before the war were mainly European Christians.

London, Aug. 17.—The only evidence of activity outside of Poland and the Baltic provinces is on the Serbian frontier, where a bombardment of Belgrade by the Austrians and a counter bombardment of Semlin and Panscova by the Serbians has been resumed. According to Nish, Austrian attempts to cross the Danube near the Serbian and Roumanian borders have been repulsed, but it is believed by the military experts here that this region will be the scene of the next Austro-German offensive. There is some speculation in military circles as to whether Roumania, as well as Serbia, will be attacked, because of Roumania's refusal to allow munitions of war to pass through to Turkey, which is being pressed both on her Caucasus and Dardanelles fronts.

Turks Claim Advantage.

The Turks claim the advantage in the battling on the Gallipoli peninsula and in Asiatic Turkey against the allies, but the Russians assert that in the latter zone the Ottoman forces have been defeated. On the Austro-Italian front no decided gains for either side are chronicled.

Artois, the forest of the Argonne and the Vosges mountains continue to be the scenes of activity on the western front, but no serious battles are in progress in any of these regions.

RUSSIANS AGAIN RETREATING

After Making Stand Along the Bug, Slavs Retire Before Austro-Germans.

Vienna, via London, Aug. 16.—After making a stand on the entire front of the Bug, the Russian forces are again retreating before the Austro-Germans all along that line, according to an official statement issued at the Austrian war office.

The text of the communication follows:

"In the Russian theater: Our adversary again made a halt on the whole front west of the Bug in prepared positions, but the allied armies attacked and cleared their way through the hostile lines at several points. Since early morning the Russians everywhere are again in retreat.

"In the Italian theater: On the southwestern front generally there has been greater activity. In the region of Gorzia our artillery fired some bombs on St. Canzian. A hostile attack near Radipuglia collapsed before our fire. The bridge head at Gorizia was held by the Italians under moderate gun fire."

AUSTRIAN SUBMARINE SUNK

U-3 Destroyed in Adriatic by Italian Warships—Second Submersible Lost in Week.

Rome, Aug. 16.—The Austrian submarine U-3 has been sunk in the lower Adriatic by Italian warships it is officially announced.

The U-3 is the second American submarine sunk by the Italians this week, sinking of the U-12 having been announced a few days ago.

The U-3 was built in 1908, was 142 feet long and displaced 293 tons below surface. Normally she carried 17 men.

Whitman Sides With Barnes.

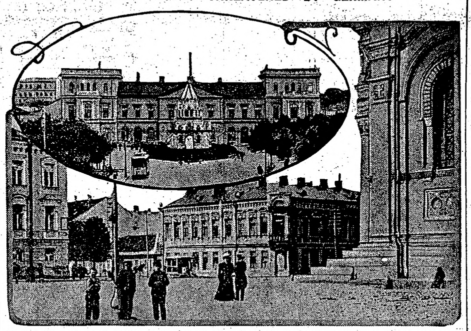
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16.—A split among republican leaders that may have an important bearing on national politics has developed in the work of framing a new state constitution here, and the chance of healing the breach appeared slight.

William Barnes, state boss, has broken with Elihu Root, president of the convention, and Governor Whitman has taken sides with Barnes.

Say Villa Shot U. S. Airman.

New York, Aug. 16.—Mickey McGuire, the young American aviator with General Francisco Villa's army in Mexico, who was reported killed when his machine fell 5,000 feet near Chihuahua, was not killed by accident but was murdered by General Villa, according to McGuire's partner, William J. Mattery, in a signed story in the New York Tribune. Mattery asserts that two days previously Villa sent out a report that he (Mattery) had been killed and then sentenced him to be shot.

RIGA AND KOVNO THREATENED BY GERMANS



Below is a street scene in Kovno, the northern extremity of the new line of Russian defense which the Germans are striving to capture. Above, the Dunaburger railway station at Riga, Russia's most important port after Petrograd, which also is in danger of capture by the Teutonic armies and which was attacked a few days ago by a German fleet. The chapel in front of the station was erected in memory of the escape of Emperor Alexander III and his family from death at Barki.

GERMAN CRUISER SUNK BY RUSSIANS

PETROGRAD REPORTS OTHER WARSHIPS DAMAGED IN ENGAGEMENT NEAR OESEL.

BAVARIAN TROOPS ADVANCE

Forces of Prince Leopold Make Steady progress Eastward from Warsaw—Slavs Assert Germans Have Been Checked Near Dvinsk.

London, Aug. 16.—Steady progress for the forces of Prince Leopold of Bavaria east from Warsaw is taken here to indicate that Germans are now massing their main movements on a drive through the Russian center and the continuance of the enveloping effort in the north along the Dvina. Both Petrograd and Berlin agree that the Germans have occupied the towns of Sokolow, Siedlce and Lukow, forming a German front about sixty miles east of Warsaw and fifty miles wide.

German Cruiser Sunk.

The Petrograd correspondent of the Times reported that a German cruiser was sunk and several other German warships damaged in an engagement with the Russian fleet near Oesel Thursday. The Germans, the correspondent said, are attempting to bottle up the Russian fleet in order that they may transport troops to the Gulf of Riga region without molestation.

This is more than half way to Brest-Litovsk, which Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander-in-chief, hoped to make the new center of his defense. It is now regarded as probable that this point will be abandoned, owing to the speed of the German advance.

Claim Germans Checked.

Petrograd asserts that the Germans have been checked between Poniewesch and Dvinsk. Berlin, however, does not concede this.

For the moment, however, the intensity of the fighting is giving way to a scramble of the retiring forces to avoid the enveloping net.

German correspondents accompanying the invading armies say the Russians are following the tactics of the Napoleanic campaign, laying waste the country which they abandon so that the advancing Germans find in the smoking ruins of towns and villages the same lack of shelter as Napoleon found.

Operations in the western field have virtually been halted except for occasional local trench skirmishes.

War clouds continue to gather over the Balkans. A central news dispatch from Amsterdam reports that Germany is preparing for eventualities by transporting 40,000 troops from Warsaw to the Serbian frontier.

Wales Miners May Strike Again.

London, Aug. 16.—Miners meeting at various places in the South Wales coal fields adopted resolutions expressing dissatisfaction at the delay in completing a new wage agreement and recommending that unless a settlement is reached soon, another conference be held to consider the renewal of the strike.

Death-ship Eastland Raised.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—The doomship Eastland, which three weeks ago toppled over in the canal like Chicago river with 2,500 men, women and children on board, has been drawn near upright by wrecking tugs. There was growing belief among the wreckers and officials that the estimate of bodies, placed as high as 500, still held in the charnel ship, would be found to have been grossly exaggerated. With 813 bodies recovered, it was believed the death list might not go over 1,000 at the outside.

DENY FREIGHT RATE INCREASE

COMMERCE COMMISSION HOLDS ADVANCE NOT JUSTIFIED.

Decision Affects Railroads Operating in Territory from Chicago to Denver and from Canada to Gulf.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Railroads operating in territory extending from Chicago to Denver and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico have been only partially successful in securing permission from the interstate commerce commission to advance their rates.

They asked for increases that would have given them $7,604,247 of increased revenue. The commission in its decision permitted advances that will increase the revenue $1,632,387.

These were the figures placed upon the value of the business by the railroads. The advances allowed are to go into effect Sept. 30.

The chief interest of the northwest in this case was the proposed increase in the rates on grain and grain products.

The case on which the decision was rendered is known as the western advance rate case. It involved proposed rate increases in western trunk line, Trans-Mississippi freight bureau and southwestern tariff commission territories and embraced transportation in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, Indiana, Kentucky and Alabama, also area affected as regards the coal traffic.

SEES IMMUNITY FROM CANCER

Rockefeller Institute Announces Discovery by Two Investigators—White Lymph Cells of Blood.

New York, Aug. 16.—The Rockefeller Institute has announced through the Academy of Science at Washington a discovery by two of its investigators whereby immunity from cancer, it is hoped, may be obtained.

The investigation was conducted by Doctors James B. Murphy and John J. Morton over a period of two years. They discovered that in the white lymph cells of the blood there are the necessary factors in making animals immune from cancer.

A decided increase in the white lymph cells gives absolute immunity, the physicians declare they ascertained.

WILL CROWN KING OF POLAND

Germany and Austria Name Archduke Charles Stephen of Austria—Ceremonies at Warsaw.

London, Aug. 16.—The coronation of Archduke Charles Stephen of Austria as king of Poland will take place in the Warsaw cathedral, according to the Times' Petrograd correspondent, who adds that a proclamation naming the new king on the authority of Germany and Austria is expected to be issued shortly.

Portuguese Cruiser Lost.

Paris, Aug. 16.—Hope has been abandoned of salvaging the Portuguese cruiser Republica, which ran aground near Peniche, south of Lisbon while on her way to Oporto, according to a Lisbon dispatch to the Petit Journal.

Britain Warns U. S. Airmen.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Governor Whitman has received from Secretary of State Lansing a copy of a letter from the British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring Rice, calling attention to the fact that American aviators were flying over the international boundary line and that he feared this practice might give rise to regrettable incidents, in view of the fact that Canada was in a state of war. Governor Whitman said there was nothing the state authorities could do beyond making the letter public.

CARRANZA FORCES WIN AT SALTILLO

DRIVE VILLA FORCES INTO CITY OF SALTILLO AFTER HEAVY FIGHTING.

CIRCULATES PEACE PROPOSAL

General Villa Directs Copies of Document from American Diplomats to Be Distributed Throughout All Sections of Mexico.

Laredo, Texas, Aug. 17.—Villa troops after several days fighting in the vicinity of Saltillo, Mexico, have been driven into the city of Saltillo proper, according to Carranza authorities in Nuevo Laredo, who announced the receipt of telegraphic advices. The messages said fighting continues at Saltillo. About 5,000 men are engaged on each side, it is stated and casualties have been heavy to both Villa and Carranza forces. Officials in Nuevo Laredo predict the early fall of Saltillo into Carranza hands.

Peace Plan Received.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Acceptances of the Pan-American plan restoring peace and government in Mexico are expected by officials here in a few days from General Villa, General Angeles and other leaders in Northern Mexico.

It became known that under direction of General Villa and his lieutenants copies of the peace appeal from the United States and the Latin-American diplomats had been printed at Juarez and Chihuahua for distribution throughout every section of Mexico that can be reached.

The plan is to circulate the appeal through the press, by mail and by courier and to post it in public places in the principal towns.

Shows Carranza's Opposition.

Another indication of that faction's opposition to any outside interference in Mexican affairs was continued, however, in a dispatch made public by Carranza's Washington agency from Jesus Acuna, minister of foreign affairs at Vera Cruz, quoting a statement to newspapermen in Mexico City by General Pablo Gonzales, the Carranza commandant.

General Gonzales said:

"I believe that the Constitutionalist government will soon be recognized by the United States and South American countries. In case of political or armed intervention, I would uphold the policies of the first chief and go to war, if necessary, without hesitation. The Mexican people would take the same stand. The occupation of Mexico is permanent."

War department officials continued to keep close watch on the Mexican border situation, but no new troop orders were issued. General Bliss, acting chief of staff, said General Funston reported no new disorders from Brownsville or adjacent territory. Additional troops ordered from Texas City and Fort Sill were moving toward Brownsville.

French Cruiser Bombards Jaffa.

Paris, Aug. 16.—A French cruiser bombarded and destroyed the Wagner works at Jaffa, on the Palestine coast, the ministry of marine here has just announced.

Italy Denies Austrian Claim.

Rome, via Paris, Aug. 16.—A semi-official statement issued in Rome contradicts several assertions contained in recent Austro-Hungarian official communications. The Italian statement denies the Austrian claim that great damage was wrought August 11 when two Austrian torpedo boat destroyers bombarded the sea coast towns of Bari, Santo Spirito and Molfetta in southern Italy and on the Adriatic. Denial also is given to a report that the Italian submarine Nautilus has been sunk.

Starting Trouble.

"Why is it that the attendants in telephone offices are all women?" Mrs. Brown made this inquiry of her husband.

"Well," answered Mr. Brown, "the managers of the telephone offices are aware that no class of attendants work so faithfully as those who are in love with their labor; and they know that women would be fond of the work in telephone offices."

"What is the work in a telephone office?" Mrs. Brown further inquired.

"Talking," answered Mr. Brown. And that conversation came to an end and a different kind of conversation began.

Fallacious Fabrications.

An old horse that lay sleeping in his stall was rudely awakened by the hired man, who jabbed him with a fork.

"Oh, ho, ho!" said the horse, arising stiffly. "Another day's work ahead, I suppose."

"For once," said the hired hand, who was a college graduate in disguise, "your supposition is incorrect. You will be permitted to remain in your stall and rest. Your master is dead, and his funeral will be held today."

"But I am going to the funeral," said the old horse.

"Why, for the love of Mike," gruffly asked the hired man, "should you go when you may as well stay here and rest?"

"For 20 years," replied the aged horse, "I have been wanting to attend my master's funeral, and now that the opportunity is present, I will not be denied."

Occasionally it happens that all those in the funeral train are not there for the purpose of shedding the scalding tear.—Judge.

Lesson From a Beggar.

"It was a street beggar who made me feel my insignificance," said former United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew, "and he did it in a gracious way. I was a trifle out of sorts when I said to him, 'You can't hold me up.'

"'Not even as a good example,' he replied, lifting his hat."—Youth's Companion.

Simulated Affection.

"How effusively sweet that Mrs. Blondey is to you, Jonesy," said Witherell. "What's up? Any tender little romance there?"

"No, indeed—why, that woman hates me," said Jonsey.

"She doesn't show it," said Witherell.

"No; but she knows I know how old she is—we were born on the same day," said Jonesy, "and she's afraid I'll tell somebody."

War Not Necessity.

Assuming an air of sage importance the fat plumber ejaculated:

"War is a necessity."

"Pooh! How do you make that out?" demanded the thin carpenter, deprecatingly.

"Did you read that Edison is going to devote his energies to American protective measures in time of war?"

"Yep. What of it?"

"That proves my contention."

"How?"

"War makes invention necessary, doesn't it?"

"I suppose so."

"And necessity is the mother of invention?"

"Huh!"

"Therefore war and necessity are synonymous."

The thin carpenter is still thinking it over.—Youngstown Telegram.

APPEAL TO MEXICAN CHIEFS TO END WAR MADE PUBLIC

Pan-American Conferees Now Ready to Extend Their Aid to Arrange for Proposed Peace Congress--Replies Are Asked for Within Ten Days.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The Pan-American appeal to Mexico, now being delivered to the chiefs of factions and governors of states, was made public here by the state department.

The appeal, although addressed to the political and military leaders, takes on the form of an announcement to the Mexican people themselves. As made public by the state department, the document is prefaced by this announcement:

"The Mexican people are informed that the following communication has been sent to many prominent persons in Mexico who possess authority or military power within the republic."

Copies to Carranza and Villa.

The appeal went forward to General Carranza and Villa and to more than a score of other military and political leaders throughout Mexico, being transmitted by cable, telegraph, and wireless, whichever method was required to reach the desired destination.

As replies are asked for within ten days after the appeal is received, although the time may be extended for cause, no further meeting of the Pan-American conference is planned until they have been received or it may be apparent that some of the Mexicans addressed do not propose to reply.

The conferees confidently expect within a reasonable time enough favorable replies to warrant them in extending their aid to arrange for the proposed peace congress.

Text of Peace Appeal.

Washington.—"The undersigned, the Secretary of State of the United States; the ambassadors extraordinary and plenipotentiary of Brazil, Chile and Argentina and the envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala, accredited to the government of the United States of America, acting severally and independently unanimously send to you the following communication.

"Inspired by the most sincere spirit of American fraternity and convinced that they rightly interpret the earnest wish of the entire continent they have met informally at the suggestion of the Secretary of State of the United States to consider the Mexican situation to ascertain whether their friendly and disinterested help could be successfully employed to re-establish peace and constitutional order in our sister republic.

Lose Sight of Effects of War.

"In the heat of the frightful struggle which for so long has steeped in blood the Mexican soil, doubtless all may well have lost sight of the dissolving effects of the strife upon the most vital conditions of the national existence, not only on the life and liberty of the inhabitants but on the prestige and security of the country. We cannot, however—no one can doubt—that in the presence of a sympathetic appeal from their brothers of America, recalling to them these disastrous effects, asking them to save their motherland from an abyss—no one can doubt, we repeat—that the patriotism of the men who lead, or aid in any way the bloody strife, will not remain unmoved; no one will doubt that each and every one of them, measuring in his own conscience his share in the responsibilities of past misfortune and looking forward to his share in the glory of the pacification and reconstruction of the country, will respond, nobly and resolutely, to this friendly appeal and give their best efforts to opening the way to some saving action.

Urge Meeting at Neutral Spot.

"We, the undersigned, believe that if the men directing the armed movements in Mexico, whether political or military chiefs, should agree to meet, either in person or by delegates, far from the sound of cannon, and with no other inspiration save the thought of their afflicted land, there to exchange ideas and to determine the fate of the country—from such action would undoubtedly result the strong and unyielding agreement requisite to the creation of a provisional government, which should adopt the first steps necessary to the national reconstruction of the country—and to issue the first and most essential of them all, the immediate call to general elections.

"An adequate place within the Mexican frontiers, which for the purpose might be neutralized, should serve as the seat of the conference, and in order to bring about a conference of this nature the undersigned, or any of them, will willingly, upon invitation, act as intermediaries to arrange the time, place and other details of such conference if this action can in any way aid the Mexican people.

Expect Reply in Ten Days.

"The undersigned expect a reply to this communication within a reasonable time and consider that such a time would be ten days after the communication is delivered, subject to prorogation for cause."

"CALL TO ARMS" AT LAREDO

Carranza Paper Prints Fiery Editorial in Texas Town—Appeals to Mexican Element.

Laredo, Texas, Aug. 16.—A Carranza newspaper of this city prints a fiery editorial which is regarded among the susceptible element of Mexicans here as "a call to arms." Translations of the editorial have been forwarded to Washington and to Major General Funston. The editorial in part says:

"If you are Mexicans read article 31 of the constitution, which says: 'It is the obligation of every Mexican to defend the independence, the honor and the rights and interests of the fatherland'; and read article 35 of the constitution, which says, 'It is the prerogative of every Mexican citizen to take up arms for the defense of the republic or its institutions.' That is to say, it is not only the obligation to defend the republic when its sovereignty is attacked, but it is their prerogative, right and honor to do so."

U. S. Soldiers in Riot.

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 16.—Scores of American soldiers were participants in a riot in Nogales as a result, it is said, of a rumor that Mexicans had threatened to take their guns away. Ten Mexicans were attacked before the officers got control of the men. One American is reported to have been slain in Nogales, Mex., just across the border from here by infuriated Mexicans. The soldiers that engaged in the rioting were members of the Twelfth infantry.

Mexican States for Peace.

El Paso, Aug. 16.—Five states and one territory of Mexico are authoritatively announced to have declared through their military governers that the revolution is at an end so far as they are concerned, and that Carranza and Villa and other forces in arms would be met by resistance should they attempt to enter these precincts of Mexico. The governors who thus declared for armed neutrality are of various shades of political affiliation.

Resume of Important Happenings of Past Few Days.

RECITE MANY GRIEVANCES

Chippewa Indians at Leach Lake Declare Dissatisfaction With Treatment by Government.

Walker. — Indians of the Pillager band of Chippewas at Leech Lake are not at all timid about declaring their dissatisfaction with governmental treatment. Congressman B. M. Chipperfield of Illinois, who is spending his vacation at Senator McGarry's resort on Leech Lake, has been picked by the Indians as the national lawmaker before whom they will personally lay their grievances, with the hope that he will become their advocate at Washington. Pilgrimages of the braves from all parts of the reservation to "Glengarry" to talk with the "tall congressman from Illinois" are therefore common these days.

Grievances recited were many, nearly all growing out of their claim that the so-called Rice treaty of 1889, whereby the Chippewas ceded and relinquished their lands to the federal government, has been violated by the United States and that a large sum of money due them under its provisions is wrongfully withheld.

THRESHING SEASON BEGINS

Reports of Bumper Crops Cause Rejoicing Among Farmers, Bankers and Railroad Men.

Winona.—A week of uninterrupted progress in the harvest fields of southern Minnesota has permitted the cutting of fully 80 per cent of the small grain, according to reports received here. With continued favorable weather the harvesting will have been completed by the end of the week. Threshing will be general early next week.

Threshing has started in scattered points and the reports received have made the grain men, bankers and railway men jubilant.

Barley is running from thirty to sixty bushels to the acre, oats sixty to seventy and wheat fifteen to thirty. All the grain is of the finest quality, save barley, which in some sections is slightly colored.

Corn has made tremendous strides and the discouraging reports have given way to optimistic statements that there will be a fair and possibly a bumper crop, especially if the fall season is late.

TO SEE MINNESOTA EXHIBITS

Fall Campaign of State Immigration Department Opens at Galesburg—Exhibits at Fairs.

St. Paul.—The fall campaign of the Minnesota immigration department to advertise the state at fairs will open at once at Galesburg, Ill. Exhibits at state and county fairs will continue until November 15.

The itinerary to date as arranged by Fred D. Sherman, immigration commissioner, follows:

Galesburg, Ill., district fair, August 14 to 21; Laporte, Ind., district fair, August 24 to 27; Indianapolis, Ind., state fair, September 6 to 10; Springfield, Ill., state fair, September 17 to 25; Waterloo, Iowa, live stock show, early in November.

The exhibits are being installed by W. C. King, state exhibit man, who is in Galesburg. Mr. Sherman estimates that between 50,000 to 75,000 people will see the Minnesota exhibits and receive pamphlets telling of the advantages in Minnesota.

EX-CONVICT IS LIEUTENANT

"Scott Hardee," Said to Have Been Most Unruly Prisoner at St. Cloud, Wounded.

St. Cloud.—"Scott Hardee," one of the most unruly prisoners ever confined in the St. Cloud reformatory, is now a lieutenant in the British navy and is just recovering from wounds received in an engagement at the Dardanelles, according to a letter received by A. M. Hulbert, an officer of the institution.

Hardee was sent to prison in 1908 and during his entire term he did not work. He feigned illness repeatedly, and at one time, according to the officers, ate soap to make the physicians believe he was suffering from tuberculosis.

He would not give his right name and even at the expiration of his five years' sentence refused to divulge any information.

Three Wrecks at One Spot.

Owatonna, Minn.—An eastbound Rock Island freight train was wrecked at Hope five miles south of Owatonna on the identical spot at which two other wrecks have occurred in the last six months. The spreading of rails caused all three of them.

W. H. Johnson, Manley, Iowa, a brakeman, was bruised and injured internally. A passenger train wreck six months ago resulted in the injury of six persons and last Saturday a passenger train left the track.

LIGHTS GO OUT IN MILL CITY

Power Generator Bursts Leaving Minneapolis Without Electric Supply—Downtown District Stricken.

Minneapolis, Aug. 16.—Shortly before 2 p. m., electric lights in the Minneapolis downtown district began to darken. Elevators ran more slowly. Electric fans fluttered out. Electric clocks stopped. Motion picture films grew dim. Everything operated by electric power felt the loss of current. Something had happened at the works.

Within a few minutes many agencies which enter largely into modern city life had ceased to operate and the business district of Minneapolis went back to primitive conditions.

Caused by "Runaway."

The trouble was caused by a runaway—not an ordinary runaway that might cause a moment's flurry and excitement on the street, but insubordination and rebellion of a monster rotary converter or generator set in the plant of the Minneapolis General Electric company.

Of course it happened on Friday the 13th.

Neither of the two employes in the room at the time can tell just what happened. There was a noise as if a locomotive, full steam ahead, were plowing through the building. There was a shower of sparks, the sound of rending steel and then a great quiet. The "juice" was off.

BIG VICTORY FOR MINNESOTA

Decision of Interstate Commerce Commission Denying Railroad Rate Increases Affects Five States.

Minneapolis, Minn. — Minneapolis scores a victory of tremendous importance in the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, for the most part denying an increase in rates by railroads in the western classification.

Of farther reaching interest is the victory by five states acting together over the combined railroads.

The application of the western roads for an increase in rates followed the increase to the roads in the eastern classification. One of the important elements in the application for an increase was that applying specifically to rates on grain and grain products to and from Minneapolis.

State's Appropriation Reduced.

Washington. — Minnesota's federal appropriation for militia supplies and ammunition is reduced $2,000 this year, under a new basis of distribution. Instead of making the distribution for supplies and ammunition according to paper strength of the various state organizations, as was done last year, Secretary of War L. M. Garrison took into consideration actual strength at the annual inspection.

Every man in a field hospital and the ambulance companies was counted twice and every man in the other branches of the auxiliary services three times in order that these arms should receive adequate funds.

Northfield Votes Bonds.

Northfield.—By a five to one vote at a special election the voters of Northfield declared in favor of the issuance of $19,000 worth of bonds for public work. There were 407 votes for the bonds and 83 against. The $19,000 will be used to pay the city's share of paving Bridge square and four blocks of the main busines street; to buy for a public park an old mill property on the east bank of the Cannon river fronting Bridge square and for improving the mill property for park purposes. The paving and parking will connect with paving done two years ago.

Protest Arrests of Laborers.

Crookston.—A vigorous protest was wired to the department of labor at Washington by Representative Steenerson against the wholesale arrests of laborers in Kittson county on complaints of Canadian agents who assert the men are Austrian-Canadians and seek their deportation to Canada.

Numerous farmers in this county declare many of the laborers have worked for them every fall for twelve years.

Hallock jail is full and the farmers are aroused over the enforced scarcity of help to complete the harvest, which is just becoming general.

Can't Stop Mother-in-Law.

Minneapolis, Minn. — Mrs. Clara M. Douglas, 5222 Thirty-seventh avenue south, may visit the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank R. Anderson, 1217 Laurel avenue, as often and may stay as long as she pleases, as far as the courts are concerned.

Judge Waite in district court has dismissed the petition filed by Mr. Anderson asking a permanent injunction to restrain the mother-in-law from visiting his home. A temporary injunction had been granted by Judge Jelley pending a hearing on the petition.

Minneapolis, Minn. — Ten men were fined, with five suspended sentences, for violations of automobile and traffic ordinance by Judge Smith in municipal court here.

Complete Inter-Lake Highway.

Duluth. — Except for eight miles through the Portage Indian reservation, to Pigeon river, east of Grand Marais, Minn., the automobile highway connecting the American head of the lakes with the Canadian head of the lakes, is virtually completed.

For scenic attractions it will have few equals and it will make a continuous run from the twin cities to the big Canadian ports. The Ontario government is finishing the few stretches that remain incomplete on the Canadian side of the border.

COMPLETE AND NOISY MEAL

Traveler Surely Well Fitted With Abundance of Nourishment and "Music."

The longest and noisiest dinner that Mr. James Sibree, Jr., the author of "A Naturalist in Madagascar," ever attended was given by the governor of a town called Texarkana. About a score of officers were at the table and seven ladies. After a long grace by the pastor, dinner was brought in, and consisted of the following courses:

First, curry; second, goose; third, pigeons and waterfowl; fourth, chicken cutlets and poached eggs; fifth, beef sausages; sixth, boiled tongue; seventh, sardines; eighth, pig's trotters; ninth, fried bananas; tenth, pancakes; eleventh, manioc; twelfth, dried bananas.

And lastly, says Mr. Sibree, when I thought everything must have been served, came haunches of roast beef. Claret went about very freely, and at length some much stronger liquor; and the healths of the queen, "Our friends, the two foreigners," then those of the prime minister, chief secretary and chief judge, were all drunk twice over, the governor's coming last; and each was followed by musical and drum honors.

There was a big drum just outside on the veranda, as well as two small ones, besides clarinets and fiddles, and these were in full play almost all the time. Then the room was filled by a crowd of servants and aids de camp, and the shouting of everyone, from the governor down, was deafening. The old gentleman directed everything and everyone. I was glad when I could take my leave, after two hours' sitting, but I was not to leave quietly. The governor took me by the hand and escorted me home, while the big drum was hammered at ahead of us all the way.—Youth's Companion.

"Weel," replied the witness, "there was 'McTavish' marked on a'e end of the barrel, and 'whisky' on the other, but being on oath, your honor, I couldna say whether it was whisky or McTavish that was in the barrel."

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Entered as Second-class matter August 3r 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam, Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

Perhaps the jingoes could pick up a damaged war or two in Europe at bargain rates. There must be some owners over there that are willing to dispose of such property by this time.—The Duluth Herald.

The county board of commissioners ordering a re-assessment of Thief River Falls will meet with the approval of the other tax payers of Pennington county. No one wants the people of the county seat to pay any more than their just share of taxes, but when an assessor forgets to assess any of the banks of that city his memory certainly needs jogging.

Different opinions continue to be expressed about Red Lake River, and the government improving it or declaring it a non-navigable stream. But all are agreed that we either want it to be declared non-navigable and taken from under government control, or an appropriation made for dredging it at the next session of Congress, and it is up to Congressman Steenerson to see that either one or the other of these happen p. d. q.

ON JUDGMENT DAY.

St. Peter: Well, what have you to say for yourself? You'll have to hurry.

Applicant: I've been a model man. In my journey through life I've been as solemn as I could. I always insisted that others adapt their standards of propriety to mine.

St. Peter: U-um. In other words. you wanted them to be as sanctimonious as yourself?

Applicant; I opposed baseball, band concerts, minstrel shows, the movies, dances and like frivolities I also opposed.

St. Peter: Because you didn't enjoy them, or because you thought that they were wrong?

Applicant; Well - of course, I could'nt enjoy them, so they ought to have been wrong. I opposed almost everything on general principles.

St. Peter: That is to say you wanted nobody else to enjoy life. You are the man who put the "goo" in "lugubrious."

Applicant: I did more than this. I had bills passed prohibiting a great number of things. I legislated against many amusements.

St. Peter; I gather from that you were a reformer.

Applicant. I was more than a reformer. I investigated vice. I revelled in exposing wickedness in others.

St. Peter; And had the time of your life doing it, I suppose. Well, I hope you will be comfortable in your new quarters, for I see you don't melt easily. Come back say, in a 100 years, and I'll see if I can find a place for you a few thousand degrees cooler.

He Got the Apples.

"Once upon a time," began the teacher, "two little brothers started to Sunday school one Sunday morning. Their way led past a fine orchard, where the trees were bending down with ripe, luscious apples. One of the brothers proposed going into the orchard and getting some fruit, but the other refused and sped away, leaving his companion greedily devouring the apples.

"Now, it happened that the owner of the orchard saw them, and the next day rewarded the good boy who refused to steal his apples by giving him a shilling. He got a prize for his honesty, and what do you suppose the other boy got for his dishonesty?"

"He got the apples!" yelled every member of the class.—Exchange.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Mortgagee, to John Higinbotham, by written assignment, dated the 3rd day of August, 1915, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County, on the 5th day of August, 1915, at 3:00 o'clock A. WHAT AN ENORMOUS COW! Such an animal, you say, never existed. You are absolutely right. However if all the cattle to be shown at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, were reduced to one cow she would be as big. She would furnish enough meat to fill a sandwich for every person in Minnesota, and enough milk at one milking to wash it down. If all the sheep, horses, and swine were handled in the same way what big animals they would form! Everything at the Minnesota State Fair is conducted on the same enormous scale. There are to be forty county exhibits, 70 acres of machinery, immense amounts of butter, cheese, and fruit, corn and farm products. Art Smith, the aviator, is the leading amusement attraction in America today. Auto polo, music by a dozen bands and orchestras, a big automobile racing program, the fire works, a $24,500 horse racing program, all these and other features will thrill the visitor. LET'S GO!

THE LOCAL NEWS

The killing frost of Wednesday night reached as far south as Charles City Iowa.

Ed Rustan started up his threshing rig at Peat Gustofsons, in Deer Park Township this week.

From present indications there will be plenty of machines to do the thrashing in this locality this year.

Gunder Asbjornson gave a very good practical talk to the farmers at The Farmer's Club picnic last Sunday,

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Hamry and Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Neset, of Thief River Falls attended the Deer Park farmers picnic last Sunday.

Martin Hyland hauled a load of oats to be thrashed out last week, which contained sixty-six bushels of oats, and it was not a very big load either.

Mr. Sannes of the First State Bank, I. A. C Torgerson and W. B. Torgerson of the Farmers and Merchants Bank attended the Farmers picnic in Deer Park last Sunday.

NOTICE!

R. R. Johnson of the Goodridge Meat Market will visit Highlanding on Mondays and Fridays with a full line of choice fresh meat for sale. Do not forget the days Mondays and Fridays.

There seems to be quite a difference in the time of harvesting in this locality, as some of the farmers were through harvesting before other ones had hardly commenced Marquis Wheat and the early oats are all in shock, while the blue stem wheat and side oats are only just about ripe for harvesting.

Eddie Hyland started his threshing rig at Walter McAndress last Monday and threshed out his rye crop and also that of Mr. Quirks and Klemmetsons. Mr. Hyland runs his rig by a gasoline engine and he dose very satisfactory work, as that power possesses many advantages over steam, as the farmers do not have to have a man and team to haul straw for the engine, and there is no danger of fire.

There was a large attendance at the Farmer's Club picnic at the residence of Wm. Swanson in Deer Park township last Sunday. The Young Peoples Society gave a very good program of speaking and singing. A large number of the people of Oklee autoed out accompanied by the band, which entertained the people with a band concert. Oklee has a good band composed mostly of youngsters that is a credit to that village.

O. Torkelson, who thrashed in this neighborhood last fall has returned from Canada to thrash again this fall. The men who watched him tinker last fall, while the hired help's time was going along will not be very apt to have him thrash for them again. He seems to be a very nice man, but as soon as he puts the power of the engine onto the separator, the chains and belts begin to break and fly in all directions.

We understand that one of our township supervisors does not want to repair the approaches to the Highlanding ferry, because Red Lake River is a navigable stream. Supposing it is a navigable stream, the land on each side of it is not navigable. However we guess that the real reason is that they don't propose to spend any of the township road funds for the benefit of the people living on the south side of Red Lake river.

The ferry at Highlanding is in fine condition, and could be crossed on with any kind of a load, if the approaches were fixed so that people could get onto the ferry.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of the town of Highlanding, Please use a little of that road and bridge fund that belongs on the south side of the river to repair the approaches to the Highlanding ferry.

We had our first killing frost on Wednesday evening which killed the corn and garden truck dead. The damage to flax it will be hard to estimate until a little later but it is doubtful if the late sown flax will be worth harvesting. Some of the late blue stem wheat must have been touched enough to wrinkle the skin and lower the grade. This is the earliest killing frost that we ever had in this locality since its settlement.

Editor Lattimore has gotten up a petition to the county board of commissioners to build a temporary bridge at Highlanding. Of course everybody will sign it, but that is about all the good it will do, as the county commissioners will not do anything that is likely to benefit the people up this way, that would make them any expense, as they need all the money down that way, but never mind John we have a NAVIGABLE river, and had ought to be satisfied with that, and let the fellows in the west end have the money and the bridges.

Washintgon News.

It is estimated by the Department of Commerce that the United States shipped horses to the value of $64,046,534 and moles valued at $12,726,143 to Europe during the year ending June 30,1915.

The news of the sinking of the White Star Liner Arabic by a submarine has put all official Washington on the anxious bench. Until the full facts are in and it is known definitely that the submarine was a German one and that the Arabic was sunk without warning no definite statement can be made as to the outcome of the matter.

A committee of the machinists employed at the Washington Navy Yard call on the President to lay before him a protest against the cut in wages of the men. The committee, amongst other arguments, pointed out that the men were being offered higher wages by private firms and there was danger of a number of them leaving, thereby crippling the efficiency of the force.

Because of the numerous assertions made from different quarters holding that our navy was not efficient and not growing as it should, Secretary Daniels has issued a statement comparing the condition of the navy in 1913 with its present condition. The statement shows that there were 164 ships of all classes in commission in 1913, whereas now there are 214. Moreover, there has been an increase of more than 5,000 men in the navy personal.

At the request of President Wilson a searching inquiry will be made by the interstate commerce commission in conjunction with the Treasury Department and the Department of Commerce to ascertain the Steamship facilities between the principal American ports and those of Central and South American and Europe. The enformation thus obtained will be used in endeavoring to have Congress pass the ship purchase bill which was allowed to die without action in the last Congress.

CATTLE SHOW SHATTERS ALL RECORDS.

Entry List for Four Breeds Exceeds All Former Records.

The largest entry list ever received by any State Fair cattle show in America has been obtained by the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, insuring one of the greatest exhibits ever held anywhere. A stupendous effort is being exerted to care for the large number of animals expected.

Previous entry records have been broken for Short Horn, Hereford, Red Polled, and Ayrshire cattle. The Jersey show is far larger than the one of a year ago. Other breeds barely fall below previous marks. In all it will be the largest combined showing of beef and dairy cattle ever held anywhere. Over 1,100 animals have been entered.

Big Livestock Market.

No doubt the remarkable success of the cattle show this year is due to the interest which breeders are taking in the great public livestock market, which it is the desire of the fair to promote. Breeders have been urged to attend the Minnesota State Fair, because of the opportunity afforded of selling surplus stock to farmers in the Northwest. Farmers have been urged to attend the fair to buy this pure-bred stock to be used in grading up home herds.

The Horse Show is to be remarkably successful this year, for the same reasons. Nearly twice as many local breeders have entered horses at the Minnesota fair as formerly. In addition there have been large entries from all parts of the country, and the leading draft breeds will make an excellent showing.

Swine and Sheep.

The Swine and Sheep Shows will both break nearly all previous records. The pig-club contest, in which fully fifty pigs will be shown, and the Poland-China Futurity, in which twenty-three herds will be exhibited, are principal reasons for the greater number of hogs. All space in the sheep barns has been disposed of.

PARCEL POST EXPLAINED

Large Exhibit to Be Shown at Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11.

Of what importance is the parcel post to the farmer and the city person? Though it may be important how can anyone take advantage of it? Such are some of the perplexing questions which will be solved by a large parcel post exhibit at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, which has just been arranged by the Twin City postoffice departments. It is to be placed in the Agricultural building in a very prominent place.

Principal emphasis will be placed upon the producer's problems. All kinds of retailers, for fruit, eggs, dressed poultry, butter and other farm products will be shown. A specialist in charge will answer any questions asked, and explain to any one how the parcel post may be taken advantage of.

ELEVEN GERMAN WARSHIPS SUNK, IS SLAVS' CLAIM

DREADNOUGHT, THREE CRUISERS AND SEVEN TORPEDO BOATS LOST IN NAVAL BATTLE IN GULF OF RIGA.

RESULTS IN KAISER'S FLEET WITHDRAWING

Petrograd Rejoices As Teuton Ships Are Repulsed—Reports Losses to Baltic Fleet Exceedingly Small, In No Way Impairing Efficiency.

London, Aug. 24.—The naval battle in which German and Russian warships have been engaged for several days in the Gulf of Riga has resulted in the German fleet withdrawing, after having lost the battle cruiser Moltke, a warship of the dreadnought type, three other cruisers and seven torpedo boats, according to a statement credited to the president of the Russian duma.

Slavs Loss Not Mentioned.

This is the latest information concerning the German naval attack, which was undertaken as a measure of co-operation with the Teutonic land operations in Courland and especially against the important port of Riga. The significance of the German withdrawal is not brought out in the Petrograd dispatch and no mention is made in it of any Russian losses. A German report announced that the Russians had lost three small warships—two gunboats and a torpedo boat.

The announcement of the president of the duma as sent by the correspondent follows:

"In the Riga battle the Germans lost one superdreadnought, the Moltke, three cruisers and seven torpedo boats.

"The German fleet has withdrawn from Riga bay.

German Barges Taken.

"The Germans tried to make a descent near Pernpvin (Pernigel), on the east shore of the Gulf of Riga, some 15 miles north of Riga, four barges crammed with soldiers took part in the descent. They were repulsed by the Russian troops without the co-operation of artillery, the Germans being exterminated and the barges captured.

"Petrograd indulged in pardonable rejoicings today. The desperate efforts of the Germans to upset our military plans by creating a diversion on the Esthonian coast has signally failed.

"Aided by British submarines we were able from the shelter of the great and little towns to harass and cripple and finally to drive the enemy out of the gulf.

"The losses of the gallant Baltic fleet were extremely small, in no way impairing its efficiency, and so long as this is preserved no serious damage can immediately threaten Petrograd."

TO MOVE CAPITAL TO MOSCOW

Berlin, via Wireless to London, Aug. 21.—Six Russian generals and 85,000 men were captured by General von Bezeler's troops when they took Novo Georgiewsk Thursday. The official statement from the war office added that the number of captured cannon is about 700.

In the southeastern theater of war around Brest-Litovsk General Mackensen is gaining grounds at all points, a later statement said.

London, Aug. 21.—As the Austrians and Germans press on to the last of the outlying fortresses standing between the Russian capital and the invaders, Petrograd is discussing the advisability of removing the government to its ancient seat at Moscow, always considered the heart of the nation.

Announces Victory.

Official announcement was made in Berlin of the capture of the important Russian fortress of Novo Georgievsk with more than 20,000 men.

The statement follows:

"The fortress of Novo Georgievsk, the enemy's last bulwark in Poland, has been captured after stubborn resistance.

"The entire garrison, including over 20,000 men and an enormous stock of war material, fell into our hands.

"The emperor left for Novo Georgievsk in order to give the thanks of himself and the fatherland to the leader of the attack, General von Beseler, and his troops."

FLOODS MENACE ST. LOUIS

BODIES OF TEN NEGRO VICTIMS ARE RECOVERED.

Storm Believed Off Shoot of Hurricane Which Swept Texas—Damage Totals Millions.

St. Louis, Aug. 24.—The Meramec river, lined on either side with thousands of pleasure resorts, club houses and summer cottages, has gone several miles out of its banks, has swept away most of these buildings and increased to 20, it is reported, the number of lives lost in St. Louis county as a result of the flood which followed the recent rainstorm here.

St. Louis, Aug. 23.—The bodies of 10 negroes, victims of the St. Louis flood, have been recovered. Five bodies were found in a house at Sublette and Manchester avenues, the district hardest hit, and five in a dwelling on Hermitage avenue, according to the police reports. The flood was receding rapidly in some sections, but swollen streams continued to wreak damage. The costly Riverside drive bridge over Moline creek went out.

The storm did damage estimated at several million dollars to crops and other property, seriously impaired transportation and wire facilities and endangered thousands of lives in Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas. Thousands are homeless.

At East Alton, Ill., a 300-foot section of the new levee gave way and a wall of water from the Wood river rushed toward the towns of Wood River, Benbow and East Alton.

Horsemen Give Warning.

Two horsemen—who had stood watch watch at the levee—raced a hundred yards ahead of the oncoming calling right and left: "Run for your lives."

In less than an hour the three towns were covered with 10 feet of water, but not a soul had lingered. The population of Wood River and Benbow city raced for West Wood river, while residents of East Alton took refuge in Alton. Two trains—a Chicago & Alton from Kansas City and a Big Four from St. Louis—which were caught between two branches of the flood that rushed through the break in the levee, gave shelter for the night for scores of persons who had been rescued from roofs and upper windows of flooded homes. The water has begun to recede somewhat and it was hoped the stalled trains would be able to continue their journeys.

CARRANZA'S ANSWER IS BRIEF

Curtly Acknowledges Receipt of Pan-American Appeal—No Further Word Is Expected.

Washington, Aug. 21.—General Carranza has curtly acknowledged receipt of the Pan-American-Mexican peace note.

This acknowledgment he cabled to his agency here. It was not an answer. Agency officials broadly hinted it was the last that would be heard from him.

Here it is:

"The department of foreign relations received today the note sent by the Secretary of State of the United States and the representatives of the South American republics through Mr. Silliman.

(Signed) "V. CARRANZA."

Lapland Reaches Liverpool.

New York, Aug. 23.—The White Star line has announced that the steamer Lapland arrived at Liverpool at 9 a. m. This announcement dispelled fears in shipping circles that the steamship had met with mishap while passing through the war zone.

Villa Forces Reach Torreon.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 23.—Bringing with it the entire northern delegation to the national convention, the vanguard of the Villa expeditionary forces which had been operating in central Mexico, was authoritatively reported to have arrived at Torreon.

The members of the national convention were driven out of Mexico City several months ago and re-convened at Toluca, under the protection of a military force composed of Villa and Zapata soldiers.

STATE BREVITIES

Blue Earth.—J. C. Porter, a pioneer of Blue Earth, committed suicide by shooting. The reason is unknown.

Luverne.—The city's new opera house is nearing completion and will be formally opened in September with one of the best musical attractions to be obtained. The building has cost upwards of $50,000.

Winona.—W. W. Jones, inspector for the Minnesota weights and measures department, was arrested by the constable of New Hartford, according to information received here from Nodine. Jones, it is said, was mistaken for a swindler and finally was released when the mistake was discovered.

Park Rapids.—Congressman Lenroot spoke to an audience of 2,000 here and scored Cannonism as well as the present regime, asserting that the Wilson congress used the gag rule to as great an extent as was done in the days of Cannon. His approval of the president's efforts for peace were applauded.

Winona.—By action taken by the municipal court in fining three saloonkeepers who kept their places open on Sunday, the Sunday saloon "lid" is clamped down tighter than ever before in Winona. The present administration is determined that the Sunday closing law shall be enforced in Winona.

Faribault.—Hog cholera has broken out again in Rice county. Ten hogs have died from the disease on the farm of J. J. Sullivan in the town of Shieldsville. He has a herd of more than 100. Farmers adjoining also have large herds. Prompt action has been taken to have the hogs vaccinated. Vaccine serum has been secured from the State University.

Duluth.—What was probably the earliest frost known at Duluth occurred here according to reports from Arnold, a settlement near by. A white frost visited the district and killed much of the garden truck and farm produce. The temperature in Duluth was 48 degrees. Arnold, being lower than the hilltop here, was colder. Arnold was also visited by a killing frost on July 25.

St. Paul.—Protest against the dams in the Rainy river at International Falls and in the Kettle river near Kettle Falls at the head of Rainy lake will be filed by the state of Minnesota with the international joint commission of which former Congressman James A. Tawney is chairman. The papers have been drawn in the office of Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith and will be forwarded at once.

Winona.—On Sept. 1, it was announced Misses Eleanor Lucile and Dorothy Effie Keeler, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Keeler, will be married to Raymond F. Welsh, Minneapolis, and George Gamble of Rochester, respectively, in a double ceremony in this city. All four of the young people have been prominent here. Mr. Gamble is studying for the ministry and is filling the pulpit at the Byron Baptist church.

Thief River Falls.—In anticipation of the heaviest demands upon its carrying facilities ever known, the Minnesota Northwestern electric railroad, tapping a thrifty farming community east of this city for 40 miles and with a terminal at Goodridge, has purchased property at the north end of Eighth street, in this city, and removed its "Y" from Fifth street in order to afford better facilities for the transfer of cars.

Winona.—Unless property owned by a church is used exclusively for church purposes it is not exempt from taxation, according to an opinion by the Minnesota state tax commission given County Auditor C. W. Anding. Parsonage property, therefore, is liable to taxation. Heretofore parsonages have not been taxed in Winona county, although it is customary over most of the state to include such property. Back taxes will be demanded by the auditor's offices.

Owatonna.—Delegates from Steele county Protestant churches elected W. B. Thornburgh, Mrs. C. J. Balch, Miss Sarah Towne, Mr. Krause, Rev. A. Hofgaard, Mrs. Ida Slaid, Mrs. G. R. Kinyon, Rev. C. Winter and Miss Anna Mork, all of this city, as a committee on arrangements for the annual convention of Steele county Sunday schools to be held Oct. 2 and 3. It is expected that two famous speakers will be present. Marion Lawrence of Philadelphia and Dr. Joseph Clark of New York.

Mankato.—John Lorentz who says he is from Sleepy Eye, was shot and seriously injured on an Omaha freight train, northbound, by a footpad who held up him and his companion in a car. The bandit secured $58 in all. After shooting him, the robber locked both his victims in the car and disappeared. The agent at Merriam heard groans in the car and the conductor opened it. The other occupant in the car gave the name of Oliver Evans. All three men boarded the train together in Mankato.

Winona.—Alex Grippen of this city, while painting the top of a wagon bridge at Durand, Wis., was electrocuted when he came in contact with high voltage wires. Fellow workers were attracted by a sputtering sound and looked up in time to see Grippen's body sway in its position and then pitch to the rocks of the breakwater, more than fifty feet below.

St. Paul.—The three state employment bureaus in Minnesota at St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, obtained 3,142 positions for men and women in July. The number of positions obtained for women were 1,426 and for men 1,716.

TRIBUTE TO THE CANDIDATE

Had Known Him All His Life But Didn't Know What He Looked Like.

One morning, when Tom Shipp was running for congress in Indianapolis, a man called him up on the telephone and requested an interview with him. Shipp had a busy day before him, and intimated that opportunities for interviews were limited.

"Well, Tom," said the voice over the telephone, "you certainly ought to talk to me. I've known you ever since you were a little bit of a kid. You know that, don't you?"

"Yes," said Tom mendaciously. "I know that."

"And I've loved you as if you were my own son," continued the voice. "I've always been devoted to your interests. You know that, don't you, Tom?"

"Of course," agreed Shipp.

"And always," relentlessly pursued the admirer. "I've watched your career and noted with unspeakable pride your rapid advancement. It has made me happier than I can say. You know that, don't you, Tom?"

"Certainly," replied Tom, whose arm was beginning to ache from holding the receiver.

"You say you're too busy to see me in your office?" asked the admirer in an incredulous tone.

"I've got an engagement somewhere else," explained the candidate.

"Where will you be about half an hour from now?"

Shipp considered for a moment.

"In the lobby of the Claypool hotel," he gave the information.

"What part of the lobby?"

"Say, why do you want to know that?" asked Shipp.

"Well, you see," confided the other, "I want to be sure of finding you—and I really don't know what you look like."—Popular Magazine.

Murphy's Dilemma.

They met on the high road and shook hands.

"Shure, Pat," said Murphy, "bettin's a shockin' bad habit."

"Shure, Murphy," said Pat. "But why?"

"Ye know Costigan?"

"Troth I do!"

"Well," said Murphy, he bet me sixpence to a shilling that I couldn't swallow an egg without breaking the shell of it."

"And did ye lose the bet?" asked Pat.

"No, Pat, I won it," replied Murphy.

"Then phwat's ailin' ye?"

"Shure, it's the egg that's ailin' me," groaned Murphy. "If I jump about I'll break it and cut me stomach wid the shell, an' if I kape quiet it'll hatch an' I'll have a Shanghai rooster scratchin' me inside!"—Pearson's.

SEA FIGHT SPOILED FOREVER

At Least So Far as Being Favorite Theme for Artists Is Concerned.

Truman H. Newberry's comments on our naval equipment serve to remind us that a favorite theme of the artist—the sea battle—is spoiled forever. Modern vessels fight at from ten to seventeen miles, if they fight at all, and thrilling pictures such as Jones, Perry, Farragut, Nelson and Dewey have inspired probably will not be painted again.

Marine warfare has become very largely a matter of hide-and-seek anyway. So far has the gunmaker outstripped the armorplate builder that were equally matched vessels to engage, a few seconds' firing would reduce millions of dollars' worth of ships to scrap-iron shambles.

And when the skulking menace of the submarine is considered we can understand how completely the traditions of sea fighting have been upset.

It was predicted that modern warfare on land would be stripped of all its former aspects, but we are told of bayonet charges, of trenches 40 yards apart, of steel helmets and even of full suits of armor being used. Yet on the sea what destruction has been wrought has been through methods far removed from the old-fashioned stand-up fight through which heroes of other days won their fame.

Lawful Procedure.

Magistrate—Why should you not be heavily fined for blacking this man's eye?

Defendent — I beg to remind your honor I was performing an action required by the law.

Magistrate — What do you mean, sir?

Defendant—I was only dimming his lights.

You can attract some attention by being a champion speller, but the fellows who have to look it up in the dictionary seem to have most of the good jobs corralled.

Time Didn't Matter.

A prominent lawyer tells this tale of the hills of Kentucky. He had been in Jackson during the hearing of a big land case, and after the strain of several weeks in the courtroom had decided to take a trip up in the mountains and enjoy the quieting influences of the hills. He traveled the paths and narrow mountain roads till he found himself, at the end of several days' journey, about forty or fifty miles from the railroad. It was about noon, the lawyer judged, for his watch had run down and he could not be exact. But in the midst of this deep contemplation the lawyer came upon an old darky sitting upon a bowlder longside the road.

"What time have you?" he asked of the old darky.

"Well, suh, boss, the old watch says she's about ten minutes to twelve," was the reply.

"Is that sun time or railroad time?" again questioned the lawyer.

"What difference does that make? One am about as fer from here as the other."—Louisville Times.

The Wily Professor.

Clerk—See here! You told me if I took your course, it wouldn't be long before I was earning $40 a week.

Professor Skinner—Well?

Clerk—Well, the most I can earn is $20.

Professor—That so? But, honestly, now, don't you feel that you are earning $40? Almost every clerk feels he earns at least twice as much as he gets."—Boston Transcript.

Novel Billiard Tables.

Billiard tables supported on solid rock are among the novel features of a house on one of the islands of the San Juan archipelago in Puget sound. Each table rests on a massive concrete base which extends through an opening in the floor and has its footing on bedrock, and is therefore as solid and as free from vibration as if it were a part of the island itself.

A perforated rubber fly swatter has been invented, having the advantage that it will not scratch furniture.

MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 18 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

Sea Sleds for Coast Defense.

Sea sleds are the latest craft to be considered by the United States navy for coast defense work. The navy is experimenting with a half-motor boat, half-hydroaeroplane, which neither flies over the water nor cuts through it, but skips along its surface. A 24-foot boat of this type has made 36½ miles an hour at a navy test. It is hoped to obtain a boat that will carry men at 55 or 60 miles an hour. It is said 200 of such craft could be built at the cost of a single scout cruiser and would be much more effective.

LINER ARABIC TORPEDOED; TWO AMERICANS DROWNED

GOES TO BOTTOM IN TEN MINUTES

FIFTY-SIX LOSE LIVES WHEN STEAMER IS SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMERSIBLE.

CLAIMS NO WARNING GIVEN

White Star Line Gives Out Statement Regarding Disaster Southeast of Fastnet—Survivors Picked Up and Taken to Queenstown.

MRS. BRUGUIERE'S BODY FOUND.

New York, Aug. 23.—The body of Mrs. Josephine L. Bruguiere, one of the two Americans lost with the Arabic, has been found, the White Star line announces. This was based on a conversation, it was said, with Mrs. Marion Bruguiere, the dead woman's daughter-in-law, who was quoted as saying she had received a cable message to that effect.

TOTAL OF FIFTY-SIX LOST.

London, Aug. 23.—An amended list of passengers lost on the Arabic gives a total of sixteen, which with the forty members of the crew who were lost, places the number of dead at fifty-six.

London, Aug. 23.—At least five passengers, two of whom were Americans, and 40 members of the crew lost their lives when the White Star liner Arabic was sunk by a German submarine off Fastnet. Nine other passengers are missing and are believed to have perished. The two Americans, who went down with the ship, were Mrs. Josephine Brugeire of New York and Edmund T. Wood.

Mrs. Brugeire was thrown into the water and was kept afloat for some time by her son, Louis, who was forced to relinquish his hold when he was struck by a piece of wreckage. Nothing was seen of Wood after the steamer was struck.

Most of the missing members of the crew belonged to the engineer's staff. They remained at their posts and went down with the ship.

Declare No Warning Given.

Captain Finsh and the other officers of the Arabic assert that the submarine gave them no warning. They declare the torpedo was fired as they were going to the rescue of the steamer Dunsley, which had just been torpedoed, presumably by the same submarine.

That the loss of life was not much heavier was due to the preparations made by the officers in view of the possibilities of an attack while passing through the "war zone," to the fine weather which prevailed and to the splendid discipline maintained by the crew. Life belts had been provided by the crew. Life boats had been placed on the decks and the life boats swung out. As soon as the ship was struck rafts were flung over the side. Many of the passengers and crew who were thrown into the water climbed on board these rafts or were dragged onto them by persons already upon them.

SAY U-BOAT HID FROM ARABIC

Survivors of Steamer Dunsley Declare German Submarine Concealed Herself Behind Hulk.

Liverpool, Aug. 23.—According to survivors of the steamer Dunsley, torpedoed by a German submarine just before the White Star liner Arabic was sunk, the underwater craft hid behind the Dunsley's unsunk hulk to lay in wait for the larger vessel. The survivors declare they had been ordered off their ship and were in lifeboats when the submarine concealed herself from the approaching Arabic.

It is stated that when the liner came close enough to make an attack possible the submarine submerged, went around the Dunsley's stern and launched the fatal torpedo. Survivors say that the German boat, which came up alongside the Dunsley bore no number.

No previous definite statement as to the fate of the Dunsley has come through from London. It was announced that she had been torpedoed, but it had not been known whether she succeeded in reaching port with her passengers.

Forest Fires Wipe Out Town.

Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 23.—Heavy damage is threatened by scores of forest and grass fires burning in this (Whatcom) county. The little mill town of Alki, four miles north of here, was wiped out and livestock, miles of fences and many acres of crops have been destroyed. Concern was felt for the town of Lyden, next to Bellingham, the largest in the county, owing to a half dozen fires which were creeping up on it. A heavy wind is spreading the numerous fires and little water is available.

DID LINER ATTEMPT TO RAM GERMAN SUBMARINE?

Washington, Aug. 23.—It was announced at the state department that Ambassador Gerard will be directed to call the German government's attention to the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic and to ask an explanation.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Tension increased in official quarters here when consular messages forwarding affidavits of American survivors of the British liner Arabic brought definite information that the vessel was torpedoed without warning and at least some Americans had been lost. It seemed that but one point remained to be cleared up—whether the Arabic attempted to ram the submarine or whether a change of the liner's course to assist the already sinking British steamer Dunsley nearby was misinterpreted by the German submarine commander as a hostile approach.

America in Receptive Mood.

The attitude of the American government for the moment is receptive, anxiously awaiting accurate details and reserving judgment as to whether the action was "deliberately unfriendly." The final decision rests with President Wilson. The president motored to Philadelphia to see an oculist. He had consulted Secretary Lansing before leaving and conferred with him again. No statement was forthcoming, as details from abroad were lacking, but everywhere in official quarters the grave aspects of the case were discussed. The general trend of comment was that the American government had reached the point where it must now decide whether it would sever diplomatic relations with Germany.

Word From Survivors Awaited.

In addition to awaiting information from the American survivors, the embassy in London and consuls, the officials expect word from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to indicate whether the attack without warning on the Arabic had the sanction of the German government. Should Germany offer an explanation, stating there were qualifying circumstances, such as an attempt by the Arabic to escape or ram the submarine, the disposition on Germany's part to discuss the case would in all likelihood be construed here as a disvowal of any intention deliberately to violate the principles for which the United States has contended.

Officials here have found it difficult to reconcile the act with previous declarations from Germany that the purpose of the submarine warfare was to prevent the carriage of munitions of war to the Allies.

The Arabic was bound for an American port and carried therefore no contraband.

DECIDES UPON TWO STEPS

Wilson and Advisors Fix Tentatively Upon Course to Be Taken as to Germany.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Before the last note to Germany, which was designed to terminate the diplomatic interchange regarding the submarine issue was cabled to Berlin, the President and his advisors deemed it wise to fix tentatively upon the steps that would be taken if Germany disregarded the warning then given.

Although no intimation was given that the government had any suspicion that the German government would commit a breach of the principles stated by the United States, the fact was that the actual decision was reached at that time, so that the future relations of the United States with Germany were made to depend entirely upon the conduct of the latter nation.

Decide Upon Two Steps.

According to the best information secured in the interval since the note was dispatched, two steps were decided upon tentatively. These are:

First—the severance of diplomatic relations—a step which the president may take upon his own constitutional authority.

Second—Congress to be called into session immediately to receive full information from the executive branch of the government as to the acts of Germany so that it may exercise its prerogative deciding what further steps if any shall be taken to maintain the honor of the country and protect the rights of its citizens.

National Defense Program.

It is believed that the first move the president would make after submitting the issue to congress would be to present his national defense program.

Arabic Not Convoyed, Belief.

New York, Aug. 23.—P. A. S. Franklin, receiver of the International Mercantile Marine company, endeavored to learn by cable whether the Arabic was convoyed. The significance of an armed convoy, he said, was such that an entirely new aspect would be placed on the incident, should it be established that a British warship was convoying her a short time before the torpedo was fired. Mr. Franklin announced his belief that the steamer had not been convoyed.

HIDDEN IMPURITY

"If American women knew how much of our Coffee lies on the ground for days, before the berries are finally swept up and harvested, greater care would be exercised in purchasing this food. For this Coffee is impure. But its moldy color is lost in the roasting, and the partial decay is concealed until it comes up harsh and bitter in the cup. This fact is not generally known to importers, for few of them have studied conditions existing prior to the arrival of their ships in port."

So writes F. C. Harwood. And Mr. Harwood knows. His long experience in the tropical coffee growing countries, his deep intimacy with plantation owners, his close study of their customs, their methods and the "Tricks of their Trade" has acquired for him a fund of knowledge which places him far in the leadership of coffee connoisseurs, both here and abroad.

Patrolman Helmuth made this accusation to Recorder Gaskill against Mrs. E. B. Frost of Philadelphia, passing the summer at 110 South Dorset avenue, Chelsea. Students of the Old Testament will remember that when Joshua and his hosts blew the then auto siren the walls of Jericho fell.

Mrs. Frost denied indignantly that she broke any walls, even that she broke the antispeed law, although Helmuth charged that 40 miles an hour is a lame gait when Mrs. Frost drives.

"Five dollars fine," said Recorder Gaskill gently. "A warning, this five. Try to add to the city's quietude by muffling that Jericho horn, I beg of you, madam."—New York World.

Many of you have encountered the annoying experience of finding yourselves miles from a store and all the matches in your possession so damp that they could not be used. The paraffin does not interfere with their use in the regular way and they are absolutely protected from dampness.

THE SUNBEAM.

BY W. G. HUNT.

Published every Friday, at Sunbeam, Pennington County, Minnesota.

Entered as Second-class matter August Sn 1905, at the post office at Sunbeam Minn. under the Act of Congress of March 3.1879

The Minnesota Patriot, a rabid Prohibition paper published at Minneapolis came out with a Map of Minnesota in their last weeks issue designating the wet, and dry counties, in the County option campaign. They have theDry Counties dressed in black and the wet Counties striped,and those that have not voted dressed in pure white. Red Lake county looks like an Oasis in the desert surrounded by Counties dressed in black, "Mourning." You often hear of travelers crossing a desert pointing to a clump of trees in the distance and saying: "There we will find water," so the thirsty traveler can point to Red Lake County and say: "There is an Oasis in the desert inhabited by people who have not been led astray by temperance fanatics, but are enjoying life and intertaining the people who have crossed the County Option desert and are contented to rest in the shade of the Oasis.'

For fear that just one of the farmers of eastern Pennington county might be led astray by the article in the last week's issue of the Eleven Towns of our position regarding Red Lake River, we again repeat, that we would do all we could to get this river improved by the government, but we are positive that all of this talk about government improvements originates from parties who are interested in keeping the river under the control of the government, so we can not get any bridges across it. They talked dam at Red Lake for ten years, until that bubble was bursted in Congress last winter, and the echo of the explosion had ought to have been heard by any one that had ears in Pennington county. But the guys that want to keep our share of the road and bridge funds , of Pennington county to be used on the Red Lake River BELOW Thief River Falls had to have something to hang their hats on, so they commenced to talk dredging instead of damming. Lattimore is to be excused for his ignorance of the true situation, as he came from Eric. Pennsylvania, where he should have been the past month advising people to build timber bridges to keep from drowning, instead of being up here trying to express an editorial opinion on a subject that he knows nothing about.

THE FARM LAND BANK MOVEMENT.

The effort to start farm land banks and societies for loaning money on farm lands is meeting with some success. It is generally admitted that young men who would like to buy farms often encounter considerable difficulty in getting money from existing agencies.

This is partly because farm loans need to be watched very carefully. It is commonly possible to allow the value of the security to depreciate unless the land and implements are kept up.

The average city bank is not anxious for this class of security. It is outside their regular line, and they are a little afraid of it. Consequently, a good many men who would be worthy of credit fail to get it.

If it could come about that the farmers of a district should invest savings in such an institution, they would furnish a great safeguard against depreciation of the security. It would be for their interest to report to headquarters if a property was not being kept up. They could afford to loan more on a farm right under their eyes than capitalists located at a distance would feel like letting out on it.—Crookston Times.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Fifteen Dollars which became due August 1st 1913, and the further sum of Fifteen Dollars which became due August 1st 1914, and the further sum of Fifteen Dollars which became due August 1st 1915, and each of which said sums are now past due and payable upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Charley Clark and Rosella Clark, his wife, Mortgagors to Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of August, 1912, and with a Power of Sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington, and State of Minnesota, on the 7th day of September, 1912, at 9:30 o'clock A.M., in Book 1 of Mortgages, on page 163.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Mortgagee, to John Higbothom, by written assignment, dated the 3rd day of August, 1915, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said County, on the 5th day of August, 1915, at 8:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 8 of Mortgages, on page 605. And,

Whereas said mortgage is conditioned that if the mortgagor shall fail to pay his prior mortgage of Seven Hundred and Fifty ($750.00) Dollars upon the same land, or any installment of interest due thereon, that the Mortgagee in this mortgage now being foreclosed, may pay the same, and have a lien therefor under this mortgage, and default having been made in the payment of Forty-Five Dollars, interest due August 1st 1913, and in the payment of Forty-Five Dollars, interest due August 1st 1914, and in the payment of Forty-Five Dollars, interest due August 1st 1915, upon said prior mortgage, the same was paid by said Mortgagee and by the undersigned Assignee of Mortgagee, and there is now due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon this mortgage herein foreclosed, the sum of Seventy-Five ($75.00) Dollars, with interest upon said amount at the rate of Ten Per Cent per annum from the 1st day of August 1913, and the further sum of One Hundred and Thirty-Five ($135.00) Dollars, the interest paid upon the prior mortgage, and interest upon each of the three items making up the same from the above mentioned dates when the same became due, amounting in all to the sum of Two Hundred and Thirty-Three and 60—100 ($233.60) Dollars, due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice, said mortgage containing a provision that the non-payment, when due, of any installments upon the note which this mortgage was given to secure, causes the note to become due at once, and the assignee of the mortgagee having elected to declare the whole sum due: and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by either of the mortgages in this notice referred to or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the Statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage herein first described will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to wit: The West half (W½) of the North East quarter (NE¼) of Section Number Thirty-one (31), in Township Number One Hundred and Fifty-three (153), North of Range Number Forty [40], West of the Fifth Principal Meridian and situated in Pennington County, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 9th day of October, 1915, at 11 o'clock A. M., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Two Hundred and Thirty-three and 60—100 [$233.60] Dollars, and interest, and taxes, if any, on the said premises, and Twenty-five [$25.00] Dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage; and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated, August 20th 1915.

Assignee of Mortgagee.

THE LOCAL NEWS

Horses will be smiling this winter, as oats are A number one crop.

Jesse LaBree was transacting business in this locality Tuesday, and made this office a pleasant call.

There is quite a difference of opinion about the damage done to flax by the frost, but we predict that the late sown flax will hardly be worth harvesting.

Eddie Hyland thrashed for Walter McAndress this week, and one farm for John Quirk and one for M. E. Hyland. The wheat went from twenty-four to twenty six bushels per acre of No. 1 Northern.

NOTICE!

R. R. Johnson of the Goodridge Meat Market will visit Highlanding on Mondays and Fridays with a full line of choice fresh meat for sale. Do not forget the days Mondays and Fridays.

The week of October 10th has been designated as newspaper week, and every newspaper in the state is supposed to boost Minnesota from his locality. We will make it our endeavor to do our share for the boosting of Pennington County.

Pennington County has 271 automobiles licensed according to the latest report of Secretary of State Schmahl. Hennipen County leads all other counties, with 12,739 autoes. It is no wonder that we read of daily auto accidents down there.

There will be a petition before the board of County Commissioners to appropriate money to make some sort of a crossing across the Red Lake River at Highlanding, but we do not expect that they will pay any attention to it, as all of the county funds are needed in the western part of the county, and the new hospital at the Falls might need a little more money a little later on.

Roosevelt has a small fortune awaiting him, and a chance to get into the European war. A wealthy German American realestate dealer of Brooklyn has offered to deposit a certified check for $10,000 to his credit, if he will enlist in the regular English army, and take his place in the ranks in France. Now Teddy if you want to fight so bad, go to it.

The wheat is beginning to be marketed from this locality, and of course has to be hauled clear to Plummer or Oklee, as we have no way of getting across the Red Lake River until it freezes over. But we are alright, as we have got a NAVIGABLE river. That is, it is navigable to the extent of preventing us from getting any county money to build a bridge across it, and them ducks down at the other end want it kept that way, but they will discover that they have got a fight on hand as soon as the next session of Congress meets.

We do not understand how Stephen Singer got so much power with the present administration that he can deprive the people of mail service, but it must be that they expect some great political gains from him, but if they would inquire how he stands politically in the town of Mayfield, and they would find that when he ran for County Commissioner in his district that he only got two votes in the township, and that the people made diligent inquiry to find out who voted for him, and if they had located those two voters they would have been roughly handled.

The township supervisors do not show any disposition to use any of the money due the south side of this township in repairing the approaches to the Highlanding ferry. That's proper boys keep all of the money on the north side for you have got the power to place both of your feet and snout in the trough if you want to.

Singers Boss Of Mail Routes.

The people of the northern part of Mayfield township and the south eastern part of Kratka township have never had any decent mail service since the mail routes of eastern Pennington county have been established. Some six weeks ago the people of that locality, who formerly had Malone post office, which has been discontinued, petitioned the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General to extend the mail route of the Sunbeam—Rhoda triweekly route so as to allow the driver to make five miles additional travel on the return trip from Rhoda, and supply about thirty families with mail. But it appears that this service would not be satisfactory to Boss Geo. Singer at Rhoda or the dictator of mail routes at Kratka, so they recommend that the line of travel be reversed and the driver go by the way of Malone and return direct to Sunbeam, which order was promptly issued by the 4th Assistant Postmaster General in direct opposition to the petition of the people. This would leave all the mail of the thirty farmers who petitioned for the mail service to lay over at Sunbeam post office for two days, which will mean that the people will not use the route at all, and the establishment of it would be a useless expense to the government.

The post office department and mail service is supposed to be to accommodate the people, but this is a case of the wishes of the people and their petition being ignored at the instigation of low down politicians for their own personal gain, and it now looks as if these people would have to play the fiddle for the Singers to dance until a year from next March, when there will undoubtedly be men placed in that post-office department that will not allow the people's mail service to be taken from them, and delivered over to the care and interest of "pot gang" politicians.

It belongs to great men to have great defects.—French Proverb.

PLANETS AND OUR WEATHER.

Despite Popular Belief There Is No Connection Between Them.

That the planets and the moon have an effect upon the weather on the earth is a common belief. This belief is baseless, for all changes of weather depend upon differences in temperature.

Rainfall is due to the accumulation of water in the atmosphere. This water can accumulate only by being evaporated from the surface of the earth. And evaporation requires heat. Winds also are due to heat—greater warmth in one place than in another causing the air to rush toward where the warm air is rising.

If the moon and the planets could furnish heat they might affect the weather. But the heat they furnish is so infinitesimally small that it is not enough to change the temperature an appreciable fraction of a degree. The amount of heat they send us has actually been measured, but it needed the most delicately sensitive of instruments to perceive it.

Another proof that neither the planets nor the moon have any effect upon our weather is that careful comparisons of the weather with the positions of the planets and the moon show that there is no relation between them. If there were we should have the same weather when the planets were in the same position, which is not the case.—New York World.

The Department of Commerce has formulated plans for a searching inquiry into the American chemical industry with a view to promoting the production of chemicals and dyestuffs heretofore imported from abroad. From inquiries already completed it is found that there is enough raw material in the United States to produce 75 per cent of the $95,000,000 worth of chemicals now imported annually from abroad.

A statement just issued by the Director of the Mint shows that $94,531,800 worth of gold and $40,067,700 worth of silver were produced in the United States during the year ending January 1, 1915. This is an increase of $5,647,400 in the gold output over the preceeding year and $3,126,400 in the gold output. With the millions in gold now coming into this country from abroad and the increase in our own output we should soon have a comfortable supply of the precious metals.
